Peterborogh Collegiate rugby team eliminated Oshawa Collegiate from the Interscholastic League by two clean-cut victories over the week-end. They improved their record by maintaining a blank in the loss column, and will next face the eastern winners.

The score here on Saturday was 33 to 8 and in Oshawa 13 to 6, for a total in this series of 46 to 14.

The local students won Saturday's game from Oshawa High School at Riverside Park in easy fashion by 33 points to 8, leading all through the engagement. The game was featured by half a dozen beautiful runs by Bookhout, the P.C.I. halfback getting away for many long jaunts on three occasions running nearly 80 yards, and by brilliant work by "Howie" Young, the P. C. I. quarter, who scored three trys, dropped two pretty goals from the field and was responsible for a couple of singles, a total score on his own account of twenty-three points. The brilliancy of Bookhout and Young and the sterling work of the Peterborough wing line, who opened big holes for the ball carrier and smothered Oshawa's line plunges with equal success, enabled the Peterborough collegians to earn a decisive victory.

Oshawa had the heavier team and tried to take advantage of their bulk in the first half by depending upon line plunging. Their bucks stopped dead when they hit the Petes' line, however, and they switched to running plays and had better success an extension run giving them their only touchdown. Clark kicked nicely for the losers and Williams, the little halfback, showed a fine turn of speed, getting away for several long runs. The visitors were badly outplayed on the line, and the Petes, when within striking distance, had no trouble in tearing through for touchdowns.

The winners did not handle the ball as cleanly as against Lindsay and fumbles were responsible for most of the visitors' points, but they made up for their mistakes by their great work on the attack.

The teams:

Oshawa — Flying wing, Hart; halves, Lott, W. Clark, Williams; quarter, D. Irwin; snap, Ferguson; inside wings, Brown, Russell; middle wings, Johnston, Vickery; outside wings, Hubbel, Kohen; subs., Cornwall, R. Irwin, Clough, Hall, E. Clark, Luke.

Referee—Sweeney Dairs, Toronto.

Umpire—Ross Dobbin, Peterborough.

Peterborough started the scoring early, although playing against the wind. Oshawa, on the defensive from the kick-off, lost the ball on downs on their own 15-yard line, and on the first down Young broke through for a touchdown, which was not converted.

Play was in midfield for some time until a long punt which bounced over Cole's head put Peterborough on the defensive for the first time. They carried it back to centre, and then lost possession on Young's fumble. Oshawa kicked over, but Cole ran the ball out. Just before the quarter ended Cole kicked into his own line and Oshawa got the ball five yards out. It was Oshawa's ball three yards out on the second down when the second quarter started, and the Petes held the visitors for yards, recovering the ball on the first play. Bookhout broke through the line and ran seventy-five yards. He made ten more on a buck, and Rye smashed over for an unconverted try. Peterboro 10, Oshawa 0.

Young went through the centre for seventy yards after the kick-off and bucked over for a try on the second down. It was not converted. Peterborough 15, Oshawa 0.

Peterborough continued to press, and another long run by Young enabled the Petes' quarter to plunge over for another touchdown. Peterborough 20, Oshawa 0.

A wild pass by Young gave Oshawa possession on the Petes' quarter line, and Williams went over for a try after a nice extension run. It was not converted. Half-time score was Peterborough 20, Oshawa 5.

Oshawa pressed early in the third period, but could not score, Cole and Young running out several kicks in good style. Then Bookhout grabbed an onside kick and ran the ball to Oshawa's forty-five-yard line. Cole added fifteen more and Young dropped a neat goal from the field. Peterborough 23, Oshawa 5.

Early in the last period Oshawa kicked over and Cole had to rouge. Peterborough 23, Oshawa 6.

From the next line-up Bookhout got away for a 50-yard run, and Young tried a goal from the field, getting a point out of it, although the ball went wide, Clark running into touch in goal with the ball. Peterborough 24, Oshawa 6.

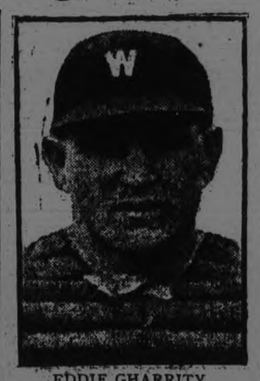
A fumble by Young gave Oshawa the ball at centre and the Petes were on the defensive again, Oshawa forcing another rouge. Peterborough 24, Oshawa 7.

Another beautiful 60-yard run by Bookhout carried the play back into Oshawa territory, and on the second play Bookhout smashed through for fifteen yards and another try. Young converted. Peterborough 30, Oshawa 7.

Oshawa recovered on a loose pass after the kick-off and Clark kicked over for a single to the dead line. Peterborough 30, Oshawa 8.

A seventy-yard dash by Bookhout put the Petes in scoring position, and Young dropped another goal from the thirty-five-yard line for the Petes' last three points. Final, Peterborough 33, Oshawa 8.

Passes Up Big Show



EDDIE GHARRITY.

BELOIT, Wis., Nov. 13.—Eddie Gharrity, star catcher of the Washington team of the American League, is the latest big leaguer to desert the big top for the fast Mid-West Industrial League, which comprises teams from Ohio and Wisconsin.

Eddie, when the season closed, came direct to Beloit and signed a contract with the Fairies, a team representing the Fairbanks-Morse Company.

During the winter months, Gharrity, who is a crack basketball player, will perform in that capacity for the Fairies. Next spring he will play either first base or catch for the ball club.

Last spring Gharrity was troubled with a sore arm. As a result Ruel started as first string catcher. Ruel had a big year. No less an authority than Connie Mack pronounced him the best catcher in the majors during the 1923 campaign.

Gharrity's contract with Washington terminated at the close of the season. He was offered an all-year job that was so attractive he decided to pass up his big league berth.

C.P.C. TOO MUCH FOR DE LAVAL

An Excellent Brand Of Soccer Given By The Juniors.

The C. . C. are now recognized as the Junior Soccer Champions through the defeat of the DeLaval League Champions by three goals to nothing and deciding game on Monday afternoon before a crowd of spectators and the response on behalf of the G. W. V. A. player—W. Williams was excellent.

THE GAME.

Capt. Curtis, won the toss De Laval kicked off, both goals being early jeopardized. The first outstanding bit of play followed good work by Carmichael at left half, ending in Billingsley travelling along the wing then crossed where Ward miskicked but Frick saved the situation by kicking clear. Haliday returned the ball into DeLaval goal to make the full backs conceded a corner, given away by Frick who stopped the ball from going through off Ward. Twice in succession C. P. C. left winger was pulled up for offsides. Grant set up the field but DeLaval centre-half gave away a free-kick 20 yards out. Downer sent out to Edgar, Grant tackled in smart fashion then Montgomery got a drop ball of his head and let drive for goal which skimmed the cross-bar. Successive raids by the DeLaval forwards kept C. P. C. full-backs going to evade their onslaught but nothing tangible resulted. Strudely had one fine shot at goal which gave the C. P. C. goalie a fright. Both sides figured well till 30 minutes had gone when following some combination on extreme right and centre, the players witnessed the ball lying in front of goal until Frick stopped its transit. Play run from end to end with no break into the scoring list. Half-time—no scoring.

HALF TIME.

C. P. C. monopolized play in the second half opening minutes, but the DeLaval eventually retaliated for Pulley to have a fine solo dash to shoot past. In mid-field play Capt. Curtis tackled Griffin to gain possession and going ahead parted to Carmichael to do the needful which he accomplished by deceiving De Laval defence—Grant and Ward — in a close tackle, ultimately sending the ball far out of the reach of Frick. The DeLaval were now the more aggressive side and worried Curtis and Downer repeatedly but they were invincible with their clearances when hard pressed. Haliday opened up the play against the DeLaval forwards, thereby giving Edgar a splendid opening which he accepted, wasting no time he went straight for Frick while Grant and Ward were trying to stop him but he gave the DeLaval goal-keeper no chance with the parting shot. Following even and interesting play C. P. C. added their third goal through an individual effort by Mitchell. There was no more scoring. C. P. C. 3. DeLaval 0.

Goal-scorers:— Carmichael, Edgar and Mitchell.

DeLaval—Frick, goal; Ward and Grant full-backs; Bradley, Cooper and Johnson half-backs; Griffen, Pulley, Strudely, Haw and Grant forwards.

C. P. C.— Bradley goal; Curtis and Downer full-backs; Ball, Haliday and Carmichael half-backs; Mitchell, James Mortgomery, Edgar and Billingsley forwards

Referee—J. L. Howarth.

Louis Yeotes Presented The Junior Cup.

At the finish of the game, Mr. Willis President of Junior Association gave a brief address on soccer and advantages to the players. Mr. Yeotes donor of the cup, complimented the DeLaval on winning the trophy but he said "The C. P. C. said they would win it this year, but they didn't—and if you don't win it next year I'll lose the cup which means a new one." The runners-up in the League—C. P. C.—were awarded a handsome new football from White's Sport's and Athletic Limited. Captains of both teams accepted the trophies.

WESTERN JR. CHAMPIONS.

SASKATOON, Sask., Nov. 13.—(Canadian Press)—St John's College, Winnipeg, won the junior rugby championship of western Canada here yesterday, defeating the Saskwanis, Saskatoon, 15 to 6 in the final.

DE LAVAL LEADING MERCANTILE FROUP

Results of Four Softball Games Played on Saturday—C.N.R. Win Again.

On Saturday four fairly interesting softball games were played in the Armouries. In the afternoon the Brintons and the Engineers, Lock Works and the Porcelain and the De Laval and the Brass. In the evening the C.N.R. and the Quakers played the fastest game of the day.

In the first game between the Brintons and the Engineers the latter won by the score of 13 to 4 after nine innings of one-sided ball.

The teams lined up as follows:

Engineers—McCarney, lf; McPherson, rf; Munroe, c and lf; Patterson, 1b; Langley, p; Cruthers, ss; W. Jackson, 3b; Metheral, 2b; B. Jackson, ss; Allen, lf.

Score by innings:

Brintons	000001003— 4
Engineers	20030143x—13

Lock Works 11, Porcelain 4.

In the second game between the Lock Works and the Porcelain the former won by the score of 11 to 4. The features of the game was a double play from McDougal to Black, and a sensational catch by F. Dyer.

The teams lined up as follows:

Lock Works—McDougal, ss; Nicholls, 3b; Black, 1b; Collins, c; G. Conners, 2b; Westbrooke, lf; Guerin, p; J. Conners, ss; Burke, rf.

Score by innings:

Porcelain	200002000— 4

De Laval 24, Brass 4.

In the third game the De Laval gave the Brass an awful trimming to the tune of 24 to 4 after nine innings of heavy hitting and snappy fielding on the part of the De Lavals and poor fielding on the part of the Brass. The De Laval are now the leading team in the mercantile section. They look as if they will give any team in the league a hard battle.

The De Laval scored in every innings of the game except the sixth and the seventh when the Brass tightened up and blanked them. In the first innings the De Laval put the game on ice when ten runners had crossed the plate before the side was out. In the second they scored two, in the third one, in the fourth one, in the fifth three, in the sixth six and in the ninth one, totalling 24.

The Brass scored two in the second, one in the third and one in the ninth.

The teams lined up as follows:

Brass—Bennett, c; Pacey, p; Killenbeck, 1b; O'Toole, ss; Bartley, ss; Mahood, 2b; Williams, 1 and 3b; Harris, lf; Sanderson, rf.

The feature of the game was a sensational catch by Frick.

Score by innings:

De Laval	102-136001—24
Brass	0 21000001— 4

Umpires—Kay, LeBarr and McMartin.

C.N.R. Defeat Quakers.

In the evening the fastest game of the day was played between the Quakers and the C.N.R., the later winning by the close score of 5 to 4 after six fast innings. The teams lined up as follows:

Score by innings:

Quakers	003001—4
C. N. R.	02300x—5

Umpires—LeBarr and Kay.

The Woollens were short a man and defaulted to the De Laval nine. A scratch game was played, resulting in a six-all tie after seven fast innings.

GIVE WEAK TEAMS THE PREFERENCE

To Players Under Waivers Suggestions For Majors to Consider.

CHICAGO, November 12. — The strengthening of weaker teams in the major leagues through giving a team of lower standing preference to players upon whom waivers have been asked will be one of the suggestions of changes to the rules to be submitted for action at the joint meeting of the major leagues here December 12, Commissioner Landis announced to-day.

Another important suggestion to come up before the December meeting will be one giving major league umpires the right to appeal to the Commissioner who may finally determine any dispute in which a major league umpire is a party.

Amendment of the rule dealing with the number of eligible players on a team also will be proposed. The rule states that the manager is excluded from the list of 40 players permitted to each team. It is suggested that the word manager be changed to "non-playing manager," and that coaches also will be excluded from the list.

Another suggested change to this section of the rules would be that no club shall directly or indirectly "negotiate for or employ" a player who is under contract or who has accepted terms with another club.

HAMILTON GOT CHAMPIONSHIP

Two Teams Made a Sorry Showing Rugby Game.

TORONTO Nov. 13—(Canadian Press)— Parkdale Canoe Club's ill fated attempt to use Lionel Conacher resulted in a disgraceful exhibition being given at the University of Toronto Stadium yesterday. It was the roughest football game in many years and finally resulted in the Hamilton Rowing Culb players leaving the field when Parkdale insisted on using Conacher in the last eleven minutes.

The teams had given a very poor exhibition of football and the score was tied at 2 to 2 when the game broke up. Referee Reg. DeGruchy gave Parkdale half a minute to take Conacher off the field and when the Paddlers refused, he awarded the game to the Oarsmen. Later in the dressing room he stated that he had merely called it off but Hamilton insists that Captain Elford was informed by the official that Parkdale had forfeited the game. At a meeting of the O. R. F. U. executive last night, the Championship was awarded to the Hamilton team.

THREE GIANTS IN DEAL WITH BOSTON

D. Bancroft Will Manage Braves — Casey Stengel Included.

Boston, November 12 — The Boston National League Club to-night announced the resignation of Manager Fred Mitchell of the Braves and the appointment of Dave Bancroft of the Giants as manager of the team. The Giant captain of the past season comes to Boston with two of his team-mates, "Casey" Stengel, and Bill Cunningham, in exchange for Pitcher Joe Oeschger and Outfielder Billy Southworth of the Braves.

The Giants and Braves Clubs were completed last night at a meeting in New York attended by President Stoneham and aManger McGraw of the New York Club, and Christy Mathewson and Emil E. Fuchs, president and vice-presndent of the Braves. Mitchell, to-night's announcement said, contemplates the purchase of a minor league club, but he has not yet made definite plans.

PETERBORO TEAM HAD AN EASY WIN

Defeated Oshawa on Their Own Ground--Story of Game.

Coach Browne's gridiron battlers of P. C. I. left no room for doubt as to which team should represent this group in the interscholastic play-offs when Monday afternoon they defeated Oshawa High School's twelve 15 to 8 in Oshawa at Alexander Park. With only one change the team was the same that defeated the motor town crew at Riverside Park Saturday 33 to 8. Walter Rye, the P. C. I. tackling and line plunging left middle was the only man missing from the line-up.

The P. C. I. won Saturday on their offensive plays, yesterday they reversed and won, almost solely on their defensive ability. Certainly, the P. C. I. were good offensively, too, but it was while on the defensive that they shone. The whole team was tackling hard and flooring their man at every trip. The line held firmly at all crucial moments and broke through repeatedly to break up the Oshawa interference and nail the ball carrier. An Oshawa man got through only once for a long gain.

Howard Young, the P. C. I. captain and quarterback, managed the plays in his usual masterly fashion and was in the limelight repeatedly when he ran back the Oshawa punts. Bookhout and Cole on the half line were also good. Bookhout tore off for long gains, but he was not used as much as in Saturday's game. Young called more on his line plays. Martin and Ebbs tore through for yards often when the P. C. I. line, using good interference tactics, tore big holes for them. Bruce Copping, the P. C. I. snap, kept up his great record of not one poorly snapped ball this season. He snapped the ball errorless to the right place at the right time.

The Oshawa team played better rugby than in their Saturday game. They are a scrappy crew and went down figiting every inch of the way. They gave P. C. I. their hardest test of the year. The great punting of Hart was a feature, twice he returned a kick with the P. C. I. tacklers close on him. Cohen, the Oshawa left outside, got down well on every kick.

Yesterday's game was the best and closest battle so far this year. The ball was worked slowly and with hard opposition every gain meaning battle for both sides. Due to the even match of the two teams on the line, kicking was resorted to more often than many of the previous games and the four outsides had plenty of opportunity to stretch their legs.

Good sportsmanship was the order of the day, and the teams closely rivalled each other in this, also the best of feeling prevailing during the whole exciting battle.

First Period

There was a slight wind blowing down the field and the P. C. I. chose to have it at their backs. On the kick off the Oshawa kicker bungled and the ball rolled about to rouge. The quarter ended with the ball in Oshawa territory.

Second Quarter

Oshawa picked up on their playing and the game settled into a hard battle. Oshawa worked the ball into P. C. I. territory and they regained a fumbled punt on P. C. I. 25 yard line. Irwin kicked and P. C. I. forced to rouge.

P. C. I. tightened play and began pressing Oshawa for yards, working the ball down the field on successful line plunges and a long run by Bookhout Cole kicked and P. C. I. earned a rouge. five yards and Killaley fell on it. P. C. I. began a slow march down the field until they reached a position 35 yards out from Oshawa goal when Young attempted a field goal which he missed but Oshawa were forced to rouge. When Oshawa kicked on the third down Cole ran the ball back to Oshawa 40 yard line and P. C. I. began another march down the field. On another attempted field goal the kick was blocked but Young regained the ball and tore through and was only brought down when he had reach 15 yards from Oshawa line. Cole kicked and Oshawa forced.

Oshawa broke through for a long gain and the play edged around P. C. I. 10 yard line. Half time called with Oshawa in possession at P. C. I. 15 yard line.

Third Quarter

P. C. I. kicked off and Oshawa catcher was dropped in his tracks 15 yards from his own line. Oshawa kicked and Young chased the ball back to Oshawa 30 yard line. P. C. I. worked down on some well executed plays and Young went over for the first touch of the game, which he failed to convert.

Play immediately returned to Oshawa territory and Martin broke through for a long gain. P. C. I. interference was working well and gains were big. Martin went over for P. C. I.'s second touch, which was not converted.

Oshawa's attack strengthened and they bore down on the P. C. I. line. Kicks were exchanged frequently on which Oshawa gained ground, due to the long punting of Hart. Wilson went over on a line plunge for Oshawa's touch.

Fourth Quarter

Peterborough and Oshawa each kicked frequently during the last period, with P. C. I. having the edge of the play. Twice in succession Oshawa was downed behind their goal line, giving Peterborough two points. The play then moved toward the P. C. I. end and D. Irwin kicked and Oshawa earned a rouge. P. C. I. came back strong and obtained another point on a rouge. Time was called with Peterborough in possession on their own 30 yard line.

The teams lined up as follows:

P. C. I.—Flying, H. Chew; halves, F. Stevens; A. Bookhout, H. Cole; snap, B. Copping; quarter, H. Young; insides, O. Martin, B. Killally; middles, B. Craw, H. Ebbs; outsides, T. Outram, A. Gelland; subs., R. Thompson, B. Henry, A. Neal, C. Woods, G. Pogue, B. Fraser.

O. H. S.—Flying wing, Tulse; halves, W. Clark, Hart, Lot; snap, Ferguson; quarter, Irwin; insides, Brown, Russell; middles, Johnston, Vickey; outsides, Hubble, Cohen; subs., Hall, E. Clark, R. Irwin, Hulpbern, Cornwall.

Referees, Sweeney Davis, Toronto; F. Hardman, Oshawa.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 13.—The services in the Methodist church on Sunday were very helpful and inspiring. Two minutes silence was observed. The music by the choir under the able leadership of R. T. Cowell, was of a high order. The anthem sung in the morning were "Fear Not O Land," and "They that Trust in the Lord," solo taken by Mrs. E. Bates.

In the morning service Rev. W. Elliott, pastor, took for his text, "In everything give thanks." He said: We have three things to be thankful for: (1) For Armistice Day, thankful that the war is over; (2) To-morrow, Thanksgiving Day, when we specially thank God for all His goodness; (3) And it is also our Thank Offering day.

In Canada the first proclamation to hold a thanksgiving day was issued Nov. 3, 1859, the second in 1861, the third in 1863 and since 1866 we have had Thanksgiving day every year. Such a day is a good omen for it marks our nation as not being infidel. It is not merely a church day, but a Thanksgiving day by government appointment showing that our leaders believe in God and in giving thanks to Him. It is scriptural for there are score of thanks and thankfulness in the Bible. Jesus thanked His Father for blessings and also before eating.

God supplies our wants in producing harvests and material thigs. God supplies sun, soil and shower and He has a right to our thanks.

We are laborers together with God. What would man's labor produce without God's part and co-operation? We could not plow, sow or reap or gather into barns. Where would the mechanics be without wood, iron, flax or wool? God is a God of nature and harvests as well as a God of grace and salvation. It is only reasonable that we give God His share. What is His share? Thanks, one-tenth, love and service.

Canadians have much to be thankful for. For Canada, as it is from shore to shore for liberty to live and to do right, for resources, coal, timber, minerals, fisheries; for harvests so plentiful, no famines, for with such variety of soil and climate Canada, in some parts can produce enough for the rest to keep her supplied with food.

There are some things we are not usually thankful for. Sometimes troubles and ills are really blessings sent from God. How can we show the spirit of thanksgiving? By cherishing thoughts of God and His goodness. If you would be thankful, think of God as given to us and doing for us. Our gifts ought to draw us to the Giver, our gratitude ought to find expression in gifts of our substance. It ought also to find expression in the gifts of ourselves. Gratitude is a habit of the soul. The man who does not give thanks on the other 364 days is not likely to give much on Thanksgiving Day. We cannot pack our debt of gratitude for gifts of 365 days into one day. Our debt of gratitude is due now and every day. It is never fully cancelled. In closing he quoted these verses by R. Walter Wright:

"For these we thank Thee, Lord,
For light that comes with breaking morn,
For hopes that with the day are born,
For sleep and health and daily food,
And all our store of earthly good—
For these we thank thee, Lord.

From wind and frost with shelter blest,
With rest amid the world's unrest,
For home and child, for husband, wife,
For all the hearthside joys of life—
For these we thank Thee, Lord.

For music, book and picture fair,
For science with its treasures rare,
For school and college, ship and mill,
For vast results of human skill—
For these we thank Thee, Lord.

For friends that grace the social sphere,
With smile and laughter, and good cheer,
For kindly word, unselfish thought,
And good ness flowing free, unsought—
For these we thank Thee, Lord.

For altar lights amid the gloom,
For Christ who in the heart makes room,
For patience with each harsh rebuff,
And grace which ever is enough—
For these we thank Thee, Lord.

'Tis not alone for joys we sing,
For love is lord o'er everything;
For barren tree, for winter chill,
For enemy and bitter ill—
For these we thank Thee, Lord.

For trembling nerve, for labored breath,
For sinking pulse, for gloaming death,
The fading of all earth is night,
The growing gleam of heaven's light—
For these we thank Thee, Lord.
Palmerston, Ont.

Evening Service

In the evening the church was well filled. The music given by the choir was a couple of anthems, "Thou Visitest the Earth," and "King of Love," solos taken by Miss Ruth Taylor, Mr. G. Lucy and Mr. Carl Maguire. The men's chorus, "Comrades in Arms," was well rendered. The organ voluntaries by Mr. R. T. Cowell, organist, and choir leader, were as usual of a high order and well worth listening to.

Rev. R. M. Williams, missionary on furlough from Japan, then gave a very thoughtful address from some of the sayings of Jesus: "Ye are my disciples indeed if ye do whatsoever I have commanded you," and "Ye are my disciples if ye have love one for the other." The heart of Jesus is portrayed in these words. Jesus believed and taught that God expected men to do His will. No religion is of any real value that does not help me to live better lives. This is what we would wish to send the Japaness. Our Christian living is at fault if the people of Japan do not learn Christianity. We, as human beings, are morally responsible to God but we have to broaden out for it is impossible to separate ourselves from the responsibility of the sins of other people. Christ's heart was filled with the anguish that comes from the people sinning. Our whole world is full of distrust, despair, fear and hatred. As long as men are men they will think differently, yet they love one another, for there is something greater than these differences—Love. Because national opinions clash, war is not the solution. Jesus teaches "Love your enemies, pray for them that despitefully use you and persecute you.

One of the leading men in Japan said: "If we could double our missionary forces our country would be saved from war." It is important that we give our money to Christian work, but it is also important how we make our money. Our development in religion has not kept progress with science. It is quite true that we can manage everything but ourselves, we are not masters of ourselves. If Christianity means anything it means self-mastery.

Presbyterian Church

The services in the Presbyterian church were very interesting and inspiring. The morning service was taken by Rev. Mr. McCormack of Madoc, assisted by Rev. Arpad Govan of Williamstown. Two minutes silence was observed at 11 o'clock. The music in the morning was appropriate to Thanksgiving and the evening was a musical service for Armistice day as well as Thanksgiving. If consisted of three anthems by the choir, a solo by Miss K. Connor, a solo by Mr. W. Henson, a quartette by Miss Connor, Mrs. Shand, Mr. Ed. Henson and Mr. Ray Connor; a duet by Miss Meighlejohn and Mr. Wigglesworth. The address in the evening, given by Rev. Mr. McCormack, was on the lines of Armistice day. These services were enjoyed by all.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

An interesting feature, a romance out of the ordinary is "The Common Law" at the Capitol Theatre, a picture which drew large crowds for both performances yesterday afternoon and evening. It is not often that a screen dramatization of the popular stories of Robert W. Chambers is offered the 'movie' public, but the filmed versions are usually good in the extreme and "The Common Law" is a picture that holds the interest from beginning to end.

Many up-to-date readers are familiar with the story of Valerie West, the lovely model who loves Louis Neville, and is loved by him. The whole story centers about the girl, and the sacrifice she is prepared to make for the sake of love. There is an unexpected twist given to the story by the fact that although both are madly in love with each other, Neville's family affiliations and family pride prompt him to listen to the teachings of his class and renounce the plebian girl who is posing as a model for him. The girl accepts his decision and tries to kill his love for her in every possible way, but finally their attachment proves too strong and she decides to live with the artist as his common law wife. Neville at first refuses, then is on the point of accepting the girl's sacrifice when unexpected forces intervene to save the situation.

Romance is the keynote of this picture, the somewhat highly-flavored romance of a New York setting with a New York artist and a New York model in a situation that will appeal to the romantic element of their audiences, and yet, by an unexpected finale prevents the story from being too extreme altogether, and gives proper slant to an ultra love story. The scenes of metropolitan life tht existence of the artistic colony of the big city carry out the atmosphere in a logical manner.

POPULAR STAR CONTEST AT CAPITOL GETS MANY VOTES

Although the contest put on by the Capitol Theatre to determine which of the many movie stars is Peterboro's favorite, only opened yesterday, already over 1500 votes have been cast by Capitol patrons. As the Capitol has an open date for three days starting Monday, November 26, Manager Jack Kennedy is asking his patrons to name their favorite star and promises to secure the winning star's latest picture on the above dates. Mr. Kennedy points out that the wide affiliations of the Paramount theatres will enable them to secure the latest attraction made by any star. The contest closes November 21. Patrons are handed a ballot on entering the Capitol theatre and are requested to write the name of their favorite star on this, depositing it in the ballot box in the foyer. The first results will be announced on Thursday.

AT THE ROYAL.

A ROYAL DIVORCE COMING TO ROYAL NEXT MONDAY.

Royal Gets Another Massey Hall Attraction

It is the life story of that wonderful personality, Napoleon Bonaparte. Despite the two million dollars spent in staging the Battle of Waterloo, the Imperial Courts of Europe, and other big scenes, is primarily an intimate, personal story that brings to life the famous historic characters, Napoleon, Josephine, Marie Louise, Wellington, and others. The prospective patron can easily imagine the screen possibilities.

Napoleon—in Vienna, Moscow, Berlin, Rome and Madrid, all the crowned heads of Europe, with hatred and fear, bowed to the will of the Little Corporal. In France thirty million people worshipped his name.

"A Royal Divorce" tells the fascinating intimate story of Napoleon, based on the famous play that toured England for thirty years. "A Royal Divorce" portrays the greatest spectacles in the world's history: The Battle of Waterloo, the Burning of Moscow, the Retreat from Moscow, and all the brilliant Imperial courts of Europe, staged at an expense of two million dollars.

"A Royal Divorce" has an intense human appeal, the like of which has never been seen in motion pictures. From the opening scene of Napoleon, as the friendless, unknown youth in the Military School at Brienne, to the final dramatic moment in the Battle of Waterloo, where the Little Corporal stakes all on his last hope, the Imperial Guard, to try and break the invincible British squares—it fascinates and casts a spell over the minds of all beholders.

ABYSMAL BRUTE PROVES A HIT.

Reginald Denny is Excellent in Role of Heroic Prizefighter and Lover.

It would be hard to imagine a more suitable programme for a holiday that was presented to capacity crowds, both afternoon and evening, yesterday. Patrons of the Royal have grown to expect clean, snappy entertainment and Jack London's great story, "The Abysmal Brute," is just that.

Reginald Denny is "The Abysmal Brute," and his manliness is well exploited in the red-blooded fighting figure around which Jack London built his story.

Those who like Jack London and have read most of what he wrote will be fascinated by the picture, which was directed by Hobart Henley, a man noted for retaining the "flavor" of original novels in the screen transcription. And perhaps those who don't know Jack London's works will be led by the picture to taste of the natural wine, the brusque psychology, of his stories.

Mabel Julienne Scott has the dramatic feminine leading role opposite Denny and the remainder of the cast includes David Torrence, Hayden Stevenson, Irene Haisman, Harry Mann, Buddy Messenger, Nell Craig, Dorothea Wolbert, Crauford Kent and many others of note.

The fact that the humor in the story is so natural and free from that "dragged-in" aspect common in big pictures is accounted for by the direction of Henley, the careful adaptation of the story by A. P. Younger and the thoughtful way in which players of correct types were fitted into the roles.

The man who feels awkward in the parlor and the woman who demands a great deal of "polish" and superficial mannerliness in a man will both find something especially interesting to them in "The Abysmal Brute."

Denny is an ideal type for the leading role and his fistic ability is proven beyond doubt to be the real thing in this production. The scenes were photographed against a background of great natural beauty, but they remain part of the picture and are not forced to the foreground to the detriment of the story, a fault that has been common in many productions of late. Star, director and cast are alike entitled to the highest acclaim for their artistic endeavors.

AT THE GRAND.

"THE MAID OF THE MOUNTAINS."

Many Peterboro returned soldiers revived memories of war days, in London, and many other citizens joined with them in their enjoyment in the presentation at the Grand yesterday afternoon and evening of that most tuneful musical comedy "Th Maid of the Moutains," seen here again to splendid advantage after an absence of three years. The production given yesterday while perhaps not as elaborate as that of 1920, was nevertheless a splendid offering, and from the musical viewpoint was perhaps even better than the earlier production thanks to the magnificent singing of Ethel Walker in the title role, and of Louis A. Templeton, as Beppo. Miss Walker's portrayal of the part of Teresa was notable not only for her vocal efforts but for her finished acting as well. She scored a triumph in her solo numbers, the ever popular "Love will Find a Way," the haunting "Farewell" number, "Song of my Heart," being greeted with enthusiastic applause. Mr. Templeton, to whose lot fell some of the most tuneful melodies in the score, shone to best advantage in the lilting "A Bachelor Gay," and in "Live for Today." Walter N. Greaza gave a capital interpretation of the part of Baldasarre, the bandit chief, and Miss Mary Angel was equally successful as Angela. The chief comedy was furnished by Donald McMillan as Tonio, Herman Hirshberg as General Malona, and Mona Desmond as Vittoria, the three parts being splendidly handled. Sam Burton's interpretation of Crumpet suffered in comparison with that of the comedian who played that part three years ago, and who made it an outstanding one. The other roles were well looked after; the chorus sang nicely, the costumes were fresh and lavish, and the whole production was a credit to the producers and the cast. "The Maid of the Mountains," as played by the company which visited Peterboro yesterday should receive a warm welcome on its Canadian tour.

NEWS HASTINGS OVER THE WEEK

License Inspector Gave The Village the Once Over.

HASTINGS, Nov. 13.—License Inspector G. Godrich, of Cobourg, gave the village a call Friday.

Mr. Austin Huston, of Belleville College, occupied the pulpit in the Methodist Church on Sunday morning and evening. His subject at the morning service was based on the words, "The Returned to Their Own Company," and gave some excellent advice to the young people as the company they choose. In the evening his topic was, "The Glories of the Holy City, the New Jerusalem." Mr. Huston is a promising young man and will, we feel sure, make his mark in the world.

Rev. M. L. Hinton spent Sunday at Coe Hill, taking missionary anniversary services.

There passed away on Saturday (10th) at the home of his brother, John Stenson, of Asphodel, Robert Stenson, at the ripe old age of 76 years. The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon to Norwood cemetery for interment. Deceased has been a lifelong resident of Asphodel, having been a prosperous farmer on the farm immediately adjoining his brother John's. He never married and leaves to mourn his loss his brother, John, and one sister, Eliza, at home.

Dr. J. A. Spellman, of Kitchener, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Spellman.

Mr. Ed. Barrigan, of Peterborough, spent the holiday with friends in town.

Mr. Robt. Clancy, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Clancy.

COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN

The public meeting to consider the Commnuity Fund, being held under the auspices of the young men's section of the Chamber of Commerce to-night, should be of special interest to all public-spirited citizens.

The subject of the Community Fund has been widely discussed, and the meeting to-night should decide whether or not Peterborough should adopt this method of financing the social service organizations in their necessary activities for the relief of the needy and sick, children and aged, and the upbuilding of health, morals and character of our young people.

Through the activity of the members of the young men's section, assurance has been given by the social service organizations that representatives will be present.

The meeting will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 8 p.m., with Mr. F. J. Overend, president of the young men's section, presiding.

ARMISTICE DAY WAS HELD IN ST. GEORGE'S

The Rev. W. R. Courage Conducted the Service.

Armistice Day was fittingly celebrated at St. George's Anglican Church on Sunday last, when Rev. W. R. Courage conducted the service. In the morning the two minutes' silence was duly observed, after which the service was proceeded with.

Being Thanksgiving Day also, an eloquent thanksgiving sermon was preached by the rector. At the conclusion of the sermon two beautiful altar cruets that had been presented to the church by the Junior Auxiliary were dedicated for the service of God by the rector.

Next Sunday is the beginning of the mission services conducted by Rev. Mockridge of Toronto.

WEDDING BELLS

WEESE—SMITH.
At the home of the bride's parents, 25 Perry Street, a pretty wedding ceremony was conducted yesterday when Eva Beatrice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, became the wife of Albert Mercer Weese, 211 Stewart Street.

The bride entered the parlour, which was tastefully decorated with white chrysanthemums, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. She looked charming in a tailored suit of navy blue tricotine, with blouse of grey crepe de chine, with hat and gloves to match, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses.

The ceremony was performed by Adjutant Smith, of the local Salvation Army corps.

A number of valuable and useful presents testified to the high esteem in which the young couple are held by their friends, among which was a cheque from the Stock Bread Co., where the bridegroom is employed, and a splendid clock from the employees of the Armature Department of the C.G.E., where the bride was beloved and respected by her fellow-employees.

A number of friends gathered after the ceremony to wish the newly wedded couple long life and happiness, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnard, and Mr. Will Barnard of Toronto.

HARRINGTON—DAVIS.
A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral on October 2nd, when Sarah Letitia, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis of Ennismore, was united in holy bonds of matrimony to Charles Jos. Harrington also of Ennismore. The wedding march was played by Miss L. Hurley.

The bride looked charming in a suit of navy serge with grey hat and shoes, while the bridesmaid, Miss Marion Flood of Ennismore, wore a gown of grey lustre, with hat to match. Mr. Edward Harrington supported the groom.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at Hooper's, after which they spent the remainder of the day in the city returning in the evening to Curve Lake farm where they will reside.

OBITUARY

ROBERT BAKER.
The death occurred on Sunday morning of one of the oldest residents of the city, in the person of Robert Baker, at the home of his nephew, H. Baker, Bethune street. The deceased, who was in his 86th year, had lived for more than half a century in Peterboro, about forty years of that time having been spent in East City. He was born in Brockville. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John Biggs of this city, and Mrs. C. B. James of Toronto; one son, George Baker, of Winnipeg; and three sisters, Mrs. J. Baker, Peterboro; Mrs. Bradley, of New York, and Mrs. McIntyre, Brockville.

The funeral tok place to the Little Lake cemetery, at 2:30 this afternono, Rev. W. H. Young officiating.

THE ARMISTICE DAY CONCERT AT GRAND

Good Programme Provided by Peterborough Rangers Band.

Thoroughly successful in every way was the Armistice Day concert provided by the Peterborough Rangers' Band last Sunday night in the Grand Opera House. No greater tribute can be given than the hearty applause of the audience which filled the lower floor, balconies, and overflowed to the top galleries. It was a happy idea to associate with Lt. Peryer, the experienced services of Mr. R. J. Devey the inclusion of whom is a guarantee that the vocal numbers will be uniformly good.

Mr. Herbert I. Sawers in Kipling's "Recessional," Mr. R. A. Brown in Airlie Dix's "The Trumpeter," and Messrs. A. Everett, H. J. Devey, R. J. Devey, and G. Coleman in the male quartette, "Hark, Hark, My Soul," furnished splendid vocal numbers, all of which were heartily encored.

The feature number of the band was a patriotic selection depicting the life of a soldier, played for the first time on this occasion, and Lt. Peryer is to be complimented on the fine showing of the instrumentation in this difficult number.

The tribute to the fallen, in skilful short impressive silence, the "Reveille," played by Bandsman W. Layfield from the gallery, the singing of "Nearer My God, to Thee," by the male quartette, was sadly impressive.

The selections, "The Musical Switch" and "Maid of the Mountains," were well received.

A notable feature of these concerts is the absence of irritating waits between the numbers, and a suggestion is here made that admirable as are the hymns played by the band, such large audiences would gladly take part in singing one or more verses in combination with the band. It would surely be worth a trial.

Mr. R. J. Devey accompanied the vocal numbers on the piano with skilful ability.

GERMANY WILL MAKE A BREAK WITH ENEMIES

Plan to Forsake the Ruhr and Let France Do Her Worst Was Discussed.

DAY WILL COME

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—(By Carl D. Groat, United Press Staff Correspondent.)— Members of the Pan-German Party to-day were pressing the Stresemann government to break with France even at the risk of war, it was learned from well-informed sources. Stresemann's plans to quit supporting the Ruhr population forthwith and place the responsibility for its care on the French, as announced yesterday, were considered attributable directly to the influence of Pan-German leaders.

Germany would cease negotiations and let France do her worst, according to the Pan-German plan.

Though this step might mean loss of the Ruhr and the Rhineland the German government would never admit their separation from the Reich and all Germany would consider thier loss only temporarily, it was said to-day.

The last of the subsidies to the position of the districts will cease by November 25th, if the plan adopted yesterday in a conference between Chancellor Stresemann and representatives of the occupied regions is carried out. The new Minister of the Interior, Dr. Jarres, told his subordinates confidentially that this course would mean temporary loss of the districts, the United Press was informed.

But a United Germany will come aagin in the future," he was reported to have added.

Nationalists knew of the plan in advance and were reconciled to it, it was learned.

"Der Tag" will come again many of them said.

The suggestion has been made in the German cabinet that Germany proclaim that the occupation of the Ruhr constituted an act of war, and is tantamount to scrapping the Treaty of Versailles. It is learned that the suggestion has been under consideration by the Cabinet, but no action toward such a move had been taken.

A CONFERENCE OPENED TODAY

Province Represented at Meeting to Discuss Immigration.

OTTAWA, November 14. Canadian Press. — Opening the conference on immigration attended by officials of the Federal and Provincial governments, and of ocean and railway transportation companies, Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, declared that he felt the presence of the provincial representatives could be taken as an indication that the Provincial governments were prepared to cooperate with the Federal government in solving immigration problems.

Stating that Canada offered great opportunities to the prospective immigrant, Mr. Robb deprecated the spreading of too glowing accounts of what might be expected by new arrivals in this country.

The object of the conference is to fully inform Provincial and transportation officials of the steps taken and proposed by the Federal government to secure satisfactory immigrants.

"Experienced housekeepers do not exist in England anymore," Miss M. V. Burnham, Federal supervisor of women immigration told the delegates.

She was discussing the Empire settlement scheme as it affected domestic help problem, and her statement followed a discussion of the type of young women which was the most satisfactory for housework in Canada.

"Now that the Dominion government is meeting part of the expense of bringing these women to our shores," she declared, "we should have the power to insist that they have a brief period of preliminary training, which would at least be sufficient to make them familiar with some of the simple rudiments of domestic service in Canada."

C. Bogue Smart, commissioner of Juvenile Immigration, dealt with some of the work accomplished by his department in the last twenty-five years.

He quoted figures to show that at the present time there are 3898 boys and 1194 girls living in Canada under the supervision of the Federal immigration authorities; during the fiscal year 1754 immigrants were brought from the Old Country.

Past experience, the commissioner declared, showed that 95 per cent of the young settlers make satisfactory citizens. Deportations are few and Mr. Smart believed no branch of immigration service showed more gratifying results than that which dealt with the children.

Fifty Pound Pig For a Big Snake

First Meal in Eight Months for Monster Python at Zoo

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press.) — The giant python at the Philadelphia Zoo has gone eight months without food because it will eat nothing but live animals. Keepers have refrained from feeding the serpent through fear that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals might object. This fear has been dispelled and next week the python will be fed. Its meal will consist of a live pig, weighing fifty pounds.

Normally a python eats every four months, its keeper said. As it is new four months past its meal time it has grown very thin and is said to be in danger of starving to death. Faced with this problem, an official of the S.P.C.A. decreed that the snake must be fed, no matter how. While it may be cruelty to let a pig suffer such a death, it is far more cruel to let a snake expire from starvation."

CULPRIT MUM AS PAIR WAIT

Parents Wait at Home For Promised Retnrn of Their Child.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The parents of Irving Pickelny anxiously waited for the person who had written a letter to a New York paper promising to bring Irving back to his parents if the writer got immunity from arrest.

Irving mysteriously vanished from in front of his home at No. 358 Grand Street, three weeks ago.

This letter, signed "X. Y. Z.," was in a woman's handwriting. It said the writer wanted to restore Irving to his parents but feared the police.

The latter willingly consented to spare the kidnapper if the child was restored.

The Pickelnys believed that the writer was sincere and spent the whole day in their home waiting for their boy to be brought back.

Blow After Blow.

At every knock on the door—and there were many of them — both parents would leap forward, fling the door open and peer out into the hall.

Every time they were disappointed. It was just a neighbor or a stranger inquiring if Irving had been returned.

Mrs. Julia Pickelny, the mother, finally collapsed from weakness and was confined to her bed. Mrs. Pickelny has been so weakened by worry that she will not be able to go outdoors for several days to come.

Both parents show the effects of the long strain.

Pickelny made several trips to the Clinton Street Station but the police were unable to give him any encouragement. His last hope is in the letter "X. Y. Z."

He said:

"Please make it plain that the kidnapper will not be arrested if she brings the child back. She has my word and Captain Willemse's that she will not be arrested.

"The days pass terribly slow for us when we have nothing to do but wait. It seems eighteen years instead of days since Irving has disappeared."

So-called clues still pour into the Clinton Street station, but most of them are not worthy of investigation.

The police have practically abandoned the house-to-house search, as they believe the child would have been found by this time if he were in the neighborhood of his home.

BOLD ROBBERY RESULTS LOSS OF TWO LIVES

Bandits Opened Fire in Heart of New York This Morning and Kill Two.

ESCAPE WITH CASH

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.— (Canadian Press.)—Two bank messengers were murdered by two bandits, who stole $43,000 from them in a spectacular hold-up at Fifty-fifth Street and New Utrecht Avenue, Brooklyn.

The elevated station was filled with workers when the bandits opened fire, later fleeing with their haul in an automobile which was found abandoned at Bath Beach.

The messengers who were shot were William S. Barlow and William H. McLaughlin, both of Brooklyn, and employed by a west end bank. They were taking the money to the Brooklyn branch of the Irving National Bank.

As the messengers were leaving the bank, Barlow felt for his pistol and found he had left it behind him. He returned and got it. "Don't let anyone take the money from you," said a clerk, laughing. "I'll resist until I'm killed," Barlow replied lightly.

MORAL PRESSURE PREVENT RETURN

Allies Consider Holland Bound to Keep the War Lord for a While Longer

LONDON, November 14 (United Press). — Moral pressure of the Allies on Holland will prevent the Dutch Government from letting the Kaiser follow his son to Germany, in the opinion of officials here today.

The Allies consider Holland bound itself by its action in refusing to hand over the Kaiser in 1919 not to let the War Lord leave without their consent.

Action to oust the former Crown Prince who arrived last night at his castle at Oels Silesia was being discussed informally to-day.

A report that France would occupy the great German port of Hamburg if necessary to force Germany to expel the Crown Prince was circulated here to-day by the Central News.

The agency quoted the Paris correspondent of the well-informed Italian paper Corriere Italiano .

The paper which is generally taken to represent Premier Mussolini's views advised that France should obtain the approval of the Allies before taking any such steps, according to the report.

The Allied Council of Ambassadors failed to consider to-day the question of what action should be taken in connection with the return of the Crown Prince to Germany, and as to Germany's attitude regarding the resumption of Allied military control.

It is understood that the Ambassadors avoided mentioning these burning questions because the Allies were not in accord as to the proper course of action.

Great Britain is now said to be desirous of dropping the whole matter of the Crown Princes return, while France is ready to demand the return of Frederick William.

Prince Henry of Holland consulted Chancellor Stresemann in Berlin to-day.

The meeting was considered highly significant in view of the return of the Crown Prince and the rumours that the Kaiser was planning to return to Germany.

THE FRENCH TO BUILD UP AREAS RUINED BY WAR

The Ministry of Finance Will Issue Five Million Dollars for This Purpose.

PARIS, Nov. 14. — Complete reconstruction of the regions of France devastated by the World War, is planned by the government by the end of 1926. The Ministry of Finance in its proposals for the budget credits next year contemplates the issuance of $5,000,000,000 francs in Credit National bonds, 3,000,000,000 francs in national defence bonds, and 1,000,000,000 francs as a fund to pay the expense of collective loans floated by the devastated areas themselves.

These loans together with a number of other measures contemplated, would make available more than 9,000,000,000 francs for payment, and if continued three years would with the loans floated privately by the devastated regions under the government's guarantee, rebuild the ravaged districts by the end of that time. Most of the payments as in the past would be in bonds but small claims would be paid partly in cash.

Watchful Waiting

THE ELECTION IS UNPOPULAR

All Parties Peeved at Action of Premier Baldwin.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Dissatisfaction with the decision of the Government to hold an immediate election is manifest on all sides. Views expressed by Press and public to-day indicate that the idea of an election is extremely unpopular. The Government's supporters reluctantly acquiesce while their political opponents are disgusted and resentful. Premier Baldwin is charged variously with unexampled levity, shabby manoeuvreing, trickiness and with having lapsed from traditional honor and decency of British public life.

There is no doubt that the Liberals, Laborites and Socialists are very angry. To-day's line up of the Press for and against Premier, probably is not final but thus far his newspaper supporters are in the minority. Two or three of them withhold full approbation? Complaining of difficulty in which decision has placed electors especially the Conservative free traders who undoubtedly are numerous particularly in Lancashire and Scotland.

It appears that all parties have determined to play lone hands but there are rumors of forthcoming attempt at pact between Liberals and Laborites and thus avoid split votes

One of the outstanding features of election will be number of women candidates. It is estimated between thirty and forty women will seek admission to the House. Without doubt the main battle will be fought in industrial constituency, especially in the north of England. The invitation to Churchill to contest Rusholme division of Manchester is clear indication of how Lancashire intends to accept challege to its old principles. Churchill is a sincere free trader and it is probable he will accept the invitation.

Knowledge in financial district of London that election was imminent caused loss of fifty to million pounds in value of gilt edged stocks on London Exchange in two days. One cause of depression has been fear that labor victory would be mean immediate capital levy.

TORONTO PROPOSES PLAY CONNACHER

Queens Says "Bring Him On—Want the Best Men Out.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 14.—(Special to The Examiner.)— The Argonauts of Toronto, asked Queen's for permission to play Connacher in the exhibition game with Queen's at Toronto next Saturday. At Queen's this morning, it was stated that they had no objection whatsoever to the Argos playing Connacher and will notify them to this effect. "Trot out all the good men you can and we will show them up," appears to be the slogan of the Queen's team, which is going great guns this season. Queen's will wire to the Argos this message, "Bring on your Connacher." At Queen's they say the report in Toronto that Batstone will play in Toronto is all "Tommy rot."

FIVE THOUSAND DIE THROUGH BAD BOOZE

WASHINGTON, November 4. — Approximately 5,000 deaths from bad booze have been reported in the United States this year.

Treasury enforcement experts made this estimate yesterday, and expressed the fear that another 1,000 or more fatalities might occur before the holidays are over.

This estimate takes into account deaths reported by hospitals and other sources as having been due to "heart disease," which actually were attributed to drinking liquor containing different kinds of poison.

WILLIAM'S RETURN MUCH TALKED OF Newspapers Regard His Designs With Suspicion —Intention Not Confirmed.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press.) — Notwithstanding official equanimity over reports that William Hohenzollern was planning to return to the Fatherland, some of the newspapers here continue to express suspicion as to his designs.

The Doorn correspondent of the Mail says the former Kaiser's return has been under consideration for several weeks. The newspaper recalls various recent rumors which are supposed to confirm William's intentions, but nowhere is there anything to substantiate the report.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

A wristband for your handkerchief may match your sweater or carry out some color scheme in your gown. Use Luster Iceland wool and cast on 12 stitches. Knit about two inches, then knit three inches, only leaving the others on the needle until you have sufficient length for the slit through which your handkerchief is to be pulled—about an inch and a half.

Then break your thread and pick up the stitches and knit the next six only, the same length as the first three. Break your thread again and do the same with the last three stitches. Then knit straight across, join all 12 stitches again and continue to the desired length of the band.

A chiffon or linen handkerchief embroidered with the wool makes a pretty kerchief to wear with the band.

ENDORSE FUND TO SERVE ALL PARTIES HERE

Community Chest Plan Presented to Members of Local Societies and Approved.

THOSE PRESENT

A meeting of the Young Men's Section of the Chamber of Commerce was held last evening for the purpose of forming a Community Chest Fund in the city. This would do away with tag days. F. J. Overend presided.

Mr. J. J. Duffus congratulated the young men of the Chamber of Commerce for having chosen this subject and for taking it up with organizations and the citizens of Peterboro. A business man does not like to refuse the taggers but there are too many tag days, and a person cannot contribute to all of them, said Mr. Duffus. With the organizations combining together it will be less trouble, and I think that there will be more satisfaction. The way the young men are trying to have it done is that each person give a sum of money each year, which will be divided equally among the different associations. This plan will stop all tag days and will do away with a lot of trouble and expense both to the associations and the citizens.

Mr. Leon Fraser, in a short address, stated that during the war an organization was formed to look after and care for the wives and children of those who lost their lives overseas. This organization was a great success because the people got behind it and supported it, and the same success can be accomplished from this campaign if it gets the support of the people. He also stated that an outside person who is well up in this matter will be brought to Peterboro to address the citizens and let them know how it works in other cities.

W. R. Morris stated that most of the citizens are tired of being bothered by tag days and collections. He stated that he thought it would be much more satisfactory if the people were to pay their contributions all at once and be through with it.

Mr. T. Barrie stated that he was highly in favor of this new idea and he thought it was a move in the right direction.

Mr. L. Fraser stated that if this was carried out it would educate the children of the schools better and they would know what would be done with their money, which they contribute.

Dr. G. S. Cameron, representing the Health Association, congratulated the Young Men of the Chamber of Commerce for bringing this plan before the citizens of Peterboro. Personally, I can not understand why any person who is accustomed to giving to these charitable organizations why they would not sooner give their contributions in a lump sum than every once and a while. Personally, I am strong in favor of this movement, but I do not know what the Health Association would think of it, although I do not think that our association would have any objection. I suggest that we get the important points of this plan and then go and explain them to our association and call a meeting later on.

Miss L. H. Brownscombe, representing the Y.W.C.A., thought that the association were in favor of the new idea. I would like to know whether we would derive as much publicity out of this campaign as we have alone.

Mr. Fraser stated that other places using this method had reported that they receive more publicity than before.

V. J. McElderry said that he came at the request of Bishop O'Brien to represent the Catholic organizations in the city. He said he thought that the Bishop would be very much in favor of this new scheme.

Mr. R. E. Layfield stated that the community fund covers every individual person in the city and that it is principally to do away with tag days and collections.

F. J. Overend thanked the citizens who were present at the meeting on behalf of the Young Men of the Chamber of Commerce, and stated that the next meeting would likely be held Monday, December 10th.

The representatives of the various organizations preesnt were as follows:

V. J. McElderry, Catholic charities; E. B. Wayte, Chamber of Commerce; R. E. Layfield, C. W. U. A.; L. H. Brownscombe, Y. W. C. A.; D. F. Drummond, Y.W.C.A.; E. Morrison, Y.W.C.A.; Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, Y.W.C.A.; A. Halliday, Peterboro Protestant Home; A. F. Sutton, King's Daughters; E. English, King's Daughters; T. H. Roper, Y.M.C.A.; Mrs. H. Knox, Big Sisterhood.

The scheme was voted on by those present, and a large majority were in favor of having a Community Chest Fund in this city.

Fire Fighters Like Their Job So Much They Start Blazes

NEW YORK, November 14. —The mystery of frequent fires in Nyack in the last six weeks was cleared up yesterday.

Three village volunteer firemen were arrested and held for the Grand Jury without bail on charges of arson.

Police said two of the firemen confessed setting the blazes and explained they wanted to enjoy the excitement of running to the fires.

BIBLE CLASSES CHEAT ON SIZE

Kansas City Claims 50,000 Attendance— Long Beach 35,000 — Sleuths Take Count.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov 14. — The Business Men's Bible Class of Long Beach, which reported an attendance of 31,034 in the final session of its attendance contest with a similar organization of Kansas City, Mo. to-day was flatly accused of "cheating," by J. W. Lingenfelter, representative of the Kansas City organization.

Lingenfelter said that he had been sent to Long Beach two weeks ago to check on the reports of the class there by N. D. Dibble, President of the Kansas City Bible Class. He asserted that he checked yesterday's attendance at Long Beach with the aid of a score of private detectives, armed with counting machines, and that the actual attendance in the Municipal Park where the gathering was held was 13,000, or 17,104 less than the total announced by the Long Beach class.

Lingenfelter declared that Long Beach lost the contest anyway, because Kansas City yesterday recorded 52,121 men in attendance at its class.

In answer to the accusations, Dan MacDavid, General Chairman of the campaign, declared to-day the belief that 35,000 men attended the Long Beach class.

Kansas City cheated by not holding its meetings in one place," said Mayor C. A. Buffum, of Long Beach, President of the class.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 14. — The Kansas City's Men's Bible Class, which with 52,121 present, established a new world's record here in a contest with Long Beach, Cal., will refrain from filing any protest regarding the alleged "cheating" in the Long Beach count, N. W. Dibble, the president of the local class, said to-day.

Mr. Dibble explained that J. W. Lingenfelter, who charged the Long Beach count was 13,930, instead of 31,634, as announced, was authorized to represent the Kansas City organization at Long Beach, but would be instructed by telegraph to let the matter drop.

The collection here was $3050, Mr. Dibble said, and would be used to defray the expenses of the class and to further the Sunday school work.

AMERICANS WILL LOCATE IN WEST

Millionaire to Buy Up Land Left by the Mennonites.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press).—"Contrary to reports, the Mennonites who left Western Canada for Mexico are perfectly happy in their new surroundings and are certainly making their farms pay," according to Alfred Russek, a millionaire landowner from Mexico, where he will prepare for the migration south of twelve hundred Mennonites.

The replacing of departing Mennonites with 1,200 white settlers from the Northern States in the Union is a scheme which Mr. Russek hopes to perfect in the next few months. He will buy land which the Mennonites forsake, which he expects to be valued at $2,500,000, and either rent or sell to incoming Americans, he declared.

SOCIETY WILL CONTINUE THE PRESENT PLAN

TOO MUCH RED TAPE

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Childrens Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the board room at the Chamber of Commerce, the president, B. F. Ackerman in the chair. Other members were Mesdames Gibbs, Welsh, Fanning, Darcey, Devey, Hopwood, Hodgson, Messrs Powell, Edgar, Parsons, Stocker, Dobbin, Rev. W. H. Young and Dr. D. C. King.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, J. Edgar who also gave the matron's report for the month showing a total of eighteen children in the Shelter during the month of October with five brought in, eight sent out, and no sickness.

Re Trust Fund

Mr. Edgar read a letter from the Soldiers' Re-Establishment Board asking once more for monies accumulating in the Society's hands, being interest and coupon payments on bonds held in trust for several of the Society's wards, who are at the same time looked after by the Government, in the way of pensions accruing to children of deceased soldiers. This was in line with a similar request made by the Government some time ago, that such monies should be handed over to their keeping, leaving the bonds in the hands of the Society. After the receipt of the first communication, the secretary wrote saying that the Society looked on this accumulated cash as an emergency fund, to be used in case of need where the wards were concerned. In the letter read yesterday, the D.S.C.R. promised to hold these funds open to emergency use by the Society if some were forwarded to them. After considerable discussion, and declaration that "it would mean a lot of red tape to get this money back from the Government, should we need it," the Society decided to maintain its original position of considering the interest and coupon funds as a trust fund for use in emergency or to be held for the wards until such time as they came of age along with the bonds themselves. The letter was received on motion of W. Stocker and Dr. D. C. King.

A note from J. J. Kelso, Toronto who visited the Shelter during the reception was received congratulating the society on the splendid selection made.

Tag Day Results

Mr. Powell reported a total of tag day funds up to date of $1,655.85, with a prospect of making the amount $1,700, also an order for ten dollars worth of goods to be purchased at his store, from E. F. Mason. The sum of $100.10, received from the surplus funds of the Dr. Campbell Morgan meetings is included in the total.

Dr. D. C. King enquired regarding a lot in Little Lake Cemetery, the property of the Society, which is almost full and thought the board should make arrangements for acquiring in adjoining lot. The secretary was instructed to write the Cemetery authorities in regard to the matter. It is seven years, according to Mr. Powell since the Shelter needed to use this lot.

J. Edgar announced the appointment of auditors for the coming

CORRESPONDENCE ON PROHIBITION

An Interesting Correspondence on "Prohibition" and "The Higher Criticism." Letters From Leaders of the Churches.

REGINA, Sask., Nov 9, 1923.

Dear Mr. Burnham: Your communication re Temperance article in the Toronto Globe has been forwarded to me. I think you made a mistake. I am not writing in the Toronto Globe any longer, and I hope you are not holding me responsible for Dr. Griffith Thomas' utterances. But I did write on Prohibition in the Toronto Mail, and it was probably this that was in your mind.

I imagine that you and I are strong-minded persons, who cannot agree on either Prohibition or Higher Criticism.

But I am so glad to hear from an opponent who differs from me vigorously and yet can express his difference in courteous language that I write to acknowledge that courtesy, and to wish that it were more widely known. Yours very truly,

GEO. C. PIDGEON.

Peterboro, 188 Smith St. E.
November 13.

Dear Dr. Pidgeon: Many thanks. I will, as you request, help to make it widely known.

Prohibition is so-called, because it prohibits — not forbids under a natural-spiritual penalty, as God does. He says that He provides all things for those who will properly use them, and the penalty of suffering and death for those who improperly use them. Prohibition says, "I will stop all this by revoking your option." Moreover, though you be innocent, yet I will MAKE YOU abstain, because I not YOU think it for your good. Manifestly, an impossible position.

Regarding Higher Criticism, it can only be said that if it is correct, then the foundation of Protestant religion, belief in a revealed word goes up in smoke, and leaves us to natural religion or philosophy, which will never satisfy the mass—it removes God from our ken. I am, yours faithfully,

J. H. BURNHAM.

Grace Church Rectory, Toronto.
Nov. 10, 1923.

Dear Mr. Burnham: Your letter reached me here to-day, where I have been conducting a mission. In reply to your question, I would refer you to the official pronouncement of the Church in the question put to Deacons (Revised Canadian Prayer Book page 620): "Do you believe the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testament to be the WORD OF GOD, and to contain all things necessary to salvation?"

Yours very truly,
EDWARD J. BIDWELL,
Bishop of Ontario.

P.S. So far as I am aware the Church has not withdrawn from this position in any official pronouncement.

The Globe, Toronto,
Nov. 23, 1923.

Dear Sir: Thank you for your letter. I am afraid we should not agree, however, I endeavored to put my side of the case. I will therefore simply say that I see no incompatibility between the development of character and the principle of prohibition, because the principle is in force with many other things which are harmful to the community, and yet it does not prevent the development of character. Even the Decalogue is prohibitory, and the prohibition of the drink traffic does not differ from Government control except in degree. I have read all your letters in the Globe from time to time, and it seems to me that their only logical outcome would be unrestricted use of alcohol. But this would be disastrous for the development of character.

Yours faithfully,
TERTIUS.
Editor of "The Outlook of the Church," in the Globe.

Peterboro, 188 Smith Street E.
Nov. 12, 1923.

Dear Tertius: The Decalogue does not prohibit as you suggest. It forbids the misuse, but does not prohibit the use of anything—a proposition which I think people who believe in God, might well note. "Character" is what man makes of himself not what vicious, who have forfeited their rights, are excluded from consideration. THEY are in the custody of others, just as the sick are, who when well resume, however, their normal functions, but not under Prohibition. God does not prohibit; He penalizes.

Yours, with many thanks,
J. H. BURNHAM.

THIRST BETRAYED ESCAPED PRISONER

Dapper Sailor Accused of $20,000 Mail Theft is Driven from Hold by Heat.

NEW YORK, November 14. — The mystery of Albert Rosenberg, the dapper young seaman who escaped from a stateroom on the steamship Manchuria at noon on Thursday last, in mid-ocean while he was being brought to New York from Hamburg to face charges of participating in mail robberies on the Minnekahda last April, was solved at last early yesterday morning in the sailor's wash room of the Manchuria at its pier in the North River.

Rosenberg, for whom Adrian Zeeder, master of the Manchuria and his entire crew, as well as twenty-five post office inspectors had been searching every nook and corner of the ship, was discovered in the lavatory of the seamen's forecastle not long after midnight by Post Office Inspectors Brown, Holliday, and Butler.

The inspectors had scoured the ship for the escaped prisoner since the departure of the first group of inspectors who had met the Manchuria on its arrival. They had searched all through the cabin and third-class portions of the ship and were pausing near the gangplank for a short rest when they were hailed by a quartermaster on watch. "He's in the toilet, he's in the toilet," the sailor told them.

The three inspectors ran toward the forecastle and up a passageway. As they turned into the washroom they saw something white. Pushing inside they found Rosenberg taking a long drink from a water tap, clad only in his underwear.

Inspector Butler seized him. "Where have you been hiding?" "How did you keep out of sight?" came a chorus of questions as inspectors and sailors crowded around.

"How about something to eat?" he asked, and the inspectors led him up toward the first-class galley, where the cook made up a substantial mean. While he was eating Rosenberg told how he had escaped from his locked stateroom while his captor, Inspector Smith, who had been sent over to Germany to get him, was eating lunch. He said that he had broken the lock on the stateroom door and slipped unnoticed toward the bow.

While the crew was at its noon mess, he said, he dropped down to the cargo beneath. For more than three days he remained in the darkness without food or water. He could not find his way back to the hole by which he had entered, and used up his only box of matches in the attempt As last, on Sunday night, he went on, he stumbled on his exit, and half clothed because of the heat in the hold, made his way toward the forecastle to find a drink. While he was passing, a quartermaster saw him and spread the alarm which resulted in his capture.

Says He Found Stolen Bonds.

After he had eaten and drunk as much as he could, Rosenberg was taken to the West Thirtieth Street Police Station by Inspectors Butler, Holliday, and Brown, where he was locked up, charged with having in his possession articles stolen from the United States mail. He is accused of having assisted in the theft of $20,000 worth of bonds from the mail while working as a master at arms on the Minnekahda.

He admits having had the stolen articles in his possession, but says he found them on the ship.

Rosenberg, a native of Riga, who has followed the sea for nearly ten years, said he had made much money bootlegging while on a ship running in and out of Philadelphia.

Rosenberg probably will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock this morning.

BOOTLEGGED HER BLOOD TO FEED HER CHILDREN

CHICAGO, Nov. 14. — Doctors, puzzled by the weakened condition of Mrs. Carrie McFeely, discovered that she had been "bootlegging" her blood at $25 a pint.

Physicians warned the mother of five tubercular children that she must not submit to any more transfusions.

Mrs. McFeely has been buying food and fuel with the money she got for her blood.

The woman's husband also is tubercular. She has been working as a laundress and charwoman.

STRANGE DISEASES FOLLOW BIG QUAKE.

Physicians Puzzled By New Physical Conditions Among People—Women Are Pale.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(United Press).—Strange diseases among the people are feared by the physicians of Tokyo, as one sequel of the great earthquake and fire, according to advices reaching the American Red Cross here.

Dr. Gato, prominent relief worker, said that the Japanese doctors have been puzzled to account for new and unusual physical conditions among many of the people.

"While there are no signs of emaciation among the refugees, no typhus, and not much typhoid," said Dr. Gato, "I notice, particularly in the face of the women, an unwonted paleness. They have not the color they had before the earthquake. We do not know what may lie before us."

The relief problem in Japan is still a big one, with winter coming on. There is now plenty of food, as foreign relief supplies either have arrived or are en route, and the Japanese rice crop will be above normal. For this reason, further American ood shipments will not be made. t the need is still tremendous for thing and shelter against the d.

here are no beggars in Tokyo, in spite of destitution of some. A mber of a princely house in a letter received at Red Cross headquarters said that the people have taken new heart and hope, due largely to erican and other foreign aid ich came so promptly, and that Japanese Government is working energetically to provide for all e needy.

"Things are getting better," he wrote.

FORMER CROWN PRINCE OF GERMANY AND HIS FAMILY HAD RE-UNION

The First Complete Re-union of the Hohenzollern Family in Five Years Was Held Last Night.

BERLIN, November 14. — Canadian Press. — The former Crown Prince, his wife, Prince Cecile, and their children, made a happy dinner party last night, this being the first complete reunion of the Hohenzollern family in more than five years. Frederick William, who traversed 700 miles from the Dutch border by automobile, drove up to the Castle at six o'clock.

Frederick William hurried into the inner court, where Princess Cecile, her two daughters, and youngest son, were awaiting him, and the party immediately retired to their living quarters.

CAVANVILLE FOWL SUPPER DREW LARGE ATTENDANCE

Former Bethany Pastor Dead—Millbrook Cadets at St. Thomas Church—Armistice Sunday Generally Observed.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 14.—The annual fowl supper, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Cavanville Church, held in the Community Hall on the evening of Thanksgiving Day, was an unqualified success from every standpoint. The supper is always well patronized, the Cavanville ladies having established an enviable reputation for the excellence of the meal provided and service given, but Monday saw the largest attendance yet at this annual event, the hall being filled to capacity, while many were obliged to stand throughout the entire programme. The receipts totalled $245.00, an amount considerably in advance of what has been taken in on any previous occasion.

The unpleasant crush as the crowd surged towards the basement stairway, apparently too hungry to secure their supper to wait for the more comfortable and dignified way in which admittance to this important item has usually been managed, was the only unfortunate feature of the affair.

The pastor, Rev. R. T. Richards, filled the chair most capably and the following programme was successfully carried out:

Vocal solo—"Builders," by Miss Daisy Murray.

Reading—"Here Comes the Bride," by Mrs. R. Carruthers.

Vocal solo—"Blackbird," by Miss Marie McBain.

Violin solo—Mr. H. McArthur.

Reading—"Gwen's Canyon," by Mrs. Carruthers.

Duet—"O That We Two Were Maving," by Misses Murray and McBain.

Violin solo—Mr. H. McArthur.

Reading—"Ole Pickett's Nell" and "The Night Wind," by Mrs. Carruthers.

Solo—"Lassie o' Mine," by Miss D. Murray.

Death of Rev. W. T. Wickett.

Died, at Tyrone, on Sunday, November 11, 1923, Rev. W. T. Wickett. Funeral service at Tyrone Church, Tuesday, November 13, at 1 p.m. Cortege afterward to leave for Little Britain where service will be held at the residence of the late Mr. William Yeo on Wednesday, November 14, at 1.30 p.m. Interment in Little Britain Methodist Cemetery.

Rev. S. T. Tucker, Rev. R. T. Richards and Rev. R. M. Patterson attended the funeral at Tyrone on Tuesday. The late Rev. Mr. Wickett was formerly a pastor on the Pontypool and Bethany circuits and was held in high esteem and affection by his former parishioners and his brother ministers throughout the conference.

Cadets at Church.

The Millbrook Cadet Corps under Lieut. E. Doxsee attended divine worship at St. Thomas Church on Sunday morning, about forty of the boys assembling at the Armouries at 10 a.m. ready to parade to the church. Rev. M. G. B. Williams preached an inspiring sermon, making appropriate reference to the occasion as national Thanksgiving Day, and also to the signing of the Armistice and the five troubled years which have ensued. Mrs. D. C. King of Peterborough sang a solo during the service, which was much enjoyed. The salute was given as the parade passed the soldiers' memorial in front of the Town Hall.

Armistice Sunday.

The two minutes silence was generally observed at 11 o'clock in the various churches of the village and vicinity during the Sunday morning services, the hymn, "God of Our Fathers," being sung immediately following the silent prayer. In the Methodist Church Rev. S. T. Tucker spoke on "Thanksgiving and Peace," which are associated in practise and symbolism in the Old Testament. Rev. H. Wilkinson of Pontypool preached in the evening, exchanging with Mr. Tucker, who took charge of anniversary services at one of Mr. Wilkinson's appointments. The men's choir furnished the music at night in the Millbrook Church, the special numbers being, "God Is Love" and "I Am Thine, O Lord."

In Grace Presbyterian Church Rev. G. S. Gervan gave two addresses in the morning, the first having special reference to Armistice Day and what it stands for, and the other, based upon Psalm 116, 13:16, giving particular attention to thanksgiving since "we should give thanks for all that befalleth us, whether it be sweet or bitter, good or evil, since we see only the beginning and not the winding up of events of this life."

Millbrook's Runner.

The honor of winning the five-mile road race in Peterborough on Thanksgiving Day belongs to James Larmer, a member of the C.S.E.T. group of Grace Presbyterian Church, Millbrook. Out of fourteen competitors, Jim had a decided victory, leaving his nearest opponent 200 yards in the rear at the finish of the race.

Suppers Popular.

Of the three fowl suppers which have been given in this immediate vicinity this fall, Centreville Presbyterian Church took in $371.00, St. Enoch's Church, Garden Hill, $341.00 and Cavanville Methodist Church $245.00. Grace Presbyterian Church, Millbrook, purposes holding a similar event on November 27, the supper served in the basement of the church and programme in the auditorium upstairs.

Millbrook Personals.

Misses Gladys Gray of Janetville, G. Spence of Markdale, L. M. Hatherly of Newtonville and Luxon of Sutton were home from their respective schools for the Thanksgiving week-end.

Mrs. F. Givens, Mrs. Smith and Miss Roma Roberts of Toronto, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harrington for the holiday week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Garside, Mr. and Mrs. W. West and Mr. and Mrs. J. Garside of Peterborough were guests of friends in Oshawa over the holiday.

Miss M. Needham spent the Thanksgiving holiday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Widdess, Peterborough.

Rev. R. G. and Mrs. Carruthers of Blackstock were guests of Rev. R. T. and Mrs. Richards at the parsonage, Cavanville, over Thanksgiving.

Miss E. Taggart of Westport was the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. A. Vance, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barry of Peterborough were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Vance for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. L. Rea, who has been visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs E. B. Weldon of Lindsay, for the past two weeks, returned home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. McConnell and family and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howe of Toronto were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Nattrass for the holiday.

Rev. M. G. B. and Mrs. Williams have returned from their wedding trip and taken up their residence in the upper flat of Mr. H. Wilkinson's home on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Burnham and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burnham, Peterborough, for Thanksgiving.

Messrs. T. Alvin Gray and C. A. Richards, students at the Medical College, Toronto, were home for the holiday week-end.

Tanol Calomel Much Better Than Ordinary Calomel

CLEANS AND TONES UP THE WHOLE SYSTEM

Instead of rising in the morning feeling tired, dull, with headaches, bad taste in mouth, sick stomach or after eating a bloated, heavy feeling, indigestion, constipation, kidney trouble, etc., can instead both look and feel as fresh as a daisy by flushing the poisons that have accumulated in the stomach, kidneys and bowels by following a doctor's advice by taking one Tanol Calomel Tablet 15 minutes before meals or two at bedtime. This will flush the previous day's indigestive waste, sour bile and poisons from the system before more food is taken. Tanol Calomel Tablets are recommended because they have no bad after effect. No salts or seidlitz are necessary to remove them from the system, as they are self-eliminating. Get a few of these tablets from the druggist and you will feel 100 per cent. better. Sold by Weber, druggist, Charlotte street.

CUTS FINGER TO AVOID WORK.

Greensburg Girl Severs Forefinger With Sharp Hatchet.

GREENSBURG, Nov. 14.—To avoid work, Bessie Ackley, sixteen years old, cut off her forefinger. At least that is the assertion of her brother John, nineteen. The girl, who was treated at the hospital refuses to talk.

Miss Ackley, refusing to go to school, was ordered by her parents to go to work. The girl's brother got a position for her with a wealthy family. The girl demurred at going to work and last night she picked up a hatchet and hacked off her forefinger at the first joint.

LINDSAY TRAIN SMASH KILLS ONE INSTANTLY AND INJURES SEVERAL

SIGNALS NOT SEEN

LINDSAY, Ont., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Fireman J. H. Peck, of Ottawa, was almost instantly killed yesterday evening at 6.35 o'clock, when a light engine which he was firing, was rammed from behind by No. 95, the Peterborough evening passenger train on the C.N.R. Engineer George Hanninan of Lindsay, his mate, was badly scalded. Tom McCabe, of York, engineer on No. 95, was hurt about the head, and his fireman, J. Levelly, was also scalded. Conductor Archie Hoover, of Lindsay, who was riding on the caboose, was thrown off and also injured.

It appears that the freight had just pulled into the siding in the corporation limits and the caboose had been shunted to the main line. Two or three unsuccessful efforts were made to couple the caboose and the engine and while trying to make the coupling No. 95 approached from the east, pitching into the tender of the freight. Peck was thrown forcibly through the window, falling under the wheels and was crushed to death.

Peck had been employed on the Depot Harbor line but was moved with a number of other Ottawa men to Lindsay quite recently to handle the grain rush. Just a few days ago he secured a pass to bring his wife out to Lindsay.

When the mail train struck the light engine and caboose the latter, which was ahead of the engine, was shunted with terrific force down a long grade, dashed past the depot and ended on a "Y" siding near the freight sheds, a distance of half a mile away. Conductor Hoover was thrown from the caboose, but luckily escaped injury.

Signals Unobserved.

The scene of the accident was just east of the railway bridge over the Scugog River. Passenger train No. 95 from Peterboro, due here at 6.23, reached the scene at 6.18.

Conductor Archie Hooper, of the freight train, states that he placed three fuses on the track in order to warn the approaching train.

It is believed that the heavy fog that overhung the river hindered the engineer on No. 95 from seeing the signals.

Conductor Hoover's brakeman was between the engine and the caboose in the act of breaking a coupling, when he saw the train approaching. He stepped out from between the engine and the caboose, but was thrown over an embankment when the trains crashed together.

When the collision occurred Conductor Hoover was thrown from the cab into the pilot of the freight engine, but he was not seriously injured.

The passengers on board No. 95 fortunately escaped injuries, but there was great excitement in the coaches.

Engineer Hanninan of the freight train as well as engineer Tom McCabe and J. Leveley of train No. 95, are at present in the Ross Hospital, but their condition is not considered serious.

THANKSGIVING AND ARMISTICE DAY SERVICES IN COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, Nov. 14.—Services of the local churches yesterday marked Thanksgiving and Armistice Day celebrations. At the Methodist church in the morning service the congregation and pastor Rev. R. F. Stillman recognized the two minutes of silence by standing while the organist, Mr. Frank Parkinson, played the Dead March.

Mr. Stillman in his sermon paid tribute to the men who served their country so ably and well and spoke of the pride which Canada felt in her soldiers, many of whom paid the supreme sacrifice, giving their lives for their country.

Armistice Celebration General.

Armistice Day was observed in the other churches also. At St. Peter's Anglican church, Rev. Canon Sawers was again in charge of the services having returned from Toronto where he spent the past two weeks conducting a mission at St. George's church. His presence and his sermons were much appreciated by his congregation.

Congregational Church.

The congregation at the Congregational church was again favored with hearing sermons from Rev. J. W. Pedley, Toronto, whose kindness in taking charge of the pulpit work during the vacancy caused by Rev. H. A. Carsons resignation is very much appreciated.

Orange Lodges at Baptist Church.

At the Baptist church, Rev. J. N. Norton, pastor, an Armistice Day Memorial service was held, and the Cobourg Orange Lodges attended the evening service. There was a large turnout of men, women, boys and girls and it proved to be an impressive and helpful service.

Union Service Monday.

Monday morning the regular annual Union Thanksgiving Day service was held in the Baptist church, Rev. J. N. Norton, pastor presided and an appropriate sermon was preached by Rev. R. F. Stillman.

The Baptist church has taken over what was formerly the Christian church at Eddystone in Haldimand township and Rev. L. H. Coles, pastor of Colborne and Wicklow Baptist churches is holding services there on Sunday afternoons. This is much appreciated by the residents of that locality who have been for quite a long time without regular services.

Grafton and Centerton Parishes.

The congregations of St. John's church, Centerton, and St. George's church at Grafton, two other villages in Haldimand who are enjoying the privilege again of regular services. These parishes have been united with the parishes of Colborne and Lakeport and Rev. T. McKim is looking after the work in his united parish, which provides him with a large field.

Anniversary Services at Brighton.

At the Brighton Methodist church, of which Rev. J. S. I. Wilson, formerly of Cobourg, is pastor, the annual anniversary services were held Sunday, when Rev. J. P. Wilson of Belleville, a former pastor, preached Mission at St. Paul's.

At St. Paul's Anglican church at Brighton a special mission opened yesterday and will be continued with services every day up to next Sunday.

THREATEN CROWN OF GREEK KING

Leader of Unsuccessful Revolt Says Monarch May be Dethroned and Expelled.

ROME, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press).—An Italian news agency publishes an interview with General Metaxas, refugee leader of the recent unsuccessful Greek monarchial revolt, in which Metaxas is quoted as saying the King of Greece may be dethroned and expelled from the country at any moment. The interview states that the King is kept in complete isolation.

P. C. HASENBRACK HAD NARROW ESCAPE TODAY

Shot From Bandits Entered His Helmet, Missing His Scalp by an Inch.

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press).—P. C. Hasenbrack, of Belmont Station, had a narrow escape for his life early this morning, when two men who had attempted to break into the home of R. Y. Eaton, in Rosedale, while fleeing from him fired a shot at him, which went through his helmet. The bullet went within an inch of his scalp. Hasenbrack followed the men with drawn revolver, until they outdistanced him and disappeared into the ravine. A search of the Eaton residence showed that nothing had been taken. The house is untenanted at present.

FIVE DETROITERS IN LAUNCH WRECK

Fifty Thousand Dollar Yacht Destroyed on Lake Erie.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 14. — (Canadian Press).—Five Detroiters were rescued from a burning yacht in Lake Erie, five miles off Ashtabula, Ohio, on Monday night, according to word which reached their relatives to-day. Those rescued were: Kenneth M. Deves, Mrs. Deves and their two children, Jean, 14 years old, and Paul, 8 years old, and Miss Laura Snyder.

The yacht was the Priscella, owned by Mr. Deves, and valued at $50,000. The party was bound from Detroit to Florida, by way of the Welland Canal and the St. Lawrence River.

The occupants of the yacht fought the flames for hours, and were almost exhausted when help arrived. The flames were only a few inches from the gasoline tank when they were rescued. Mrs. Deves was overcome by smoke, but the rest were uninjured.

RONALD AMUNDSEN IN CHRISTIANIA

Arrived There Monday to Prepare for His Expedition to the North Pole Next July.

CHRISTIANIA, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press). — Captain Ronald Amundsen arrived here unexpectedly on Monday to make preparations for his airplane expedition to the North Pole next July.

The last time the explorer came home he travelled under the assumed name of Johnson, and wore a false beard and spectacles. This time he arrived as Engelbert Gravning so as to avoid being disturbed by the newspaper reporters.

Discussing his plans for the flight and his acceptance of the assistance of a United States naval officer, Captain Amundsen said he hoped to defray the cost of the trip, in part at least, through a special issue of Norwegian stamps. Amundsen said that if he were unable to raise the money he must abandon the expedition as he had no more to invest himself.

WM. WRIGLEY GUM CO. WILL CUT A MELON

Approximately $50,000,000 Will Reach Stockholders at Christmas.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Directors of the William Wrigley, Jr., Company, gum manufacturers, yesterday authorized a stock "melon" of approximately $50,000,000, which will reach the stockholders as a Christmas gift.

The plan announced calls for an increase in the number of shares of capital stock of the company from 600,000 $25 par value each to 1,800,000 of no par value, and the exchange of three shares of new stock for each share of old now held.

The Wrigley stock has been selling at $125 a share. The new issue is expected to bring $40 to $42 a share. The additional 1,200,000 shares, which comprises the "melon," therefore, will be worth from $48,000,000 to $52,000,000.

A special meeting of stockholders has been called for December 4 to approve the plan.

Why go half way?

ALL BRAN is a necessity!

When constipation is ripping the health out of your body you can't afford to temporize! For health's sake—DON'T—when bran, Kellogg's Bran, because it is ALL BRAN, is guaranteed to give you positive, permanent relief!

Know the truth about bran! To be efficacious, to give you sought-for relief, bran must be ALL BRAN! Foods with a part bran content cannot be considered as a relief for constipation sufferers! These foods do not have the bulk or "roughage" to drive out the conditions that are undermining your health!

What you need for 100 per cent relief is 100 per cent bran, and that is what you get when you buy Kellogg's Bran—IT IS ALL BRAN! And it is 100 per cent efficient, as your physician will tell you!

Kellogg's Bran, all cooked, krumbled and ready to eat, is delicious as a cereal or used in baking and cooking. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily, or as much with each meal in chronic cases—and rid yourself of constipation and the toxic poisons that lead to many of the most dreaded human ailments!

Remember—Kellogg's Bran is ALL BRAN and guaranteed to give you 100 per cent relief! DON'T GO HALF-WAY! All grocers.

A CLOSER BOND.

During the course of his address at the Grand Opera House on Sunday Hon. Dr. Beland made an eloquent plea for a closer relationship and better understanding between the French and English-speaking peoples of Canada.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Dr. Beland's colleague, has been for some time in the Western Provinces devoting himself to a platform discussion of this same question, and he has apparently lost no opportunity of driving home the need of a closer bond between the two chief racial elements of the country.

Pleas of this kind should not be necessary, but, unfortunately, they are needed, and Dr. Beland and Hon. Mr. Lapointe are to be congratulated upon taking advantage of their visit to English-speaking communities to drive home the lesson of unity.

Hon. Mr. Lapointe suggests that the work should be taken up by such organizations as the Canadian Club, the members of which might "be the light that should guide the uncertain to an honest, loyal and patriotic citizenship."

That suggestion and his statement that "Canada's imperative need is union and a concentration of its forces to solve the pressing problems of today," should not be overlooked by organizations or individual Canadians.

There is much that remains to be done along this line in Canada.

NOT TOO EARLY TO START.

With municipal election day drawing steadily nearer, there is no indication on the surface at least of an awakening interest in the question of what candidates are to be in the field.

It is unfortunate indeed that this should be the case.

A much healthier sign would be the announcement of a number of candidates that they are likely to enter the municipal sweepstakes.

Peterborough people usually begin displaying some zeal in this connection when it is too late to accomplish anything, generally after nomination day, when there are loud lamentations as to the lack of quality in the ranks of the aspirants for office.

It is none too early for citizens to begin seriously thinking of the municipal elections, to consider whether there is a personal call upon themselves to serve, or whether the best interests of the community will be served by securing the candidature of qualified men with the ability and the desire to help in Peterborough's civic administration.

There are plenty of such men in Peterborough; now is the time to sound them out and to impress them with their responsibility as citizens.

Leaving it until the last week can only have one result—the usual one—of confining the race to a handful of candidates, some of them hopeless so far as business ability or constructive ideas are concerned.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

The opening of the reconstructed Salvation Army Temple was an event in which the citizens of Peterborough generally took a deep interest.

The fact that less than ten months after the temple had been practically destroyed by fire it was possible to open for use a new and finer building reflects great credit upon the generosity of the people of this city and upon the enterprise and energy and zeal of the local Salvation Army.

The destruction of the former building might well have dismayed even more enthusiastic workers than those of the Peterborough corps—if indeed there are anywhere workers more enthusiastic.

But they refused to be daunted by disaster, the people of Peterborough rallied behind them, a campaign was quickly under way and carried through to triumphal success, building operations were launched and today finds the Salvation Army with one of the most complete plants in Canada.

The whole affair has been a striking demonstration of what can be accomplished by community spirit intelligently directed.

By the Salvation Army it should be accepted not only as an earnest of the faith imposed in it by the citizens generally, but as a mandate to continue and enlarge its works on behalf of humanity.

There is a large field of activity for the Salvation Army in this city, and with the advantage given it by the possession of such a splendid building the efforts of the organization should be even more successful in the future.

"BID US REMEMBER."

Today Europe is freighted with trouble and turbulence. Sovietism, foundationed by bloodshed, triumphant in Russia; dictatorship, defiant of one of the cardinal precepts of the Treaty of Versailles, enthroned in Italy; Turkey, arrogant and militant, restored to pre-war power; unrest in the Balkans; France in the Ruhr; Germany, a victim of her own evil, threatened by dissolution; England burdened with unemployment and social unrest—such is the legacy of strife and anguish bequeathed by the Storm of the Peoples.

Yet a reading of history prohibits pessimism for the future, says the Ottawa Journal. For if we look back upon the state of Europe and the world following the great wars of the past three centuries—the Thirty Years War, and the Napoleonic Wars notably—and compare the consequences of the last great struggle and the peace which followed with, say, the results which flowed from the Holy Alliance, or the Congress of Vienna, compare the motives and aims of statesmen then with the purposes and endeavors of statesmen today, there is some room for optimism. Therefore, instead of joining the wailing Jeremiahs who shout that we have had a "peace to end peace," and that the world marches to desolation, rather let us remember that so far as in us lay, we acquitted ourselves like men, and handed on the torch of life with as good a grace as we could muster.

In Marjorie Pickthall's poem, "When It Is Finished," there is a message for us all.

"When it is finished, Father, and we set
The war-stained buckler and the bright blade by,
Bid us remember then what bloody sweat,
What thorns, what agony,
Purchased our wreaths of harvest and ripe ears:
Whose empty hands, whose empty hearts, whose tears
In this Gethsemane
Ransomed the days to be.

We leave them to Thee, Saviour. We've no price,
No utmost treasure of the seas or lands,
No words, no deeds, to pay their sacrifice.
Only while England stands,
Their pearl, their pride, their altar—not their grave—
Bid us remember in what hours they gave
All that mankind may give
That we might live."

SPREADING FALSE INFORMATION.

Though the sentence passed by Mr. Justice Kelly of the Ontario Assize Court at Peterborough Assizes, on a Bernard Markson, convicted of circulating false information, was light, it was sufficient to satisfy public sentiment and possibly put a check on an infamous practice that has been rapidly growing of recent years. Markson on February last sent an article to a Toronto publication, "The Worker," in which he painted industrial conditions in Peterborough in a grotesquely deplorable light. The sufferings of the "wage slaves" in that prosperous manufacturing city were depicted in terms obviously intended to drive away any mechanic intending to accept employment there. On the witness stand Markson claimed to be a British subject, but refused to disclose his real nationality. Since he admitted having written articles on Russian history and the Russian revolution it is assumed that he is one of the many emissaries sent out by Lenin and Trotsky to start agitations against capital and paralyze industry in other countries.

Justice Kelly was in a lenient mood and sentenced him to only two months' imprisonment; no doubt taking into consideration the fact that slander has become such a common habit in anti-capitalistic agitation that many agitators regard it as legitimate and are unaware that it is an offence against the law. It is to be hoped that Markson's case as well as similar cases in Nova Scotia will receive sufficient publicity to make the people of Canada realize once and for all that statutes against the spreading of false information, not only exist, but are to be enforced.

In the cases of smaller manufacturing centres like Peterborough falsehoods with regard to industrial conditions are much more serious than in large cities like Montreal and Toronto. In the big centres they are the small currency of all "Red" speeches; and they do not keep anyone away from these cities. But in the smaller cities the labor problem is more acute, and false intelligence aimed to keep journeymen mechanics from accepting employment strike at the whole fabric of local prosperity. Peterborough, for instance, like many another town in Eastern Canada, largely owes its prosperity to its local industries; and any effort aimed at forcing those industries to close down or curtail production is a menace to the whole community. The mischief of "Red" agitation becomes crystallized into a menace to the town's growth and prosperity.

The most singular phase of the trial of Markson was the defence offered in behalf of the prisoner by his counsel, J. G. O'Donoghue, the well-known labor lawyer of Toronto. He justified the conduct of his client on the ground that he was merely endeavoring to serve a world-movement which has for its object the abolition of the system of wages and capitalism. The propagandists of this movement he said, "see that from the Old World system have come poverty and destitution, and seek a way to do away with it. They wish to take away the idea of profit, which impels a man to grab, and substitute for it an idea of service." Mr. O'Donoghue was undoubtedly using a deft argument when he said that certain great Christian churches had expressed their views on this point in language as strong as that of "The Worker."

Whatever follies certain of the great Christian churches may have committed were, however, of small consequence to the Peterborough jury, thinking of the interests of their own town; nor did the fact that there is in progress a world-movement against capital furnish in their eyes a valid excuse for slandering their city. The industrial workers of Peterborough and other Canadian manufacturing towns, live in comfortable homes, surrounded by gardens, get good wages, have first-rate educational facilities for their children; and in no respect are slaves, unless the obligation to work is slavery.

In such towns, relations between capital and labor were amicable until the advent of professional inflammatory liars and agitators like Markson; and it is to be hoped that more of his ilk will be taught that the laws against spreading false information are not a dead letter in Canada.—Toronto Saturday Night.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The people of Holland cannot be blamed very much for wanting to see the last of the ex-Kaiser.

The Brockville Recorder boasts that there are people who have read the Recorder for fifty years. The hardihood of some of the residents of Brockville is astounding.

According to some reports from the North Country, the deer have apparently gone somewhere else to celebrate Thanksgiving Day.

The Parkdale Canoe Club showed questionable sporting spirit in its attempt to use Conacher against the Hamilton Rowing Club. Incidents of that kind have earned the uncomplimentary nickname, "Hog Town," for the Queen City.

Judging from the price of eggs, Ontario hens should be sent some of those Government bulletins on greater production.

Little Willie is back in Germany, but his value has likely shrunk even more than that of the paper mark.

The chief feature of a community fund that should commend it is that it will do away with the incessant demand from this, that and the other institution for financial assistance.

The absence of any civic recognition of the events of Armistice Day is being commented upon.

HOW EDITORS GET RICH.

Many persons have wondered (seeing editors driving about in automobiles, attending all the baseball and football games, and having a good time generally) how they make all their money. The editor of the Chanute Tribune, Mr. Herb. Caveness (not a millionaire yet) has let the cat out of the bag. He writes in his paper:

For running a six-inch advertisement for one year we can get a gross of pills.

About one dozen firms are wanting to give us shares in gold mines for advertising.

For $40 worth of advertising and $35 cash we can own a bicycle. (The wheel sells for just $12.)

A fellow out West wants us to run a lot of advertising for him for nothing, and if it brings results he may become a regular customer.

For running $512 worth of locals we can get two tickets admitting us to a circus in a city and—pay our fare both ways on the railroad.

A gun firm wants us to run $10 worth of advertising and then send $10 in exchange for a shotgun. (Such a gun would retail for about $6.)

By running $50 worth of advertising and sending $25 to an Atlantic City firm we will be given a deed to a lot. (When the tide is in the lot is six feet under water.)

When a man dies the undertaker gets from $75 to $150 to bury him and the editor gets nothing for publishing long obituary notices.—Exchange.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, November 14.— Except for 130 cattle among the scalpers, the Union Stock Yards was sold out last week. The receipts up till yesterday morning for this week were lighter, being 5,352 cattle, 580 calves, 3,887 hogs ,and 2,531 sheep and lambs.

About fifteen loads of Western stockers came in on Monday, but these were forwarded on to Lancaster, Pa. The total billed through cattle were 1,751 head, and included in these were a good many for this market. The exporters had about 170 contracted for in the country, and a number of other export cattle had the through billing, although on sale here.

For a load of good medium butchers' steers, $5.75 a cwt. was paid, and for export ,a number of loads of short keeps were bought with the top at $5.60 a cwt. Choice handy weight butchers made $6.00 and a little over, and medium butchers were taken about a cent a pound under this. A few baby beeves were on the market, and these sold from $8.00 to $9.00 a cwt. Stockers and feeders were quoted unchanged from last week. Trade was not brisk yesterday morning ,and less than half the offering was sold up till noon.

Choice veals were wanted yesterday, but few were offering and the buyers were waiting for road deliveries. Medium and heavy calves well finished, buyers refused to pay over 6 cents . Choice calves were worth up to 11 cents and good mediums about 9 cents.

It took a long time to make a market on lambs yesterday. Packers wanted them at 10 1-2 cents a pound and sellers held as high as 11 1-4 cents. A number sold at 11 cents, and the settling price seemed to be 10 1-2 cents to 11 cents. Heavy Manitoulin lambs sold at 10 1-2 cents.

Sellers said they had to submit to the local packers' bids for hogs yesterday, and $7.75 a cwt. f.o.b. was the price named, with 50 cents added for fed and watered. Large deliveries and less demand from outside packers has weakened the market.

WINNIPEG ,November 14 (Canadian Press). — Receipts, 4,700 cattle and calves, 1,850 hogs, and 330 sheep and lambs.

The general run of killing classes maintained a steady tone on the cattle market yesterday morning, but plain offerings were not wanted, and prices showed a weaker tendency.

Sheep and lambs were in fair demand at $10.50 for lambs and $5.00 to $6.50 for sheep.

On the hog market packers were bidding $7.50 for thick smooths and $8.25 for select bacons, a decline of 10 cents from the close of last week.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, November 14 (Canadian Press). — A moderate trade was done in oats here yesterday. There was no important change in the condition of the local flour market. Trade in millfeed was reported quiet, but a fair business was passing in rolled oats . Conditions of the baled hay market was unchanged. Trade in storage eggs was fairly active, and a good trade was done in potatoes.

A very firm feeling prevails in the butter market.

Egg quotations yesterday were: Extras 42, firsts 37, seconds 30 to 32.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, November 14 (Canadian Press).—Cattle, receipts 13,000; fed yearlings fairly active, steady to strong; matured steers steady to weak; top, $12.25, paid for long $11.50; youngsters numerous at $9.50 yearlings; few weighty steers above to $11.00; bulk fat cows, $3.25 to $4.50; bulk grass and short fed heifers, $4.50 to $6.00; bulls unevenly weak to 15c lower; bulk bologna bulls, $3.25 to $3.50; bulk vealers, $8.50 to $9.00 to packers.

Hogs, receipts 52,000; mostly 15c to 25c lower; bulk good and choice 200 to 340 pound butchers, $7.00 to $7.30; top, $7.30; better grades 160 to 190 pound average, $6.60 to $6.95; bulk packing sows, $6.40 to $6.60; better grades weighty slaughter pigs $5.5 0to $6.00; estimated hold-over, $5.50 to $6.00; estimated hold-over, 17,000.

Sheep, receipts 10,000; fat lambs 15c to 25c higher; cull natives and fat sheep strong to 25c higher; feeding lambs strong to 10c higher; feed- and choice fat lambs, $13.00 to $13.25; good yearling wethers $11.00; choice light weight ewes, $7.00; heavies around $5.00; feeding lambs, $12.25 to $13.10.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, November 14 (Canadian Press). — Undoing of spreads between wheat and corn yesterday involving the purchase of wheat and the selling of corn helped to strengthen wheat values, but tended to weaken the corn market.

Wheat closed firm, 1-2c to 5-8c to 7-8c higher, December $1.03 1-8 to $1.02 1-8 to 1-4, and May $1.08 3-8 to $1.08 1-2.

Corn finished unchanged to 3-8c lower; oats unchanged; and provisions varying from 7c decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Traders who previously had sold wheat were the chief buyers of that cereal throughout the day ,and in the absence of any aggressive new pressure from bears the market showed gains all the time, except for one moderate setback about the middle of the session. Some buying here on the part of Winnipeg houses also was regarded as the closing up of spreads. This, together with relative firmness of Liverpool quotations on wheat, tended further to lift values in Chicago .

There were reports, too, from Minneapolis o a brisk demand for choice milling wheat, and some talk was current of liberal export buying of bour at the seaboard .

A big increase of the United States visible supply of wheat failed to have much effect on the market, apparently having been taken for granted. On the other hand the possibility of food relief measures for Germany attracted some notice, and was a factor in making shorts nervous.

Reports indicating that rains were less general than had been expected took away much of the bullish aspect of the corn market. Besides receipts were a little larger, and the south-west predicted curtailment of the feeding demand.

Oats were steadied by the smallness of arrivals and by a reduction of the visible supply total.

In the provision market, packers' buying of lard counterbalanced somewhat the effect of lower quotations on hogs.

INSURANCE CLAIM WAS DISALLOWED.

Policy of $50,000 on Man Who Is In Advanced Stage of Cancer.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—(Canadian Press)— The appeal of the Ontario Metal Products Co. versus Mutual Life Insurance Co., of New York came up in the Supreme Court today. The President of the appellant company insured his life for $50.000 making it payable to the company. He died some two years after, and the insurance company refused payment on the ground that his physical condition had been misrepresented by his replies to the questions in the application.

An action was brought on the policy and at the trial it was shown that it was discovered that deceased had cancer of the bowels so far advanced than an operation was impossible. There was also evidence that he had been under treatment by a doctor for a debilitated and anaemic condition which was not disclosed in the application.

The Ontario Metal Products C succeeded at the trial, but its act was dismissed by the Ontario Appellate division. The argument will be continued to-morrow.

LIMITED PROTECTION IS BALDWIN'S POLICY

Complicated Question to the Majority of British Voters Who Have Only Few Weeks to Comprehend It.

LABOR'S WEALTH TAX

LONDON, Nov. 13.—(Canadian Press).—The voters of Great Britain must make up their minds on the enormously complicated policy of protection, and must make them up in very few days. Probably a majority of the voters who will go to the polls on December 8 have no special education on this subject, because it has not been a conspicuous issue in British politics since Joseph Chamberlain was swept under by the free trade flood in 1906.

A new generation of men voters and some millions of women have succeeded those who thought they saw at that time either salvation or disaster in protection.

Moreover, economic conditions have vastly changed. Protection today is a new issue, say the politicians, because 1923 is not 1906; then there was time for a long preliminary period of discussion.

Labor Alternative.

The strong point of Premier Baldwin's campaign is that he proposes an immediate remedy for the blight of unemployment, which is reaching a critical stage. Against him stands the Labor Party, which does But rest on the old free trade arcolment of the "Hands Off" syscol , under which Great Britain be- T the greatest financial power of spit world, but offers as an alternamer a levy on capital. Against him ter are the Liberals, who have ers pounded no specific panacea, but nev at out the dangers in a hurried Au rsal of the country's fiscal prinwhles.

the Mr. Baldwin's protection is limiting protection; he stands by his th omise not to tax wheat or meat. ld as a special hint that the old ree trade war cry against a tax on ood no longer applies, a special committee which meets tomorrow under the chairmanship of Lord Milner is officially termed "a committee to advise His Majesty's Government in connection with the preparation of proposed duties on manufactured goods."

There is the novel feature in the plans for new protection that the taxes gathered from this source are not to be devoted to subsidizing other branches of industry and writing off existing duties on some of the necessaries of life. The new balance sheet is to show in one col- large revenues from the tariff on manufactured goods, with incidental impetus to home factories and increased employment, and in the other column subsidies for the relief of agriculture, development of cotton growing within the Empire and a reduction of duties on tea and sugar.

Why Not Britain?

Already imperial preference, as decided upon when the Imperial Conference met, is being forgotten under the absorbing interest in the far-sweeping changes. There was some complaint that imperial preference gave all the advantages to Dominions, none to the Motherland Country. One of the arguments that will be most used in the campaign will be that other great nations protect their industries by tariffs, why not Great Britain?

Labor's scheme for a capital levy, so far as it has developed, appears to be impressment by the Government of a certain percentage of fortunes of £5,000 and more, which the Labor leaders argue is merely a form of taxation and a perfectly legitimate one.

The general view is that the reunited Liberal Party, whose union is likely to lack vitality because the seating of the enmities between many of the Asquith and Lloyd George supporters can hardly be deep and wholly sincere, is an outsider so far as chances of winning the election goes, particularly if the party brings forth no plan for dealing with unemployment and the depression among the farmers.

Whisper "Communism."

The Unionist orators will make the most of frightening the people with small and large fortunes over the threat of a capital levy, and the dread word "Communism." Already there is talk of resignations from the Cabinet by the free trade members, conspicuous among whom are the Earl of Derby and Lord Robert Cecil, and undoubtedly some of the politicians will be forced by their convictions and by consistency to step across from one party to another.

One of the day's rumors in Westminster was that the Cecil brothers, Lord Robert and Lord Hugh, and the Earl of Derby at the Cabinet meeting protested bitterly against receiving the prodigal son, Birkenhead, back to the family board.

ASQUITH AND LLOYD GEORGE FACTION OF LIBERAL PARTY

LONDON, November 13 (Canadian Press). — Asquith and Lloyd-George factions of the Liberal Party sank their differences this morning, and re-united to present a solid front against the Conservative Protectionists, as well as the Labour Party in the coming election.

Reconciliation was affected at a meeting of the former Premiers, Asquith and Lloyd-George, Sir Alfred Mond, and Sir John Simon.

Arrangements were made for a united campaign by all Liberals.

Nineteen Moose Escape Hunters

SUDBURY, Nov. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Hunting conditions in the Metagama district have been bad since the recent snow disappeared, but game seems plentiful. One report reached here today of a herd of 19 moose being seen. Unfortunately hunters got none of them. Two big parties from New York will go into the woods in this district next week.

BRITAIN SENDS NOTE TO GREECE

Expresses Confidence in Young King With Hint That He Be Sustained.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The British Government has instructed its Charge D'Affaires in Athens to inform the Greek Government that, while it has not altered its opinion with regard to the evil effects of the return to Greece of the late King Constantine, it does not entertain a like view concerning the present King, who it believes capable with proper support, of re-establishing Greece in the good opinion of the Allies.

Although the British Government has not the slightest desire to interfere in the internal affairs of Greece, officials here declare that royal dethronements, revolutions and political feuds are not calculated to win back Allied support to that unhappy country.

Greece, they say, is one nation that Premier Baldwin had specifically in mind when, in his Guild Hall speech, he said:

"These States must work out their own destiny. They are all or nearly all impoverished by war and they will need financial aid for their rehabilitation. But when their agent comes knocking at the door, in London, or wherever it may be, the first question that will be asked and the first guarantee that will be required will be that of internal order and security."

NEW PREFERENCE IS THRUST ASIDE.

Will Be Delayed Unless Adopted Before British Parliament Dissolves.

LONDON, November 13. (Special Cable to the Canadian Press by Geo. Hambleton, staff correspondent.) — Dissolution of the British Parliament will delay the coming into effect of the British government offer of increased preference which was made to the overseas dominions at the Economic Conference.

The offer requires legislation to give it effect and with the dissolution of Parliament on Friday next, there is no likelihood of a bill being introduced into the House of Commons this session.

If the Baldwin government is returned to power, however, there is no doubt the offer will form part of the wide protection scheme to be introduced in the next budget.

First Aid Work Medals to Eleven C.N.R. Girls.

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Eleven young ladies, members of the general offices' staff of the Canadian National Railways were presented with medallions yesterday afternoon for having successfully passed the third year examinations in First Aid work of the St. John Ambulance Association. The presentation which took place in the board room at general headquarters was made individually by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways.

Sir Henry took advantage of the occasion to express his appreciation of the value of First Aid work particularly to a railway organization. He dwelt upon the splendid record which members of the Canadian National Railways have won and maintained in First Aid work and he ventured to hope that their efforts would not only be continued but would be further advanced.

HEAVY WEEK IN CHEESE EXPORT

Exceeded Previous Week But No Butter Shipped From Montreal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 13. — The movement of cheese for export account last week was much in excess of general expectations, the total shipments amounting to 61,607 boxes, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 37,201 boxes with the same week last year, while the grand total shipments from May last, to Nov. 10th, 1923, have been 67,650 boxes larger than the same period of 1922 and 178,517 boxes smaller than 1921.

The export trade in butter with the United Kingdom has continued dull, there being no shipments again last week, but a fair quantity was forwarded to the United States. The total shipments to Europe for the season up to Nov. 10 were 71,760 packages as against 317,243 packages for the same period last year, showing a decrease of 245,483 packages and an increase of 5,873 packages with 1921.

The shipments of eggs last week were much larger, there being 22,909 cases exported which show an increase of 15,259 cases, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 5,002 cases with the same week last year, but the total for the season has been 38,182 cases smaller than 1922, and 43,995 cases below 1921.

BAVARIA QUIET UNDER VONKAHR

Ludendorff Questioned About Revolt But No Indictment Indicated.

MUNICH, Bavaria, Nov. 13.—The situation in Bavaria was considerably more tranquil to-day. Dr. von Kahr, the Dictator, apparently is succeeding in defending his authority in the face of the uncompromising discontent of the followers of Adolph Hitler, who are keeping up desultory political warfare against Von Kahr and General von Lossow, Commander of the Bavarian Reichswehr.

With Hitler locked up at some unnamed point outside Munich and with General Ludendorff under rigid surveillance, any armed resistance from the Hitlerites is not being looked for at the present time. Dr. Von Kahr has ordered the University and the War Academy closed temporarily.

General Ludendorff was informally cross-examined by the prosecuting attorney to-day with regard to his connection with last week's 'putsch' although it was stated that neither the Bavarian nor the Central Government has given any indication as to its attitude toward the question of indicting the participants in the "putsch."

END "GIRL BEHIND THE COUNTER" CASE

'Pretty Blonde' in Hamilton Store Awarded $1500 —Appeal Refused.

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Leave to appeal the $1,500 "flirtation" judgment in the case of Garland versus Stanley Mills was refused yesterday in the Supreme Court.

The Stanley Mills Co. it was alleged put a card in its shop window saying in effect that a customer not satisfied might relieve his feelings by flirting with the "pretty blonde" behind the glove counter. The plaintiff who was at that counter and was a blonde, believed that she was the person referred to, especially as a man claimed the right to flirt with her. She brought an action for damages and was awarded $1,500 which the Ontario Appellate Division confirmed.

500,000 Slain By Reds Since 1918

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Some idea of the redness of the Soviet Government of Russia is furnished by statistics published today in the Echo National.

In the trial in Switzerland of Conradi, the murderer of Vorowsky during the Lausanne Conference, Prof. Sorokine of Prague, who lived in Russia until recently, declared that between 500,000 and 600,000 persons had been shot or massacred by order of the Communist leaders since 1918.

The figures quoted by Prof. Sorokine were based on statistics furnished by the Soviets themselves. He also testified that the Russian population under Red rule had decreased by 16,000,000 to 18,000,000.

POINCARE WINS DECISION OVER HIS OPPONENTS

Supported By the French Chamber in Demand For Restriction of Interpellations to One Day a Week.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Premier Poincare, riding rough-shod over all opposition, scored a signal victory at the re-opening of the French Chamber yesterday. He succeeded in placing the discussion of the supplementary credits of the 1924 budget at the top of the order of the day and absolutely refused to discuss interpellation, except on one day each week, which means in effect indefinite postponement, as interpellations would probably average one for each sitting, and therefore only four or five could be disposed of before the December recess.

M. Poincare's uncompromising attitude, however, caused crystallization of all the opposition groups, the radicals, Clemenceau adherents, Socialists and Communists, led by Herriot, Tardieu, Blum and Cachin, voting solidly against the Government for the largest minority on a question of confidence since the Ruhr occupation.

Majority Reduced.

The Premier made his request that Friday of each week be set aside for discussion of the interpellations, numbering forty, a question of confidence involving responsibility of the Government, and he was supported by the Chamber by a vote of 379 to 165.

M. Herriot led the charge against the Government, insisting that discussion of the Amnesty Bill be taken up immediately, but M. Poincare steadfastly refused, demanding that the order of the day as elaborated by the Government be left undisturbed.

The order of the day, as presented by the Government, in which a majority of the Chamber concurred, calls for, first, discussion of the 1924 budget's supplementary credits; second, a tax on revenues, and, third, reform of the electoral law. The next attack upon the Government by the Left groups will be on the first item, calling for extraordinary credits to the amount of nearly 1,500,000,000 francs over the 1923 budget, adopted as a standard for 1924. This amount is made up of expenditures in Morocco, totalling 352,000,000, and in the Sarre Valley and Near East, 248,000,000, and an item described as "extraordinary expenses," 847,000,000. The latter includes the expenses of the Ruhr occupation since June, amounting to nearly half a billion francs.

Government Safe.

The Opposition groups are training their guns on these expenditures with little chance of success. It is admitted even in the most bitterly oppositional quarters that the Poincare Government is safe at least until the elections.

AWAIT GERMAN DELEGATES TO START ENQUIRY

Reparations Commission Will Appoint Expert Committee After the Germans Are Heard In About Ten Days.

ADHERE TO TREATY.

PARIS, Nov. 14. — Action on Premier Poincare's suggestion that the Reparation Commission appoint an expert committee to conduct an inquiry into the reparation question, was deferred by the Commission yesterday until German delegates shall have been heard regarding the Reich's capacity to pay.

The suggestion, made through Louis Barthou was that the expert committee be charged with estimation of the "present" capacity of the British representative is under-Germany and Sir John Bradbury, stood to have declared that it would provide for an even closer restriction of the inquiry than that proposed by the French in the case of the Hughes plan.

German Foreign Assets

The French idea was that, after estimating the present resources of Germany at home and abroad, the committee should fix the amounts Germany could pay during the ensuing three years. M. Barthou dwelt especially on the necessity of ascertaining the total German assets in foreign countries. Any new scheme for the payment of reparations based on the committee's report, he said should take into account the old schedule fixed at the London Conference of May 1921.

The German request for a hearing was granted without opposition with out restriction, the date being left open in order to allow them to make arrangements for their representation, but it is though the first hearing will take place in about ten days.

Sir John Bradbury, following M. Barthou's presentation of the French suggestion, declared he thought that under the present circumstances the article of the treaty by virtue of which the Germans ask for a hearing had been rendered practically useless by the action of some of the Powers evidently referring to the Franco-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr. However, he said absention would be tantamount to voting against hearing the Germans, hence he would vote for it.

As to M. Barthou's suggestion, he regarded it as something like the prescription made by a certain philosopher of pills as a remedy for earthquakes.

Probe All Causes

He held that the Commission should without fear or favor, execute its mission investigating all of the causes which have led to the present condition of Germany and fearlessly apply or recommend what ever remedies it may deem necessary after investigation.

The impression in reparation circles after to-day's meeting was that the Commission was losing effectiveness, and that the reparation question could ad would be settled only by the governments.

French comment on M. Barthou's proposition was unavailable but it is understood that M. Poincare's idea is that the Germans having been heard, an expert committee such as proposed will be able to do all that can be done at the present moment under the treaty which he maintains must remain untouched under all circumstances.

When Germany's present situation is brought out, then it will be for the Germans themselves, he holds, to indicate what further procedure is necessary either by showing their will to pay or by persevering in their resistance.

TWO HUNTERS DEAD.

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont., November 14. — Two hunters met sudden deaths here during the week end. Alfred Atkinson of North Pines, was found dead by his friends. His rifle discharged accidentally, it is believed. Julius McCush, of Sioux Lookout, was also found dead, but is believed to have died of heart failure brought on by fright.

Drowned Under Car In Return From Wedding.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.— Pinned underneath his automobile when an accident to the steering gear sent it through a bridge railing, W. Welsh 23, was drowned in a creek 35 miles east of here, Monday. Three companions received minor injuries. The men were on their way home from a wedding.

WOMAN CARRIES TYPHOID

Nineteen Cases in Jamestown Traced to Farmer's Wife.

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 14.—Nineteen cases of typhoid fever which occurred last summer in the city of Jamestown had their source in a "carrier" who, as wife of a dairy farmer, washed milk cans and machines and assisted in the dairy, according to Dr. Matthias Nicoll, Jr., State Health Commissioner.

Analysis of water from a new source of supply for the city, the Commissioner said, definitely excluded the water system as the transmitting agent. Further investigation disclosed that an article of diet common to all cases of typhoid was milk from one particular dairy. Investigation of the physical condition of every person connected with the dairy revealed that the dairyman's wife, previous to her marriage, had been a nurse and while caring for typhoid patients years ago had become ill herself and subsequently became a typhoid "carrier."

Injured Moose Chased Hunter

SUDBURY, Nov. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Chief of Police James Smith of Walkerville was the only one to bring down a moose in the party of seven police hunters just back from camp north of Capreol. This party has in the past years been regarded as the luckiest of lucky. After Smith brought the moose down another police officer approached it, and the animal's lunge was the signal for start of the fastest half mile yet done in the woods.

BERLIN UNABLE TO SUBSIDIZE RHINE STATES

SECRET CONFERENCE.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—After permitting to go unchallenged throughout the day reports to the effect that the German Government was about to proclaim an autonomous Rhineland and Ruhr State within the German Federation, an official communication issued to-night threw a strange light upon a secret conference which was in progress at the Chancellry all day. At the conference President Ebert and Chancellor Stresemann and others of the Cabinet discussed at great length with the premiers of the federated states and a committee comprising Rhineland and Ruhr leaders, the question of liquidating the economic chaos of the occupied zones.

By indirection the German Government in its statement virtually admits its inability to "support" the Ruhr and Rhineland any longer, and to-day's action is considered as having resolved itself into an abandonment of those territories and leaving their populations to their own fate and at the mercy of the occupying powers.

The official statement lays stress on the catatrophic social conditions resulting from increasing unemployment in all lines and the general chaos which has followed in the wake of the abandonment of passive resistance and the subsequent inability to arrive at a working understanding with the occupying powers with respect to a resumption of industrail activities and the reinstatement of the German civil service employes.

The German Government declines to discuss the subject of an autonomous state. It declares that this is an issue which is wholly determined through the application of Paragraph 18. of the Federal Constitution, and that the question of such a state has no present bearing on the situation in the Ruhr and the Rhineland.

To Become Wealthy

Is an Ambition That is Cherished by Many.

You, perhaps, have the same ambition. At least, you want to be well-to-do later on, and able to enjoy comfort and independence.

What Are Your Chances?

Experience shows that of 100 average healthy men 25 years of age, the following will be true at 65:

1 only will be wealthy.

4 will be well-to-do.

5 will be compelled to go on working for a living.

36 will be dead.

54 will be dependent upon friends, relatives or charity.

Facing These Facts

Can you afford to go along without a definite plan of saving and investment, uncertain whether you will be well-off or an object of charity?

There need be no such uncertainty about your future if you adopt the safe and definite plan of setting aside a deposit regularly each year for a Canada Life "Endowment at 65."

It will guarantee you in cash at age 65 the sum of $2,000—$5,000—$10,000 or more.

It is a certainty—the full amount of your policy will be paid in any case, whether you live or die. Other investments may depreciate in value or fail. The will take care of your home, your business, or your personal interests, as nothing else can.

Substantial dividends are allotted at intervals.

If these be allowed to remain at your credit each year instead of being withdrawn, the face of the policy will be payable earlier than the date set.

"BLACK OXEN"

by GERTRUDE ATHERTON

At a first night performance in New York a beautiful young woman attracts attention by rising and leisurely surveying the audience through her glasses. Clavering newspaper columnist and his cousin Dinwiddie are particularly interested Dinwiddie declaring that she is the image of Mary Ogden a belle of thirty years ago who had married a Count Zattiany and lived abroad. He is convinced that this is Mary's daughter. At Clavering's suggestion Mrs. Oglethorpe a friend of Mary Ogden's in her youth is asked to solve the mystery. She calls on the young woman receives a denial that she is Mary Ogden's daughter but beyond that learns nothing.

Clavering determined to find out who she is follows her home from the theatre one night. Luck is with him for she has forgotten her keys and he helps her get into the house. She invites him in and finally tells him she is the Countess Josef Zattiany a cousin of Mary Ogden's; that she had married a relative of Mary's husband.

"He had my orders," she said coolly. "I am obliged to pass some time in New York and I have my reasons for remaining obscure."

"Then you should have avoided first-nights."

"But I understood that Society did not attend first-nights. So Judge Trent informed me. I love the play. Judge Trent told me that first-nights were very amusing and that I would be sure to be seen by no one I had ever met in European Society."

"Probably not," he said drily, and feeling decidedly nettled at her calm assumption that nothing but the society of fashion counted. "But the people who do attend them are a long sight more distinguished in the only way that counts these days, and the women are often as well dressed as any in the sacrosanct preserves."

"Oh, I noticed that," she said quickly. "Charming intelligent faces, a great variety of types, and many—but many—quite admirable gowns. But who are they, may I ask? I thought there was nothing between New York Society and the poor but—well, the bourgeoise."

He informed her.

"Ah! You see—Well, I always heard that your people of the artistic and intellectual class were rather eccentric—rather cultivated a pose."

"Once, maybe. They all make too much money these days. But there are freaks, if you care to look for them. Some of the suddenly prosperous authors and dramatists have rather dizzy looking wives; and I suppose you saw those two girls from Greenwich Village that sat across the aisle from you tonight?"

She shuddered. "One merely looked like a Hottentot, but the other!—with that thin upper layer of her short black hair dyed a greenish white, and her haggard degenerate green face. What do they do in Greenwich Village? Is

"For a moment she had shrunk back in alarm."

"It was once a colony of real artists, but the big fish left and the minnows swim slimily about, giving off nothing but their own sickly phosphorescence."

"How interesting. A sort of Latin Quarter, although I never saw anything in Paris quite like those dreadful girls."

"Probably not. As a race we are prone to exaggerations. But are you not going to tell me your name?"

She had finished her supper and was leaning against the high back of her chair her long slender but oddly powerful looking hands folded lightly on the black velvet of her lap. Once more he was struck by her absolute repose.

"But certainly. I am the Countess Zattiany."

"The Countess Zattiany!"

"The Countess Josef Zattiany to be exact. I went to Europe when I was a child and when I finished school visited my cousin Mary Zattiany—I belong to the Virginian branch of her mother's family—at her palace in Vienna and married her cousin's nephew."

"Ah! That accounts for the resemblance!" exclaimed Clavering. And then quite abruptly he did not believe a word of it.

"Resemblance?"

"Yes poor old Dinwiddie was completely bowled over when you stood up and surveyed the house that night. Thought he had seen a ghost of his old flame. I had to take him out in the alley and give him a drink."

She met his eyes calmly. "That was the cause of his interest? Cousin Mary always said that the likeness to herself as a young woman was rather remarkable that we might be mother and daughter instead of only third cousins."

"Ah—yes—exactly Is—is she with you?"

"No alas! She is in a sanitarium in Vienna and likely to remain there for a long time. When Judge Trent wrote that it would be well for her interests if she came to New York she asked me to come instead and gave me her power of attorney. As my husband was killed in the first year of the war and I had no other ties I can assure you I was glad to come. She shivered slightly. "Oh yes! Vienna! To see so much misery and to be able to give so little help! But now that Mary's and my own fortune are restored I can assure you it gives me the greatest satisfaction of my life to send a large share of our incomes to our agent in Vienna."

This time there was an unmistakable ring of truth in her deep tones. And she was human. Clavering had begun to doubt it notwithstanding her powerful disturbing magnetism. But was he falling in love with her? He was attracted dazzled and he still felt romantic. But love! In spite of his suspicions she seemed to move on a plane infinitely remote.

"Shall you stay here?"

"Oh for a time yes. I cannot see Cousin Mary and even Paris is spoiled. Besides Judge Trent wishes me to learn something of business. He is growing old and says that women nowadays take an interest in their investments. I certainly find it highly diverting."

"No doubt. But surely you will not continue to shut yourself up? You could know any one you choose. Judge Trent has only to give you a dinner. Unfortunately most of his respectable friends are a great many years older than yourself"——

"I have no desire to know them. In Paris off and on I met many of those elderly New York ladies of position. They all have the built-up look with hats too small and high for their bony old faces which they do not even soften with power or the charming accessories of the toilet known to every European woman of fashion. And feathers! Why are they so fond of feathers—not charming drooping feathers but a sort of clipped hedge all of a size like a garden plot; sometimes oblong sometimes round? And why do they never look a la mode in spite of their expensive furs and materials?"

"That is the sign manual of their intense respectability. The old regime would not compromise with fashion in all its extravagant changes for the world. Moreover it is their serene belief that they may dress exactly as they choose and they choose to keep an old tradition alive. Are not English duchesses much the same?"

"So. Well I do not bore myself."

"But the younger women. They are the smartest in the world. There is not the least necessity you should bore yourself with the elders. Surely you must long for the society of women of your age."

She moved restlessly for the first time. "They were always in Europe before the war. I met many of them. They did not interest me. I hardly knew what they were talking about."

"But men. Surely a woman as young—and beautiful——"

"Oh men!" Clavering had never heard as profound disillusion in any woman's tones. And then a curious expression of fear flitted through her eyes and she seemed to draw herself together.

"What has some brute of a man done to her?" thought Clavering with furious indignation and feeling more romantic than ever. Could it have been her husband? For a moment he regretted that Count Josef Zattiany had gone beyond human vengeance.

"You are too young to hate men" he stammered. And then he went on with complete banality "You have never met the right man."

"I am older than you perhaps think" she said drily. "And I have known a great many men—and of a variety! But" she added graciously "I shall be glad if you will come and see me sometimes I enjoy your column and I am sure we shall find a great deal to talk about."

Clavering glowed with a pride that almost convinced him he was not as blase as he had hoped. He rose however.

"I'll come as often as you will let me. Make no mistake about that. But I should not have stayed so long. It is very late and you are—well rather unprotected you know. I think you should have a chaperon."

"I certainly shall not. And if I find you interesting enough to talk with until two in the morning I shall do so. Dine with me tomorrow night if you have nothing better to do. And"— She hesitated a moment then added with a curious smile "Bring Mr. Dinwiddie. It is always charitable to lay a ghost. At half after eight?"

She walked with him to the front door and when he held out his hand she lifted hers absently. He was a quick-witted young man and he understood. He raised it lightly to his lips then let himself out. As he was walking rapidly toward Park Avenue wondering if he should tramp for hours—he had never felt less like sleeping—he remembered the broken window. The "crime wave" was terrorizing New York. There was no policeman in sight. To leave her unprotected was unthinkable. He walked back slowly until he reached the lamp-post opposite her house; finally grinning he folded his arms and leaned against it. There he stood until a policeman came strolling along some two hours later. He stated the case and told the officer that if anything happened to the house he would hold him responsible. The man was inclined to be intensely suspicious until Clavering mentioned his newspaper and followed the threat with a bill. Then he promised to watch the house like a hawk and Clavering tired stiff and very cold went home to bed.

VIII.

"Tommy rot. Don't believe a word of it. Mary's mother was one of the Thornhills. Don't believe there ever was a Virginia branch. But I'll soon find out. Also about this Josef Zattiany. That girl is Mary Ogden's daughter."

They were seated in a corner of Mr. Dinwiddie's favorite club where they had met by appointment. Clavering shrugged his shoulders. He had no intention of communicating his own doubts.

"But you'll dine there tonight?"

"Won't I? And I'll keep my ears open."

Clavering privately thought that the Countess Josef Zattiany would be more than a match for him but replied: "After all what does it matter? She is a beautiful and charming woman and no doubt you'll have a very good dinner."

"That's all very well as far as it goes but I've never been so interested in my life. Of course if she's Mary's daughter I'll do anything to befriend her—that is if she'll be honest enough to admit it. But I don't like all this lying and pretence"——

"I think your terms are too strong. There have been extraordinary resemblances before in the history of the world 'doubles' for instance where there was no known relationship. Rather remarkable there are enough faces to go round. And she confesses to be of the same family. At all events you must admit that she has not made use of her alibi to force her way into society."

"Probably knows her alibi won't stand the strain. The women would soon ferret out the truth. . . . What I'm afraid of is that she's got this power of attorney out of Mary when the poor girl was too weak to resist and is over there to corral the entire fortune."

"But surely Judge Trent"——

"Oh Trent! He's a fool where women are concerned. Always was and now he's got to the stage where he can't sit beside a girl without pawing her. They won't have him in the house. Of course his lovely creature's got him under her thump. (I'll see him today and give him a piece of my mind for the lies he's told me.) And if this girl has inherited her mother's brains she's equal to anything."

"I thought that your Mary was composite perfection."

"Never said anything of the sort. Didn't I tell you she always kept us guessing."

"I sometimes used to think that if it hadn't been for her breeding and the standards that involves and her wealth and position she'd have made a first-class adventuress."

"Was she a good liar?"

"She was insolently truthful but I'm certain she wouldn't have hesitated at a whooping lie if it would have served her purpose. She was certainly ruse."

"Well the dinner should be highly interesting with all these under-currents. I'll call for you at a quarter past eight. I must run now to do my column."

Clavering often satirical and ironic was positively brutal that afternoon. The latest play book moving picture the inefficiency of the New York police his afflicting correspondents were hacked to the bone. When he had finished his jangling nerves were unaccountably soothed. Other nerves would shriek next morning. Let 'em. He'd been honest enough and if he chose to use a battle-axe instead of Toledo steel that was his privilege.

He called down for a messenger boy and strolled to the window to soothe his nerves still further. Dusk had fallen. Every window of the high stone buildings surrounding Madison Square was an oblong of light. It was a symphony of gray and gold of which he never tired. It invested business with romance and beauty. The men behind those radiant panels thinking of nothing less made their brief contribution to the beauty of the world transported the rapt spectator to a realm of pure loveliness.

A light fall of snow lay on the grass and benches the statues and trees of the Square. Motors were flashing and honking below and over on Fifth Avenue. The roar of the great city came up to him like a flood over a broken dam. Black masses were pouring toward the subways. Life! New York was the epitome of life. He enjoyed forcing his way through those moving masses but it interested him even more to feel above aloof as he did this evening. Those tides swept on as unconscious of the watchers so high above them as of the soaring beauty of the Metropolitan Tower. Ground hogs most of them but part of the ever changing ever fascinating metropolitan pageant.

The arcade of Madison Square Garden was already packed with men and he knew that a triple line reached down Twenty-sixth Street to Fourth Avenue. There was to be a prize fight tonight and the men had stood there since noon buying apples and peanuts from peddlers. This was Tuesday and there was no half-holiday. These men appeared to have unbounded leisure while the rest of the city toiled or demanded work. But there were always warmly dressed and indubitably well-fed. They belonged to what is vaguely known as the sporting fraternity and were invariably in funds although they must have existed with the minimum of work. The army of unemployed was hardly larger and certainly no bread line wzs ever half as long. Mounted police rode up and down to avert any anticipation of the night's battle. A loud barking murmur rose and mingled with the roar of the aventies.

The great clock of the Metropolitan Tower began to play those sad and sweetly ominous notes preliminary to booming out the hour. They always reminded him of the warning bell on a wild and rocky coast with something of the Lorelei in its cadence: like a heartless woman's subtle allure poignantly difficult to resist.

There was a knock on the door. Clavering gave his daily stint to the messenger boy. He was hunting for change when he recaptured his column sat down at his desk and running it over hastily inserted the word "authentic." New York must have its Word even as its topic. "Authentic" loosed upon the world by Arnold Bennett was the rage at present. The little writers hardly dared use it. It was as it were the trademark of the Sophisticates.

POLICE REVENGE SUSPECTED

More Traffic Arrests After Defeat — Increased Pay in Jersey

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Police of Newark and other cities in which the referendum on the police and firemen's salary increase was defeated at the election last Tuesday, have shown a ten-fold increase in efficiency in checking up on motorists for minor traffic violations, judging from the number of summonses issued within the last few days.

When the sudden activity of the police in Newark became evident following the election, Director Brennan of the Department of Public Safety announced that he would conduct an investigation of stories about the wholesale raids on motorists for minor violations.

"One man," the Director said, "came to me and said a patrolman while handing him a summons said to him: "The policemen were beaten at the polls Tuesday, but those who beat them will have to pay a darn sight more than if they had given them the increase.'"

LAKEFIELD VILLAGE AND THE DISTRICT

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 12.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Lakefield Presbyterian Church at 1 o'clock on Thanksgiving Day when Olive Blanche, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Moore, became the bride of Laverne James Walton, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Walton, of Lakefield, and grandson of the late Joseph Walton, of Lakefield and Peterborough. Rev. P. L. Jull performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of guests. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of moon glow satin with chantilly lace draperies and pearl trimming, the embroidered veil being caught to her coiffure by a band of lace and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of ophelia roses and lily of the valley. The attendants were two little cousins of the groom, Misses Mary and Eva Hendren, who were pretty little flower girls in dainty French frocks of pink and blue crepe de Chine and carrying baskets of American beauty roses. Miss Alice Hunter played the Lohengrin wedding march and during the signing of the register, Miss Geraldine Collins, of Peterborough, sang "Oh Promise Me." The ushers were Messrs. Chas. Hunter, Roy Green, George Hendren,and Wm. Hendren.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Bridge Street, at which guests to the number of 70 offered their congratulations to the bride and groom. Misses Doris and Helen Burgess, Stella Lennox, Loretta Gibson, Ivah Hendren and Edna Braden, assisted in the dining-room at the luncheon. The dining-room was decorated in green and white, and the bride's table was embellished with a handsome bouquet of cut flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton motored to Peterborough to catch the 3:50 train for Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the bride traveling in a becoming costume of log cabin brown trimmed with velvet, a gold cloth hat and brown shoes and a Hudson seal coat with sable trimming. After the honeymoon the young couple will reside on Hunter Street, Peterborough.

Memorial Service

Sunday morning's service in St. John's Church took the form of a memorial service for the soldiers who fell in the war. The service opened with singing of the National Anthem, followed by two minutes' silence in honor of the fallen.

Rev. R. Seaborn, of Toronto, who is in charge of the parochial mission, was the preacher and announced that he had three texts. "God Created Heaven and Earth," "I Saw a New Heaven and a New Earth," and "Go, Work in My Fields." Mr. Seaborn urged his hearers to co-operate with him as far as possible in the mission which he is conducting this week and to remember the mission in their personal prayers.

Anniversary Services

Anniversary services were held on Sunday, both morning and evening, in the Methodist Church. Owing to unavoidable circumstances, Rev. E. W. Roland, of Omemee, was unable to be present, and Rev. C. S. Reddick took the services himself. Next Sunday Rev. Weir, of Warsaw, will be in charge as Mr. Reddick will preach the anniversary sermon in Bethel Church. Also the Sunday school will begin at 2:30 p.m. next Sunday and until further notice. The choir rendered several anthems, Misses C. Doidge and E. Webster taking solo parts in the evening. Mrs. S. Sutton sang a solo at the evening service.

Rev. P. L. Jull was present and assisted in the service. Rev. T. L. White was also invited to be present but was unable to do so, owing to another engagement. The united congregations of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches worshipped together in the evening.

Personals

E. R. Tate was in Toronto on Thursday on business.

Mrs. E. Orr and daughter are visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. G. G. Ogilvie and Miss Etta Ogilvie left on Friday for Toronto where they will spend the winter.

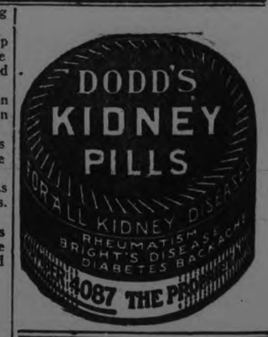
Mrs. E. R. Tate returned on Friday from Montreal where she spent the past few days.

Dr. H. E. Moore returned this week from Saskatchewan where he spent the past month.



TWO VANCOUVER BOYS GET 24 YEARS IN PEN.

And Forty Lashes Was Pronounced in Police Court by Magistrate.

VANCOUVER, B.C., November 13. — A total of 24 years imprisonment and 40 lashes, was pronounced by the magistrate in the police court yesterday, on Stanley Jones and Harry McDermott, youthful hold-up men, who pleaded guilty to robbing gas stations here. As sentences run concurrently they will only serve five years and receive two whippings of ten lashes each.

TWO WOMEN.

I know a woman who demands
Full sympathy from those she meets;
Who sheds her daily burdens and
Her woes on every one she greets,
Her lips in fond self-pity droop;
Her narrow shoulders sag and stoop,
Both in the same dejected line,
And through her voice there runs a whine,
As she repeats in dismal tone—
"Oh! Life is hard. I'm all alone."

I know a woman, too, who walks
Serene along an unlit way,
And who, though even in a crowd,
Is yet alone in soul all day.
So sweet—it's strange she should have missed
The joy of Love ,and lips that kissed.
I watched her for a long, long while
Before I found beneath her smile
The shadow of desire denied—
A dream that once had lived— and died.

The first in pouring out always
The treasures of her selfish grief
On lighter hearts, has sorrowed them
And in return has found relief,
While she who, silent, never shares
With any one her secret cares,
Will suffer, but will never add
One tear to make another sad.
Somewhere there's something, I am sure,
For those who smile when they endure.

AFTER BABY COMES

Strength Often Returns Slowly

Mothers May Depend Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore a Normal Condition

Many, many letters similar to the following recommend the Vegetable Compound as a wonderful medicine for bringing the mother back to normal health and strength.

It is an excellent restorative, contains no harmful drugs and may be taken in safety by a nursing mother.

Thousands of mothers who have regained their strength by taking it are its best recommendation. Why not take it yourself?

Could Not Gain Strength

Bury, Quebec.—"I have had great help from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am a different woman now. I was very sickly before my first child was born. I did not get my strength back afterwards, and he did not stay with us long. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for three months before my second child was born, and have taken it occasionally ever since. My doctor had said that medicine would not do me much good, but my nurse wished me to try the Vegetable Compound, so I did. I do not go without having it in the house now and I am looking well and feeling fine. I do all my work, sewing and all."—Mrs. JOHN SIMPSON, Box 555, Bury, Quebec.

Oshawa, Ont.—"After my second child was born I was sick and tired all the time so I could not do my own housework. I picked up one of your little books and read it and then I tried some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It seemed to help me quite a bit and I felt much better after I had taken the Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I thank you for your help and I am taking your medicines right along. If any woman wants to write to me I will tell her the same."—Mrs. J. MCGINN, 300 Courcellette Avenue, Oshawa, Ontario.

Before My Baby Came

Vancouver, B. C.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby came as I was suffering from neuralgia pains. I had not been taking anything for these pains because I thought there was nothing I could do, but when I read about the Vegetable Compound in the 'Vancouver Daily Province' I began taking it; and of two things I am sure—that I had an easier time when the baby came and that it is the best medicine ever. I recommend it to all my friends who suffer as I did, and you can use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. JOSEPH BLACKMAN, 222 9th St. West, Vancouver, B. C.

GOLD PRODUCERS HAVE DELEGATION TO VISIT OTTAWA

Claim Gold Mining Industry Will Be Ruined by Embargo.

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press.—Actuated by the belief that Ontario's gold mining industry is being seriously threatened by the proposal of Hon. W. S. Fielding to discontinue paying the psemium on New York funds to gold producers, while at the same time continuing the embargo on the metal, the Ontario government and Ontario capitalists are to-day presenting their protests at Ottawa. Hon. Charles McCrae, Minister of Mines, left the city last evening accompanied by a strong deputation of capitalists representing a large sum of money which is to be invested next year in interests allied to gold mining, should conditions till then be such as to make mining operations profitable. An interview will be had with Hon. Mr. Fielding when it will be argued that an element of instability is being introduced into gold mining operations which will drive capital away from exploting them, and when it will be further argued that gold mining industry itself is being left at the mercy of an international rate of exchange for which it is not responsible. The statement of the Dominion Government's intention and the intimation that they would become effective on the 12th of the month was received yesterday by the Ontario Department of Mines, and came somewhat as a bolt from the blue. Hon. Mr. McCrae regarded it as a most serious move in its probable influence upon Ontario's mining development. He pointed out that since the accession of the present government his department had been conducting a widespread propaganda declaring that Ontario's mining laws were fair, that its taxation was reasonable, that its fields weer rich, and that capital was given a square deal.

HOLLYWOOD BOASTS OF SLANG COINAGE.

Formerly New York Had a Corner on Slang Market

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14. — (United Press).—Hollywood is fast vieing with New York in the production of the nation's slang.

Formerly New York had pretty much of a corner on the market. But since the advent of the movies Hollywood is becoming a real competitor.

Hollywood has great facilities for putting its stuff over. Much of the slang originates either on the motion picture lots or is the brain-child of some bright title-writer.

Inasmuch as the latest Hollywood slang is right at the title editor's elbow, even if he didn't coin it, he quite frequently picks it up, puts it in a title, and makes it known all over the country because millions see it on the screen.

"Wisecracker" was the latest Hollywood contribution to the national slang. "Wise cracks" was a term taken from the movie lots, referring to the ability of title writers or publicity hounds to put over their gags in new language. And the statement, "He's another of these Hollywood wisecrackers" became a term of great scorn in Los Angeles.

And now a man who tries to make wise cracks, but fails to get them over, is being witheringly referred to as an "oyster cracker."

A half a dozen others, including "oil can," are credited to Hollywood.

FOR THE COUGH THAT STICKS

CHEAP AND BEST

For any kind of a couph, but especially for the stubborn one that persists and keeps you awake nights this home made cough mixture will quickly loosen the phlegm, allay the inflammation and stop the cough.

You can make it yourself at home in two minutes by following these instructins:

Get from any druggist one ounce of Parmint (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enought water to make one half pint—that's all there is to it, and children like it.

Like a soothing, healing poultice one costly substance in this home made mixture spreads itself completely over the membrane of the throat. This causes the most stubborn hang-on cought to cease almost instantly. No ordinary slow-acting cough syrup contains this expensive ingredient.

It's a mighty fine remedy for chest colds and acute nasal catarrh, and remember that any remedy that overcomes catarrh, partially or wholly, is bound to be of benefit to those who are troubled with head noises and catafrhal deafness.

Get Parmint and get better.

OMEMEE MAN'S CAR IN WRECK

Automobile Took a New Way of Crossing Over a Bridge—Omemee News.

OMEMEE, Nov. 14.—Arthur Stephenson had a thrilling sensation on Monday, when motoring west on King street in Mr. Albert Ford's light truck and travelling at a good rate of speed he turned around to speak to some children as he approached the iron bridge and in doing so lost control of the car, which landed on the top of the narrow iron structure over the bridge and after going its length on two wheels toppled over on to the pavement, almost an utter wreck. The young driver crawled out from underneath, apparently none the worse, save a scratch of two, for his unexpected and hasty experience, and as many spectators soon gathered, all made inquiry as to where the driver was as it did not seem possible that he could escape serious injuries. The top of the car was completely smashed, as was also the windshield. The steering wheel, lights and fenders, etc., were badly bent, although, after being overturned it was able to operate under its own power, to a nearby garage.

Armistice Night

Guy Fawkes or, of late, Armistice Night, in Omemee, without a parade would be like a city without a house, so, as was the usual custom, the small boys of the village assembled in various costumes and provided entertainment for themselves. On account of the fowl supper and concert in the Methodist church, few spectators were in evidence and after the usual torchlight procession with this year a live youth disguised as the Kaiser being drawn in a vehicle by several escorts, they proceeded to the vacant lot near the school where they had previously arranged boxes, etc., containing ammunition for a huge blaze and there without the usual Kaiser in effigy they watched the flames rise up far into the air and waited for the report of the shot, which proved as much fun as if the notorious Gent were truly there.

Memorial Service

On Sunday afternoon, the whole community turned out to do honor to our gallant dead, and to the local war veterans at a union memorial service in Coronation Hall. The resident war veterans marched in a body to the hall, where they occupied the centre front seats. The meeting opened with that beautiful hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past," led by a union choir. An earnest prayer followed, by the Rev. E. W. Rowland of the Methodist church. Scripture reading was given by the Rev. Mr. Weir of Christ church, followed by the singing of another national hymn. The address of the afternoon was given by Rev. Mr. Black of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Black selected his text from 2nd Peter, verse 13—"And I think it right as long as I am in this Tabernacle to stir you up by putting you in remembrance." During the address Mr. Black recalled many incidents of war days, which brought to the minds of his hearers like incidents in the history of our village. A well rendered duet was contributed by Mrs. Hume and Mr. W. G. Stephenson. The service, brief but most impressive, came to a close by the singing of Kipling's Recessional "Lest We Forget," which was rendered most effectively. This hymn was followed by the National Anthem, after which "The Last Post" sounded by Trumpeter J. L. Brooks, brought tears to the eyes of many who knew the significance of the sound.

The entire offering for the afternoon was given by the veterans to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto.

A Thankoffering

The annual Women's Missionary Thankoffering was observed in the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Black spoke briefly of the work of the W.M.S. before he proceeded with the special Thanksgiving sermon. Mrs. E. H. Mitchell and Mrs. Hume rendered a very pretty duet with Mr. Hillier Williamson as accompanist.

GERMAN REPARATIONS TO BE INVESTIGATED

Premier Poincare Has Decided to Create a Committee of Experts for the Purpose.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Premier Poincare has decided to propose the creation of a committee of experts for the purpose of investigating the question of German reparations. The committee as suggested would be composed of delegates from the powers represented on the Reparation Commission. Its duties would be to establish Germany's external and internal resources; where the exported German capital lies and how it can be brought back, and in what amount the resources of the Reich can at the present moment be utilized for reparations, and how Germany can re-establish her financial position.

It is further proposed that a technical expert be added to the committee for each country. The investigation would last two months at least.

WILLIAM BALFOUR IS DEAD IN WEST

Was Former Well-Known Resident of Omemee — News of Interest.

OMEMEE, Nov. 14.—The news of the death of William Balfour reached his sister, Mrs. Charles Rutherford, early Sunday morning.

Will Balfour (as he was popularly known) died in the Edmonton Hospital at 1 a.m. on Armistice Day, following an operation pefrormed one week ago.

The deceased has not enjoyed good health since his return from overseas, where he contracted rheumatism, after returning home. He again went West and during the next two years travelled practically around the world in an endeavor to regain his health. On his return he spent several months with his sister, Mrs. Rutherford here, later returning to Edmonton where he was so afflicted with rheumatism that he had to have several fingers amputated and since then other complications set in from which the gallant young soldier succumbed on Sunday morning.

The announcement of the passing of William Balfour was heard with genuine sorrow at the morning service in the Methodist church.

Details of the funeral arrangements have not yet been heard. Much sympathy is felt for the sorrowing sisters, Mrs. Charles Rutherford, Omemee. Mrs. Allan Ross of Vancouver, and the Misses Harmony and Carrie Balfour, of Edmonton, in the loss of their only brother.

Special Services

The holiday season combined with fair weather conditions was sufficient to draw large congregations both Sunday and Monday to the Thanksgiving services in the Methodist church, the interior of which was beautifully decorated in keeping with Armistice Day by numerous little flags, pine boughs hundreds of beautifully tinted autumn leaves and flowers, while a lovely poppy wreath adorned the roll of honour. The decorations, to say the least, were most artistic and reflect much credit on the committee in charge.

The services were in charge of the pastor, Rev. E. W. Rowland, who delighted his hearers both morning and evening with two sermons which will linger long in the memories of those who were privileged to be present. The subject for the morning service was "The Grace of Gratitude." Mr. Rowland took for his text Psalm 65-11, "Thou crownest the year with Thy goodness and Thy paths drop fatness."

The music for the morning service was well rendered and in keeping with the theme, the anthem being "I Will Give Thanks Unto Thee, O Lord," while the offertory number was a well rendered duet, "Render Thy Gratitude" by the Misses Vera and Mary Lowe.

The evening service was attended by a particularly large congregation, when the gallery, as well as the draw-seats and many chairs were used to accommodate a capacity house. Splendid congregational singing with the special choir numbers enlivened the service of genuine patriotism and thanksgiving. The anthem "A Song of Praise," with bass obligato by Mr. Roy Marshall, was well rendered as was the offertory number, "Ivory Palaces," unaccompanied. A contralto solo, "Let Us Have Peace," was sweetly rendered by Miss Lila Parsons.

The pastor's evening subject was "The Spiritual Need of the British Empire," his text being taken from Psalm 33, verse 12—"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord." The speaker held his congregation spellbound as he traced the downfall of many nations to the lack of faith and trust in God.

The services on Sunday were followed by the annual fowl supper and concert on Monday. The Sunday School room was gayly decorated with red, white and blue ribbon streamers from light to light, flags and flowers, while the tables fairly groaned 'neath a weight of fruit, and all the good things that go to make up a fowl supper. The cooking provided was of A1 quality and after catering to about five hundred hungry appetites, sufficient fowl, salads, cakes, pies, jellies, etc. were left to provide a social evening on Tuesday evening, which again was largely attended.

A short and spicey programme concluded one of the best of the annual events held in this church.

Programme

Solo—"A Little Bit of Heaven," Mr. Wesley Maunder. Encore.

The proceeds of the two evenings amounted to about $280.

A SURPRISE PARTY WAS HELD FRIDAY

By the Employees of the Armature Department Of the C. G. E. at the Home of Miss E. Smith

The employees of the Armature Department of the C.G.E. assembled at the home of Mr. A. Patterson last Friday evening where a party was held in honor of Miss Eva Smith whose marriage is to take place this month. The bride elect was presented with a beautiful mantel clock by the employees of whom she has been an associate for a number of years, also a cut glass water set and tray from Mr. Parkins of the Premium Department.

Mr. Roland Halpin amused the guests by a very appropriate speech for the occasion.

Miss Eva Smith:

Dear friend and associate:—

We, the employees of the Armature Department of the Canadian General Electric Company, having learned of your departure from us, gather here this evening to congratulate you on your new venture.

We also hope that many blessings may be bestowed upon you and your household for many years to come. We, therefore, ask you to accept this small token and hope that it may, in the future, be a symbol to refresh your mind of the many happy, happy days spent with us.

Signed on behalf of the employees of the Armature Department.

BARON SCHIMMELPENNICK IS NOT AWARE THAT THE EX-KAISER WILL RETURN

DOORN, Holland, Nov. 14. — Baron Schimmelpennick, Burgomaster of Doorn, assured the correspondent of The Associated Press today on his word of honor that he was not aware of any intention on the part of former Emperor William to leave Doorn. The Baron added that he considered that such folly as the ex-Emperor's return to Germany was unbelievable.

It is known that Dr. Kan, of the Dutch Ministry of the Interior, had a conference with the ex-Kaiser at the Chateau, but nothing has transpired as to the purpose of the visit. Baron Schimmelpennick's assurance, however, followed inquiry in this connection.

OPEN MISSION IN LAKEFIELD

Sermon on Sin and Redemption in Anglican Church — Methodist Thanksgiving Dinner.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 13.—Rev. R. Seaborne gave a splendid address at the mission service on Monday evening on the origin of sin and its cure. Sin came into the world, as we are told in the third chapter of Genesis, when Eve yielded to the temptation of the evil one and in time tempted her partner, Adam, till he too sinned and their sin is our heritage, which like the taint of disease has come down to us all from our first parents. The consequence of the sin of Adam and Eve was that the Garden of Eden was turned to a place of thorns and briars and the pleasure of work to toil and drudgery and the voice of God, hitherto the kindly voice, now inspired them with fear.

Our Lord came and brought the message of life everlasting through His redemption of us and that is the cure for sin. We are in our baptism made members of Christ and inheritors of the Kingdom of Heaven. Let us value our baptism for in it we are born again in the spirit of God and Jesus Christ. Some people confuse conversion with baptism but let us beware of this. Conversion is merely turning back to God after a lapse into wrongdoing but baptism is regeneration.

The mission services are to be as follows through the week:

Holy Communion—10 a.m.
Evensong—4.30 p.m.
Mission Service—8.00 p.m.

During the mission in St. John's church this week the musical evening of the A.Y.P.A. billed for November 12 will be held on Tuesday evening, November 20. All the members are requested to attend.

Successful Concert

The annual Thanksgiving dinner and concert held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church took place on Monday evening. The dinner was served in the basement of the church and was a great success, the efficient manner in which the crowd were handled was a great credit to the committee in charge. The tables fairly groaned with their loads of dainty eatables. Cakes and pies disappeared and were replaced as if by magic, platters of cold meat, salads, bread and butter and numerous other tempting were to be seen in abundance. A large and efficient corps of waiters attended to the wants of the people who came from the entire surrounding district to this annual gathering. At eight o'clock the entertainment was held in the church with the pastor, Rev. C. S. Reddick, in the chair. The following is the programme:

Organ solo, K. S. Madill; Solo, Edwin Rowe; Recitation, Miss Crowe; Duet, Rev. Weir and H. Batten; Piano solo, Miss Wood; Solo, Rev. Weir; Recitation, Master Nixon; Solo, Henry Batten; Piano solo, Sherman Rowe; Solo, Rev. Weir; Recitation, Master Nixon; Solo, Edwin Rowe; Duet, Rev. Weir and H. Batten; Solo, Miss Cooper.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the young people who came from Peterboro, Warsaw and other places and contributed to the excellent programme.

The financial returns amounted to nearly $300.00, which was a source of gratification to the ladies who had worked so hard to make the affair a success.

Sugar cane was first cultivated in the United States about the year 1751.

EARTHQUAKE MAKES JAPAN'S SOCIAL PROBLEM DIFFICULT

Difficult Living Conditions Likely to Focus Radicalism in Active Revolt Before Many Years.

By CLARENCE DUBOSE.

TOKYO, Nov. 14. — (United Press).—Japan's social problem, already complex, difficult, and in some aspects menacing, has been made more complicated and more dangerous by the recent disaster.

Before the earthquake many of the best-informed authorities here, both Japanese and foreign, believed it to be only a question of time before the growing labor and liberal movements, supplemented by increasing living difficulties of the great poverty-stricken masses, would cause a social upheaval. And few thought it would be bloodless. But they thought the trouble would be a long time in coming—perhaps some years.

Since the earthquake and as a result of it, many believe the probabilities of social disturbance have been greatly increased and the time of its coming hastened.

There is, however, a divergent opinion. Some Japanese leaders who before the earthquake were very apprehensive of social trouble now say it has been averted by the disaster —that Japanese loyalty will be solidified, all ranks of the people unified, by the common bond of calamity.

First Reaction.

It is certain that this latter reaction has been the immediate effect of the earthquake and fire. But there are dreary months and years yet to come of reconstruction, high living costs, deprivations and sufferings. The first fine flare of zeal to make any sacrifice for the common good may, some think, be worn away by that long ordeal.

Hungry babies and no jobs, all the personal disorganizations and difficulties inevitably following so tremendous a catastrophe will bring unrest—the old unrest intensified; and that may in time bring mob action. So say those who are apprehensive.

It seems certain that there will be no trouble for the present or the immediate future. But within a period of three or four year—maybe more; maybe less—mass movements for social expression among the workmen, the poor people and the liberals of the cities are almost certain.

Farmers May Join.

They may be joined by farmers for before the earthquake groups similar to America's "farmer's unions" were being formed throughout rural Japan for the purpose of social and political expression.

The Japanese, while ordinarily a people of superlative restraint, stoicism, self-control, go to the opposite extreme if once they turn themselves loose into mob action, rioting and abandon.

The rice riots of a few years ago tell that story. The murders of Koreans, socialists and suspected socialists during the post-earthquake days tell it again. No people are more frantic than the Japanese once they lose their grip and start to run amuck. That's the reason the police have always kept an iron hand on labor and liberal movements in Japan. That's the reason so many leaders here wonder how far the inevitable social discontent of the next few years will go.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines | New York Stock Exchang: — and Curb Prices

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, November 14 (United Press). — When the industrial average went through 91 last week confirmation of the railroad average at 81 was needed to suggest that the current upswing in the stock market would be prolonged. This figure was reached by the carrier compilation in yesterday's session, greatly strengthening the confidence of the speculative community regarding the permanence of the present movement the low-priced rails continued their bullish demonstration in the early dealings to-day with Erie issues furnishing the principal pyrotechnics. Among the industrial specialties Famous Players and the Maxwell Motors A were the features.

Stocks maintained exceptional activity through the first four and many sections of the list displayed pronounced strength despite the continued profit-taking and professional selling among the industrial leaders.

In view of the chronic unsettlement abroad and the unfavourable development at home like further reductions in crude oil and gasoline prices and dividend decreased by the Standard Oil Company the general list acted extremely well, even the oil shares were steady. Many issues of this class are selling considerably higher than two weeks ago while others show very little change.

That the oil stocks are in a sold out condition if crude oil and gasoline should begin to advance there would no doubt be a spectacular rise in the oil shares, some of which are off 50 to 60 per cent from the high of the year.

Pessimists will find food reflection in to-day's tabulation showing $1,586,000,000 of new financing in the first ten months of this year larger than in any corresponding period since 1920. It is probable that new financing by industrial companies over the last decade runs close to $10,000,000, proceeds from the sale of new securities have been used largely for construction of new mills furnaces, and factories which have given employment of hundreds of thousands of men. New industrial financing in the first ten months of 1923 exceeds the total capital stock and bonded department of the United States Steel and gives a fair idea of the great strides that are being made in the development of the country's resources and the extraordinary growth in the wealth of the people.

CHILD GENIUS LIKES THE EASEL BEST EVERYTHING

Solves the Problem of What a Caddy Can Do Between Games—Works With Oils

JOHN W IKTORA

By George Britt

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—What can a golf caddy do between games except shoot craps?

Well, John Wiktora paints pictures.

John was painting one dull day two years ago on the flat roof of a building of the South Shore Country Club here where he caddies and where his father has a job. As he climbed down from the roof a club member saw him and questioned him John then was 10 years old.

Youthful Genius

"I'm an artist," he explained, his gray eyes looking over the member in dead earnest. "The lake is beautiful from up there with sail boats going out and the sun shining on the blue. My father said it was all right to go up and paint."

So it happened that the member became interested and told Carl N. Werntz, director of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. Director Werntz asked John to come down to art classes without paying any tuition, and the boy has been a student there ever since. The expense of his drawing materials he earns on the golf course.

"He is just a little boy painter, of course. It would be distressing if he could paint like Whistler now. But his work shows the mark of the gods upon him and he has the initiative and interest and the love of painting which are necessary to develop his talent."

Painting His Play

"Would you rather paint than play ball?" a visitor asks John. "Or than go swimming at the beach, or—"

"Or anything else?" the boy completes the question. "Sure I would."

John is an only child, and his imagination has been nourished upon a endless succession of romantic folk tales which his mother brought from her native Bohemia.

"My mother knows a thousand stories," he says. But his interest in painting was first stirred by an aunt who lived with them.

Works With Oils

"She would have been a artist if she could have taken lessons when she was young," says the boy. "She used to draw for me and then I began making pictures myself.

"I took lessons for a time from an artist on the South Side. He charged 35 cents for an afternoon. I made that money by running errands. That was four or five years ago."

John's pictures are those of a boy as his instructor says but already he is working in oils, the most advanced medium.

And if you are doubtful just compare his work with that of a student twice his age at the next easel.

EMINENT WRITER IS REPORTED ILL

Friends of Sir J. M. Barrie Are Surprised by Announcement.

LONDON, Nov. 14.— (Canadian Press.)— Sir J. M. Barrie is in a London nursing home suffering from what is characterized as a "slight indisposition." At his residence it was said that the condition of the eminent writer was not serious and that he was "just having a rest."

The announcement of the author's illness came as a complete surprise as it had been withheld even from his most intimate friends.

DEBATE AT ALL SAINTS' HALL

An entertaining evening was spent by the A.Y.P.A. of All Saints' church in the parish hall last night. The president, A. Hope, occupied the chair. A particularly interesting session was afforded by a spirited debate on the resolution: "That the movies are a benefit to the community and not a detriment." The affirmative side, which won the decision, was taken by Miss Edna Borbridge, and Miss Edna Barry, the negative by Messrs. Joseph Adams and E. Brown. The judges were Messrs. R. J. Bolton, E. Lewis and Miss Agnes Stout.

During the evening Mrs. H. E. Connolly gave a brief account of the Dominion Conference of the A.Y.P.A. held recently in London.

A musical programme included vocal solos by Messrs. George Chandler and E. Lewis, a reading by Mrs Iva Edgar, and an instrumental selection by Kenneth Brown. The service of light refreshments concluded an enjoyable evening.

KING'S DAUGHTERS HELD ANNUAL MEET

Officers Elected For the Coming Year—Financial Statement.

The King's Daughters held their annual meeting at the home of Miss Scott. The treasurer's report showed total receipts for the year $568.32, disbursements $348.16, and a balance of $220.16. A committee was formed of Mrs. Sutton, Mrs .Frazer, Mrs. Killaly, and Miss English to talk over the work for the year, and report at next meeting.

The society voted $10.00 to the Children's Shelter for their linen shower.

Arrangements were made for the annual dance to be held in the G. W. V. A. Hall on New Year's Eve.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follow:

President, Mrs. N. H. Sutton.
Secretary, Mrs .B. B. Gillespie.
Treasurer, Mrs. A. H. Stratton.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

Your body balance must be preserved if life is to be lived at its best after the age of 35.

Body balance is keeping the nutritive supply of your body equalized with the energy side. It is the using and burning of cells and their replacement in the organisms of your body.

We are continually changing our bodies by work and exercise, both mental and physical. Part of the protoplasmic cells are always undergoing change, being burned up and swept away.

These must not only be renewed and replaced, but there should also be a surplus. We call this vitality or vital life.

Vital surplus is often squandered by the time middle life is reached. Remember up to the age of 30 you have been building your body for both growth and repair. Don't continue to let your weight increase after this time. You are simply adding fat cells. In other words, you are storing up trouble for yourself later on, as the fat cells do no work.

Although the human body is most complex in its makeup and functioning qualities, if your tendencies are toward normal or right living, all that is necessary to keep this finely adjusted mechanism in complete running order is to keep your body balance.

The vitamines that build and sustain your bodily strength must be carefully selected by using the proper food. If you are not thorough in this selection you will lose weight. Losing weight means a let-down in cell replacement, by not providing the normal stream of blood nourishment.

This invites weakness, a loss of working power, which means a let-down in initiative and lack of disease resistance.

THE PREACHING MISSION IN ANGLICAN CHURCHES

The Diocese of Toronto decided about a year ago to hold a preaching mission for the deepening of the spiritual life of the people of the Diocese in every parish over the whole territory extending from Midland on the west to Brighton on the east, and including Haliburton on the north. A mission on so large a scale has never been attempted before, and it seemed to many at first to be quite impossible. But difficulties have melted away, and from all quarters come encouraging reports of much good accomplished.

The four Anglican Churches in Peterboro are holding the mission on the same days, from the 18th to the 25th of November. The different churches will have different programmes of services, but in all of them the mission service to which all are urged to come, will be at 8 o'clock in the evening. Church people are asked to forego all social engagements during that week and to dedicate it entirely to God. There will be early services, also afternoon meetings as announced in the churches. The mission is designed specially for Anglicans; that is, there is no proselytizing motive whatsoever, but it need not be said that all will be welcome. Wherever it has been held there has been much comfort and blessing from it and the Church is happy to have such blessing as widely extended as possible.

The mission aims at deepening the spiritual life, for which there is sore need at the present time, to get people, whether they are church-goers or not, to realize more keenly the presence of God and their accountability to Him. It aims at cultivating the religious sense, or, in other words, a spiritual revival. This is to be accomplished by intensive prayer and sober thoughtfulness. The four missioners for the city will be the Bishop of Ontario, Rt. Rev. Dr. Bidwell, Rev. A. F. C. Whalley, Archdeacon Perry and Rev. H. R. Mockridge.

PRETTY EARDROPS

Eardrops of a single pearl suspended on a fine gold chain are a popular type of earring for the young girl.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

SOCIETY

year, in Messrs. Frank Dawson and E. L. Payne.

Mr. Edgar also brought up the subject of the annual meeting, and it was decided to hold it on Monday, November 26th. A committee to make arrangements for speaker, etc. was appointed composed of Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, J. Edgar, F. H. Dobbin and Mesdames Gibbs, Fanning, Darcey.

Thanks for Ladies' Work

F. H. Dobbin suggested that a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies for the capable manner in which they had carried out the arrangements for the recent reception held at the Shelter, be drafted, and on Mr. Edgar declaring that M. Dobbin was the man to write such a resolution in the very best way, the latter promised to do so.

J. Edgar read a letter from the King's Daughters, enclosing a cheque for ten dollars to be used in the purchase of linen for the new premises, and also recorded the gift of ten dollars from Bradburns' Limited and a donation, through the instrumentality of T. H. Hooper, of fifty dollars coming from the party of American baseball players entertained by Mr. Hooper during the summer. Letters of acknowledgment will be sent for all of these donations, with separate notes of thanks to each of the baseball players who included in their party Chick Halford, H. Folger, Roger Wyatt and H. Miller of Cleveland, and Tris Speaker, Leslie Nunmaker, C. Cunningham of Texas.

A letter from the Union Bank of Norwood, was also read, enclosing a cheque for $38.32 proceeds of a tag day held in the village recently, in aid of the local Shelter.

Mr. Edgar read letter from Messrs. Hall and Hall solicitors, with regard to the Estate of the late Isabel Lundy, who bequeathed $1000 to the Children's Aid Society in her will. The letter informed the Board that owing to the fact that the estate will not pay all bequests in full, an amount of only $15,400 being available to pay a total of $18,700, that each grant of $1.000 would accordingly be about $181.32 short. The Board professed itself as quite satisfied with this arrangement.

Piano For Shelter

Mr. Ackerman referred to the request of the ladies of the Board to instal a piano in the Shelter. Several of the gentlemen voiced mild disagreement with this suggestion. W. Stocker enquired "What use will a piano be down there" Rev. Mr. Young thought that other things might be more needed at the present time and declared that in his youth, a piano was considered a luxury. F. H. Dobbin thought that the children would be wanting a radio soon.

Mrs. W. J. Hopwoo rose to inform the Board that during a recent trip made by her, every Shelter visited had been in the possession of a piano, and the home in Regina has a baby grand instrument. Mr. Ackermn brought the argument to a close, by announcing that the ladies already had a piano fund which was in quite a healthy state at the present time.

F. H. Dobbin listening to the list of recent donations to the Society's funds, expressed great satisfaction thereat remarking: "Now we can cut that door," referring to a projected improvement at the Shelter, by which more convenient arrangements can be made by the cutting of a door in the sewing-room wall.

G. W. Powell reported applications for children during the month 3; children brought to Shelter, (not wards), 3; returned to parents, (not wards), 3; children made wards 3. Approximate mileage covered, 500; places visited, 5; wards returned to Shelter 2; wards placed out, 6, wards visited 8.

Donations and Accounts

The following donations were recorded and purchases listed by Mrs. W. H. Gibbs; Donations: Trinity Methodist church, cake and sandwiches; Perkins, Ince Company jam and marmalade, Stewart's Hall Otonabee., pie, cake, bread and butter; Mr. John Hargraves, Toronto; 25 tooth-brushes; Ladies' Aid Society of George Street church, bread and butter, pie, roasted beans cake; D. Minicolo, 2 baskets pears; R. Hall & Son; 12 false faces; St. Paul's church, clothing; King's Daughters $10 (for linen); Miss Martha Jordan, flowers for reception.

Accounts: L. Brooks $9.58; C. Griffin (repairing boots), $3.50; R. Denne: -10.55; New Centre Meat Market $6.64; R. Neill, $7.34; Grafton & Co. $3.30; Sanitary Ice Supplp $5.00; T. Gilgour & Sons, $5.44 Mrs. J. P. Bickell (eggs) $5.40; R. Hall & Sons $2.40; J. M. Heard (milk) $15.00; Canadian Packing Co $4.00; Telephones $6.31; W. J. Grady, 25c; Mrs. Rogers $2.40; G. W. CAR KILLED DOG OWNER SHOT AUTO

HARRISONVILLE, N. J., Nov. 14.—Angered at the killing of his dog by a motorist, Denny Tomarchio of Harrisonville, fired at the automobile and wounded J. T. Burk, of Trenton, and his daughter, Elizabeth, according to the State police.

The two were treated by a physician, and Burk then had a warrant issued for his alleged assailant, who fled.

The dog was chasing a rabbit when it darted into the path of the machine and was killed. Burk was said to have offered to pay Tomarchio for the loss of his pet, but the latter refused. Burk drove off, and Tomarchio, the police said, fired birdshot at the automobile.

LET'S MAKE HOUSE IDEAL SAYS MAN TAKING DIMES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Alexander Roger did not live up to his profession of idealism when, posing as a Health Department inspector, he collected a dime each from the tenants of the apartment house at No. 55 East One Hundred and Fifteenth Street, to be dedicated to improvements in the house.

The idealist was sent to the Workhouse for three months for impersonating an officer of the Health Board. It was said in special sessions that Roger's notions of idealism also extended to issuing checks with no funds to meet them and that he falsely said he was a physician.

The dimes, he told the tenants, were to be augmented by his own cash.

PETERBORO MALE VOICE CHOIR.

Last evening in the J. M. Greene's Music Studio, the above organization held its regular weekly rehearsal but closed down on the musical studies after a strenuous hour's work. The Social Committee then sprang a little surprise by way of refreshments, which effort was appreciated by all the members according to the quick disappearance of anything under the heading of "eats." The company then had a real free and easy time indulging in songs of the community type for the remainder of the evening.

The choir as a whole intend to have many more such events during the season, so keep the Social Committee busy, they enjoy the work.

Owing to the Director and several members of the choir being engaged with the Kiwanis concert next Tuesday evening, the rehearsal will be held on Friday, November 23. Members please note the change.

The Clara Butt Concert Company arrangements are progressing well, and Peterboro is fortunate to have the prices scaled so low for this classical event, the lowest in her Canadian tour; it looks now like being a "packed audience" on December 4th.

NO CRIME TO SWEAR IN FOREIGN TONGUE

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—"Cursing in a foreign language in an American neighborhood does not constitute disorderly conduct—but don't let it happen again."

So ruled and admonished Magistrate Thomas Doyle in Far Rockaway Police Court. Mrs. Josie Da Uino had accused Mrs. Annie Cassecciu, her neighbor, of hurling expletives in Italian at her in a quarrel over a leaky barrel.

Magistrate Doyle's most skillful questioning failed to reveal what was in the barrel.

DISSOLUTION OF PARLIAMENT WILL DELAY THE OFFER

Of Increased Preference Which Was Made to the Overseas Dominions

LONDON, Nov. 14.— (Canadian Press.)—Dissolution of the British Parliament will delay the coming into effect of the British Government's offer of increased preference which was made to the overseas Dominions at the economic conference.

The offer requires legislation to give it effect and with the dissolution of parliament on Friday next, there is no liklihood of a bill being introduced into the House of Commons this session. If the Baldwin government is returned to power, however, there is no doubt the offer will form part of the wide protection scheme to be introduced in the next budget.

YOUNG FARMERS ANNUAL MEETING

Peterboro County U.F.Y. P.O. Had Convention--Debating Programme Arranged.

NORWOOD, November 14. — The U.F.Y.P.O. of Peterborough County held their annual convention on Saturday last in W.O.W. Hall, Peterborough.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada," followed by the roll-call, during which it was stated that two new clubs had been added to the number in the past year.

Then opened the discussion of the debating competition for next year.

After a lengthy talk on this matter, a touch of humour was added to the programme by two readings from Miss Jean Hamilton.

The same executive committee for the competition was re-appointed for next year.

Another committee was added to arrange dates and topics for debates in the competition.

While the question drawer was considered, Miss Luella Bell sang a solo, and readings were given by Mr. Cecil Bolton and Miss Jean Hamilton.

Officers were elected as follow:

President, Mr. Harold Lewis, Peterborough.

Vice-president, Mr. Cecil Bolton, Indian River.

Secretary, Mrs. Gerald Andrews, Norwood.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

BENEDICT ARNOLD'S ATTACK ON ST. LOUIS, 1775.

(Copyright by Canadian Press)

Nov. 14, 1775: This is the historic date on which the gate of St. Louis, Quebec, was unsuccessfully attacked by Benedict Arnold, then an American officer, jointly with General Richard Montgomery in an attempt to take Canada as one of the spoils of the Revolutionary War. Montgomery was killed and Arnold suffered the fracture of a leg during the attack.

Arnold was in smaller engagements near Montreal, before being driven out of the country.

Subsequently he betrayed an important American post to the British and escaping from his own country joined the British forces. In constquence his memory is in bad repute with the people of the United States.

THIS LADY SAYS There's Nothing to Equal "Dr. Wood's" Norway Pine Syrup For Coughs and Colds

Mrs. David Thompson, West River St., Paris, Ont., writes:—"I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

For myself and children I use nothing else.

My little girl, five years old, has had bronchial trouble ever since she had the "flu" a few years ago, and, now, whenever she gets a slight cold she develops a very nasty cough, but all I have to do is to give her a few doses of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Also for myself, and the other children, I can find nothing to equal it, in fact, it was only a short time ago that I gave it to my ten months old baby, and could immediately see the difference it made in her. Now, I always keep Norway Pine Syrup in the house, as I feel there is nothing to equal it."

NAMED AFTER A HOTEL.

LIBERTY, N. C., Nov. 14.—(United Press).—First-borns have been named after great men, Biblical characters and kin folks, but now comes one named after a hotel. He is John O'Henry, the first-born of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Allen, the father being principal of high school here. While on their honeymoon the parents stopped at the O. Henry Hotel, Greensboro, where they were so kindly received they determined to name their first child O. Henry. The hotel has given the youngster a silver loving cup and the parents have promised that he shall eat all birthday dinners there.

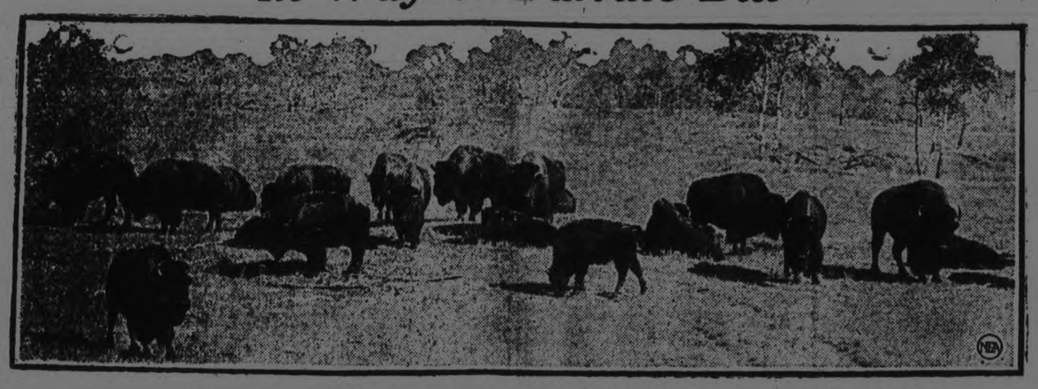
Canucks A-Bison Huntin' Goin' In Way of Buffalo Bill



A PART OF THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT'S BUFFALO HERD AT WAINWRIGHT, ALTA.

The greatest buffalo hunt since Cody's rifle stopped cracking on the plains is on. And in spite of all efforts to make the event safe and sane, a tinge of romance attaches.

The hunt will continue until 2,000 animals are killed. This wholesale slaughter means that the day has passed when reasonable fears are to be entertained as to the extinction of the bison. There are 8,300 in the Wainwright herd, and the killing, mostly of bulls, is to thin them out and save the winter hay supply.

Refuses Movie Request.

Professional hunters, rangers and cowboys will do the work. The cowboys will round up the animals, and the marksmen will fire from cover. By this method, frontiersmen say, the herd is not stampeded, but as comrades fall beneath the bullets, the brutes mill around and bellow mournfully without having sense enough to flee.

A moving picture company in the United States proposed to film the hunt, turning loose a band of feathered Cree Indians to bring down the buffalo with bow and arrows. The Government refused, pointing out that with present-day Indians the arrow is no longer a sure weapon of death and that the buffalos would suffer cruelly from their wounds.

Meat Cheap.

Some New York sportsmen also wished to enter the shoot, paying $500 for each man admitted. But they also were refused.

Buffalo meat will be sold at a cent and a half per pound, according to A. S. Duclose of Edmonton, who has the contract to market it. Much of the meat will be turned into pemmican.

This is sun-dried buffalo meat, pounded into paste, mixed with liquid fat and molded into solid cakes. It is considered one of the most concentrated forms of food, and is sold at arctic trading posts.

The vast Wainwright herd are descendants for a few buffalo calves, captured in 1874.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

MISTER TURKEY BUZZARD'S FAVOR

"I'm Mistah Turkey Buzzard," said the big bird with a twinkle in his eye.

Nancy and Nick had climbed up into a buttonwood tree in Dixie Land when they noticed a big bird flying slowly round in circles over their heads.

Each circle was a little lower than the others and pretty soon, with a couple of flaps of his great wings, the bird settled on the ground at their feet.

"Good day!" he said hospitably. "What you all doin'!"

"Why?" answered Nick. "We're just sitting here. The Fairy Queen sent us to see if everybody in Dixie Land was all right. What's your name, please?"

"I'm Mistah Turkey Buzzard," said the big bird with a twinkle in his eye. "But down south heah we consider it polite for strangers to tell their names first."

"We're Nancy and Nick, the Twins," answered Nancy, who felt that Nick had done enough talking. "And now, Mister Turkey Buzzard, have you any troubles?"

"Not so many," answered Mister Buzzard. "But still I have a few. I wish you would tell the Fairy Queen, please to send a few more mice and beetles and bats down to Dixie Land. Also a few bees and wasps, rather a great many bees and wasps and hornets and yellow jackets."

"What for?" asked Nick. "What do you want all those things for?"

"To eat, of course," said Mister Turkey Buzzard. "What did you think I wanted them for? To sting me?"

"Well, I'm not going to tell the Fairy Queen that!" declared the little boy.

"Well then," said Mister Buzzard, "I'll have to take what food I can get. But there! After all, down south here, we don't usually ask favors of our guests. We try to please them. And if you don't mind young friends, I am going to try to do something for you. I am going to save your lives. That's what I flew down here for. When I was away up in the sky, I looked down and saw you, but my sharp eyes saw something else, too. I sez to myself right then, sez I, 'Mistah Buzzard, sir, if you don't hurry down there those two children are going to get hurt, for as sure as anything that's old Cottonmouth Moccasin asleep right under their tree.

"So now, if you'll please excuse me, I'll be going. And I'll just take Cottonmouth along."

With one dive of his bent beak, Mister Turkey Buzzard grabbed the little snake, the worst fellow in all Dixie Land, and flew away before the Twins could say a word to thank him.

Cobourg and District

COBOURG, Nov. 13.—Mr. Norman K. Noble, of Cobourg, son of Mr.s R. A. Cruikshank, Plainville, was married at Port Hope, to Miss Dorothy Elma Daley, daughter of Rev. James T. Daley, D.D. and Mrs. Daley of that town. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents, her father officiating. The bride wore a handsome gown of Spanish lace over charmeuse satin and carried ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. After a buffet luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Noble left for wedding trip before taking up residenc in Cobourg.

Buttar—Bowman

On Saturday, November the 3rd, at four o'clock, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bowman, when their younger daughter, Dorothy A., was united in marriage to Mr. Alexander Percy Buttar, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. James Buttar, Plainville. The ceremony was conducted by their pastor, Rev. J. S. Ferguson.

The bride who was given away by her father, entered the room to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal March, played by the bride's cousin, Miss Marguerite Teney. Miss Dorothy Ferguson acted as flower girl, and held the bride's boquet of pink and white carnations.

The bride wore a gown of brown crepe-de-chene. After the wedding supper was served the happy couple left, mid a shower of confetti and good wishes, for a motor trip to Peterborough. On their return they will reside at Plainville.

Saturday was observed as Poppy Day here and artificial poppies, manufactured by disabled soldiers, were freely sold. The proceeds were for the work that the G.W.V.A. is carrying on in behalf of the returned soldiers.

To Aid in Unloading Coal

The tug Glide and the derrick owned by John E. Russell, Toronto, arrived at the harbour here this week. The derrick will be used for unloading coal.

Mr. Bonnezen Leaves Cobourg

Mr. R. T. B. Bonnezen, who has been manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia here for the past seven years has been transferred to Chester, Nova Scotia, and with his wife and family have left for that place. Mr. Bonnezen was the secretary-treasurer of the Board of Trade and a man who took a keen interest in town affairs. Mr. Leavitt, of Toronto, has been here temporarily relieving, and Mr. K. K. McCallum, of Saskatchewan, is expected to arrive here shortly as permanent manager.

Dr. McNaughton Leaving Cobourg

Dr. P. McNaughton, who has been medical superintendent of the Ontario Hospital here, since its opening after the war, has been appointed superintendent of the Ontario Hospital at Brockville. He will be much missed here, where he was an appreciated member of the Cobourg Rotary Club, being chairman of the Crippled Children's committee, which is endeavoring to help little children who are facing life with a handicap. Dr. McNaughton is also much interested in sports, being an enthusiastic curler and bowler and a promoter of baseball and other sports. Mr. McNaughton will also be much missed in social circles. It is expected that Dr. and Mrs. McNaughton will leave Cobourg some time this mouth. Dr. Wilson, superintendent of the Ontario Hospital at Penetang, is expected to succeed Dr. McNaughton here. The building used as the Ontario Hospital here were used for military purposes until after the close of the war and many shell-shocked and mental cases were treated there.

Supreme Court Dates

The dates for the spring sittings of the Supreme Court were announced this week. The jury sittings will open in Cobourg on March 4th and the non-jury on June 23rd.

Former Resident Passes

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wills, Wicklow, received a telegram stating that Mrs. Wills, sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas J. Brock, had died at Brooklyn, New York, on Friday week. The deceased lady, before her marriage, was Miss Elizabeth Allen, and she was born at Baltimore.

Death at Colborne

The sudden death of Mrs Sarah McCracken at Colborne after only a few days illness, removed a lady who was held in very high esteem. On Thursday morning she was seized with a cerebral hemorrhage and on Friday passed away. Mrs McCracken is survived by two sons and two daughters, Mr. James McCracken, Brighton; Mr. Burton McCracken, Colborne; Mrs. Joseph Coulson of La Salle, N.R., and Mrs. (Rev.) Baker of Cochrane. All the family came home for the funeral.

MISSISSIPPI HAS USE FOR $60,000,000.

Mississippi Valley Association Asks For Improvements to Inland Waterways.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 14.—(United Press).—If the Federal Government's budget to be submitted to the next Congress has no items for the improvement of rivers it is going to be subjected to heavy criticism from the Mississippi Valley.

This was made certain by the announcement of a series of plans for river improvement with the aim of increased water transportation which will be laid before the Mississippi Valley Association for approval at the annual meeting of the organization here Nov. 22 and 23.

"The program of the convention," according to James E. Smith, St. Louis, President of the association, "will include the adoption of measures which will bring about the introduction and passage of a special appropriation bill putting the uncompleted projects on the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri and Illinois Rivers on a continuing-contract basis, and appropriating in a lump sum a sufficient amount to complete all projects within the earliest possible time. This time limit should not in any instance be later than five years."

Congress will be asked for at least $60,000,000, according to the plans, for inland waterways. Five million dollars of this is to be spent on the Ohio River, $2,000,000 on the Missouri, $2,000,000 on the upper Mississippi and $2,000,000 on the Mississippi between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., Smith said.

Another object of the meeting, according to Smith, will be to secure the passage of legislation by Congress that will legalize the right of the Sanitary District of Chicago to divert not more than 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan for sanitary and navigation purposes. A suit of Northwest States protesting against this practice is now pending in the United States Supreme Court.

The association, according to Smith, also will urge the adoption of the "nine-foot channel" scheme, on a survey of which a committee of four United States Senators, including McCormick of Illinois, McKellar of Tennessee, Broussard of Louisiana and Brookhart of Iowa held hearings along the river from Chicago to New Orleans recently.

This proposal is for the deepening to nine feet and widening for navigation of the Illinois River from Utica, Ill., to Grafton, Ill., and the Mississippi River from Grafton to Cairo, Ill., just above Memphis.

"On these stretches the channel should be of a minimum depth of 9 feet and not less than 200 feet wide in straight channel and wide enough at bends and crossings to enable the successful navigation of tows of barges 800 feet in length, such as are now being operated between Cairo and New Orleans," Smith said.

WESTERN CANADA CHURCH PROBLEM.

The Protestant Church Reaches Fraction of the British Population.

MONTREAL, Nov. 13. — Only twenty-five per cent of Saskatchewan's forty-eight per cent. British population is being reached by the Protestant Church today declared Rev. J. W. Woodside in addressing today's session of the Montreal Presbytery held in Crescent Church. He was speaking on the matter of the church's financial needs and took the opportunity of presenting the non-Anglo-Saxon problem, particularly as its exists in the western provinces. Anglo-Saxon civilization is the only hope for the world to-day, he claimed in urging that Canada be kept British. Since British ideals have been largely drawn from the teaching of Jesus Christ, he averred if Canada is to remain British, he said, the spiritual needs of her large foreign population must be properly attended to.

The problem of the churches in Canada closely resembled that of the railways Mr. Woodside said. In both cases there is a big country to work in and few people in it. In the matter of whether Canada is to remain British or not it was stated that 52 per cent. of Saskatchewan's population is non-British; 43 per cent. of Alberta's and 45 per cent. Manitoba's, while in British Columbia every fifth person is an Oriental Of Saskatchewan's 48 per cent. British population only 25 per cent. are being reached at the present time by the Protestant Church. That the problem there will be rendered still more acute is seen in the fact that for every British baby born there are two of foreign parentage.

M'GRAW DENIES SALE OF GIANTS

Take the Team Another Pennant Says Leader on Departure For Europe.

NEW YORK, November 13. — Before departing to-day on the George Washington for a trip to Europe, John McGraw, the veteran manager of the New York Giants, declared he had no other deals immediately in view for the National League champions.

In baseball circles, however, the transaction completed last night by which the Giants obtained Southworth and Oeschger from Boston in exchange for Stengel, Cunningham and Bancroft, who is to manage the Braves, was regarded as the first step in McGraw's reconstruction programme.

Asked about reports persistently recurrent that the Giants were to be sold, McGraw declared:

"There is no truth in that story. The club has not been sold, and we have no idea of selling. We are going to make the Giants another pennant winning team."

This statement was corroborated by Charles A. Stoneham, president of the club.

BOWLING

EXAMINER LEAGUE CUP.

The Examiner League has received from Mr. R. M. Glover, General Manager of the Examiner, a handsome silver cup for this competition, which is being rolled at the Water Street Alleys. The graceful bowl rests on three miniature silver pins, and in its complete design forms a valuable trophy that has already injected new interest in the shop games.

DOMINIONS WON THREE FROM CARLTONS.

Last night in the Brinton Carpet Five-Pin League at Solomon's Alleys the Dominions won three straight from the Carltons. H. Rose was high man of the night with 493. Following are the scores:

The Mercantile Five Pin League will be formed on Thursday night when a meeting of all the captains will be held at 8 o'clock.

CITY TEN PIN LEAGUE.

The City Ten Pin League will hold their meeting on Friday night at Water Street Alleys to draw up the schedule to start next week. The captain of each team should be on hand. The following are the teams entered: Kiwanis, De Laval, High Rollers, Crescents, Quakers, C.G.E., Westclox, Belmont Club, C.P.C., Lawn Bowlers.

SOCCER NOTES

The Peterborough and District Association are contemplating having under their jurisdiction next year a senior, junior, juvenile and schoolboy executive to control all football matters, which shall be the Executive Board. This will be an excellent opportunity for the man who has the game at an interest.

In the Public and Separate schools the boys are practising daily with the football and are anticipating an excellent season in the proposed School League in the spring. At present a junior squad in the schools are making great progress and can make the senior boys travel in clean combination.

The football medals won by the G. W.V.A. team for League Championship, has arrived and will be presented to the players in the near future.

On Saturday evening, December 1st, the Thistle Football Club will hold their annual meeting in Chamber of Commerce rooms, if available, at 8 p.m. prompt. Don't forget the date.

A special class for referees will be started under the capable hands of J. L. Howarth at an early date, and any person desiring to become a "knight of the whistle" will be made welcome.

The Trophy Bonds have been prepared by the secretary who awaits the necessary signatures from the winning clubs during the season to complete essential business.

C.P.C. won the White's Sports and Athletic "Duraflex" football as runners-up in the Junior League Championship. It stood the test well on Thanksgiving afternoon.

COAST LEAGUE FIGHT STARTS

Deposed President Will Continue Duties in Spite of Vote.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., November 13. — Yesterday's Coast League battle at Avalon was only a skirmish in a fight that will be carried to a finish, according to a statement made to-day by William H. McCarthy, deposed president of the league. He advised that he still considered himself league president and would act as such.

"The records of the league will remain in my possession," said McCarthy, "so will the funds of the League. I shall perform my duties as president without regard to what transpired yesterday at Catalina Island.

"Seattle had no right to vote yesterday. My proposition with regard to Seattle is all the more secure because of the decision of Federal Judge John F. Partridge, which absolutely sustains me."

Harry Williams, Los Angeles man elected by the "Big Five" faction to succeed McCarthy has announced his intention to open offices here immediately.

FIRPO PEEVES BOLIVIA.

Crowd Came to Cheer Idol Only to be Rebuffed—Match European Heavies Next Month.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 14.—A despatch to La Nacion from Le Paz, Bolivia, says that Luis Angel Firpo incurred the displeasure of the residents of the city by his indifferent attitude toward the enthusiastic reception they accorded him.

Firpo, the despatch says, was in a sulky mood when he arrived in the La Paz railroad station. He was met by cheering crowds, who were displeased when their idol hastily fled in an automobile from their presence, and they raised hostile cries when he refused to raise his hat in acknowledgment of their greetings.

The boxer added to the irritation of the Bolivians when he refused to attend a football game held in his honor and when he failed to appear for other demonstrations prepared for him.

DATES OF RUGBY FINALS.

Hamilton Rowing Club and Hamilton Tigers meet at Hamilton A.A.A. field on Saturday of this week in the Canadian Rugby Union eastern semi-final. The winner will then meet Queen's University at Kingston on Saturday, November 24. The winner of the eastern final will meet Regina, Western Canada winners on December 1, but whether the game will be in Toronto or on the grounds of the winner, has not been decided. While Regina have won the Western Canada honors, no word has been received from them regarding coming east to play off for the Dominion title. But it is expected they will come.

EASILY PEEVED.

National League umpires say that if Tony Kauffman didn't get peeved every time he thought the umpire missed a strike he would be a 25 per cent better pitcher. The moment he starts to fuss with the umpire he loses much of his stuff. There are several other pitchers in both leagues with that failing.

HAGEN A SALESMAN?

Walter Hagen, noted professional golfer, may remain in the east this winter and give lessons indoors and act as a salesman of golf weapons at one of the big metropolitan stores. The plan is for Hagen to instru t a pupil and then equip him with clubs best fitted for the player's particular style.

FIGHTING TYPES HOLDING GOLF TITLES

Marston and Miss Cummings Rule Because They Are Fighters.

HEART

NERVE

By JOE WILLIAMS.

Fighting types are generally associated with the more rugged forms of competitive sport, where the man-to-man contact is involved, and the crush and drive of sheer power decide the throbbing issues.

You expect to find fighting types in the ring, on the football field and on the diamond.

Occasionally you find fighting types on the tennis court. Maurice McLoughlin was a fighting type in no less degree than Dempsey, McMillan, Cobb. When the Comet struck, the ball hummed through the air with a defiant roar. Back of the serve was a ringing note of hostility. You knew the Californian was out there to win.

Somehow or other, golf, as a game, fails to stir up visions of terrific grapples. You do not battle with your opponent in a physical sense. You do not even swat the ball at him, as in tennis. You have a course to play and a ball to hit. Nothing else matters. Go ahead and do your best.

This does not happen to be the case, however. It only appears to be. There is a place in golf for the fighting type, and the reward is proportionately sweet. Indeed, two fighting types carried off the chief honors in the amateur field in America the past season when Max Marston won the men's title at Flossmoor and Edith Cummings the women's at Rye.

Marston Great Fighter.

Marston's dominant quality as a golfer is his fighting ability. As a shot maker and stylist he is not the best amateur in the country by quite a margin. We think Jones, Ouimet and Sweetser rank far above him. And yet to win the title Marston went out and knocked off these three stars in order, one the open champion, another the amateur champion, the third a one-time holder of both.

Marston won because he fought to the last putt. What he lacked in brilliancy he made up in unwavering perserverance and a sublime belief in himself. Jones had him 2 down at the end of the morning round. Ouimet, despite a wretched 81, held him even, and Sweetser led him by 2 holes. Thus, at the halfway mark in his three big matches Marston was beaten in two and played to a standstill in the third.

To beat Jones Marston shot the first nine in the afternoon in 34, bagging birdies at the sixth, seventh and eighth, and narrowly missing another at the ninth. Jones didn't win a hole in the afternoon until the fifteenth, and it was the first he had won since the eleventh in the morning. Marston outfought Ouimet on the greens, and won from Sweetser because he was steadier in the pinches.

The Aggressive Edith.

The story of Miss Cummings' triumph in the women's national is strikingly similar. Shot for shot she is hardly the golfer that Glenna Collett is, or Alexa Stirling, for that matter. But she is a more aggressive fighter than either. A golf match to her is a thing to be won or lost in a businesslike manner. Time enough for the little pleasantries after the fight.

Miss Cummings drew Miss Stirling in the national finals this year. The contrast was remarkable. Alexa would walk up to her shots with a smile, strike with an almost apologetic air, and then turn to chat neighborly with a gallery friend. Edith's attitude was markedly different. She had come out of the west to win the title, and she made no effort to conceal her ambitions.

Everything had to be just so before she would shoot. No moving among the gallery, no whispering, no distraction whatever. She would step up to her shot with a grim set expression, and a "watch me hit this one" manner, and lash out a perfect shot. Her style was a bit awkward, almost strained, and her irons were not played with that crispness that marks the work of an expert, but she got results, and that's what she was after.

SHORTER SCHEDULE TO BE CONSIDERED

At Annual Meeting of the American Association in Chicago.

CHICAGO, November 13. — Club owners of the American Association at their annual meeting here in December, will be asked to adopt a shorter schedule for the 1924 season, President Hickey said to-night. He has mailed a tentative schedule calling for 154 games, to the club owners for their approval. Previously the League played 168 games. The proposed schedule sets April 16 as the opening day and September 31 for the final game.

President Hickey said the shorter schedule would permit better weather conditions for the playing of the Junior World's Series, between pennant-winners of the International League and the American Association.

SENATORS START ON NEW SEASON

OTTAWA, November 13. Canadian Press. — The Ottawa hockey team reported for indoor work to-night and held its first work out, preparatory to its western jaunt.

Nine of the players reported to Manager Gorman and were put through a decidedly strenuous hour. Most of the Senators are in fair shape already as they have been running and playing baseball and football. They will work out to-morrow again and will leave for the west on Thursday night, reaching Winnipeg on Saturday night.

Until to-day some doubt existed as to the ability of Frank Nighbor to make the trip but the Pembroke star wired that he had completed arrangements to accompany his team. He will join the Ottawa party in Pembroke on Friday morning.

COLLEGE STARS.

Fifteen years ago Connie Mack was the only major league manager who would give a college ball player a trial. Today the college stars are eagerly sought by every major league club.

They brought Zev and My Own to Latonia to race for the championship of the three-year-olds. Another starter in the race was In Memoriam, Kentucky bred. Except in the south, not much attention was paid to In Memoriam. Even the smart layers at the track offered big odds against him. The race was between Zev and My Own. The others were there just to "fill in." Well, you know what happened. In Memoriam raced both Zev and My Own into the ground and came on to win by six full lengths.

FAST BALL BEST.

Dazzy Vance has the best fast ball in the National League, say the leading batters of that organization. Lack of a change of pace is his outstanding fault. When the opposition starts hitting his speed he has little else to offer.

PASSING OF DONIE BUSH AS MANAGER DOESN'T SAVOR OF FAIR PLAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Owen "Donie" Bush's release as manager of the Washington team has occasioned no little surprise. Not that the former Tiger start had been figured as a certainty for 1924, as rumors afloat in midseason had sort of doped Bush for the ax. Still, on the strength of the team's showing during the last couple of months of the race, the mite's retention loomed possible.

All things considered, Bush has done well in his first year as a big league pilot. From a sixth position club in 1922, he brought the Griff entry into fourth this season, half a game ahead of the Browns. Incidentally, it was only the seventh time that the Nationals have landed in the first division since the organization's inception in 1900.

During the last two months of the campaign Bush had his men playing championship ball. For a time the team was putting up the best brand of pastiming in the entire circuit. In August and September Washington by all odds was the sensation of the wheel.

In July 31, the Bushmen were entrenched in seventh place, with 41 games won and 51 lost for an average of .446. At that time they were [illegible] and a half games behind St. Louis, in third position, the Browns' record reading, 49 won and 44 lost, average, .527. Washington looked hopeless. It was at that time that Bush was being made ready for the scythe's swing.

But the team suddenly spurted. Apparently, Bush had finally instilled some of the dash and ginger into his players which had made him famous in his playing days. Washington crept past the Athletics, it jumped ahead of Chicago and on the very last day of the campaign nosed St. Louis out for a berth in the first selection. Thus the general verdict was that "Donie" Bush had done well with the material at hand.

KINGSTON PLAYS HERE SATURDAY

Eastern Collegians to Meet Local Students in Interscholastic Series.

The Peterboro Collegiate Institute rugby team with the scalps of Lindsay and Oshawa dangling from their belts will go into action on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park against Kingston Collegiate in a sudden death game for the Eastern Ontario honours in the Interscholastic series of the O.R.F.U. The winner of Saturday's game will meet a Toronto team in the semi-finals. The Kingston crew with the advantage of seeing the Queen's and R.M.C. teams in action will likely prove more serious opposition than the local students have yet encountered but Coach Browne's youngsters are confident of beating the Easterners.

A DEER WAS SEEN IN HALTON COUNTY

BRONTE, Nov. 14.— (Canadian Press.)—Yesterday afternoon while John McMillan was working on his farm in Nelson township, Halton county, he saw a deer, which appeared on a little knoll close by. His hurried call to his brother-in-law, A. O. Flumerfelt, of Bronte, evidently frightened the animal, for it scurried away across the fields of an adjoining farm until it disappeared in a wood lining the banks of a creek. This is a most unusual occurrence in this district and recalls the discovery late last fall of a body of a young deer in Twelve Mile creek at Bronte.

CRITICALLY ILL

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Sir William Mackenzie, recognized as an outstanding figure in Canadian finance, is critically ill at his home. He is threatened with double pneumonia, serious chest conditions having developed after symptoms of heart weakness had been manifested. Sir William's physician stated last night that owing to his patient being in his 75th year, the outlook for his recovery, should pneumonia set in, would be far from favorable.

Nearly every glove that makes any pretense to being up to the minute has some fancy embroidery on the cuff or on the back of the hand.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

The W. C. T. U. Held a Meeting—A Good Program — Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 14. — The Women's Christian Temperance Union had their monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the form of a parlor tea at the home of Mrs. C. W. Turner. There was a good turn out and the collection amounted to nearly seven dollars.

The program was varied and was enjoyed by all present. It consisted of readings by Mrs. Wragg, Miss Neely Hoover and Mrs. Turner, duett by Mrs. Casement and Mrs. Bibley, violin solo by Miss N. Hoover instrumental solo by Cherrie Turner. There a social time was spent after which refreshments were served. Much credit is due to the program committee for the interesting and profitable afternoon.

At the young people's meeting last night in the Methodist Church an address was given by Rev. R. McWilliams, a missionary supported by Campbellford and Brighton districts. He gave some very interesting facts about Japan, their customs their attitude toward the Christians today which is so different to what it used to be. More missionary workers are needed as there is so much to do and so many miles to cover that they cannot acomplish as much as they would wish. Rev. Mr. McWilliams with his wife, has worked among the Japanese for seven years and they are home for a years rest. Though he is spending much of that time addressing the Leagues and at conventions. The speaker had a lot of lantern slides, which he described. There were very interesting. They included pictures of some of the kindergarten children the orphanage children, some of the beautiful scenery and cherry blossoms and last of all some of the scenes showing the wrecks from the great earthquake.

On motion of Mrs. G. A. King ston and S. J. Abernethy a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Mc Williams.

The other items for the evening were a solo by Miss Ruth Taylor and an instrumental solo by Cherrie Turner. A pleasant evening was brought to a close by singing "The whole wide world for Jesus' and Prayer by Rev. Mr. Glover of Seymour circuit.

Attended Fowl Suppers.

About sixteen Campbellford people attended the fowl supper at Morganston on Monday night. An excellent supper was served by the ladies. There was a large crowd, and a good programme of music was furnished by a nine-piece orchestra from St. Andrew's Church Brighton.

The proceeds amounted to about $380.00.

A party of people attended the fowl supper at Wooler on Monday night. A good supper was served, and an excellent programme provided. The proceeds amounted to about $330.00.

WORKER IN WEST TELLS OF MISSIONS

Superintendent of Indian Missions Inspects Chemong and Hiawatha Reserves.

KEENE, Nov. 14.—Rev. Arthur Barner, of Calgary, Supt. of Indian Missions for the Methodist church, spent the week-end inspecting the work at Chemong and Hiawatha on Sunday.

Besides preaching at Bethel and Keene he held service at Hiawatha, accompanied by R. J. McCamus, Indian agent. A special programme was rendered by the Indian children.

On Monday evening service was held at Chemong.

Mr. Barner's territory includes the supervision of sixteen thousand Indians, fifty-two mission stations, forty-five schools, five industrial institutes, five hospitals, and stretches from Oka, near Montreal and the St. Clair river, to the Queen Charlotte Islands and to within sixty miles of Alaska on the Pacific.

The Indian work of the Methodist church was begun 99 years ago, and is extremely scattered in remote places of the North Land of Canada. Mr. Barner was appointed five years ago and is the first man to visit all missionary stations, and his accurate compilations of statistics and details has become invaluable to the missionary board in its deliberations.

Mr. Barner is now in Ontario and Quebec on a visit involving an absence from home of about three and one-half months, and after a Christmas visit in Calgary will leave for the Pacific tour of another three months. He exhorts his hearers not to judge the Indians by how far they are thought of our standards, but by the progress made from their own standards of eighty to one hundred years ago which is most encouraging.

Mr. Barner is known as a writer on Evangelistic Method and Work, and believes in the solution of Indian problems by the proper religious training and education of the young people. They are not "deficient" but only "inefficient" children lacking only the training and heredity we have behind us which time will overcome.

The Indian work cost the Methodist church one hundred and six thousand dollars last year, which is one-tenth of the total givings of the Methodist church, and expenditures which could only be justified, he said, on compassionate ground.

Rev. A. McLauchlin, of Keene, is superintendent of the work at Hiawatha and is endeavoring to solicit volunteer workers in Peterboro to conduct extra services and a Sunday School on the Reserve.

Death of J. McGee

The word that came last Thursday that Mr. John McGee had died suddenly at Shaunavon, Sask., came as a great shock to the community where Mr. McGee has resided all his life.

Mr. and Mrs. McGee left early in the spring for the West to visit their daughter, Mrs. David Steele, at Shaunavon, and other friends in the West, hoping that a summer's rest would benefit his health, which was not thought in a serious condition at that time. Just a week prior to when they were expecting to start for home Mr. McGee was stricken with heart trouble to which he succumbed.

He leaves to mourn besides a sorrowing wife, one daughter, Mrs. David Steele of Shaunavon, Sask., Mr. Bruce, of Ottawa, and Hugh at home; one sister, Mrs. James Edwards, of Keene, and two brothers, Mr. Hugh McGee of New Liskeard, Ont., and James.

The family have the sincere sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

PERJURED QUEBEC LIQUOR OFFICIAL.

Six Months in Jail For Swearing to False Statement of Gossip.

MONTREAL, Nov. 13. — I. E. Pierry was convicted of perjury by Chief Justice Decarie here this afternoon and sentenced to six months in jail. This is the sequel to the sensation created on November 30th last when Pierry swore to an affidavit, seriously compromising Sir Wm. Stavert, one of the members of the Quebec Liquor Commission. Pierry declared that during the month of Sept. 1922 certain employees and members of the Quebec Liquor Commission sold liquor for consumption in the United States. In other words he charged that bootlegging had been carried on on a large scale.

In his defence Pierry admitted that he had no personal knowledge of bootlegging, trafficking, etc., or in fact of any of the charges sworn to in the affidavit. He had taken the statements from conversations among other employees of the Quebec Liquor Commission. Chief Justice Decarie declared that Pierry practically admitted that the affidavit was false and found the accused guilty of perjury.

A Practical Lesson

THE EDITOR OF THE EXAMINER:—

Dear Sir,—In every community there are knockers, people who lack vision, have no enterprise in their makeup and consequently are ready to throw cold water over any enterprise.

Considering what the Central Ontario Oil Fields, Ltd., have accomplished and in addition to what is happening in the Old Petrolea Fields at 3,500 feet depth and having driven through strong gas flows with apparent showings of oil at Colbourne, indications of oil being so promising that many experienced oil men say we have all the indications of oil, one expert predicting a fifty barrel well, will the people who thought this a wild dream still think so? Or will they allow the American investor to control this real Canadian development Company? Even now negotiations are begun with U.S. capitalists who always have some money for development purposes.

What we predicted for ourselves has already taken place in Rodney town ship, near Chatham, and that too, when the operators were ready to quit. When we succeed as we fully expect to, notwithstanding our discouragements, how will it look to those who could have helped and would not, and especially to those who put obstacles in the way?

Yours sincerely,
A. H. ALLEN.

A Memorial Service Was Held at Harold--Personals.

BURNBRAE, Nov. 14.—Miss Eloise Watson, who is teaching in Belleville, spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Watson, Seymour East.

Mrs. Walter Twigg and son, of Toronto, is spending the week with her father, Mr. Norman Masson, Burnbrae.

Mrs. James Ketchison, of Menie, is sick at present in a hospital in Chicago.

Mrs. Ingram, of Peterborough, spent Thanksgiving day at the old manse, Burnbrae, as guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Craghead.

Mrs. William Rannie, Miss Marjory Rannie and Jack, spent a day in Belleville last week.

The Y.W.A. of Burnbrae church held a 15-cent tea on Saturday at the home of Miss Margaret Milne. A good programme was given and greatly appreciated not only by the young people, but by the older members present.

The Y. P. Guild of St. Andrews' church held their regular meeting on Monday evening. A splendid paper was read by Mrs. John Rannie on "The Island Beautiful." The Y. P. decided to invite the Y. P. Guild of St. Andrew's church, Stirling, to a social evening November 25.

At Harold, on Monday afternoon, a memorial service was held under the auspices of the Women's Institutes of Springbrook and Wellman's Corners, for the brave men of Rawdon that fell in the Great War. Dr. C. F. Watt, of Stirling, was chairman. Addresses were given by Major Donnan, local ministers and others.

BOWLING.

The Dormitory team in the Y.M.C.A. five pin league pulled up level with the Granite last night by winning two games out of three. A. McLeish was the highest single scorer with 233 and J. Mayneord and A. Gilliam high for three games.

ITS TOO GOOD TO MISS

REGINALD DENNY IN THE "Abysmal Brute"

A young lad, brought up in the open like an animal — all muscle and courage—as handsome as a Greek God—an' woman shy! Down to the big cities—he was the biggest sensation in the whole history of the prize ring. But the greatest battle he ever fought was for a woman. She said she would never marry a prize fighter—yet in spite of herself her wealth, her position, there could be but one answer to love such as theirs. Why?

JACK LONDON is the author of this latest screen triumph. A red-blooded story of a red-blooded man and woman. The most unusual and entertaining picture ever offered to you. Don't miss it!

TO-NIGHT! THEN GONE!

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL.

A FILM YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS

Now playing at the Royal Theatre, last engagement tonight, is "The Abysmal Brute," a filmization of Jack London's famous story of the same name. Hobart Henley directed the production.

The role of Pat Glendon, Jr., is played by Reginald Denny. Mabel Julienne Scott has the role opposite the star, while Nell Craig, Irene Haisman and Dorothea Wolbert have other feminine roles. Buddy Messenger is the little imp of a brother and other players include Charles French, Hayden Stevenson, George Stewart, Craufurd Kent, David Torrance, Harry Mann, Kid Wagner, Tom McGuire and others.

The story deals with the life of clean-souled, big-hearted son of the open spaces who fared to the great city to match his strength against the greatest masters of the prize ring. He defeated all-comers, but succumbed before the gentle look of a woman, and then began his greatest battle!

TOM MIX AND TONY AT ROYAL THURSDAY

Tom Mix will be back in town thrilling all of his admirers at the Royal Theatre Thursday in the latest William Fox picture, "Three Jumps Ahead." Several new and daring stunts never before attempted for the screen are shown in this photoplay. Tom jumps a canyon ninety feet deep and twenty feet wide with "Tony," his stunt horse, and in addition rolls down a cliff while driving a stage-coach. If you like to be thrilled by a swiftly moving story of the Western plains, don't miss this picture.

"ROYAL DIVORCE." BIG MASSEY HALL ATTRACTION TO BE PRESENTED AT ROYAL IN CO-OPERATION WITH CENTRAL HOME AND SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Next Monday the Royal has secured one of the really big photoplay attractions. The Royal Divorce" a magnificent British film, finely produced with stirring scenes of the Battle of Waterloo. This production was wonderfully successful at Massey Hall recently and the top prices charges was $1.00. The story contains everything essential to superlative photoplay entertainment.

LOVE—Love as the love of Kings and Queens, Princes and princesses; love as the love of Napoleon, the maker and breaker of kings.

WAR as never before seen in motion pictures, the Battle of Waterloo, the retreat from Moscow, and the burning of the famous city of the Czars.

HISTORY—Actual history is the basis of this fascinating story.

ROMANCE—The romance of Josephine, the romance of the proud Austrian Princess Marie Louise, who shattered the destiny of the greatest man of history.

It's local presentation in Peterboro at the Royal will be under the auspices of the Peterboro Central Home and School Committee.

SLAYS BRIDE WHO HAD PACKAGE OF CIGARETS

Okey Hedge Shoots Her at Clarksburg, W. Va., When She Rebuffs His Inquiries

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 13.—When pretty Luella Mae Hedge, a bride of five months, refused to tell how she came to have a package of cigarettes in her pocketbook and laughed teasingly, her husband, Okey Hedge, shot her dead in their home in Broadway, East Clarksburg. The bullet pierced her heart.

Hedge then tried to end his own life, but only succeeded in inflicting a slight wound in his head. He snapped the trigger of his revolver three more times, but the cartridges failed to explode. A policeman who had heard the shots rushed into the house and seized Hedge while he was reloading his weapon.

"I shot her because I loved her and because she was teasing me continually and driving me frantic with her references to flirtations with other men," Hedge said today in his cell in the County Jail.

The murdered wife was 18 years old and Hedge is 23. Hedge said he was maddened at finding the package of cigarettes in her pocketbook and at her taunting laugh when he questioned her on the subject.

RE-EMPLOY SOME POSTAL STRIKERS.

One Hundred of Winnipeg Office Engaged, But Seventy Still Out.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—(Canadian Press).—In regard to a press report that personnel of the Winnipeg post office who lost their positions at the time of the strike in 1919 were to be reinstated it was said at the department of the Post Master General tonight that no new regulations had been issued with regard to this matter. Furthermore the opinion was voiced that possibly only by legislation could all of these men be reinstated at once.

In accordance with regulations made subsequent to the strike, it was said abouet 100 of the strikers have already been re-employed. The regulation is still in force that these men be given the preference for employment whenever vacancies occur, although they do not recover their seniority. From sixty to seventy such employees mostly postal clerks and letter-carriers, are still seeking re-employment and they have made representations to the Post Master General from time to time. A number of those who left the post office at the time of the strike have found other employment or have left Winnipeg, and are not seeking to recover their positions.

$2,012 A YEAR SPENT BY FARMER'S FAMILY

United States Department of Agriculture Making Rural Survey.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Economists of the Department of Agriculture has found the average expenditures of a farmer's family in Livingston County, N.Y., to be $2,012. The purpose of the study, which will be extended to various parts of the country, is to determine whether farmers get "adequate returns in comfort, health and enjoyment from their expenditures" as compared with the industrial family.

Livingston County was selected as a general farming community of average prosperity. The most striking feature of the study, the department said, was the almost complete similarity found in items of expenditures of the two classes.

About one-third of the farm expenditures was figured on items not involving direct purchase—food produced on the farm and unpaid labor. Of the total, the expenditure for food was 39.5 per cent; clothing, 13 per cent; education, recreation and church and social activities, 16 per cent.

Automobiles were owned by 75.6 per cent of the families and the cost of their operation and repair, classed under expenditures for "advancement," was $65 a year.

MAY EXPORT GOLD TO UNITED STATES

Delegation Waited on Finance Minister Today With Good Results

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press).— Minister of Finance Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding stated to-day that for the present and pending further inquiry into question of enforcing gold embargo licenses would be granted to Canadian mining companies for export of bullion.

Minister received the delegation headed by Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario's Minister of Mines, and Hon. J. E. Perriault Minister of Mines for Quebec, early this afternoon.

Deputation was heard in private but it is understood that number of members spoke on various phases of problem, their claim generally speaking was that gold is commodity which can command New York price and that its producers should be permitted to take advantage of this by refusing to permit export of gold and at same time refusing to pay for it at New York rate. It was claimed that government was imposing a hardship on Canadian producers and at same time making Canada unfavorable country for investment in gold mining, exchange rates against Canada in New York were now between one and two pne cent, but one of delegates referred to situation which would arise if this rate should rise to five or six per cent and embargo be continued result it was represented, would be that Canadian producers of gold could not take advantage of higher New York rate and would consequently lose difference between Canadian and New York rate.

Iron Bounty

Elaborating his statement made at Sault Ste Marie Monday, that there should be bounty provided jointly by Federal and Provincial Governments to encourage production of iron in Ontarrio Premier Ferguson this morning stated that in his opinion bounty should be at rate of one cent per unit or roughly seventy five cents per ton. This amount was also suggested by iron ore commission appointed a few years ago.

"It really is drive on iron," said Premier. "There are millions and millions of tons of ore in Ontario that should be developed."

Mr. Ferguson added his protest to that of McCrea Minister of Mines in connection with Federal Government proposal to cease paying for Canadian gold in New York funds. Premier claimed it would prevent foreign capital from investing in Ontario's gold fields.

IN MEMORIAM.
McMURRAY.—In loving memory of Clare McMurray, who died on November 14, 1922.

She died so soon, and yet she died to gain the crown of life.
To her how soon the victory came,
How brief her hour of strife.
Her soul a floweret dewy sweet,
Now blossoms at her Saviour's feet.

The how to live she knew full well,
And practised it each day,
Her mind oft dwelling on that goal
That to youth seems far away!

And to those who knelt by her death-bed
And watched her last sweet sigh,
She taught the all important fact of life
The how to die.

It seems so strange as we pass through,
There's a cross for me and a cross
for you.
Yours may feel heavy while mine
looks light,
But God in the end makes all things right.

He deals to each one with such loving care,
He knows how much each heart can bear.
Without a cross no crown is given,
There are no stepping stones to heaven.

To meet our loved Clare by the throne
Of Him Who died to save,
Be this our hope, our aim in life,
To meet beyond the grave.

To meet in heaven? O blessed hope,
All care, all suffering o'er,
The fleeting joys, the bitter tears,
We'll know them there no more.

So what matters if life seems weary,
Or we tread its path alone,
We possess the faith that teaches,
In heaven we're with our own.

IN MEMORIAM
GIBBS — In affectionate remembrance of our dear father Robert Gibbs, who died, November 14., 1920.

In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweetly tender and true,
There is not a day dear father,
That we do not think of you.

I think of him where'er I go.

OBITUARY

MISS JEMIMA CHAMBERLEN.
In the death of Miss Jemima Chamberlen, daughter of the late Edmund Chamberlen, who passed away on Sunday, November 11th, Peterborough loses one of its oldest residents. The late Miss Chamberlen was born in Peterborough in 1841, and spent the whole of her life in the city. She was a faithful and devoted member of the Church of England, was for many years a member of St. John's congregation and later was instrumental in the founding of All Saints' church, with all the activities of which she was identified practically up to the time of her death.

She was predeceased a few months ago by her sister, Mrs. I. Robinson, and is survived by one sister, Mrs. H. C. Winch, who is the last surviving daughter of the late Edmund Chamberlen, also one nephew, A. H. A. Robinson and one niece, Mrs. H. B. Rye.

The funeral took place at 2.30 this afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery, Rev. R. B. Grobb officiating.

MARGARET L. SMITH.
The death occurred on Monday evening of Margaret Louise, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith, of this city. Little Margaret was not yet three years of age, having been born in February, 1921, but in the brief span of her life had brought untold sunshine into many hearts. Two weeks ago she was taken sick, and there seemed for many days no doubt as to her speedy recovery. Towards the end of last week, however, unexpected complications set in, and although she put up a tremendous struggle for life, it was unavailing, and she slept quietly away on Monday evening, November 12th. In her home among her little playmates, and in the hearts of many older people, her brightness and sweetness will not soon be forgotten.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 2:30 from the family residence, 405 Walton street, conducted by Mr. Young of the George street church.

DR. J. E. MONTGOMERY.
The funeral of the late Dr. John Edward Montgomery, whose death occurred in Ladysmith on Tuesday, Nov. 6th, at 6.30 p.m., took place yesterday at Ladysmith. The late Dr. Montgomery was born at Barry, Ont., Jan. 26, 1886. He was a son of the late Fred Myers Montgomery, and Alberta Franklin Perry, at present of Ladysmith. Dr. Montgomery received his medical education at Toronto University in 1910, after which he attended post graduate work in New York, Toronto and Chicago. Then, coming west, he seryed one year as medical officer on the Royal Mail ship "Empress of Japan." After practicing his profession on Vancouver Island for three years he enlisted with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in 1916. He then served in France with the 13th Ambulance, 4th Division. He was invalided to England and subsequently spent some time there in military hospital work. He returned to Canada on the S.S. Olympic as chief medical officer, and appointed as medical officer in charge at New Market, Ont., Military Mental Hospital. After the Armistice he settled in Ladysmith, B.C.

His death came in a most tragic manner. He contracted laryngeal diphtheria while attending an epidemic of the same disease in Ladysmith and district.

He leaves to mourn him his wife, Viola Montgomery, formerly Viola Matthews, daughter of John Matthews, of Shaughnessy Heights, Vancouver; three sons, Lawrence, Lynn and Dick, and one daughter, Eleanor. His mother and one brother, Lynn Myers Montgomery, of Toronto, Ont.

On account of the nature of the malady, the funeral arrangements were held in accordance with the medical health regulations, and the home placed in quarantine.—Exchange.

THE PRIZE-WINNERS.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Green, Miss Mary Linkick, and Mr. Bert Hayton spent the holiday on a motor trip to Belleville, Madoc, and other Eastern points.

Master Wilmot Gordon, Peterborough, is spending Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gordon, Markham Street.—Toronto Globe.

STINNES OF GERMANY SEEKS AMERICAN OIL

Principal Associate Will Be Sinclair of the Sinclair Oil Co.—Wants Oil For Industries

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. —Hugo Stinnes, the German industrial leader, plans to organize an American oil company in which his chief associate, according to reports in the financial district will be Harry F. Sinclair of the Sinclair Oil Corporation.

It is understood that Stinnes is looking about for a supply of crude and refined oil to be used by the numerous German shipping companies, steel mills and other industrial enterprises, which he controls. His competition with Standard Oil for refined is expected to be confined to Germany, where the Standard of New Jersey has a subsidiary, but it is understood that he will compete with the Standard and all other companies in all parts of the world for acreage to assure a constant supply of crude.

Walter C. Teagle, President of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, when asked yesterday about the Stinnes activities, said:

"We have no knowledge of Mr. Stinnes's intentions as to his future operations in the oil business, nor do we know whether his rumored investments would mean the acquisition of a source of supply other than for his organizations operating in Germany."

Incorporation Arranged.

According to cables received yesterday, Stinnes has arranged for the incorporation in this State of the Hugo Stinnes-Paedrek Mining and Oil Company, with a capital of $20,000,000. This is the company in which, it is said, Sinclair will have a substantial interest. This company will either acquire oil acreage in this country or buy up as supply from various companies, principally the Sinclair corporation, Sinclair, however, is not expected to sell any of the company's acreage to the new concern, but will only supply refined oil at first and probably crude oil later. When the present programme of expansion is completed Sinclair will have a daily refining capacity of 75,000 barrels.

The Stinnes organization in Germany has been buying oil in large quantities from the Sinclair organization, both in this country and through foreign organizations owned and controlled by Sinclair. Hugo Stinnes Jr. and Sinclair are now in Texas, going over the Sinclair properties in that State.

DOES NOT WANT BE FIGUREHEAD

Liberal Leader of Ontario is Taking His New Job Seriously.

TORONTO, November 14 Special to The Examiner). — "If I am to be a figurehead only, I do not want to be leader of the Liberal forces," said W. E. N. Sinclair, M.P.P., recently chosen leader of the Liberals in the Ontario Legislature, when he spoke at the Young Liberal Club of Toronto at its luncheon at the King Edward Hotel to-day.

"I have taken up the work seriously. I intend to spend energy on it, and I hope for hearty co-operation and wise counsel," went on Mr. Sinclair.

It was his first local public appearance since he was chosen Liberal leader in the House, and he took occasion to declare the independence of Liberalism from all other bodies and groups.

"Let us as Liberals unite our forces and cease any disputes within our own ranks. Let us demonstrate that Liberalism is not a spent force," he exhorted.

"Liberalism is not a spent force." he had said earlier, "but it is a divided force. And divided it is less effective."

He argued that the Liberal Party should include all non-Conservatives. There were only two lines of thought —Liberal and Conservative. The Liberal Party was bigger than any class or group and older. The Progressive Party and the Labour Party were all of recent date.

"They are the result of occupational thinking. But minor points for class or group advantage over others are not Liberal but for class privilege.

"My aim as leader is to welcome all non-Conservatives to the ranks of the Liberal Party and to so conduct the affairs of the Party that all such will find their aims and aspirations more likely to find realisation in the Liberal Party than in isolated groups.

"Then he declared emphatically for freedom from alliances with groups.

"The Liberal Party in Ontario must stand out as the Liberal Party without alliance or entanglement with any group or class movements, but it must aid the worthy aims of any group or class not inconsistent with the general welfare."

Leader Sinclair briefly outlined his plans. From his office in the Parliament Buildings he hoped to effect a Provincial organisation that would be effective. He wished a permanent man to be appointed under him, a man to go to all the ridings get data, organise, link up ridings with the Leader's office, dig up material for himself and the Liberal members to be used during the session.

"No leader can do all this and do a leader's work besides," said Mr. Sinclair.

He was glad th Liberal organisation was getting new offices in the Record Building but as the Federal body had different riding boundaries it could not do his detail work for him. A Provincial organisation must be made if he were to be more than a figurehead leader.

About one hundred attended the luncheon, over which Harold J. Kirby presided.

Several members and ex-members of the Legislature were present.

MAJORITY OF PRIZES GO TO TORONTO DOGS

The assembly hall of the Labor Temple in Toronto was the scene of a Thanksgiving Day specialty show, under the auspices of the Boston Terrier Club of Toronto, at which some of the finest pedigreed on the continent were to be seen. W. J. Welch, of this city, superintended the judging.

In addition to the ribbons won, the owner of the first dog in each class was also given a special prize, ranging in some cases from loving cups to cut glass, and from ivory-handled umbrellas to smoking sets. Puppies were the predominating feature of the show, in which the majority of the prizes went to Toronto owners, two dogs receiving four first prizes, and two others getting three firsts.

W. J. Welch is a dog fancier of established reputation, owning some imported stock and being a qualified judge.

FEATURE BAZAAR OF KNOX CHURCH

Will Continue This Evening and Tomorrow

A feature of the bazaar which is being held to-day and to-morrow in the Farmers' store premises on Simcoe street, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Knox Presbyterian church, is the variety and original designs of the articles offered for sale. Everything in the way of acceptable gifts is on view, from the very sensible knitted wool sock to the frivolous cobweb collar of filet lace. There is plain sewing in abundance, in all sorts of accessories for the house and wardrobe, and there are dainty things for guest room and table in fine linen pieces, embroidered and crocheted. Dainty towels, edges elaborately finished, are companioned by capable looking household bags and fine little babies' wear. There is home-made cooking for sale, in delectable pies and frosted cakes, home-made candy in little holders, supper is served in the spacious upstairs room, and there is an afternoon tea section.

A fish-pond, gaily decorated with bright posters, occupied a corner of the store. A particularly good display of quilts is on view, with many of the older type of patchwork patterns, in vivid colorings, and there is a large white quilt autographed in yellow stitching. A special section is devoted to handkerchiefs, trim and pleasing, and there is a corner all its own for wee articles for the baby. Green and pink paper background adds a festive touch to the well-arranged goods.

Mrs. R. Martin, president of the society, acts as general convenor, Mrs. Norman Henry sells the fancy work, Mrs. David Beavis the white wear, Mrs. J. Londerville the quilts, Mrs. Wm. Bannon the home-made cooking, and Mrs. H. Beatty the candy, Mrs. Roy Gillies has the babies wear, Mrs. George Davis the aprons, Mrs. James Jackson the handkerchiefs, and the fish-pond is in charge of Mrs. Wm. Lyons. Mrs. T. Skinner supervises supper arrangements and Mrs. James Chambers is in charge of the tea room. The ladies have in each section a corps of capable assistants.

EDMONTON, Nov. 14.—The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson, jr., was the centre of a happy little christening ceremony recently, when she received the name of Elizabeth Anne. Her grandfather, Dr. Langfeldt officiated. and Mrs D. J. Teviotdale, Miss Dorothy Langfeldt and Mr. K. Langfeldt accepted the responsibilities of godparents. Tea was afterwards served the guests consisting of relatives. The table was prettily decorated with pink and white carnations, and the top tier of the wedding cake held a place of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wells Fraser, Dennistoun Avenue, left this morning for Owen Sound, where they will spend a short time with Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Fraser.

Mrs. Dayman L. Snyder of Odessa, and Miss Laurena White of Shelburne, spent the holiday in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Taylor of Ingersoll, spent Thanskgiving with Mrs. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McCoy.

Dr. A. J. McKay, M.R.C.P., of London, England, has been in the city the last few days.

Mr. W. H. Christopher who is attending school in Toronto, spent the holiday in Peterborough.

The sale of fancy work and plain sewing held by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Park Street Baptist Church yesterday afternoon and evening and this afternoon, proved a complete success. There was an excellent patronage of the sale of dainty hand-made articles and candy, and for the supper served by the ladies, followed by a pleasant social evening. The president of the society, Mrs. F. A. Kidd, had charge of the arrangements, with Mrs. P. Campbell looking after the supper, and Groups Nos. 1 and 2, in charge of Mrs. W. G. Batley and Mrs. Jas. Corside.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Great War Veterans' Association was held last evening, with Mrs R. J. Devey presiding. Routine business was discussed, and the slate of officers for the Local Council of Women, with which the society is affiliated, was considered. Arrangements for the coming bazaar were also discussed. The ladies have decided to serve tea on both days and to conduct a sale of good second-hand clothing. Mrs. W. R. Morris gave a short account of the recent convention in Toronto of the Provincial Command, at which Mrs. Morris was re-appointed president, and Mrs. J. McLeod corresponding secretary. Mrs. R. J. Devey, who held the office of recording secretary last year, was this year appointed as Provincial treasurer.

Mr. Yolson Robinson is in the city for a few days the guest of Mr. E. Kylie Water street.

Mrs. R. McIlwaine has returned home after spending Thanksgiving with her aunt, Mrs. Brisbois.

Mr. Brisbois has returned from Buckhorn, where he went deer hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Dwyer, 14 Aylmer Street, spent Thanksgiving with friends in Toronto.

Miss Isabel Oke, of Whitby, spent the holiday with her parents in the city. She was accompanied by her friend, Miss Peggy Ormond, of Whitby.

Miss Margaret Macdonald of Montreal, who spent the holiday in the city, the guest of Miss C. Littlefield, returned home last eevning.

Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave went to Toronto to-day to attend the quarterly meeting of the Synod, and the Corporation and Convocation of Trinity College, which continues until Friday of this week.

On Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Ebbs, Mark street, a miscellaneous shower was given by her friends to Miss Alice Ebbs, whose marriage to Douglas Miller of Oshawa, son of M.. and Mrs. Thomas Miller, of Maude Street, Peterboro, took place in Oshawa last week. Mr. and Mrs. Ebbs, who spent their honeymoon here, were surprised by about 45 of their friends who showered them with a number of useful and costly gifts, acknowledged in appropriate terms by the bride and bridegroom. The evening was pleasantly spent in the enjoyment of music and dancing, followed by the service of dainty refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Miller have returned to Oshawa, where they will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Morrow, 302 Water street, have returned home from Bowmanville after spending a pleasant holiday.

Mr. R. J. Devey, lay delegate for the Stoney Lake Mission, will be absent from the city until Friday morning attending a committee meeting of the Diocesan Synod, in Toronto.

RAILWAYS IN EUROPE TO BE AMERICANIZED

League of Nations Conference Discusses World-wide Affairs—Internationalize Ports.

MANY DELEGATES

GENEVA, Nov. 15.— An attempt to pattern the railways system after those of America will be made by the League of Nations' second international communications and transit conference which began here today.

Under the Presidency of Senator Conti, former Italian Minister of Transportation, delegates from almost every country in the world began sessions which are expected to continue a month.

An international convention providing for mutual use of rolling stock and uniform equipment will be drawn up to lessen interruptions of traffic due to boundary lines, it was ...ected.

...other convention will be dis...d to regulate the use of mari... ports to facilitate use of all ...s by ships of all countries. This ...uld give ships of all the signatories ...tes free access to all ports of oth... signatory States and guarantee all ...them equality of treatment as re...ards stationing, loading, coaling, ...oading, etc.

Electric development.

...Still another convention will be ...empted to facilitate development ...Hydro Electric power regardless ...of ...ontiers. The importance of coal ...in ...odern life has made many coun...tri... dependent on these that can ...fur...h it, and since the war many ...Eu...ean states have begun intens...ive ...velopment of water power.

...Development has been hampered ...by ...undary lines, however, and the ...nee... of some international conven...tion... to permit joint exploitation of ...nat...al water systems has been felt ...ecessary.

A fourth convention will be pro...ed to arrange for international ...per transmission so that the full be...fit of water power for transportation or industry can be obtained by ...ansmitting electricity wherever ...eeded, regardless of boundaries.

Relief Stoppage May Bring Crisis in German House

(By Carl D. Groat)

BERLIN, Nov. 15—The brutal stoppage of unemployment relief in the Ruhr may be the death of the Stresemann ministry. Socialists indicated to-day they would make this the rallying point of a fierce attack on Chancellor Stresemann, when the Reichstag should reopen on Tuesday.

They strongly condemned the Chancellor for his decision to leave two million workers and their three million dependents in the occupied areas to the mercy of France.

CUP OF LIFE CAUSED DEATH

Ghette's Favyurite Fiddler, 75, Makes His Usual Coffee Before He Retires.

NEW YORK, Nov., 15.—If you ever wandered through the picturesque cafes of New York's Ghetto you may hmave seen him. An old man, with locks he would b, huddling in a corner of a smoke-filled room nursing his beloved violin.

One night he had finished a jazz selection when a smart slummer inquired patronizingly:

"I say, old fellow, can you play anything of Saint-Saens? Opus 124 say?"

The old eyes flared with indignation.

"Can I?—listen!"

Gave a Rebuke

When he finished he turned on his interlocutor:

"Of cours, the gentleman knows St. Saens composed primarily for the piano and orchestra, but there are transcriptions and lovely bits for the violin. Would you wish Opus 95, or a bit from Phyrne or maybe Prosperine?"

Now you remember him, th, old violinist who had the musical fore of the ages at his finger-tips. And he could and did play jazz when desired.

He died yesterday. It was his desire to reach his mother's age one hundred and four years, which indirectly caused his death. The old woman attributed her longevity to drinking a cup of black coffee every night before retiring. Her son, Isadore Schwartz, followed suit.

One Cup too Many

Old Isadore, who was seventy-five went to his home No. 197 Eldridge street early yesterday and made the customary cup of coffee.

He failed to turn off the gas under the hot plate. Neighbors found him dead and his wife unconscious. She was taken to Gouverneur Hospital and revived. Last night they missed him in his favorite cafes and mor, than one person said:

"Good old Isadore; if he hadn't drunk that last cup of coffee he'd be playing here to-night."

Those who loved his music plan to give him a big funeral.

PEACE MEETING BETWEEN GREAT PARTY LEADERS

Political Experts Say Lloyd George Agreed to Work Under Asquith as Second in Command.

AND AFTER ELECTION?

LONDON, Novemb... 5. Canadian Press. — The question of whether Mr. Asquith or Mr. Lloyd George would assume the leadership of the re-united Liberal party, which has been exciting the greatest interest in view of the deep-rooted animosity between these two statesmen, appears to have been settled quietly at their peace meeting on Tuesday.

No official anonuncement has been forthcoming from the Liberal headquarters. In fact this issue hasbeen carefully avoided by the Liberal politicians and the Liberal press, but political experts in a position to know the facts say that the situation is his:

Mr. Lloyd George has agreed to work with and under Mr. Asquith in view of the latter's position as elder statesman and leader of the third strongest party in the House as that body is constituted at present, the Labor party being the second and the Lloyd George party ranking fourth.

Should Liberals be successful in election Mr. Asquith will be asked to form a cabinet in which Mr. Lloyd George would be the second in command.

But Mr. Asquith, it is asserted, having thus preserved his dignity, would quietly retire from the premiership at the expiration of a few months, upon which Mr. Lloyd George would assume leadership of the Liberals and fill again his old role of Prime Minister.

CITY MAN HURT IN AUTO SMASH

J. Marshall Sustained Fractured Ribs When Struck on Aylmer Street—Fog Was Cause

At six o'clock last evening, a motor car owned and driven by T. N. D. Kelly, of the Peterboro Fuel and Transfer Company, proceeding north on Aylmer Street, near the corner of Dalhousie Street, collided with a light delivery wagon driven by its owner, J. Marshall, 549 Harvey Street, throwing Mr. Marshall to the pavement with such force as to fracture several ribs, which punctured both lungs, and bruising him considerably about the head. Dr. F. P. McNulty was summoned, and the injured man removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Both vehicles were going north, and both, according to report, were proceeding slowly. The fog prevented the car-driver from seeing the light wagon in front, and the mudguard of the car caught the side of the rig, throwing its driver to the hard pavement.

ONTARIO ENTERS FILM INDUSTRY

Province Will Manufacture Its Own Educational Moving Picture Films—Saving Effected

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—Ontario is to manufacture its own educational moving picture films in its own plant. Following extensive investigation as to the cost and results of conduting operations through concerns, Provincial Treasurer W. H. Prince, K.C., announced yesterday that the province has purchased for $30,000 a small, up-to-date plant in Trenton, formerly owned by the Adanac Producing Co., Ltd.

The Provincial Treasurer says he will pay for the plant almost entirely from a saving he has effected in the 1924, $90,000 appropriation for moving picture films. He anticipated the province could get a better service and save approximately $50,000 a year with a plant of its own, such as has been purchased, and will shortly commence operations.

Motion pictures have been an important factor in Ontario's publicity activities since 1917, when the then government undertook to advertise through moving pictures Ontario's agricultural opportunities. Latterly, however, the work has been extended to include educational films on every phase of Ontario industry and they have been shown not only in Canada but in the United States and Great Britain. Provincial Treasurer Prince hopes that the province's venture into the film-making industry will lead the commercial film distribution agencies to a point where they will more aptly interpret with Canada people's desire in the way of "movies."

PENITENTIARY GUARD IS ACQUITTED WITH WARNING

KINGSTON, November 15. Special to the Examiner. — In the police court this morning Magistrate Farrell dismissed the charge against Arthur Twigg, former guard at the Portsmouth Penitentiary, who was accused of "trafficking with convicts."

"I have given a great deal of consideration to the case," said the Magistrate, "and while I am not altogether satisfied in my own mind as to some part of the evidence, I feel that at the same time I cannot but find that the evidence lacks legal proof." Addressing accused the Magistrate said: "You of course know best what has been done and I hope that I will have no occasion to see you before me again."

COUNCIL SITS TIGHT ON MONEY CHEST LID BUT CASH EXHAUSTED

Committee of the Whole Last Night Precipitated Into Hot Discussion of Ethics of Their Case Against Police Com.

NO SURRENDER

"Where do we stand in regard to the Police Commission?" was the innocent query which precipitated the Committe of the Whole Council into a heated discussion last night, from which at times only snatches of individual conversation could be plucked.

The Council went into Committee following the meeting of the Board of Works, and all the members who were present for that meeting remained. Ald. J. W. Meyers was an absentee.

Replying to the inquiry, His Worship the Mayor said the Palice Commission at their meeting had passed the current accounts of the Police Department and declared the Council would have to pay them.

Ald. Maher: "Are they going to put up a fight?"

The Mayor: "They are going ahead."

Ald. Turner suggested that the matter should not be discussed without the City Solicitor. "The men will have to be paid," he said. "The city is not notifying the men their services are not required."

Ald. Holloway said the City Council has nothing to do with that phase of the question. Whenever there is a Commission appointed to manage the police force," he declared, "there is no responsibility on the City Council."

Ald. Morrison: "The men are doing the work and somebody will have to pay them."

Ald. Phelan: "Suppose that we notify them now that we are going into the fight?"

Ald. Crowe: "I want to wait. They are not going to starve for a month or so. It is not our fault that we have not found out who is right or wrong."

Ald. Morrison contended that the men should be paid, but it was pointed out by Ald. McIntyre that then the Council would have no case.

A chorus from Ald. McIntyre, Morrison and Phelan unreservedly declared themselves in favor of sitting pat if that is the only way to obtain an interpretation of he law.

Ald. Fife: "I think it is up to all of us to stand behind Ald. Phelan's gun."

What About Force?

Ald. Morrison: "What is going to happen to the Police Force?"

Ald. Maher: "The men have accepted 21 payments, and they will not demand the 22nd before it is earned."

Ald. Phelan broached a new angle when he asked what will happen if the Council wins the case and the Judge says to the Commission, "You had $25,000, and you spent it. The city is not liable." Who is going to pay the Police Force in that event?"

Ald. Turner: "All we can hope for is that the court will give judgment in our favor, and that will settle the question for 1924."

MURDEROUS ATTACK BY MONTREAL THUGS

Two Women Seriously Injured and $4000 in Jewellery Stolen.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—(Special to the Examiner.)—Two women lie gravely wounded, one in hospital with a crushed head, while the police to-day are searching for a man who, running wild in a Park avenue apartment at 3 o'clock this morning, beat them down with murderous blows on their heads, using a large stone concealed in a stocking. The assailant fled with $4,000 in jewelry.

The victims are Mrs. R. J. Neville, in whose apartment the assault took place and who is in the Royal Victoria Hospital suffering from serious head and face injuries, and Mrs .R. Wood, who is less seriously injured.

BOARDS OF TRADE OPEN CONVENTION

HAMILTON, Nov. 15.— (Canadian Press.)—The tenth annual convention of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade opened here this morning with about fifty delegates in attendance. One hundred and twenty-five delegates are expected before the session ends Friday night. Mayor T. W. Jutten formally welcomed the delegates, ex-Mayor Coppley, president of the Association, who officiated as chairman, responded.

K. J. Dunstan of the Toronto Board of Trade, presented a paper on "The Economic Needs of Canada," and Mr. Clifton D. Howe, Dean of Faculty of Forestry, University of Toronto, will deliver an address on Ontario's forestry problems.

Ten resolutions will be discussed at the afternoon session, including those on reforestation and extension of the T. & N. O. railway to James Bay.

To-morrow morning the two most important resolutions, taxation of public owned utilities and immigration come up.

In the afternoon six resolutions will be discussed, including the question of the Great Lakes levels.

At to-night's banquet the speakers will be Lieut.-Gov. Cockshutt, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Federal House, and Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario.

SUGAR BOWL MOUNT A NATIONAL WONDER

MOUNT OLIVE, N.C. (United Press)—Between this place and Goldsboro, in what is known as the "sand belt" there stands one of the strangest freaks of nature to be found in Eastern North Carolina. It is known as "Sugar Bowl Mount." It is a table formed by earth and rock, about three feet above the ground—and ideal place for a picnic. In the coldest weather, while the surrounding ground is covered with snow, Sugar Bowl Mount is as green as in springtime, with not a sign of snow or ice. Near the mound there is a tiny spring, as is furnished by nature to those that shall dine at this mound.

HOLD-UP MEN WERE WORSTED A SECOND TIME

SHOT THROUGH CAR

When H. Wheeler, of Otonabee Township, who resides near the city on the Norwood Road, was motoring home alone last evening after a trip to the city, he was held up by three men, who were driving a big car, his belongings demanded, and a shot fired through the top of his car. Mr. Wheeler, who had between forty and fifty dollars on his person, refused to hand it over, struck the foremost bandit from his car, and succeeded in making his escape after a hot chase.

Shortly after ten o'clock, Mr. Wheeler started for home. As he turned off Concession Street, he noticed a large motor car in front of him, driving at a slow rate. As Mr. Wheeler's home is only a short distance from the city, he made no effort to pass it, and slowed down to follow the big car along the road, following it over the Canal. A short distance farther on, on the Norwood Road, the front car suddenly stopped and swung across to block the roadway. Mr. Wheeler thought there was plenty of room to pass in the ditch and swung out to do so. Before he realized what was occurring, a man jumped from the car in front onto the running-board of his motor, and said, "I want your belongings." Mr. Wheeler, still guiding his car with his left hand, struck the bandit with his right fist, and knocked him into the ditch. Almost simultaneously, one of the men in the big car, two of whom were sitting in the front seat, fired a shot that went directly through the top of Wheeler's car, at the front right-hand corner.

A Hot Chase.

Wheeler, whose engine had not been stopped, succeeded in turning quickly and made off. The bandits, whose car was stalled, had some difficulty in starting again, but succeeded in giving him a hot chase as far as the Lift Locks. Here Wheeler turned towards town and they gave up the chase. He made directly for the Police Station, and the Chief immediately ordered out his men. Four cars were manned, and the city and district scoured for miles in every direction, until after two o'clock this morning. Wheeler accompanied the police in their search, and stated this morning that every effort was made by the Chief and his men to capture the bandits. Owing to the heavy fog, it was impossible to trace their movements in the big car.

Mr. Wheeler, who displayed considerable pluck and presence of mind during the whole affair, was able to remember distinctly the appearance of the man who leaped on his running-board, and to give a good description of him to the police officers. He states that he was a stranger, "a well-dressed chap, who seemed to be up to his business." On the way out, while following the car, he also made out the first three numbers as 177, the following three, however, the distinguishing set of numerals, being blocked by the tail-lights.

NEW YORK HOLD-UPS

Eight Italian youths, arrested Monday night were held without bail for examination today on suspicion of robbery. It is alleged the men were accomplices in fifteen hold ups within the last few weeks, one of the most recent of which was the robbery of a United Cigar Store, on October 28 when rifled of $280.

One of the men Frank Greco, 25 years old, is alleged to have shot three men in different robberies.

GERMANS REFUSE TO MAKE PAYMENTS

Semi-Official Berlin Announcement Says France Has Made Reparations Payments Impossible.

LONDON, Nov. 16. — (United Press). — It has been announced semi-officially in Berlin, according to a Central News despatch, that Germany intends to cease reparations payments. This follows unofficial statements that Germany would discontinue payments in kind and virtually would "scrap" the Versailles Treaty, in so far as its reparations provisions are concerned.

Further Central News despatches from Berlin add that the semi-official announcement does not declare that the Treaty of Versailles is null and void but does intimate that France is making it impossible for Germany to observe the Treaty.

Report Denied.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Official quarters here dismiss as wholly unfounded the reports circulated abroad, that the German government has decided to repudiate the Treaty of Versailles

Must Expel Prince From German Home To Preserve Peace

PARIS, November 15. (By Webb Miller.) — France regards the expulsion of the former Crown Prince from Germany as the first step necessary to keep the Hohenzollerns from seizing power in Germany, and starting a new war, it was learned to-day.

If Great Britain decides to do nothing, France will strongly consider taking independent military action, it was said. Premier Poincare will first try to spur the council of ambassadors to action, the United Press learned.

BOARD WORKS HAD SESSION

Routine Business Included Authorization of Drain to Relieve Bolivar Street.

City Council's Board of Works last night dealt with routine business authorizing the construction of sewer connections, drains and culverts. The much discussed suburban water that pours down Bolivar street from the boundary, damaging city property received its mode of attention and was, it was hoped, finally disposed of.

A request by James Gerard for sewer connection on Simcoe street was referred after discussion to the City Engineer, who will report to the Board of Works. Mr. Parsons remarked that he did not think the sewer would be required for use this winter "but," he added, "it takes some time for the red tape to be unwound."

A communication was read from Dominion Road Machinery Co. offering snow ploughs "that make the sidewalk easy to "walk on" at $95 f.o.b. Goderich. On Street Commissioner Evans' informing the Board that no machinery of this type is required the communication was received and filed.

S. L. Purdy complained in a letter that the road into his mill at Whitlaw street is almost impassible. Some years ago, he said, he repaired the bridge at that point and if the city can now replace with their material the lumber he used he could use the timber in his own business.

Alderman Stocker: "We never recognized that as a street but this man has 30 or 40 loads of lumber to come out and it seems to me that we should do something to help him out."

Mr. Parsons said the street is registered only as far as the creek.

Alderman Crowe — "How much would it cost to do the work. We don't want to make a Provincial Highway out of it."

Street Commissioner Harry Evans: "The bridge was built by a private individual for his own convenience and the city has not spent a dollar on it. If we fix it we are liable."

Mr. Parson declared the city is not responsible for the bridge, and on motion of Aldermen McIntyre and Crowe it was resolved that the road be repaired on Whatlaw street as far as the bridge, this being the only portion of the street for which the city is responsible.

Proposed Coal Sheds.

An application from J. E. A. Fitzgerald for permission to erect coal sheds and stables on Bethune street south of Hunter, was laid over until Mr. Fitzgerald can be interviewed.

Sherbrooke Street Drain.

The principal business of the meeting was the discussion of the drain on Sherbrooke street to take care of the surplus water which periodically sheds from the height of land on the Sherbrooke street hill, flows down the boundary to Bolivar and diagonally across to Sherbrook, injuring on its way a great deal of city property.

The Suburban Road Commission is repairing a road on which they have dug deep ditches which discharge water on the boundary.

TAR SLINGERS ARE KNOWN TO POLICE TODAY

Arrests Expected in Case of Clergyman Who Was Tarred and Feathered at Stirling.

PASTOR OF SEVEN

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 15.—(Special to the Examiner)—Provincial police officers here state they know the names of the persons who seized Rev. Elijah Bundock on Tuesday night spirited him away to Andersons Island five miles west of Stirling tied him to a tree and tarred and feathered him after he had conducted a service at the Apostolic Church where he is pastor to the congregation of seven members.

Arrests will be made to-day it is announced and in the meantime. Bundock and his wife have gone to Toronto, flight it is alleged being the only condition under which Bundocks assailants allowed him his freedom, Bundock visited Police Headquarters here yesterday.

Real Religion

The victim came to Stirling two years ago to introduce "real' religion it is stated and lived with an aged couple and their maiden daughter.

It is alleged that the old couple deeded their farm to Bundock providing that he would care for them throughout their life. They are members of his congregation. Bundock's wife and 26-year old son, Robert, lived together one block away. The belief that the pastor was attempting to get the property from the innocent old couple is alleged to be the reason that the tar and feathers were applied, as he emerged from the church Tuesday night Bundock was attacked by persons who drove up in three motor cars seized him, tied his hands and dragged him to a car. He was driven away to Anderson's Island. When crossing the bridge the gang are alleged to have asked the "Divine" if he were ready to die by drowning, to which he replied "Yes I am ready to meet my God, for I am saved" He was tied to a tree and put through a stiff cross examination while tar was applied to the hands and head.

Bundock pleaded for mercy and was left there when he promised to leave the town Wednesday. He reached the farm house from which he 'phoned to the local police officers about midnight. It is believed having been seized about 9 p.m.

TWO NIAGARA MEN SHOT AND KILLED

And a Third Man, a Canadian Met Death Mysteriously.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Two deaths by shooting and the mysterious death of a third man, a Canadian, all in or near this city, were disclosed to-day. The police believe that the cases are not connected.

The victims are Charles Austara and Jos. Dinieri, both of this city, and Jeremiah McCarthy, of Queenstown, Ontario. The latter's body was discovered on a mountain road near Lewiston, north of here. He had met death under circumstances which the authorities considered mysterious.

Austara, a driver for a local banking company, was found dead in his delivery wagon in front of a customer's store. His horse had also been shot. The police believe that revenge was the motive.

Dinieri's body was discovered at daybreak in his automobile on a country road near Wheatfield, east of here.

ANNOUNCE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY ON IMMIGRATION

Hon. J. A. Robb Will Give Definite Information to Conference of Provincial Representatives—Losses in the East.

GAINS IN WEST.

OTTAOA, November 15 (Canadian Press) — When Provincial representatives who attended the immigration conference here yesterday, meet the Hon. J. A. Robb, privately, this (Thursday) morning, they will be given definite information regarding the Government's future immigration policy.

This announcement was made by the Minister just before the conference rose for the day. He expressed a desire to see officials of transportation companies at his office in the morning after which he would meet the Provincial delegates.

Several of the Provincial representatives complained, during the afternoon session that they could not discuss the immigration question fully unless the Federal Government placed before them some concise programme dealing with the future policy.

The conference will continue its sessions this morning, and will conclude in the late afternoon, according to present anticipations.

It has before it for consideration a side variety of proposals and memoranda including the representations made to the Minister by the Toronto Board of Trade.

Yesterday afternoon's session was given over almost entirely to the presentation of the viewpoints of the various Provincial representatives.

Delegates from every province, except Manitoba and British Columbia, were present, and all had an opportunity of dealing with the immigration situation as it affected the part of the Dominion they represented.

Drain of Youth.

Great stress was laid upon the migration of young people from Canada to the United States by spokesmen of the Maritime Provinces, Quebec, and Ontario

Premier Dunning, of Saskatchewan, upon the other hand, expressed the belief that American immigrants coming to Canada might balance the number of emigrants leaving the country for the United States. He qualified this remark by reminding the conference that he spoke for an agricultural province only, and knew nothing of conditions in Ontario and Quebec where there was much industrial activity.

Hon. John H. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, felt that the Federal Government should acquaint the Provincial representatives with its future immigration programme so they would have something definite to discuss. He said Ontario was confronted with a serious industrial situation at the present time, as young men were attracted by the high wages offered in Detroit, Buffalo, and other large American cities along the border.

Emigrants Returned.

When an appeal was made to provide work for the British harvesters which would keep them in the country, Mr. Martin said that Ontario agreed to place 4,000 after making a survey of agricultural conditions. The farmers of the Province were now asking for the men, but the men were not forthcoming, according to the Minister, who was anxious for an explanation. He recounted an incident which occurred while he was travelling upon a T. and N. O. train recently, which he felt might shed some light upon the situation. There were four coaches filled with harvesters bound for their Old Country homes.

Upon conversing with several of them, he found that they would have been glad to have visited Ontario, where mixed farming might induce them to remain but owing to the way railway fares were fixed they were compelled to go to their port of embarkation without stopping off. This was unfortunate, the Minister felt.

Hon. James W. Lyons, Minister of Lands and Forests in the Ontario Government, felt that the Government should seek immigrants in Europe rather than in the United States, as the neighbouring Republic was not likely to prove a very prolific recruiting field.

He devoted some attention to conditions in Northern Ontario which he declared provided farm lands the equal of any in Ontario.

LARGE SHIPMENT GRAIN YESTERDAY

One United States Boat Cleared With a Cargo of 445,000 Bushels.

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 15. — Taking out double the quantity of wheat that was carried by any other boat that left port yesterday, the big United States freighter Col. J. E. Schoonmaker cleared with a cargo of 445,000 bushels. A total of 2,145,000 bushels went out yesterday on eleven boats. This was a comparatively light day and will probably be considerably increased to-day with thirteen boats reported as under the spouts yesterday evening and five more are waiting their turn at the elevators.

A curious change has come over the lake freight situation since the United States boats have come freely into the Canadian trade the rate from Duluth having risen to 4 1-2 cents to Buffalo which is higher than the rate from Fort William and Port Arthur.

Wire fence is replacing the stone fences formerly used in Cuba.

LOCKJAW FOLLOWED CHILD'S ACCIDENT

Farmer's Little Daughter Thrust Hand Into Cogs of Corn Cutter.

LINDSAY, Nov. 15.—A distressing accident occured at Udora, near Beaverton, a few days ago, resulting in the death of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Baker, aged three years and seven months.

The little one was playing with her sister around a corn cutter, when her right right hand was caught in the cogs. The first finger was severed and the third and fourth crushed. Medical aid was called immediately and the injured hand attended to. Lockjaw developed later and convulsions followed. The child suffered for two days when she passed away.

WAR DEPLORED AT ROWDEN TOWNSHIP MEMORIAL SERVICE

Peace Could Be Established Through the Influence of the Church, One Speaker Said.

Marmora Presentation.

MARMORA, Nov. 14.—The anniversary services of Springbrook Methodist church were held on Sunday, November 11, followed on Monday by their annual fowl supper.

The Sunday services were taken by the Rev. W. H. Clarke, a former pastor of the circuit. There were two services at 2.30 and 7.30 and the church was crowded at each. In the afternoon the choir rendered a splendid anthem, "Oh, Thou Marvellous." The Rev. D. R. Clare sang the solo "Behold, a Sower Went Forth to Sow." The Rev. Clarke took as his text Titus 2: 11, "For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men." He spoke first of a relief map—with its valleys and hills. Comparing the Bible to this there are some words which stand out as the hill tops do in the map. One of these "hill-top" words is grace.

Mr. Clarke spoke of the many meanings of grace in the bible and traced the growth of the word from its various interpretations.

On Sunday night the choir sang the anthem "Lead, Kindly Light," and Mrs. Mason sang the solo "Oh, Perfect Day."

On Monday night supper was served in the Oddfellows Hall. The ladies provided an abundance of good thing to which ample justice was given by the large crowds who were present. After the supper a good programme was given in the church. The programme consisted of an opening chorus by congregation, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name"; Prayer; Chairman's address by Rev. D. R. Clare; Anthem by the choir, "Make a Joyful Noise"; Reading, "The Village Choir," by Miss Cora Bailey; Solo, "The Rose of My Heart," by Miss Bessie Conley; Address, Rev. W. H. Clarke; Selection by the orchestra; Recitation, "Reading the Newspaper," by Miss Leona Bateman; Solo, Miss Conley, "Mary of Argyle"; Reading, "The Ladies' Aid," by Miss Cora Bailey; Address by Rev. W. P. Woodger on "Thanksgiving"; Solo by Miss Conley.

The orchestra provided music while supper was being served.

The thank-offering on Sunday amounted to $200, and the proceeds on Monday were $154.

Harold Memorial Service

On Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, a memorial service for the boys of Rawdon township was held in Town Hall at Harold. The service was arranged by the Women's Institutes of Springbrook and Wellman's Corners.

Dr. Walt of Stirling, was chairman. After opening by prayer Mr. Charles Thompson, Reeve of Rawdon, spoke a few words of welcome. Mr. McGuire, Reeve of Stirling spoke on the subject "Our Duty."

The Rev. Black, of Burnbrae, said an attitude against war should be created. This teaching can only come through the church and by following the principles of Christ which are on the side of peace. The only justification for war is that though it is an evil there are sometimes worse evils to be overcome by war.

It was the common soldier who won the war just as it is the common men who are doing the great things in this country.

Rev. Mr. Towle, of Bonarlaw, spoke eloquently on "Patriotism." His main theme was that the memory of the past should cleanse the present life of Canada and this could only be done through sacrifice.

Monuments to War

Rev. Thompson of Plainfield, spoke from the standpoint of the returned soldier. He regretted that so few of the monuments erected for the boys carried the thought of peace but instead represented some attitude of war or action.

The Rev. Byers, of Stirling, spoke of England as a nation, who pays her debts. He thought that Canada was fast becoming normal after the turmoil caused by the war.

Rev. Clarke, of Tamworth, spoke briefly on the hope for future peace.

Major Donnan, the newly appointed Crown Attorney of Hastings, was called on next to speak. The chairman remarked that he was the first man in Rawdon to enlist at the beginning of the war.

Mr. Clancy was called on as representative of the fathers whose sons lie on Flanders fields.

Rev. D. R. Clare, of Marmora, spoke on the idea embodied in the second verse of the Recessional—

"The tumult and the shouting dies
The captains and the kings depart.
Still stands thine ancient sacrifice,
An humble and a contrite heart.
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget."

The thought which all the speakers seemed to have in mind was that there was to be no more war, and the question raised was, "Has the purpose of the Great War been accomplished?" After the meeting the Cadets gave an exhibition.

The ladies served lunch to all the speakers and to the Cadets.

Presentation to Teacher

On Tuesday, Nov. 13, the pupils and staff of the Continuation School expressed in a fitting manner to Mr. Payette, the principal, their appreciation for his labors in their behalf as well as their disappointment at his leaving to take up the position as a Separate School inspector. Miss Lorrain Bell read the following address and Mr. Norman Norrie presented Mr. Payette with three beautiful gold pieces.

"DEAR MR. PAYETTE—

The pupils and other members of the staff cannot let you leave us without expressing in some way our appreciation of the work you have done for and with us. While sincerely glad for your own sake, that an opportunity has come to you to enter what is regarded as a pleasanter and more renumerative form of educational work, for our own sakes we deeply regret your leaving us. We feel, however, that your work has had many permanent qualities and that Marmora Continuation School will continue to benefit thereby, long after you are gone. We ask you to accept the accompanying gold pieces as an outward and visible token of our regard and hope it will be a reminder of us to you in the days to come. With it also goes our sincerest wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life in educational work.

Signed on behalf of pupils and staff.
NORMAN NORRIE
LORRAIN BELL.

Principal's Party

Mr. Payette, in thanking the pupils expressed great surprise and stated that while he would have a much better position as school inspector, he regretted to leave because, although he had been in a great many places, he had become attached to none as he had to Marmora. He said that he had perhaps been cross at times, but he thought that it was for the pupils' good and would leave no hard feelings. He said that he would keep the tokens of the pupil's esteem as long as he lived, as a remembrance of Marmora.

INDIAN COMMISSION TO HEAR OLD GRIEVANCES

First Session at Scugog Lake on November 21, When the Claims of the Mississaugas of That Reserve Will Be Formally Received.

J. PAUDASH BUSY.

LINDSAY, Nov. 15.—(Special).—The Government commission that was sent out recently to adjust the claims of the four bands of the Mississaugas at Rice, Mud and Scugog Lakes and Rama will be at Scugog Lake on November 21, where the different bands will gather to give evidence relative to their claims and grievances.

The members of the commission are Messrs. R. V. Sinclair, U. McFadden, Angus Williams and Miss Kathleen Moodie, who acts as reporter. They will visit the different bands in this district, listening to the evidence of old-time wrongs, the subject of petitions that have been filed and pigeon-holed and handed back and forth from Government to Government for seventy years.

Mr. Johnston Paudash, of His Majesty's mail service, Lindsay, and a member of the Rice Lake band at Hiawatha, is keenly interested in the work of the commission. His great grandfather was grand chief of the Mississaugas and was honored by the late Queen Victoria and presented with a medal for his loyalty and service to the Crown. He served in the American War of 1776 on the side of the British, and also in the war of 1812. Mr. Paudash has his great grandfather's medal in his possession. He died at Hiawatha in 1869, aged 107 years.

"Gunshot Treaty."

Mr. Paudash tells of the iniquitous "Gunshot Treaty" by which a large stretch of territory in the Midland district was deliberately stolen from the Indians. This treaty was entered into, he states, between Sir John Johnston and the Mississaugas, and the original arrangement had been that for a barrel of rum the Indians should surrender as much of their territory as could be covered by the sound of a gun from a certain point. Not satisfied with this piece of deception, the white traders suggested firing a cannon, which the Indians had never heard of. The cannon could be heard from the Carrying Place, Bay of Quinte, to what was known as the Tabicog River, near Toronto, and thus a large area fell into the hands of the predatory whites.

It is expected that after the commission visits Scugog Lake it will move on to Mud Lake reserve, Peterborough County.

ONE LANDLORD LOVES CHILDREN.

NEW YORK, (United Press).—New York City, the home of the hard-hearted landlord who frowns on children, has an exception—Max Dick. "Uncle Dick," all the tenants call him. He owns a six-story apartment on the East Side. He has owned it for 26 years. The apartments rented at $5 a room when he bought the building. They still do. He holds a celebration every time a child is born in his block. He offered a $500 prize for the first set of twins born in the building. Mrs. Jacob Berger has just won the prize. Since Dick owned the building 227 babies have been born there. Every summer, Uncle Dick gives them all a big picnic

Lindsay Inquest Next Wednesday

LINDSAY, Nov. 15.—(Special).—The coroner's inquest inquiring into the cause of the death of J. H. Peck, the C.N.R. fireman who was fatally injured in the railway wreck here on Tuesday night, was postponed until Wednesday, November 21. It is understood that evidence of an interesting nature will be given at the hearing.

The three other railway employees who were injured are making good progress towards recovery. Their escape from more serious injuries is considered miraculous.

MR. T. PURDOM, K.C. DIED FROM WORRY

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press.)— Thomas Hunter Purdom, K.C., well known London lawyer, died this morning after a short illness. His death was hastened by worry and strenuous efforts he was making to keep control of the Dominion Savings Company now in the hands of liquidators.

Born here in 1853 he spent his entire life in the city and while practising his profession he had also found time to devote to various business interests and he had been director or president of some of the largest companies of this city for some years. Since he was called to the bar in 1876 he has had as partners some of the foremost legal men of the province, but for the past 33 years he was in partnership with his brother Alexander, under the name of Purdom & Purdom,

As president of the London Advertiser for many years Mr. Purdom became well known as an editorial writer.

WINNIPEG CHURCH UNIONISTS MEET.

Discussion By Opponents to Union Was Ruled Out.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Church union, its historical and future aspects, together with the answering of questions, formed the basis of a public meeting held here yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the committee in charge of union. The chairman, Rev. Dr. E. Leslie Pidgeon of Winnipeg, ruled that there could be no discussion of the matter by those opposed to union.

The speakers were Rev. Dr. W. T. Gunn, secretary of the Congregational Union, of Toronto, and Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, Presbyterian divine of Toronto.

During his address Dr. Gunn said that requests had come to Canada from Jugo-Slovakia and the new church which was arising in Russia asking for the basis of union adopted by the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches in Canada.

Rev. Dr. Alfred Gandier, of Toronto, Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly answered several questions.

INFANTS DELIGHT TOILET SOAP

New Lamp Burns 94% Air

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, F. S. Johnson, 246 Craig Street, W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

TRAGEDY ENDS WAR ROMANCE

Brief Happiness of Only American Winner of Victoria Cross in Great War Ends.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 14. — (Special). — William LaSalle should be dead, but he isn't. Life has been an eternal tragedy for him—except eight brihgt years. Now it is a tragedy again.

The sunlight of his life has gone out. A month ago life was bright. He had a bright, smiling wife, two pretty little ones' framed the word "daddy"—and he was happy. Today he has the little ones, their future welfare is on his shoulders, a dead, sombre world ahead.

William LaSalle is the only American citizen who won the Victoria Cross in the World War. He won it by saving 11,000 Australian soldiers from death. He was so shot up that when he fooled medical science and lived doctors threw up their arms in professional horror. "You ought to be dead," they said. But Bill just smiled—and lived. There was a reason.

The Sun Rises

She was Honora a little Belgian girl. When Bill, after killing single-handed nine Germans and preventing the explosion of a mine that would have blown to eternity the 11,000 Australians, was smashed into almost unrecognizable bits, this little Belgian girl found him. He had lain 56 hours in a shell hole, his leg riddled with machine gun bullets. She nursed him she saw to it that he was carried to the field hospital. Every day she brought dainties to his bedside. He recovered; love blossomed; and when the war ended, the girl blooming into womanhood, became Mrs. William LaSalle.

But LaSalle was a wreck. He could not hear a word. He could put a paper pellet in his mouth and blow it out of his ears. Medical science in saving him, had made his head a honeycomb. One leg was pieced together with a silver shin plate.

He learned lip reading and then he capitalized his affliction as "The Mystery Man." Thus he traveled the length and breadth of the United States. In Detroit he was a human puzzle; he mystified medical experts in Boston and New York. He could tell one's words 75 feet away. But life was bright, for Honora had brought to him two little children, a boy and a girl.

The Sun Sinks

Then came tragedy again. He was performing in Sioux City. The little family was at a hotel. The telephone rang and Honora hastened to answer. She placed the receiver to her ear, then she collapsed. Bill bent over her limp form; her lips moved slightly but even William LaSalle's expert knowledge of lip-reading availed him nothing. The death grasp on her muscles strangled the words she tried to speak—and the sun sank behind the hill for William LaSalle.

A French Way to Cook Irish Potatoes

(Potatoes Allumettes they were called by Monsieur Filippini, the former chef of Delmonico's, from whose home cook book this recipe is reprinted)

Peel and wash three good-sized, sound, raw potatoes and carefully cut them into match-like strips. Wash again, drain well, then place in a wire frying basket and fry them in hot Crisco for five minutes, or until they attain a golden color. Lift them up, drain thoroughly, sprinkle over them a teaspoonful salt and serve on a hot dish.

When your skin is so dry that it flakes off . . forms roughnesses you hate

Learn how to keep your skin supple—from the women who MUST

Helen Ferguson says: "I am always careful about exposure to weather, because I believe it does great damage to the skin. With Pond's Vanishing Cream I avoid the slightest roughness or redness. Pond's Cold Cream leaves my face fresh and soft. These two creams together take very good care of my skin."

Does your skin dry and crack in the wind and cold? Does it "flake off" so that the powder catches on many tiny roughnesses? And embarrass you by its dry tight shine?

Unless you keep it supple in spite of the weather, your skin will age early. It will soon coarsen and develop the little lines that grow into wrinkles.

But notice the women who must keep their faces young and smooth. The business woman rides in close sooty trains and she is out in every bad kind of weather. She has had to learn the right way to care for her skin in order to keep her face in the well groomed condition her position requires.

Kept soft night and day with
THIS FAMOUS METHOD

Every night cleanse your skin thoroughly with Pond's Cold Cream. Apply this cream softly with a piece of moistened cotton. Wipe it off. Do this twice—already your skin feels less tight. Now apply more cream and let it stay on.

Notice how your face softens and relaxes as it gladly absorbs the fine light oil of this cream. There is no shine because your skin is no longer stretched tight.

Then in the morning apply Pond's Vanishing Cream very evenly—just enough for your skin to absorb. This wonderful daytime softening cream will prevent your skin from drying out again. Now the wind cannot whip out its new suppleness. You will love its soft smoothness and the way the powder "powders" evenly. And you will no longer need to worry about early wrinkles. They will not form in your soft, supple skin.

Begin to use this method that women use who tax their skin most and keep their faces lovely longest. Buy a jar or tube of both creams in any drug or departmental store. The Pond's Extract Co., 146 Brock Ave., Toronto, Canada.

EVERY SKIN NEEDS THESE TWO CREAMS

"THE WORKER"—AGAIN.

The Worker, the Labour publication which printed Bernard Markson's reflections upon Peterborough's manufacturing institutions and thus secured a jail sentence for the writer, is again earning some inviable notoriety by reason of a totally unjustifiable and slanderous attack upon the women who assisted in the Poppy Day campaign.

Women's organizations, the Great War Veterans and the public generally have bitterly resented the calumny poured upon the worthy women of the Province, and there have been demands from many quarters that action be taken against the Worker.

Attorney-General Nickle, while condemning in strong language the offending article, says "that merely from the point of view of defamatory libel the article is not worthy of further attenton," and adds that the editorial "is possibly craftily kept just clear of defamatory libel, as defined by Section B, 17, of the Criminal Code."

The writer, in other words, has succeeded in this case in keeping out of the reach of the law, but his article, if anything was needed to do that, should lose for the publication whatever small standing it may have had in the community.

The cause of Labour is very scurvily served by a sheet of this nature, which in an attempt to hit at women of means goes out of its way to insult thousands of women of what it would describe as the working class.

AN ELECTION IN BRITAIN.

Following his intimation that some form of tariff protection was needed to relieve the unemployment situation, and that in view of Bonar Law's promise that no fiscal changes would be made a new mandate would have to be obtained from the people, Premier Baldwin has announced that the British Parliament will dissolve tomorrow and that an election will be held on December 6th.

Although brief, the campaign promises to be spectacular.

Outstanding events already are the alliance of Asquith and Lloyd George, bringing together the two wings of the Liberal party and the return of Lord Birkenhead to the Baldwin camp.

Different to the election of a year ago, there is in this campaign a definite issue.

The Government is appealing to the people on a platform of protection as an immediate remedy for the blight of unemployment.

The chief opposition group in the present House, the Labour party, offers its levy upon capital as a panacea for Britain's troubles.

The re-united Liberal party, while it has yet made no announcement as to policy, is expected to concentrate its attack upon the danger of a hurried reversal in the country's fiscal policy.

Many political experts have prophesied that the next Government in Great Brita' would be a Labour Government.

The campaign coming much earlier than was anticipated will show just how much there is in such predictions.

It will be a merry battle, crowded in twenty days of intensive campaigning.

SUGGEST AN INQUIRY.

The Toronto Board of Trade has sent a memorandum to Hon. Jas. A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, asking for a thorough inquiry by the Dominion Government into the exodus of Canadians to the United States.

The board points out that not only have large numbers of farmers and farm labourers emigrated to the Republic, but that many thousands of skilled and unskilled workers have also crossed the border.

These statements are undoubtedly correct—in fact, they are almost too conservative in their nature.

There has, of course, always been a stream of migration into the United States from this country, but during the past few months it has been swollen to flood proportions.

Ontario has lost thousands of industrial workers—every manufacturing town in the Province is aware of that fact—and the exodus is by no means confined to Ontario. Quebec also has suffered, and the Provinces down by the sea report that the same situation is found there.

It is because of this steady movement southward that many Canadians, while realizing the necessity of encouraging immigration into Canada, have entertained grave debts of such a policy succeeding in the face of the emigration out of Canada.

They have wondered if it were not a case of attempting to fill a barrel with a leaky bottom by pouring teaspoonfuls of water into the top.

The inquiry asked for by the Toronto Board of Trade might well be made, for it would be valuable at least for the definite information it would produce as to the number lost to Canada and as to the reasons for the continuous drain upon the population of this country.

THE BRITISH EXAMPLE.

Canadians have much to learn from the people of Great Britain in the matter of short election campaigns.

The British House of Commons is to be dissolved on Friday and a general election is announced for December 6th, allowing just under three weeks for the battle of the hustings to be fought.

A most important issue, involving changes in Britain's fiscal policy, is to be discussed, and yet twenty days are considered as ample time in which to place the issue squarely before the electors.

Here in Canada three times as long at least would be regarded as necessary, and the whole country would be upset by political manoeuvring and campaign meetings for two or three months.

The British system seems decidedly the most satisfactory.

It affords plenty of time for the orators to say all that is needed to be said about the issues of the election, and yet it reduces the unavoidable disturbance to business and industry to a minimum.

The British political speakers adjust themselves to the conditions; their addresses are short, and in the case of the leaders they endeavour to take up some new phase at each meeting so that their speeches are always fresh and are given ready space in the newspapers on that account.

That is surly a more business-like policy than that of most Canadian politicians who use two or three months in practically repeating the same address wherever they go, or at least as much of it as may be considered safe, having regard to the sentiments of the particular locality in which they happen to be speaking.

Old John Bull may be slow, but his lack of speed is never noticeable when election time comes around.

OUR DUTY TO THE VETERANS.

The procession in London on Armistice Day was impressive, particularly that portion of it that was made up of veterans of the World War. There was nothing of the tin soldier about them, says the London Advertiser.

When the nation faced its greatest crisis between 1914 and 1918 the country asked much of these men, and they gave much.

There was no reservation about the gift they made—they were prpeard to go the limit and place their lives on the altar of sacrifice if need be.

We honor Armistice Day; we buy a red poppy, and we stand at one side in admiration of the war veterans as they pass by.

But is that all? There are many of these men who have never regained the standing they had when they went overseas. There may have been some few cases where the soldiers' button was exploited, but these were not as much in the wrong as many others who have discriminated against the men wearing the button.

The general public has a short memory; it is willing to applaud parades, but it forgets that each man who went through the Great War has a problem that he may have solved, or the solution of which may have been too baffling and too great for him.

Canadians who stayed at home in the World War have a duty to the men who did not stay home—it is a duty not easily discharged, because the obligation is great and sacred.

It is just as binding now as it was in the stirring days of war when we were tumbling over each other in an effort to show appreciation in some form or other of the men who were coming forward and putting on the uniform.

VULGAR BEAUTY CONTESTS.

Attention has been called to the activities in various towns and cities of Ontario and presumably in other Provinces of Canada of the "International Beauty Contest Club," with headquarters in Toronto. The mayors, councils and newspapers of many centres have been circularized with a view to promoting the enterprise for advertising purposes. In plain terms the various municipalities are asked to exploit the youth, beauty and modesty of their young women for commercial advantage. Already certain out-of-town editors have written to Saturday Night to protest against the vulgarity of these proceedings.

Apparently Canada has been divided into zones; and each zone is expected to drum up a beautiful girl as an entry for an "International Beauty Contest" to be held at the Toronto Coliseum in December, where young ladies from all parts of the United States and Canada will be exhibited. The entry of a given locality, say Perkinsville, will be known as "Mis Perkinsville." She will compete for the title "Miss Ontario" or "Miss Alberta," as the case may be. In turn she will be put in the ring with the winners from other Provinces to compete for the title "Miss Canada." The girls who win the first three places in the Federal class will then compete with the most beautiful girls from the United States for the International title. The elimination processes seem to have been carefully worked out, and the whole thing will be run with the same skill as characterizes the live stock contests at the Royal Winter Fair to be held in the same building a week or so earlier. Fat cattle one week; beautiful girls the next. A charming idea, is it not?

To soothe the feelings of disappointed damsels there will be a large number of consolation prizes; and the lure is held out that the large moving picture studios have been invited to send representatives to the contest for the purpose of choosing girls suitable for training as movie stars. In order to stimulate entries it is announced that the choices of the movie scouts will not necessarily be confined to winners of class titles. This is a peculiarly deceitful kind of buncombe. As a matter of fact, the more famous movie stars are not particularly noted for beauty, but have won their places through a responsive and vivid power of facial expression and plasticity of gesture; as well as the possession of nervous temperaments that can stand the strain of maintaining an expression naturally during the laborious process of posing and "shooting." This movie allurement is merely intended to dupe foolish and ignorant girls and equally foolish and ignorant parents. But even if these Beauty Contests did provide a royal road to stardom and wealth, do Canadian families wish to see their daughters transferred from their homes to the hectic atmosphere of Hollywood?

Of course, it is impossible to put a check on the folly of silly girls and infatuated parents, but it is going rather far to ask municipal councils to put the official stamp of approval on a scheme to exploit youth, one of the consequences of which will be to excite nasty local rancors and jealousies. An appeal is made to the commercial interests of various towns on the ground of the "advertisement" they will get out of the show; but most business men will fail to see how the selection of a pretty girl from the home town is going to advertise the local canning factory.

Though it is not made clear what the members of the International Beauty Club are going to get out of the show, it is safe to assume that their motives are not disinterested. It is o be hoped that the local centres of the National Council of Women and the Daughters of the Empire, who have special charge of the affairs of Canadian womanhood, will do their best to frown down this attempt to exploit Canada's girlhood for commercial ends.—Toronto Saturday Night.

BRITISH VIEW OF SEPARATE STATES.

PARIS, Nov, 15. — (Canadian Press)—The Marquis of Crewe, British Ambassador, called on Premier Poincare last night and handed to him a note containing a long argument further sustaining British opinion on the effects the Rhineland Separatist movement would have on the Treaty of Versailles. The British contention is that the treaty, having been signed with the Reich for all of the states composing it, could not be imposed on states which separated themselves from the Reich. This M. Poincare considered unfounded.

In turn, the French Premier handed to the Ambassador a note denying the allegations that French officials had displayed partiality in the Separatist movement.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, November 15 (Canadian Press). — Wheat scored something of an advance in price yesterday with many traders viewing the bearish factors as having been discounted and gossip again rife as to chances of raising the wheat tariff. The close was unsettled, 1-4c to 5-8c net higher; December $1.03 5-8 to $1.03 3-4 and May $1.08 3-4 to 7-8 to $1.08 7-8.

Corn finished unchanged to 1-2c to 5-8c lower; oats at 1-8c decline to a like advance; and provisions varying from 2c off to 17c gain.

After a little weakness at the outset, buying on the part of commission housts developed sufficiently to give the wheat market an upward trend, except for occasional transient setbacks. Arrival here of 350,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, duty paid, served to focus attention on the outlook for action at Washington in regard to furnishing greater tariff protection for domestic producers. Definite anonuncement, however, that steps in this direcion had been taken under the Fordney-McCumber Act was received here after the day's dealings were ended.

Eastern interests bought November delivery of wheat and caused the November price to move up to nearly the same as for December. The November purchases were said to be to enable shipments to be made before the close of navigation on the Great Lakes. Spreaders buying wheat against sales of corn continued to exercise more or less bullish influence on wheat, and Secretary Wallace's address here was also of some bullish effect.

Favourable weather and continued weakness of hog values were given as reasons for the downward tendency of the corn market.

Scantiness of receipts upheld oats.

Provisions averaged higher owing chiefly to smaller packers buying lard.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, November 15. — Trading spruced up at the Union Stock Yards during the afternoon on Tuesday, and the cattle sales for the day amounted to 4,616. This left about 1,80 0for yesterday.

Yesterday morning's receipts were 1,235 cattle, 227 calves, 2,0/0 hogs, and 1,138 sheep and lambs.

The exporters took more cattle this week than any previous week this year. Of killing steers 750 were bought at $6.25 to $7.00 a cwt. They also took 260 short keeps, and the top price paid for these was $5.60 a cwt. Since Friday, over 1,000 head of Western cattle have arrived in this market. Three loads of heifers of these were sold by J. Wilson to the packers yesterday morning at $4.75 a cwt.

There is no trouble disposing of any butchers' cattle with quality, and the market is honeycombed daily to get a supply of these. For the handy weights, $6.00 and higher is paid, and any choice medium weights will bring $6.50 a cwt. up.

In the medium and common butcher the supply continues much too heavy, and this maintains a constant buyers' market. Dealers say it is hard to place a steady quotation on these classes, and sales vary all the way from 15 to 25 cents, according to the condition of the market at the time.

Common plain killers are only making 3 cents a pound, and fair mediums about 4 cents. Good conditioned cows are selling at 4 1-2 cents, and odd ones of extra finish up to 5 cents. Medium butcher's cows hold from 3 1-4 to 3 1-2 cents and common cows start as low as 2 1-4 cents.

Most of yesterday's business was in common to medium butchers and stockers In the latter, business is brisk at steady prices. The average price for the 700 to 800 pound stocker is 4 to 4 1-4 cents a pound.

No run of consequence is looked for to-day, and the market has the earmarks of being sold out again this week.

No real good calves are to be had, and the good mediums are selling from 9 to 10 cents a pound Common heavy calves are mostly going to the packers as boners, and prices here are low with those of poor quality down to 4 cents a pound.

Lambs are stronger this week by a full 25 cents a cwt. Ottawa Valley lambs sold at 11 1-4 cents on Monday, and a few loads of fancy ones made this price yesterday. Other goods loads of ewes and wethers sold at 11 cents. Heavy lambs scarcely reached 10 1-2 cents. Sheep were a little draggy yesterday, and one bunch sold at 5 1-2 cents.

The general acceptance of this week's cut of 50 cents a cwt. on hogs has made the packers quite confident, and they are discussing a further cut. Some of the older buyers think, however, that they may overstep their opportunity by pressing their advantage too far.

WINNIPEG CATTLE

WINNIPEG, November 15 (Canadian Press). — Receipts, 1,850 cattle and calves, 1,050 hogs, and 515 sheep and lambs.

There was little activity on the cattle market yesterday morning, and with the bulk of ogerings lacking quality trading continued generally slow and draggy,

The sheep and lamb market was steady medium lambs making $9.00 to $10.00 and hndy weight sheep $5.00 to $6.50.

The hog market was steady with Tuesday's close, thick smooths weighing up at $7.50 and select bacons at $8.25.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, November 15 (Canadian Press). — Grain marketings for Tuesday aggregated 6,571,903 bushels, as compared with 2,763,734 for 13th November, 1922, according to reports from the local railway offices yesterday. Cars loaded totalled 4,086, as against 1,930 a year ago.

Monday was a holiday, and this no doubt accounted for the large increase. The loadings represented 6,023,060 bushels, as compared with 2,825,558 for the corresponding day of last year.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, November 15 (Canadian Press). — Trade in cash grain in the domestic market here yesterday was slow. A steady trade was reported in flour. Business in millfeed continues good and the market for rolled oats was steady. A firm feeling prevails in the baled hay market. Trade in eggs was fairly good. The market for potatoes was without feature. Demand for butter is somewhat limited. Prices are steadily tending towards a lower level in the cheese market.

The egg quotations yesterday were: Extras 42, firsts 37, seconds 30 to 32.

BERLIN WOULD UNLOAD RHINELAND PROBLEMS ON OCCUPYING POWERS

dicates Desire to Pass the Buck of Unemployment and Food to Belgium and France — Legacy of Passive Resistance.

SOCIALISTS OPPOSED.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press).—After November 25, Germany no longer will be able to meet the drain upon her Exchequer for the payment of unemployment doles in the Ruhr and the Rhineland and will then set both these regions adrift, permitting them to shift for themselves.

This direct statement was made in official quarters here tonight.

Unless Chancellor Stresemann arrives at a different conclusion after pending conferences with leaders in the occupied areas as the Reichstag opposes such a policy it is now believed that the immediate future of the Rhineland and the Ruhr will be wholly determined by the nature of agreements which the local leaders there are able to enter into with the French and Belgian authorities.

The unemployment doles which the German Government is paying but to unemployed men and women in the Rhineland and the Ruhr will amount to 200,000,000 gold marks in the next ten days.

Make Powers Responsible

An autonomous state in the present stage of occupation and under prevailing economic and social conditions in view in Berlin circles as inexpedient and not feasible, and the inclination in Government quarters appears to favor a plan to hold the occupying powers responsible for getting the local populace fed and back to work, and otherwise readjusting completely the desolated conditions in all lines.

In the event the latter solution is adopted, the Berlin Government will invest the local German authorities with plenipotentiary powers, authorizing them to deal with the French Belgian and British authorities thus making the occupied zones temporarily wholly independent of official intervention by the Central or Prussian Governments.

Chancellor Stresemann and other champions of the proposed plan to pettison the Ruhr and the Rhineland so long as they are under military occupation, believe that passing "economic autonomy" is the sole solution to the problem now confronting the Government along the Rhine. Any movement in those areas in the direction of forcing the establishment of an autonomous state would require the initial support of one-third of the qualified voters and a consequent three-fifths vote for ultimate ratification. The federated states would also have to be consulted in accordance with paragraph 18 of the Constitution of the Republic, and this sanction combined with the complications growing out of a plebiscite ippress the Berlin Cabinet with the futility of forcing the issue of an autonomous state at this time.

CHURCH UNION AS ENEMY OF LIQUOR.

Three Great Evangelical Churches Safeguard Against Traffic.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 14.—The Union of the three great evangelical churches will provide a safeguard against the liquor traffic and will provide the means of placing a solid body of opinion against strong drink declared Rev. W. J. McCloy of Point Douglas church, in an address before the Mantioba Presbyterian Synod here to-day in which he attacked the Moderation Act, and asserted social problems in Winnipeg have increased since its inception. Bootleggers are purchasing liquor from the government stores, he asserted, and declared he had seen more drunken men, women and young people on the streets of Winnipeg during the past few weeks than in the whole of the 13 years previous, since his departure from Scotland.

ASQUITH, LLOYD GEORGE AND CHURCHILL FIRE FIRST ORATORY BOLTS

Dissolution of Parliament the "Worst Example of Political Cynicism," Says Former Liberal Premier—Labor Strong and Stands Alone.

CAMPAIGN OPENING.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Pending Premier Baldwin's further exposition of his protectionist policy, which will be made in the course of the debate on the labor censure motion in the House of Commons tomorrow, political interest is wholly absorbed in active preparations in the various constituencies for a sharp election campaign.

The Cabinet had a long sitting today, when, it is believed, outlines of the Government policy were laid down. There is evident misgiving and nervousness among the members of the Conservative party generally, as contrasted with the enthusiasm displayed in the Liberal and Labor ranks.

The present campaign differs in important particulars from a similar campaign which carried the Liberals triumphantly to victory in 1906. When Joseph Chamberlain launched his famous protectionist move which smashed his party there were practically only two big parties in parliament—Conservative and Liberal — with a very small labor party and a few Irish Nationalists. Now the Labor Party in the House of Commons consists of 144 members and is the Official Opposition.

Liberals Fight Labor.

If the re-united Liberal and Labor Parties could be induced to co-operate there is a very general belief that the protectionists would be defeated. The Labor Party, however, has consistently refused to co-operate with the Liberals and as a consequence Liberals are fighting Laborites in the constituency and giving seats to the Conservatives on minority vote of the electorate for this very reason.

The Liberal press is making appeals to the Labor leaders to agree to some sort of an election concordant, to prevent such internecine fighting in the constituencies, on the ground that the present is a unique occasion, where Liberal and Laborite have an equal interest in defeating protectionism up to the present the Labor leaders are not hurrying to respond.

Krupp's Prison Days Are Ended

DUESSELDORF, Nov. 14.—Baron von Bohlen's prison days are definitely over, according to German officials. He and other Krupp directors had been sentenced to long prison terms, but they have now been liberated, the technical expression used in the document granting them their freedom describing it as "postponement of punishment."

Baron Krupp von Bohlen and the other directors condemned with him were granted a temporary release on October 25, on parole.

UPLIFT PEOPLE BY EDUCATION

Not By Legislation, Is Conviction of Hon. Jacques Bureau in Interview.

REGINA, Sask., Nov. 15.—(Canadian Press)—That he did not believe in trying to make people good or sober by legislation, was the statement made in an interview here yesterday by Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs, when questioned regarding the result of the liquor referendum in Manitoba and Alberta. It could not be done, he said. It was better to educate the people along right lines.

Mr. Bureau declared his mind was quite clear on the subject and he thought the uneasiness in Canada at present was largely due to the fact that there were too many prohibitionists.

Business conditions are steadily improving throughout the Dominion if the customs returns are any basis on which to form an opinion he said.

ENTER CONTEST IN BIRMINGHAM

Chamberlains Will Stand in Two Ridings—Labor Opens Election Fund.

LONDON, November 14. Canadian Press Cable. — In Birmingham where the Chamberlain family has held pontifical authority, both in national and municipal politics for a couple of generations, and where the Unionists hold all twelve parliamentary seats, with prospects of all the retiring members seeking re-election, Austen Chamberlain, who was Lord Privy Seal and leader of the House during the Lloyd George term in office, will again be opposed by Frank Smith, labor candidate, whom he defeated by a majority of close to six thousand in the last election. Smith has more defeats than successes to his credit.

Neville Chamberlain, the present Chancellor of the exchequer, also meets his former labor antagonist, Dr. R. Dunstan. The labor party has also arranged to do battle in six other Birmingham constituencies.

Col. Grant Morden (Conservative) the present member for Brentford and Chiswick, will again be opposed by Mrs. Olive Strachy, independent. Sir Hamar Greenwood, who was defeated in the last general election in Sunderland, where he ran as a national Liberal, has been offered three ridings, but he will probably try the double-barrelled constituency of Sunderland again. In the last election Greenwood was about six thousand votes behind the second Conservative candidate.

The Labor party is appealing for an election fund of one million shillings. Despite Philip Snowden's assertion that the time for proposing a capital levy was not so favorable to-day as a few years back it was stated that the party will not hedge on the question but will place it in the forepart of their programme.

FAIL TO SETTLE STRIKE.

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 14.—All efforts to settle the longshoremen's strike at Vancouver have falied, according to a statement issued to-day by J. D. McNiven, Deputy Minister of Labor, who has been making efforts to bring the striking longshoremen and the employing companies together.

The Secretary, W. J. Jackson, reported a membership of 25,363, with a total acreage of 2,538,300. New members are being signed up daily, and farmers who lifted their contracts during the withdrawal period are applying for reinstatement, Mr. Jackson said.

RUHR LEADERS REJECT TERMS OF AGREEMENT

Negotiations With Inter-Allied Mission Fall Through—Refuse French Demands For Reparation Coal.

TWO OBSTACLES.

DUESSELDORF, Nov. 14.—The negotiations between the Ruhr industrial leaders and the Inter-Allied Mission for Control of Factories and Mines have broken down, the Germans having failed to accept three of the 21 clauses in the draft agreement.

The communique announcing the closing of the negotiations makes no mention of the nature of the articles in question, but says that only 18 were accepted and these were purely technical. The German delegates were asked for a definite answer respecting the remaining three by 6.30 to-night. Eventually they accepted one of them, but said they must consult their Government about the second, and they refrained from accepting the third.

Have Known Terms.

As the negotiations had lasted four weeks, "the communique adds, and the disputed articles have been known to the German delegates since November fifth, the Allied authorities considered prolongations of the discussion for an arrangement useless, as they regarded the text as definite. Therefore, they decided that the negotiations must be considered closed.

The two points which the industrialists find it hardest to accept, are: First, the French demand for a definite amount of reparation coal, based on the 1922 output, instead of a single percentage of the output, and, second, the French stipulation of the right to arrest and imprison industrialists if the agreement is not kept.

Dispute Over Ships.

Another disputed point, according to a French source, is the demand for a certain percentage of Rhine shipping for coal transportation to France. The Germans argue that the Treaty of Versailles does not require them to furnish any Rhine ships.

To offset the reports that the recent agreements with Otto Wolff and the Krupps have not yielded the expected returns, the French assert that the mines fully controlled by the Krupps have reached sixty per cent. of the nominal production, while those in which the Krupps have only a minority interest have not yet resumed work.

SNAP ELECTION GOOD STRATEGY

In Birkenhead Sense of Keeping Idealism in Check — "Truth's" Comment.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—"As a matter of strategy and tactics," says London Truth, "the immediate dissolution of parliament is no doubt sound. The bulk of the electors to-day know very little of the merits of the question and any plausible remedy for the bad trade and the unemployment conditions at the first glance is sure to appeal to many. The longer the issue is debated the more likely is the first impression to be corrected. But as a matter of ethics a snap election designed to catch votes before the voters have had time to learn and think is open to unfavorable remarks. But ethics are not business and politics are. As Lord Birkenhead has been reminding us we must not allow ideals to get the better of the instincts of human nature one of which is to grab what you can when the other fellow is not on the lookout."

Whatever side he takes Lord Birkenhead is likely to hear a good deal about his speech to the Glasgow university students in which he condemned idealism in national affairs as impracticable. There are already indications that religious leaders condemn it. The London paper, Truth, which is by no means devoted to matters wholly spiritual, describes the speech as simply poisonous in tendency. Even among unionists in the house of commons and the lobby who are most anxious to secure his adhesion to the party, there is frank admission that Birkenhead's remarks came at a peculiarly inopportune moment.

UNITED STATES FARMERS FEAR CANADA WHEAT

Demand Higher Import Duty Because of Preference By Millers Despite Thirty-Cent Duty.

OPEN INVESTIGATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The United States Tariff Commission has decided to investigate the import duties on wheat. A thorough study of the whole question of wheat rates it announced today, has been ordered and a preliminary hearing will be held November 26.

The Commission's machinery is to be set in motion in advance of the initial public hearing, a committee of its agricultural experts and representatives of the Department of Agriculture beginning immediately the assembling of information as to whether the present tariff duty of thirty cents a bushel is adequate to protect the interests of the producers in the United States.

Although the work is scheduled to go forward as speedily as possible Commission members asserted tonight that they could not hope to complete the task in less than three months. The order for the hearing was issued in the hope, it was said, that a preliminary meeting of all interested parties might result in expediting final action. At the same time doubt was expressed generally at the Commission's offices that any thing could be done in time to afford relief for the producers of this year's crop.

The Commission's chief problem is in the determination of whether the thirty cent duty carried by imported wheat offsets the difference in production costs here and in Canada.

Flour For Nearly Billion Loaves Shipped From Superior Wharves

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Nov. 14.—Unprecedented in the history of the ports this season has been the greatest flour movement over the wharves at Port Arthur and Fort William. The Canadian Railway had at the end of October shipped by steamer 239,085 tons of flour to lower lake ports. About 70,000 additional tons will be shipped before navigation closes, C.P.R. officials stated to-day.

Much of the flour is going overseas and considerable of it will reach Germany, the Germans having expressed a preference for Canadian flour over its United States competitors.

Canada, it is stated, takes payment for her flour in Germany. The United States miller stipulates that payment must be made in gold to arrange the same payment system as used by Canada in order to get the flour market open to United States flour.

So great has been the movement of flour that the company was compelled to lease for several trips two vessels of the Great Lakes Transportation Company.

If the company ships the additional 70,000 tons by the end of the season the total shipments will reach 309,085 tons. In a loaf of bread there is approximately one pound of flour and the 309,085 tons if made into bread, would approximate 618,170,000 loaves. In addition to all the flour the company has handled over the docks in Port Arthur and Fort William, 109,681 tons of merchandise and expect to handle 30,000 additional tons before the end of the year. In 1922 the westbound freight amounted to 114,880 tons and the flour to 191,716 tons.

MOTHERWELL RETURNING.

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.— (Canadian Press.)— Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, who has been in the west for some time, is expected in Ottawa on Nov. 20. Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Deputy Minister of the same department will probably be home about Nov. 26. He is sailing from England on the 16th. Dr. Grisdale went overseas in connection with discussions of the situation in Great Britain as regards Canadian cattle by the Imperial Economic Conference.

Liquor Referendum Saskatchewan Next.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 14.—An early referendum on the liquor question in Saskatchewan was forecast by Senator H. W. Laird, Regina, in an interview here to-day.

"While I am not in the secret of the government," said Senator Laird, "the result in Alberta has created a remarkable impresson on the people's minds and has predisposed them to such an extent that an immediate referendum is virtually a necessity."

SYNOPSIS.

At a first night performance in New York a beautiful young woman attracts attention by rising and leisurely surveying the audience through her glasses. Clavering a newspaper columnist and his cousin Dinwiddie are particularly interested Dinwiddie declaring that she is the image of Mary Ogden a belle of thirty years ago who had married a Count Zattiany and lived abroad. He is convinced that this is Mary's daughter. At Clavering's suggestion Mrs. Oglethorpe a friend of Mary Ogden's in her youth is asked to solve the mystery. She calls on the young woman but learns nothing beyond the fact that she is not Mary Ogden's daughter.

Clavering finally manages to meet her and she tells him she is the Countess Josef Zattiany a cousin of Mary Ogden's; that she had married a relative of Mary's husband; that Mary is ill in a sanitarium in Vienna.

Clavering departs skeptical but content in the knowledge that he will see her again. She has invited him and Dinwiddie for dinner the next night. Meantime he reports to Dinwiddie who is equally incredulous.

VIII. (Continued)

The boy superior indifferent and chewing gum accepted his tip and departed. Clavering returned to the window. Gone was the symphony of gold and gray. The buildings surrounding the Square were a dark and formless mass in the heavy dusk. Only the street lights below shone like globular phosphorescence on a dark and turbulent sea.

Two hours later he left his hotel and walked up Madison Avenue. Twenty-sixth Street was deserted and as littered with papers peanut shells and various other debris as a picnic train. The mounted police had disappeared. From the great building came the first roar of the thousands assembled whether in approval or the reverse it would be difficult to determine. They roared upon the slightest pretext and they would roar steadily until half-past ten or eleven when they would burst out of every exit rending the night their yells, while a congested mass of motors and taxi-cabs shrieked and honked and squealed and coughed; and then abruptly the silence of death would fall upon what is now a business quarter where only an occasional hotel or little old brownstone house—sole reminder of a vanished past when Madison Square was the center of fashion—lingered between the towering masses of concrete and steel.

IX.

When Clavering and Dinwiddie arrived at the Ogden house Judge Trent was already there and mixing cocktails in the library. He was a large man who must have had a superb figure before it grew heavy. He wore the moustache of his generation and in common with what was left of his hair it glistened like crystal. His black eyes were still very bright and his full loose mouth wore the slight smirk peculiar to old men whose sex vanity perishes only in the grave. Beside him stood a man some ten years younger who was in the graying period, which gave him a somewhat dried and dusty look; but whose figure was still slender and whose hard outlines of face were as yet unblurred by flesh. They were, of course, faultlessly groomed, but if met in the wilds of Africa, clad in rags and bearded like the jungle, to the initiate they still would have been New Yorkers.

"Come in! Come in!" cried the judge heartily. "Madame Zattiany will be down in a minute—she prefers to be called Madame Zattiany, by the way. Thinks titles in America are absurd unless wearers were born to them—more particularly since continental titles today are worth about as much as rubles and marks. . . . Mr. Clavering, you know Mr. Osborne? Madame Zattiany kindly permitted me to bring him as she was having a little party. Families old friends."

Clavering placed two fingers in the limp hand extended and met the cold appraising eye calmly. The New York assumption that all other Americans are rank outsiders, that, in short, not to have been born in New York is a social and irremediable crime, had often annoyed him, but never caused him to feel the slightest sense of inferiority. He had his own ancestors, as important in their day as any bewigged old Dutchmen—all of whom, he reminded himself, had been but honest burghers in Holland. But he admired their consistency. The rest of the country had been commenting bitterly on the New York attitude since the eighteenth century. And when you got under their protective armor they were an honorable and a loyal lot. Meanwhile it paid to be as rude as themselves.

"I am delighted that Madame Zattiany has decided to come out of her shell at last," said Judge Trent, shaking vigorously. "I've been urging it for some time. But she has had a long and harrowing experience, and seemed to want only to rest. I think the stir she made at your first-nights, Clavering, had something to do with it. There was a time, you know, when she never appeared without making a sensation—like poor Mary before her—but young as she is all that seems almost too remote to recall. Of course if she had been able to live in London or Paris after the war it would have been different, but she was stuck in Buda Pesth and Vienna—ah!"

She greeted the Judge and Clavering with her slight flickering smile and then turned to the other two men.

"This must be Mr. Osborne, as Judge Trent pointed out Mr. Dinwiddie to me one day on Fifth Avenue. It was kind of you both to come in this informal manner. I appreciate it very much."

Her manner was a little like that of a princess giving audience, Clavering reflected, a manner enhanced by her slight accent and profound repose, the negligent lifting of her hand to be kissed; and as she stood graciously accepting their expressions of unhoped for felicity she looked less American, more European, than ever. But Clavering wondered for the first time if that perfect repose were merely the expression of a profound indifference, almost apathy . . . but no, she was too young for that, however the war may have seared her; and she was smiling spontaneously, there was a genuine note of pleasure in her voice as she turned to him.

"It was more than kind of you to watch my house until the policeman came," she said on a lower key. "I was really alarmed when I remembered that broken window and all those dreadful stories in the newspapers. But you kept watch beneath my windows like a preux chevalier and I felt safe."

STEPHEN ORR WAS BURIED IN NORTH

Apsley News of Interest—Hunters Have Varying Luck.

APSLEY, Nov. 15.—The funeral of Stephen Orr, the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wheeler, Owenbrook, took place on Saturday last at St. Andrew's Church, Owenbrook. He died at the Home for Incurables, Toronto, where he had been for the past few months an inmate, at the age of 31 years, and it was in deference to his expressed wish that he might be buried by the Rev. C. Spence at Owenbrook, that his body was sent there for burial. Mr. Spence conducted the service during which he referred in appreciative terms to the Chandos Municipal Council for the care and attention they had bestowed upon the deceased. E. L. Spence conducted the musical part of the service, playing the Dead March in Saul, and Miss M. Spence sang very feeling, "There's a Beautiful Land on High." Interment took place in the churchyard of St. Andrew's.

Tribute Respect

A tribute of respect was paid to the memory of the soldiers of Apsley and district who fell in the great war, and whose names are inscribed on the monument in the village, on Sunday evening during service at St. George's Church, the congregation standing in reverent attention while the rector, after a fitting reference to the sacrifice made by these men, read out their names, which are as follows: Fred Tanner, Ernest Peters, Warren Post, Nicholas Scott, Gordon McCauley, Frank Simpson, Ernest Bentley, George Winters, Milford Woodbeck, Lang Thompson, Tom Coones, Roy Coones, Hugh Jones, William Jones, Frank Bolton, Leionel White, Wilbert Lean, George McColl, Roy McCauley, John Gifford.

Hunters' Luck

Hunting parties are having varying luck, some getting their quota of deer, while others seem to have disappointing fortune. Deer seem to be fairly plentiful, though some of the favorite haunts appear to be deserted, due probably to the bush fires devastating certain regions during the summer.

CALL FOR 'GOSPEL CHURCH.'

500 Detroiters Back Earle's Plea For Pulpit Without Politics

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 15.—About 500 persons of all ages and creeds attended an "old-fashioned gospel meeting" Sunday, called by Horatio S. Earle, former State Highway Commissioner, to determine whether he stood alone in his protest against the church becoming more of a political organization than a religious one.

Mr. Earle for his attitude and signified their desire for a series of Sunday afternoon gospel meetings at which all mention of politics would be barred.

A committee was named to arrange for them.

"Since the Nation was founded by men and women who wished to serve God according to the dictates of their own conscience," said Mr. Earle, "why should a man not today declare his belief that he should serve God as his conscience dictates and not as his pastor tells him he should?"

He suggested that preachers should take the stand of St. Paul, who said: "I have nothing to give you but Jesus Christ and Him crucified."

A PRESENTATION BALLYDUFF FOLKS

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lethangue Honored by Friends.

BALLYDUFF, Nov. 14.—A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lethangue on Friday evening, Nov. 2nd. Their friends and neighbors presented them with the following address and gifts. The address was read by Mr. Murray Clarke and the chairs and purse was presented by Mr. Herb. Holmes and Mr. Wm. Clarke.

To Mr. and Mrs. Lethangue—

Dear Friends,—It is an honor indeed to have conferred upon one the duty which at present is my privilege an pleasure. Frankly, it is this: We, the people of this community, we, your friends who have enjoyed the beauty and sincerity of your association and friendship, we wish to present to you this little gift which we hope you will enjoy and treasure as a remembrance of us. This slight token represents in a small degree our fervent wishes for your success and happiness in the future. May this be a covenant between us a symbol of our lasting friendship as in the past so in the futur. Also accept this balance for the children.

Signed on behalf of the community.
W. J. CLARKE,
HERB. HOLMES.

Mr. and Mrs. Lethangue made a suitable reply, thanking their friends and neighbors for their kindness and gifts, after which the remainder of the evening was spent in music and dancing. Mr. Lethangue is moving away from the old homestead and has purchased a beautiful farm a mile north, formerly owned by Mr. Bruce Hawkins. Mrs. Lethangue was Miss Lillie Elliott, daughter of Mr. John J. Elliott of Lindsay.

NEW FORD PLANT ON THE BORDER

A Huge Development Is Planned For Greater Production in Canada.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 15.—The Canadianization of Ford Company of Canada is proceeding apace. Inter-Empire preferences are thought likely to demand that a greater percentage of Canadian work be done here, particularly on automobiles, before they can share in the low duties, and Ford Company is taking steps not only to produce more in Canada, but to cut their costs.

The Ford of Canada plant appears to be in the process of entire remodelling. The old factory is to be turned into a body plant to replace the present import of Fisher bodies from the United States. The new plant under construction has been so planned, it is said, that even greater economics will be possible along certain lines than in the giant plant on the Michigan shore. A new dock is in course of construction which will permit the largest lake freighters to tie alongside and unload coal, which will pass directly into crushers for pulverization before entry into the coking plant, while lumber will be unloaded mechanically upon conveyors which will carry it right into the body plant.

The coke by-product plant will be a complete one and the new foundry will permit construction of Fords with a far smaller percentage of United States steel and iron than heretofore. The new plant lies well over half a mile from the river and will be connected with power and coking plants by a three thousand foot tunnel through which heat, power and water will be carried.

Australia has a standing army of only 3300.

EVERY DAY SERVE SOME WAY

Keeps the Family Fit

Wind—Dust—Germs

THE swirling fall winds stir up the germ-laden dust. The delicate mucous linings of the nose and throat become irritated until inflammation is set up and it only requires sudden changes of temperature to start a cold.

With many people this means more or less trouble all winter, and besides there is always a considerable proportion of colds that develop into bronchitis, pneumonia or consumption.

Bronchitis is the test of what a treatment for colds will do, and because Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine affords quick relief from bronchitis you may be sure that it makes short work of ordinary coughs and colds.

It is all very well to talk of others neglecting a cold, but what about your cold? What are you using to prevent serious results? Are you taking Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine? Do you have members of the family use it or are you satisfied to take whatever new and untried mixture that may be offered to you?

Medicine for coughs and colds should be selected with just as much care as medicine for any other serious and dangerous disease, for there is scarcely a limit to the ailments to which a neglected cold may lead.

The best time to use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is when you begin to feel a dryness or tickling in the throat. You can then head off the trouble before it reaches the bronchial tubes or lungs.

But you must be ready for prompt action, and for this reason it is wise to always keep Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine at hand in your medicine chest. Ask for the large bottle. It is more economical and ensures an adequate supply in case of emergency.

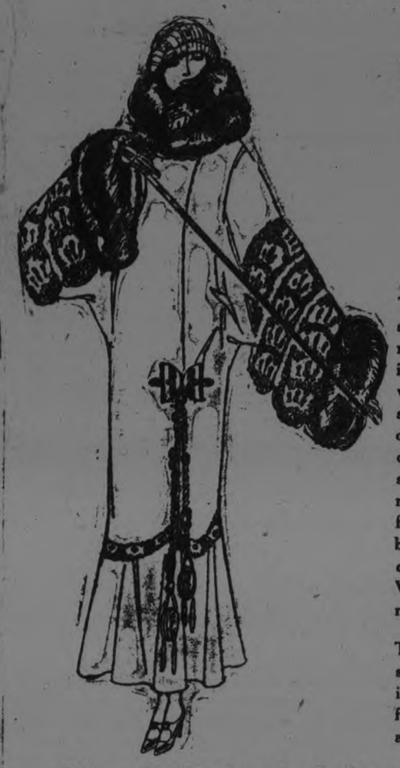
New Autumn and Winter Coats

REDFERN STORE



Now is the Best Time to Select That New Winter Coat

The new Winter Coat is a necessity this year, because of the radical changes from the fashions of last Winter. The wise woman buys hers now, while styles are fresh; the range of colors and fabrics offers a wide choice, and she can get a full season's wear out of the garment. Forethought in studying fashion tendencies, and careful buying, enabled the Store to offer these authentic modes in Winter Coats at remarkably moderate prices.

The new wrap around coats, straight of line or slightly flaring, are here, in the rich pile fabrics such as Marvella, Bolivia and Peach Bloom.

The snug fit at hip and waist, the close or flaring sleeves, and the huge bolster, crush and shawl collars of such becoming furs as squirrel, beaver, Fitch Opossum, western sable, are some of the up-to-the minute features of these luxurious garments.

IN THIRTY YEARS WOMEN WON'T DO ANY HOUSEWORK

Women 30 years from now will not be doing any house-work, predicts Professor Ernest Groves. This has been predicted before—that, at least in cities, everybody eventually will live in big apartment houses run like hotels, with the housework done by maids, cooks, porters and laundresses employed by the hotel-home.

This would be an application, to house-work, of the co-operative principles we already use in government.

However, our jazz era may have a reaction in the form of a general desire to get back to nature and the simple life. Airplanes could make this possible, people living far out in the country, father flying several hundred miles to work. In which case, there'd be more house-work for ma than there is now—and Professor Groves would be all wrong in his prediction.

Groves expresses this interesting size-up of the woman of today: "In spite of all this so-called freedom, women are still drudges and slaves to their homes. They are so busy with housekeeping that they have no time to instruct their children properly, and no time to be companions as well as housekeepers to their husbands. When 40 comes, they feel that life has gone from them."

True in many cases, undoubtedly. But when a wife really loves her husband, and has children, housework is not drudgery and slavery in the long run though mighty monotonous at times.

Mother gets infinite joy toiling to make her family happy. That's one reason no sacrifice is too great for her. Science, of course, is unable to comprehend this. Science is baffled by anything it can't measure in kilowatt hours.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid" indigestion.

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis, accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Could Not Sleep or Eat For Days

Wincarnis Was the Only Thing That Seem to do Mrs. Hueston Any Good

Mrs. Edward Hueston, 6145 N. Cleveland Avenue, Philadelphia, tells an interesting story of what Wincarnis did in helping restore her to health. In Mrs. Hueston's own words:

"Before taking Wincarnis, I was completely run down. My nerves were in an awful state. I also had indigestion so badly that gas would form around my heart, causing it to palpitate. I could neither eat nor sleep for days at a time. I took a small bottle of Wincarnis, and it seemed to do me good, so I bought a large one, and within a week I began to feel much better, and my nerves quieted down. After taking three bottles, I felt better than I had for years. Wincarnis is certainly a wonderful tonic."

Mrs. Hueston's is only one of many similar cases benefited by the use of "Wincarnis." All over the world "Wincarnis" is bringing renewed vigour, vitality, and endurance to weak, anaemic, and run-down men and women.

Buy a bottle of Wincarnis to-day. $1.50 a bottle at all good druggists. Write for free, interesting booklet to Coleman & Co. "Canada" Ltd., 67 Portland Street, Toronto.

CHILD DISCLOSED MOTHER'S MURDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Leah Friendlich, 28 years old, was found dead in bed early in the morning in her room at 270 Delaney Street. A gas fixture once broken and then soldered had been wrenched apart. Gas was flowing into the room. Every effort to revive the woman failed. In due course of things, when the official machinery had finished its usual round, the woman should have been buried in a suicide's grave.

But detectives and the Chief Medical Examiner, put their heads together. An autopsy was ordered. Mrs. Friendlich had been smothered. Her husband is under arrest charged with her murder. At the Clinton Street Police Station he begged that he be allowed to go to the roof and jump off. Directly accused of the crime he couldn't "remember."

Search of the rooms in which the couple lived with their five children turned up only one thing of value. That was a $1,000 policy issued by the New York Life Insurance Company on the life of Mrs. Friendlich. Her husband was the beneficiary. The policy was taken out on May 14. A half yearly premium of $13.50 comes due today.

The husband, Harry Freindlich, a painter out of work, owes his predicament to two things. The Freindlich baby, in its crib near its mother's bed, was struggling under a pillow when Max, 10-year-old son of the couple, smelled gas and ran into the room. Before he ran into the hall to call help, Max snatched the pillow off the baby's face. The child showed only slight symptoms of gas poisoning and soon recovered.

No Explosion

Even more unfortunate for Freindlich was the excited behavior of Mrs. Starkman, who lives across the hall. When Max shouted to her that his mother's room was filled with gas she snatched up a lighted candle and ran into the room. If the gas had been escaping long enough to asphyxiate a woman there should have been an explosion. There was none.

It was inductive reasoning from these facts that led to the autopsy which was performed by Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, Assistant Medical Examiner. Microscopical examination of the blood showed none of the readily discernible effects of gas poisoning. On the woman's throat were finger marks. Death by smothering was the verdict. Whether the pillow found over the baby's face had first been used to kill the woman, the police did not say.

Freindlich had left home a few minutes before his wife's body was found. In the hall, Max, just awakened, met his father. Max was going to take his father's vacated place in his mother's bed, to give his brothers, Jacob and Carl, more room. The boy said his father ordered him back into his own room. Instead Max went on into his mother's room as his father's steps descending steps echoed on the stairs.

After Max had sounded the alarm neighbors ran to Patrolmen Stenger and English, who were on strike duty nearby. They called an ambulance from Gouveneur Hospital. Dr. Rednick used a pulmotor for an hour, but failed to revive Mrs. Freindlich.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

VEGETABLES

Vegetables of late autumn are a welcome to canned summer ones or without of season delicacies. Parsnips carrots, rutabagas and squash add color and beauty to the dinner table.

You will enjoy serving parsnip fritters and guests will enjoy eating them.

Carrot straws are almost too good to be true.

Squash croquettes are different but delicious.

Parsnip Fritters

Six parsnips, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, 3 tablespoons butter, cracker crumbs, 1 egg.

Boil parsnips in slightly salted boiling water until tender. Plunge into cold water and slip skins. Mash and season with salt, pepper, sugar and butter. Mold into small flat cakes. Roll in cracker crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten with two tablespoons cold water, roll again in crumbs and fry in a spider in hot lard and bacon fat until a delicate brown.

Carrot Straws

Four medium sized carrots, 4 tablespoons butter, ½ cup cream, 1 lemon, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons minced fresh mint leaves, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 egg.

Wash and scrape carrots. Cut in narrow strips. Drop into boiling salted water and boil 15 minutes. Drain and put in top of double boiler. Add butter, sugar, cream, grated rind and juice of lemon and mint leaves. Cook until soft. Beat egg slightly and stir into mixture as it is removed from hot water.

Squash Croquettes

Cut squash in halves and scrape out seeds. Bake. Scoop out of shell and mash. There should be two cups. Add one cup milk, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, two tablespoons butter, two eggs, one cup nut meats coarsely chopped and one-half teaspoon paprika. The eggs should be well beaten. If too moist to handle add fine cracker crumbs and let stand until firm. Shape into balls, roll in cracker crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten with two tablespoons water, roll again in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat. Drain on brown paper.

Sweet Potato Apples

Six sweet potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons cider or grape juice, 16 cloves.

Wash and cook sweet potatoes until tender. Remove skins and mash with butter, salt and pepper. Cool, form into balls and stick a clove in opposite ends. Melt sugar in an iron spider, add boiling water, lemon juice, cider or grape juice and cook until a smooth sirup is formed. The melted sugar will lump when the water is added, but these lumps will dissolve. Arrange apples in a baking dish, pour over sirup and bake in a moderate oven until the sirup is thick and the apples glazed and a delicate brown. Serve in the baking dish.

FORMER BRITISH PEER PASSES ON.

Duke of Cumberland Adhered to Germany During the War.

GMUNDEN, Austria, Nov. 14. — Ernest August Wilhelm, Duke of Brunswick-Luenberg, and former Duke of Cumberland in the British peerage, died to-day. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy yesterday on his estate here.

Ernest August Wilhelm was born in Hanover, Germany, in 1845, the son of the King of Hanover. He was a cousin of the late King Edward. He had a courtesy command in the British army, but adhered to Germany during the world war and was deprived in 1919 of his British rank of nobility by a King's order-in-council.

The Duke of Albany also lost his British title at the same time for a similar reason.

The dead Duke married Princess Thryria, a sister of the King of Denmark. In 1913 he renounced his right to the throne of the Duchy of Brunswick in favor of his son, who, when Germany became a republic, had to give up his regency. Since teh war the Duke has lived on his estate at Gmunden.

Prior to the world war the Duke was considered one of the most wealthy of the European royalty, his palace at Gmunden being filled with world famous treasures of all kinds, notably silver. His fortune however became greatly depleted through his purchase of German and Austrian war bonds, and later through the collapse of the financial situation in central Europe.

Recently it was announced that a large portion of the historic art works owned by the Duke—the handcraft of British, French and German master silversmiths—would be put under the hammer in an endeavor to recoup the lost fortune of the Duke. The Austrian government protested against the sale on the ground that it was likely to involve a violation of the federal law prohibiting art treasures from leaving the country. The Duke explained however that he was selling only articles of practical value such as table services, cutlery, vases and luxurious silver chairs. It was said that the articles to be sold had an estimated value of two billion Austrian kroner.

TACT IN TIME.

King Alfred (entering a shop of the day)—Ho, varlet! How are my candle clocks selling?

YOUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBOURS PAY HEARTFELT TRIBUTE TO DRECO

Men and Women Right in Peterboro Tell of Wonderful Health-Building Help Given Them By Dreco, the Famous Herbal Remedy.

Only One Medicine For Me

That is verdict of Mr. H. Brady, who declares Dreco has put him in the best health he has known for years.

"For the past few months," says Mr. H. Brady of 340 Aylmer street, Peterborough, Ont.. "I have been in a run-down condition. I had a continual tired, worn-out feeling and I didn't seem to have the energy that I previously had. My work was an effort to me.

"My appetite was poor and the food I ate gave me indigestion. I couldn't sleep very well and was losing weight. Constipation was a source of continual trouble also.

"I took several so-called health builders, but nothing did me any good until I tried Dreco. This grand remedy sure went right to the spot. I have only taken one bottle so far but I feel fine. That tired feeling has left me entirely and I can do my work with more ease.

"My appetite is great. I can eat and enjoy anything that comes my way and have no trouble whatever with my stomach. My bowels are regular every day. I feel just great all the time and have already gained several pounds in weight."

Let Dreco tone and strengthen your system and build it back to normal health. It benefits all the organs of digestion and purifies the blood. Dreco is safe and reliable, being made solely from herbs, roots, bark and leaves. It contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs.

Packing House Official Delighted With Dreco

Manager of Canadian Packing Company's store at George and Brock streets, Peterborough, speaks highly of new remedy. Found it splendidly effective as a system builder and recommends its use.

Mr. James Jackson of 504 Bolivar street, Peterborough, Ont., who occupies a prominent position in the business circles of that city, achieved such splendid result with one bottle of Dreco that he volunteers the following statement:

"For some time past," says Mr. Jackson, "my system has been in a run-down condition and while there was nothing seriously wrong with me, I continually had a tired, worn-out feeling that I couldn't rid myself of. I didn't have any energy to go about my work. My appetite was very poor and the food that I ate fermented in my stomach, causing gas risings and belching. After work, I had no energy left, not even enough to get ready to go out of an evening.

"I was also greatly troubled by constipation, which disappeared with my first bottle of Dreco. This one bottle has made a wonderful difference in me altogether. My appetite is splendid. I eat and enjoy three hearty meals a day and am never troubled with indigestion afterwards. That tired, worn-out feeling has left me entirely and in its place I have renewed vigor and energy. My bowels are regular every day.

"I am firmly convinced that Dreco is a great health builder and I have already recommended it to several of my friends."

Put your digestive system in proper working order and all is well. The safest and most reliable method of doing this is by taking Dreco, the famous herbal remedy that has won the approbation of thousands of responsible Canadians, many of them right here in Peterborough. Dreco contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs, being prevared solely from herbs, roots, bark and leaves of field and forest.

Stomach weakness, poor digestion, sluggish liver, chronic constipation, biliousness, gastritis, and other digestive complaints helped by this medicine. Dreco tones and regulates the vital organs and benefits the whole system.

Never has such a tribute been paid to a medicine as that accorded to Dreco by people right in Peterborough. The corrective properties of this remarkable remedy have proved a revelation to them. Disorders of many years standing have responded to its influence, and on every hand we hear its praises sounded.

A reputation of this kind can only be built on sheer merit. When responsible people, who can readily be interviewed, rally around a remedy in this way, it means that they really have experienced remarkable benefits from its use.

People who have not eaten a hearty meal for years now enjoy good digestion and give all the credit to Dreco. Others who have been racked with rheumatic pains or suffered constant loss of sleep now bless the day they started using Dreco. Backaches, headaches, dizzy spells and chronic constipation are frequently mentioned as having been helped by this valuable remedy.

Statements like this that are backed by published names and addresses within easy reach for confirmation, should do much to convince people of the true merits of Dreco.

Dreco is safe and reliable, because it is made only from roots, herbs bark and leaves in scientifically correct proportions. No mercury, potash, habit-forming drug or other harmful ingredients enters into its preparation.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. Go there to-day and ask for Mr. Vaughan, the Dreco Expert, and let him explain the merits of this great remedy. There is no charge and he will tell you honestly if he believes Dreco will benefit you. Dreco is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey, in Campbellford by J. E. Birks, and by a good druggist everywhere.

Marry in Your Own Class and Don't Fear Poverty is Pastor's Advice

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 15.—"Marry in your own class if you would insure married happiness."

That is the advice offered today by the Rev. Dr. George F. Shepherd, pastor of the Ashbury Methodist Episcopal Church of this city, and one of the best known divines of that denomination in New York State.

America can eradicate the divorce evil by observing three things, the clergyman declares.

"My first suggestion is, do not fear poverty," he says. "Too many of our young people think it is necessary for them to start in where their parents left off. It is not necessary when you start in on your married life to have four or five well-furnished rooms, with Turkish rugs on the floor. It would be better for a good many of them to start with a rag on the floor, an old cook stove and a few stools, and build up their own home through hard work.

Wed Own "Kind".

"My second suggestion is marry your own kind. Do not marry outside of your own class, creed or color. I know there are examples of where it has worked out all right but if you will follow the majority of such cases through to the end you will find that in the long run it is better to marry your own kind.

"Marry on about the same level where you are. Girls, do not think that the boys that you will find in some other church, or in some other city, are any better than those with whom you are now associated. Boys, do not think that the girls to be found elsewhere are any sweeter, or any purer than those to be found in your own class.

Single Standard.

"Third, give what you expect. If you expect of your wife purity do not bring to her a heart that has been stained. A woman demand above all else undivided love.

"But you cannot cure the ache in a woman's heart by that method You cannot bring home a box of candy at the close of the day or keep flowers on the stand and let that suffice. You cannot make your wife happy by buying her trinkets. She wants them, but what she wants above all is undivided affection."

GREAT BRITAIN AND U.S. MAY CO-OPERATE

Premier Jan Smuts Wants Great Britain and United States to Go Ahead With the Reparation

LONDON, Nov. 15. — (Canadian Press). — Premier Jan Smutts, of South Africa, wants the United States and Great Britain to go ahead with the reparations inquiry, regardless of France's attitude. In an open letter published in the London Times to-day he again urged Great Britain to co-operate with the United States in calling the conference.

It was General Smutts who foreshadowed the negotiations for the proposed inquiry that ended when France adhered to her conditions limiting its scope.

FORESTERS HELD BANQUET TUESDAY

In Their Lodge Rooms Which Were Well Decorated.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 15. — Court Victory of the Ancient Order of Foresters held a banquet in their Lodge rooms on the evening of November 13. The rooms were well decorated by the members of the Lodge. About eighty-five were present. Out-of-town guests were Bro. Archie Martin, H.C.S., of Toronto, and Bro. W. Bailey, of Brantford. Bro. W. Ashton proposed the toast to King and Empire, which was responded to by Bro. W. Bailey in a fine manner, paying great tribute to the Canadians and other Dominions in the British Empire. Bro. W. Baker proposed a toast to the Subsidiary High Court of Canada, and Bro. A. Martin, of Toronto, responded in a most able manner, giving some valuable information regarding the workings of the Order in order to keep it in a flourishing condition.

Constant Headaches And Dizziness.

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time, and in nine cases out of ten the persistent headaches are due to some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels.

Undoubtedly the cause must be removed before permanent relief may be had.

Burdock Blood Bitters removes the cause of the headaches, as it acts on every organ of the body and strengthens, purifies and regulates the whole system.

Mrs. Peter Curran, 27 Morrison St., Sydney, N.S., writes:—"I have been troubled for the last five years with constant headaches and dizziness. After trying several remedies, which I found to be of no avail, Burdock Blood Bitters was recommended to me.

B.B.B. did me a world of good, and I cannot praise this remedy enough."

OFFICIALLY DENY DIVIDEND REPORT

Judge Fisher Rules No Dividend to Home Bank Depositors by Present Liquidator.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—(Special)—Home Bank creditors will get no dividend until a permanent liquidator is named on December 14 next, Justice Fisher rules.

This despatch over rules the decision given this money, which read Home Bank depositors in Toronto are to receive their 25 per cent dividend by cheque from the office of G. T. Clarkson inter-liquidator and the sooner all the depositors go to the branch banks and file certificates as to their deposits, the sooner the dividend cheques will be sent out. An appeal was made last night for the depositors to hurry along their depositions. With each certificate of deposit is a slip of paper empowering the payment of one half of one per cent to the Home Bank depositors, protective and relief association, which has the affairs of the depositors in hand. The executive meets tonight to continue the work of organization preparatory to the meeting of depositors in Massey Hall on December sixth.

STUART LIVINGSTON DIED LAST EVENING

Prominent Barrister and a Resident of British Columbia—Noted Poet

VANCOUVER, B.C. Nov. 15.—Stuart Livingston, prominent local barrister and a resident of British Columbia for twenty-five years died here last night. He was born in Hamilton, Ont., 58 years ago.

Mr. Livingston besides being a lawyer was a poet and a painter of some note.

He had written a number of books on law and some of his poems have been adopted for use in the reading rooms of Ontario and English schools. One of best-known books is "In Various Moods' a book of poems.

WILLIE IS HAPPY NOW HE IS HOME

OELS, Silesia, Nov. 15.—(Canadian Press) —Former Crown Prince Frederick William is overjoyed at his return to Germany after five years exile in Holland. To newspaper correspondents yesterday he said that he was happy to be back again with his wife and family and to be among his fellow citizens sharing with them the "grave burdens of the fatherland."

"It is my intention to devote myself to my personal estate in Oels and to help in task of building up fatherland, which I have reason to believe will retain its former greatness," he said.

THE POSTMASTER GENERAL EXTENDS POSTAL DELIVERY

The Postmaster-General of Canada has decided to extend the postal delivery in the neighborhood of Peterboro, and has included a large part of the Byersville district.

West of this district is the part known as Hurleyville, and a post office will be opened there, on Western Avenue, to cover that small area where it is impossible to put in a twice-a-day postal delivery, because of the fact that there are no sidewalks or cinder paths in that area. The Postmaster-General has directed that Morrow be the name of the post office, and Mrs. Thorne, the widow of a returned soldier, will be the postmistress of that district.

South of this district, a post office was opened a year ago, by the name of Crawford's Grove, taking in the area around the river. Mr. Norman Patterson is postmaster there.

MISS E. MEHR, OF TORONTO, TO ADDRESS SISTERHOOD

The Big Sisterhood Society of Peterboro announce the visit in the near future of a representative of the Big Sisters' Association of Toronto. Miss Emily Mehr, of Toronto, general secretary of the Big Sisterhood of that city, will address a public meeting of the men and women of the city in the Public Library Hall on the evening of Friday, November 23. Miss Mehr, who will also speak to the Kiwanis Club at their weekly Friday luncheon on the same day, is very familiar with the aims and objects of the organization, and will explain them at this meeting.

The local branch of the Big Sisterhood has been working steadily throughout the year, and, during the fall months, has had many calls made on its services, with the prospect of the usual winter round of social service and charitable activities.

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Nov. 15. — Sterling exchange showed a slight loss at the opening of the foreign exchange market to-day, reflecting fears entertained in London that Germany proposed to suspend reparations payments.

Stocks, however, continued to display indifference to foreign affairs. About the only change of importance in the early dealings were in issues affected by special developments. Maxwell A dropped two points responding to the denial of President Erskine of the Studebaker Corporation that his company had thought of acquiring Maxwell.

Baldwin was practically the only industrial leader to display strength, gaining nearly a point to 124 1-4. The Erie issues continued the feature of the rail list, both the first and second preferred scoring further gains in the first fifteen minutes of trading.

Stocks developed renewed strength in the first hour under the leadership of Baldwin, which spurted to 126, up 3 3-8 from Wednesday's low.

Studebaker, American Can and other industrial leaders also scored good recoveries and bullish demonstrations went ahead in many sections of the list.

Mail order house stocks were active features of the trading, with Sears Roebuck, National Cloak and Montgomery Ward at new high on the movement. Montgomery Ward experienced the heaviest turnover. While all three moved ahead on improving business and profits, Montgomery Ward derived additional impulse from the fact that big banking interests in control of the property for the last two years were reported to have acquired a large block of stock held by another corporation.

Sears Roebuck was helped by the expectation of dividend resumption after a lapse of nearly three years. National Cloak is also in line for dividend renewal.

LONDON, November 15. Canadian Press. — Exchange on New York fell to-day to $4.32½, the lowest point touched since March, 1922. The drop in quotation represents largely the "flight of capital from pound sterling," as it is expressed here and is viewed in exchange with some concern as to whether decline is yet finished.

When the scare over talked of inflation as a means of reviving business was allayed by official contribution it was hoped that sterling would recover, which it did for a time but fresh slides started with recent fears of a general election, and when the actual decision to dissolve parliament was announced further reaction occurred.

United States, continental and British financial institutions and private individuals started unloading British securities on the stock exchange, fearing possible effect on capital should a Labor government be installed.

The proceeds of these sales were invested in dollar securities which depressed sterling rate still further.

Rather more than usual interest was displayed around the Bank of England to-day where financiers eagerly awaited the result of meeting of the board of directors regarding the bank rate, which however remained unchanged.

YESTERDAY'S BAD BREAK MAY NOT DESTROY HOPE

PARIS, Nov. 15. — (Canadian Press.)— Negotiations between the French occupation authorities and the Hugo Stinnes group of German industrialists for re-opening the Ruhr mines may be resumed despite yesterday's bad break, despatches from Dusseldorf said to-day.

It was said in authorittaive circles that the Germans might accept the ultimatum demanding that they agree to pay 20 per cent. of the coal output for reparations besides a coal tax of ten francs per ton.

PREMIERS VOICED THEIR FAREWELLS

Dinner in House of Lords Ended Session—Met on Terms of Equality to Stabilize Government.

LONDON, Nov. 14.— (Canadian Press.) — The Dominion Premiers who have been attending the sessions of the Imperial Conference, last night made their farewell speeches. The occasion was a dinner given in the Royal Gallery of the House of Lords by the United Kingdom branch of the Empire Parliamentary Association .Premier Baldwin, who presided, created a laugh when he expressed pleasure at being able "to leave the perturbed waters of domestic politics to breathe this amber air for a time."

Premier Baldwin declared that in the Imperial Conference all the representatives had met together on terms of perfect equality. He spoke of the great advance in the status of the Dominions during the last 25 years and asked what might have been the effect on history had the Imperial Conference existed in the days of Lord North, George Washington and Benjamin Franklin.

Empire Development.

The goal of the conference had been the maximum of self development of the different parts of the empire with the maximum of co-operation for the whole. For the first time, in addition to the Imperial Conference, an economic conference had met to devise means of making co-operation more effective.

Premiers King, Bruce and Warren, who replied— Premiers Smuts and Massey not being able to attend —were all warm in their expression of thanks for courtesies extended.

Mr. King stressed the development of the Empire as a community of free nations. The conference had, he said, given an opportunity for full discussion and better understanding of each other's position.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH HONORS W. H. BARRY

Departure of Popular Peoples' Warden Marked With Expressions of Regret.

A special vestry meeting was called at All Saints' Church last evening, for the purpose of accepting the resignation of the People's Warden, W. H. Barry, who leaves the city for Los Angeles this month, of presenting Mr. Barry with a testimonial of the church's recognition of his long and faithful service, and of appointing a successor to the vacant office.

The expressions of regret over Mr Barry's resignation and removal from the city were unanimous and heartfelt.

Mr Grobb, in an eloquent speech, reviewed the church activities of Mr. Barry, and his generous contributions of time and service in the church's work, as an architect, when his services were always contributed gratis to a good cause, in an advisory capacity, and as a musician.

The appreciation of Mr. Barry as a man and as a loyal church worker was echoed by many of those present, and was accompanied by the gift of a silver tea service from the rector and congregation, the presentation made by Rev. Mr. Grobb, with an address read by Mr. George Chandler.

Mr. Barry replied in appropriate terms.

The financial report of the church, up to 4th November, given by Mr. Barry, was audited and found correct in every detail.

The election of a successor as People's Warden was made, resulting in the unanimous appointment of R. J. Bolton to the office for the balance of the year.

Ray Bould was appointed vestry clerk.

The evening came to a conclusion with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

"W. H. Barry.

"Dear sir,—It is with profound regret that we hear of your intention to leave Peterborough, to find fortune and happiness in pastures new. We feel that your going away will be a distinct loss to our city and indeed the community radiating from our midst will bear a share of the loss sustained. However, it is certain that no community, lodge, or organisation of any description will be as great a sufferer as the Anglican Church in the Parish of All Saints.

"We know, sir, that no words can in the smallest degree adequately express our feelings at the thought of parting. You have been a tower of strength to our church during the your three years of office as People's Warden. No duty has been too hard or too much trouble or took too much of your time. You have been the David Lloyd-George of All Saints' Church, always optimistic, although at times the clouds were very black. You will be sadly missed in all departments of the church, including the Sunday School, where you played an important part as teacher of a young men's class. You will be missed in the musical activities of the church, where you were always ready at the piano or the choir, on festive occasions In fact, the name of William Barry is cut very deep in the history of All Saints' Church, and we want you to know, sir, how we appreciate your efforts to hold our church together.

"To your good wife and family, we extend the sincere wish that your removal from our mi[d]st ttle prove in every way all tha[t] y for, and indeed, we wish for a double portion.

"We feel ,sir, that we [d]o you go without in some pressing our regrets, and the you to accept this very sma[ll] keep of our appreciation, just as ped recollection of many happy spent together, trying to furt[h]ve great interests of Christ an Church."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

POUCHER PELICAN'S LESSON

The next minute the Twins saw Poucher swimming toward shore.

Missez Pelican was a queer bird. She was queer as to looks and queer as to appetite and queer as to habits—so being queer in three things, you might say she was queer all over.

She wasn't a bit handsome. She had a beak long enough for three birds and she carried her market basket on her chin.

She lived on the edge of the ocean in Dixie Land with six of her children and had a pretty good time fishing and feeding her family and seeing that they all grew up into good smart little pelicans.

So now you know all about her.

Nancy and Nick happened along when she was giving her son, Poucher Pelican, a lesson in fishing, so they sat down on a rock to watch and listen.

"Do it this way, Poucher," said Missez Pelican. "You paddle out on the water a little way and then stop stony still. Keep as quiet as you know how and when a fish comes near, make a grab and tuck him away in your chin. When you get two or three fish you can swim to shore and take your time while you dine. You are not so likely to get indigestion as you would if you bolted your food."

"All right, Mammy," said Poucher waddling off to the edge of the water and floating away as lightly as a cork. With a few shoves of his queer paddle feet, he was away out where it was deep, and then remembering his mother's words, he stopped stony still.

Suddenly the Twins saw a fish come to the top of the water on a big wave. It had a long, pointed nose and its fins stuck up like sails. That's what its name was, a sail-fish, and it was as long as a bath-tub.

"Goodness!" gasped Nancy.

"Jiminy Christmas!" said Nick.

They were just about to make use of their magic shoes and save poor Poucher's life, when evidently Mister Sailfish decided he didn't want pelican that day for his lunch and swam out to sea.

The next minute the Twins saw Poucher swimming toward shore as fast as his paddle feet could push him. He had a worried look on his face.

"Say, Mammy," he called, "you didn't tell me what to do when the fish is too big to tuck away in my chin!"

"Why you just eat it then and there," she answered. "You don't mean to tell me you let a perfectly good dinner get away."

"Well," the Twins heard Poucher say thoughtfully, "somebody's dinner got away. But I think it was the fish's."

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

CONTENTMENT

Keeping away from fret and worry is a great aid to health and physical condition. The person who frets and fumes over imaginary ills from imaginary causes will not have the buoyancy of spirit that should walk with him every day on the way to health and long life.

You may become a nervous wreck through causes that are easy to diagnose but difficult of treatment by any physician. Mental disturbances, such as fret, worry and pretense which bring on nervousness, have a direct and serious effect on digestion and health. They go hand in hand with indigestion, stomach disorders, headache, sluggish liver and diabetes. In fact, one may speak of worry as a short cuircit of nerves to the brain. It burns out the vital tissues and gives no return for energy wasted.

This worry and nervous fidgeting about fear, envy, excitement or hate must be put aside by your own power of self-control and determination. To bask in the sunshine of contentment is a mental and physical condition well worth while and one that all should try to cultivate.

The trouble seems to be in making up your mind. When you have done this in regard to any task that seems to have been set for you, you can lie down to sleep and pleasant dreams, as the sailor does even in a storm.

The mind cure is all right in one sense at least. If more people would train their minds to endure the tasks set for them success would be theirs without worry or envy.

A CHILDRENS BOOK WEEK AT LIBRARY

A Special Week Set Aside for the Benefit of Juvenile Readers.

This week has been set aside by the Library authorities in the U. S. and Canada in order to draw the attention of the public to books for young readers. So, from the 11th to the 17th of this month, libraries, schools, stores and homes are asked to think especially about what books mean to children; what they can do for the boys and girls; what are the books that they should read and what are the ones that are less desirable.

During this week special attention will be given to this department in our public library:

The following list represents some of the titles of value which we would recommend to the notice of those who use this department:

DUNCAN NORMAN—"Adventures of Billy Topsail." Tells the everyday life of a boy living on the Labrador coast, his encounters with stormy seas and icebergs, and whales and other creatures of the deep.

Fraser, W. A. — "Mooswa" and others of the boundries: stories of Mooswa, the Moose, Muskwa the bear, who lived in the forests of North- Western Canada.

KIRBY, WM.—"The Golden Dog." A romance of old Quebec. Describes every class of citizen that was known in the seventeenth century.

LOCKE, GEO. H.—"When Canada was New France." Takes in the story of the sailing of Jacques Cartier from the French seaport of St. Malo and carries it down to the capture of Quebec by Wolfe.

LONG, MORDEN H.—"Knights Errant of the Wilderness." Tells of the heroic deeds which underlie the history of the North-west, such as the adventures of Hudson, Radisson, Hearne, Mackenzie and many others.

ROBERTS, C. G. D.—"Wisdom of the Wilderness." Latest animal tales by Mr. Roberts.

SAXE, MARY S.—"Our Little Quebec Cousin." Introduces little Disette Trem blant to cousins of her own and other lands and sets forth in a real manner the life of French Canada.

TRAILL, CATHERINE P.—"Lost in the Backwoods." Originally published under the title of "The Canadian Crusoes." The author writes from her own experience of the hardships and adventures of Canadian pioneer life.

WALLACE, FREDK. W.—"Blue Water." Tale of the deep-sea fishermen of today, vividly told by one who has lived with them.

WALLACE, W. S.—Series of stories illustrating the history of Canadian exploration.

DELUGE OF NOVELS FROM UNIVERSITY.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 15.—(United Press)—At least twenty students at the University of Missouri here are working on novels, and a hundred more are outlining plans, The Evening Missourian, student and city newspaper, declares.

Most of the novels are highly idealistic, the newspaper avers, as the young writers are reading Machen and Van Vechten in an effort to obtain that feeling of languor so atmospheric—oh, you know, atmospheric!

One freshman, however, boldly says he came to the university to learn to write a red-blooded book "like Rex Beach does."

The upperclassmen are just as susceptible to the authorship microbe, however. Every now and then, it is said, some senior indiscreetly reads part of his manuscript to a gathering and then he realizes what a mistake he has made.

The publishers have been notified of the coming deluge.

The average span of life has lengthened more than four years since 1910.

TOMMY LONGHRAN WON OVER MOORE ON POINTS

BOSTON Mass. MILLINER HELPER GETS IN OPERA CO.

Long Years Filled With Despair, Ambition and Hard Work Intervened.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.—Grand opera plots have nothing on the true life story of Elda Vettori, who is singing way to fame and fortune with the San Carlo Opera Company.

Elda did not step from an easy chair to the stage. Long years filled with despair, ambition and hard work intervened. It was worth while—Elda Vettori today is being hailed as a successor to the renowned Fremstad.

Elda was 8 when the family came to America from Venice.

The family fortune had dwindled. Then Pietro Vettori, the father, died and the two eldest children became the family providers. Elda became a milliner's helper and her sister, Marina, a tailor's apprentice.

Suddenly it dawned on the family that Elda was gifted with a voice. Yet vocal training costs much. Sister Marina, like a fairy godmother, dispensed with her few pleasures and turned every cent she earned over to Elda in order that the voice might some day be heard.

Forsaking a milliner's career, Elda caught on with a local comic opera troupe. She studied grand opera.

One night the San Carlo company arrived in St. Louis. Cavalleria Rusticana" was to be the production, but the principal, who was to play Santuzza, was ill.

This was Elda's opportunity. She made good.

Elda went to New York to continue her operatic studies. Sister Marina and, through her work as designer, supplied the necessary funds for the vocal education.

When the San Carlo company made its debut in New York the role of Santuzza was enacted by Mme. Vettori.

Back in St. Louis an anxious mother fingered a telegram bringing the first news of her daughter's success.

PARROT PINCHES SOME PLUNDERERS

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Nov. 15.—Robbery will out!—

Providing you have a macaw like Mac around the place.

Because of his unwitting, feathered sagacity, two desperate thugs were foiled in attempt to rob the Model Laundry's safe here.

It was none other than Mac who brought them to grief.

Hearing a disturbance in the front office he shouted out:

"Hello, there!"

And the would-be spoilers fled—

Into the arms of the passing sheriff.

Being bold crooks and proud of themselves they tried to alibi their luck by saying they wouldn't have been caught had the "night watchman" been off his guard, as they anticipated.

When told only Mac the macaw had lodged them in jail they were shamefaced.

But his warning saved the laundry several thousand dollars.

Hence Mac no longer will have to worry about crackers and cuttle bone so long as he lives.

KINGSTON DROPPED BY THE CENTRAL LEAGUE

Leaside and Bowmanville Out and Port Hope Doubtful — March 1st Residence Rule Adopted

M. P. Duff, President.

LINDSAY, Nov. 15.—(Canadian Press)—The annual meeting of the Central Ontario Baseball League was held here yesterday when the following teams were entered: Belleville, Kingston, Cobourg, Peterboro, Oshawa and Lindsay.

Leaside, Bowmanville and Port Hope were not represented but it is felt that Port Hope will enter provided the residence rule is made March 1 and Kingston is dropped.

By an executive vote it was decided to drop Kingston, it being felt that the Limestones should group with Ottawa, Brockville and Smith's Falls.

President Dedman in relinquishing office urged the league to stand for amateur sport and pelted the O.B.A.A. for failing to "house clean" last season.

Promote Juniors.

The league placed itself on record as willing to promote junior baseball.

A letter of condolence will be sent to the family of the late George Peacock, late manager of the Leaside club, who was a valuable member of the executive. Letters of appreciation will be sent to Bowmanville club and to Mr. George Patterson of that club for "carrying on" in such a sportsmanlike manner, and also regretting the club's withdrawal.

Letters of regret will also be sent to Kingston and Leaside clubs, now out of the league. President Dedman stated that no team in the league (unless Belleville) could afford to spend two and three days travelling backwards and forwards to Kingston and be amateur, and that the O.B.A.A. should recognize the fact.

Double Schedule.

A double schedule was adopted and should Port Hope remain out a triple schedule will be adopted. A registration committee for certificates was appointed and the date of the spring meeting set for Port Hope early in March.

It was decided to stand for March first residence rule. Secretary Nott of Oshawa and Mr. Ford Moynes of Lindsay were appointed delegates to the annual meeting of the O.B.A.A. to urge the adoption of this new residence rule. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

Hon. Presi., the Mayor of each town in the league.

Past President—M. J. Dedman, Lindsay.

President—M. P. Duff, Belleville.

1st Vice Pres. J. J. Solomon, Peterboro.

2nd Vice President —Ford W. Moynes, Lindsay.

3rd Vice President—Charles S. Anderson, Oshawa.

Secy.-Treas.—J. Nott, Oshawa.

Executive—Lindsay, Alderman R. I. Moore; Belleville, R. D. Adams; Port Hope, Not appointed; Peterboro, F. Convery; Cobourg, T. J. Turpin; Oshawa, Not appointed.

Regarding umpires, a bone of contention in 1923 it was decided to get the terms from outside umpires, preferably in Toronto and Kingston.

It may develop that the Chicago man who posed as Judge Landis simply didn't have the price of a hair cut.

PARKDALE'S BAD STEP.

Hamilton Critic Says Paddlers Have Lost a Host of Friends.

Hamilton Spectator—For many years the Parkdale Canoe Club, of Toronto, occupied a very enviable position in amateur circles. The club was always credited with being one of the best organizations in the country, where true sportsmanship was fostered in spite of very trying adverses, including the burning down of the magnificent clubhouse at Sunnyside, not once, but several times. The Parkdale officials have no excuse for their action in attempting to use Connacher. It is true that their team had been weakened by injuries and was facing opposition such as it has not had to meet in some years, with the result that it looked as if the championship was going to some other club. It is also equally true that the loss of this championship involved the loss of much money in being deprived of the opportunity to share in the gate receipts of the Canadian championship finals. Desperate, the club tried everything, and in that desperation even the rules were forgotten.

RICKARD MATCHES GREB AND TUNNEY.

Third Bout in Two Years Between These Fighters.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Negotiations for a 15-round matcff between Gene Turney and Harry Greb, respective holders of the United States' light heavyweight and world's middle-weight titles, at Madison Square Garden, December 10, were completed to-day by Tex Rickard, Tunney's title will be the only one at stake.

The match was arranged to replace the contest previously scheduled on that date between Tunney and Mike McTigue, holder of the world's 175 pound crown.

McTigue, who declared that his manager, Joe Jacobs, signed for the match without his approval, withdrew because of his claim that he had not recovered from an injury he sustained to his left hand prior to his recent fight with Young Stribling at Columbus, Ga.,

The Greb-Tunney fight will be the third bttween this pair in less than two years. Greb won the 175-pound title from his New York rival in May, 1922, but Tunney regained it in their second meeting last February. Both bouts went the limit.

DREAM ON, CHARLEY.

The world has been full of surprises for Charley White. Once he was all but matched with Benny Leonard for a title bout, took on Johnny Dundee as a work out, lost the decision, also the championship bout. Now after working back to the position of contender, Pal Moran comes along and knocks him out. Dream on, Charley.

WISE COMISKEY.

Three veteran players on the Chicago White Sox were in line for the managerial berth made vacant by the passing of Kid Gleason. Eddie Collins, Ray Schalk and Harry Hooper are the players in question. All have ability. In order to do away with any bad feeling, Comiskey probably thought it best to appoint an outsider, rather than select one of the trio.

HARRY COOPER

DALLAS, Nov. 15.—It is not likely that the nigh-voltage golf pros from the east—the Hagens, the Sarazens and the Kirkwoods—who annually tour the south and the southwest in the winter, chasing elusive cash prizes, will have everything their own way way when the season opens.

Standing out as a defensive bulwark is one Harry Cooper, 19-year-old son of a local professional, called by experts the most promising young professional that has come to golf since the initial appearance of Sarazen, who became the nations' champion at 21.

Cooper, built somewhat like Sarazen, and a player after the little Italian's style—a free, fierce hitter off the tee and a bold player to the green—has been breaking course records in countless number all year.

Over the long, difficult Brook Hollow Club course young Cooper shot a 72 the first time he saw it. His 69 stood for a long time as the best ever made at Cedar Crest. His 35 over the nine-hole Sherman course has never been beaten. Over a course of similar length at Waxahachie he scored an amazing 32. At Longview, a tricky nine-holer, he registered a 34. His 66 over the Dallas municipal course continues to defty the best efforts of some of the game's finest golfers.

Cooper was the Lone Star state's entry in the professional match play championship at Pelham Bay this fall. Cooper broke par for the course by tow strokes, advanced to the second round, and bowed to the fine golf of Cyril Walker after a tumultuous tussle. These performances are sufficient to show that the youngster is a genuine comer.

Cooper, playing the game since a mere tot, has had the benefit of sound and expert instruction from his dad, Syd Cooper, a golfing product of the old country. The senior Cooper was somewhat of a star himself in England.

"My boy Harry is much better than I ever was. I believe he will be a champion."

Saying which, the elder Cooper hastens to assure you that he speaks as a professional and not as a father.

CRACK CATCHER INSISTS ON BEING TRADED

"Trade me or I'm through", so says Mickey O'Neil, who is one of the best catchers in the National League even though he is a member of the Boston Braves.

A good catcher hasn't much of a chance with the misfit Braves. As a result, Mickey is disatisfied with his berth. He has threatened to quit unless traded elsewhere. As a matter of fact, O'Neil did turn in his uniform for a couple of weeks last season but was induced to return.

It is said that John McGraw of the Giants has designs on O'Neil. It is no secret that McGraw is dissasfied with his catching department. Snyder and Hank Gowdy, his two veteran backstops, have passed the peak of their game.

O'Neil, who is an agressive, scrappy player, would fit right into the McGraw machine. The leader of the Giants favors that style of player, particularly in a backstop. McGraw likes a catcher who is constantly talking to the opposing batters, as he believes it keeps them from concentrating and minimizes their effectiveness at the plate.

O'Neil, who lives in St. Louis, is said to be anxious to cast his lot with the Cardinals. The fact that St. Louis is his home and he has business interest there, causes him to favor Rickey to McGraw, even though by going to New York he would have a much better chance to cut into the world series.

With the passing of Ainsmith, Rickey is left with only Clemons as a veteran catcher and he is fast slipping. However, it looks like New York for O'Neil if McGraw still retains his pull with Boston.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE SHOWED WEAKNESS.

Sterling Dropped to New Low Level For the Year —Francs Broke.

New York, November 14. Canadian Press. — Extreme weakness characterized to-day's foreign exchange market, demand sterling falling to a new low for the year and French francs establishing a record low price for all time.

Sterling declined nearly four cents to $4.33 7-16, while French francs receded 16¼ points at one time to ar5.39½. Both these exchanges rallied weakly in the late afternoon.

Practically all the continentals and South American rates were unsettled by Sterling's heaviness, Holland receding 32 points to 37.51 cents and Italian lire falling off nearly 10 points to 4.26½ cents. Bankers were generally agreed that while there had been a steady stream of commercial bills that the British currency's continued and severe drop recently was due more to political reasons than commercial causes.

To-day's low quotation for sterling was a drop of about 15 cents in a week and approximately 40 cents from the year's high established in February.

Factors considered as contributing to the decline in sterling were summarized by bankers as follows:

Transfer of balances from London to New York; injection of fiscal policies into the coming British general elections; usual autumn imports of cotton, grain and other agricultural products into England; flow of credits to establish balances to meet payments of interest and principal on the British war debt; large volume of loans to foreign countries and dominions by London, and small demand for sterling by importers in New York.

INCREASE FINE IN 'PRO' HOCKEY

OTTAWA, November 14. — Canadian Press. — On the eve of the departure of the world's champions for the west, where they will engage in a series of exhibition matches, the Ottawa hockey association announced to-night that it had given notice of three important changes in the playing rules of the National League.

President Frank Ahearn and Secretary Tommy Gorman have collaborated in a move to put through several drastic amendments to the present regulations. They aim to eliminate rowdyism from professional hockey, having in view the regrettable incidents which marked their final game against the Canadians last March. The amendments are now in the hands of President Frank Calder and will be submitted to the postponed annual meeting of the National Hockey League, which is to be held in Ottawa on December 1st.

The most important of the Ottawa's clubs proposed amendments is to amend Section II., making it read as follows:

"A match foul shall consist of deliberately injuring or disabling an opponent. For this offence a player shall be fined not less than fifty dollars and ruled off for the balance of the match.

"Any player incurring one match foul shall automatically become suspended and shall not be permitted to play in any game until his case has been dealt with by the president who shall have full power to impose such punishment as he deems desirable

No Substitute.

"When a player has been ruled off for a minor, major or match foul, he shall not be replaced by a substitute. When a player incurs a match foul his team shall play without his services, and without the services of a substitute for the balance of the playing time of the said game."

Last year the fine for a match foul was fifteen dollars and a player was suspended until he had committed two such fouls. If the Ottawa amendment carries, any player who commits a match foul is automatically suspended and the league leaves his case in the hands of President Calder. In view of the fact that Manager Leo Dandurand of the Canadiens barred Cleghorn and Coutu after the play off last March the Ottawa Association will request the Canadien manager to second the foregoing motion.

Kicking Puck.

The Ottawa club will also move to have accidental puck kicking legalized in any area except close to the goal nets. This they believe would speed up the game immensely, a nd avoid unnecessary delays. They will likewise move to have the Pacific Coast Hockey League's substitute rule adopted by the National League They would allow for the substitution of fresh players at any time, so long as the player to be replaced is within an area, adjacent to the club benches.

The Ottawa executive is enthusiastic over the proposed changes and confidently expect that the Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal Clubs will support them in their move. As President Calder is known to be a strong advocate of clean hockey it is also expected that he will favor the changes.

LEO KID ROY DEFEATED WILSHUR SECOND TIME

MONTREAL November 15 (Can championship aspirations in the Canadian featherweight class were considerably enhanced here last night when he was awarded the judges' decision over Curly Wilshur of Toronto, at the end of a clever ten-round bout.

Roy had a distinct margin in the early round ,and while Wilshur had the advantage of two rounds halfway through the bout, the local boy finished the stronger.

By this victory Roy took the lead over Wilshur, having twice beaten the Toronto fighter in their three engagements.

BOARD OF WORKS

Alderman Crowe: "What would be the cost of the work?"

Alderman McIntyre thought the county should pay since it is their water.

Answering a question by the Mayor, Mr. Parsons said several cellars are flooded when the water flows from Bolivar street.

Alderman Morrison: "Monaghan will loan you the money if you haven't got it."

MORE MORE

Alderman Phelan — "Can we do the work and stay within the appropriation?"

Mr. Parsons—"I couldn't give you a straight answer to that. I don't know what the City Council will order later."

Alderman Stocker—"I don't think the injured parties can come on the city."

Alderman Morrison—"I think they can. The city is responsible for the water when it comes on their property."

Alderman Turner—"The Suburban Areas Commission has built a road and taken care of it, and they don't care a hoot if the water follows the natural shed east on to the city's property. If the city wants to protect its property it is up to it to do the work."

Moved by Aldermen Morrison and Turner that the culvert be constructed at once.

On motion of Aldermen Crowe and Maher, a sewer will be constructed on the boundary from Homewood Avenue to 45 feet south to serve a new bungalow built by Mr. Hamilton.

Cut Down Expenses.

Alderman Crowe Suggested that Mr. Lightell, employed by the city as boss, should be let go and his place filled by Cox.

Mr. Parsons failed to appreciate the difference this would make in the Board's appropriation since Lightell is not paid from that source. The subject was dropped without going to a motion.

Complaints were received from 106 Murray Street that water flowing down the hill enters the cellar and does other damage. A communication from G. N. Gordon, K.C., informed the Board that unless this state is repaired before December 1, he is instructed to proceed by injunction. Instructions were given to have the gutter cleaned out, but the Board could not go farther than that. The property at this point, it was said, is 18 inches lower than the sidewalk.

On motion of Alderman Crowe and the Mayor, the City Engineer was asked to instruct the contractor at St. Andrew's Sunday School to clean the mud off the sidewalk on Reid and Brock Streets.

There were present last night the Mayor, Chairman Alderman Walter Stocker and Aldermen Phelan, Maher, Crowe, Fife, Morrison, McIntyre, Holloway and Turner.

KING TUT MUMMY TO BE EXAMINED

The mummy of old King Tut will be examined with the X-ray to find out how old he was when he died, also to check up the number of years since the Egyptian undertakers dried him for morbidly curious later generations.

Thus the ancient past makes contact with the fantastic super-science of our generation. Rarely we ind such a contrast of the old and new.

The X-ray, most uncanny of man's inventions, existed in nature long before King Tut, but it was not discovered until a matter of thousands of years later. So, also, existing in nature are super-devices which will be discovered by our descendants and will be to the X-ray as the X-ray is to King Tut's mummy.

Man creates nothing. He merely discovers what already exists and adopts in various forms to fit his needs.

MANY VOTES RECEIVED IN CAPITOL STAR CONTEST

The popular star contest now being held by the Capitol Theatre to determine which screen star has the most admirers in Peterboro has made a great hit with Capitol patrons and votes are coming in thick and fast. The results for the first three days are as follows: Norma Talmadge, 301; Rudolph Valentino, 277; Gloria Swanson, 268; Eugene O'Brien, 266; Thomas Meighan, 254; Ethel Terry, 233; Bebe Daniels, 166. Many other stars received smaller totals too numerous to mention. The Capitol agrees to bring the winning star in his or her latest production for three days starting Monday, November 26th. The next standings will be announced on Monday night.

THRILLING STORY OF MISSISSIPPI GAMBLER FEATURE AT CAPITOL

Banjos strumming on the lower deck of a Mississippi river stern wheeler, paddling down from Cairo to New Orleans like a great, hunchbacked turtle; a yellow moon over the clay banks casting weird reflections in the oily water. Night birds calling on the banks.

In the cabin beneath swinging oil lamps, shadows playing on faces made sallow by the sickly light, white men at a table playing cards. Few words are spoken. Money talks. The players are coatless and each one wears a holster at his hip, from which protrudes the heavy butt of a revolver.

That, without details, is the basis of the story of "Cameo" Kirby, the William Fox production playing at the Capitol today, Friday and Saturday. It was adapted from the stage success by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson.

AT THE ROYAL.

TOM MIX AND TONY, BUDDY MESSENGER AND ART ACORD AT ROYAL TO-NIGHT

Every Tom Mix picture provides at least one new and distinct thrill for the entertainment and amusement of movie fans. The resourceful and ever original "stunt-artist" of the screen never fails his admirers who can always expect a breezy thrilling screen film narrative. Without any exceptions the stunt performed by Tom Mix in his latest William Fox picture, "3 Jumps Ahead," which is now at the Royal Theatre, are the most daring ever attempted before the camera.

In this latest story of the Western plains, Mix mounted, leaps a canyon twenty feet wide and ninety feet deep, undoubtedly the longest and most daring leap ever performed by a screen star.

In the picture which is built around a band of cattle rustlers, Mix is pursuing a stage coach in which the leader of the band is riding. To throw off pursuit the rustler has a bridge over a deep canyon destroyed after the coach has passed over safely. Mix rides up to the canyon and, after taking a short run back for a good start, successfully forces his horse over the chasm and continues the chase.

This scene, which flashes on the screen for but a few minutes, had to be carefully planned because of a former experience Tom Mix had with his favorite mount. During a personal appearance tour of New York City last year "Tony" suffered a bad fall in the Fox Audubon Theatre. A runaway had been built from the stage to the center aisle and Mix rode swiftly down the aisle and guided "Tony" up the plank runway. But the horse's feet slipped and the animal slid across the "apron" of the stage. While no injuries were caused by the fall, "Tony" was very nervous during the time he remained in the theatre.

Mix, who never has used a double, has thrilled motion picture fans in previous pictures by jumping from a horse to a fast moving train; riding down steep mountain sides; leaping from a bridge to the river below with his horse; jumping from one roof to another and then crashing through two stories to the basement; and in his last picture Mix jumped his horse into a moving freight car.

AT THE REGENT.

RUSSELL PICTURE HAS ACTION AND ROMANCE

The Regent Theatre to-night begins a 3-days run of "Man's Size," a Fox production starring William Russell. Those who read the novel of the same name written by William McLeod Raine found in it a dramatic strength a clash of mental and physical forces and a warm appeal created by the love theme. All these interests have been heightened in the screen drama by the rushing pounding action which has been so convincingly reproduced through the camera lens. The photography adds an artistic setting for the narrative, which holds its interest to the last.

William Russell, broad, smiling, glowing with life has a most fitting vehicle. He does not overact, yet at all times he is sufficient for the requirements of his part which he carries off with a strong sweep of confidence. The others in the cast are well chosen for their work. The feminine lead has been entrusted to Alma Bennett who gives a finely shaded portrayal of character. The scenes are laid in the Canadian Rockies and the well chosen settings are strikingly effective.

R. MACDONALD SAID LEVY PLAN NOT DROPPED

Labor Party Still Favors Adoption of Plan for Debt Reduction.

LONDON, Nov. 15. — (Canadian Press).—The report in circulation last night that the capital levy plan had been dropped from the programme of the Labor party was denied to-day by Ramsay Macdonald, the party's leader in the House of Commons, in the course of an interview.

"We stand in relation to the capital levy precisely where we stood at the last election," Mr. Macdonald said. "The Labor party believes it should be put in to operation once, and once only, for the direct purpose of debt reduction. It is a thing, which could not be repeated, and we have never advocated it for meeting current expenses.

"As we have always said," he continued, "it would not be levied by us until the most expert advice regarding the methods to be adopted had been received and considered, but we have not dropped it. There is no change in our attitude regarding it."

THE GRAIN BUYERS GET SATISFACTION

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 14. — (Canadian Press.)—Before the close of navigation enough of the western grain crop will have been moved to the head of the lakes completely to satisfy the buyers and growers.

Such is the confident opinion of John J. Scully, general manager of Canadian Pacific Railway, who passed through Toronto last night and who has been closely in touch with transportation situation arising out of this year's bumper crop ,and who has had many years of active railway experience in western Canada.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruption such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

JAZZ IS GOOD FOR THE BACK

Straightens the Back and Brings Beauty, Says Authority.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Get out that saxaphone trio and start the phonograph.

Now, then. Out on the floor. Heads up. Click your heels, snap your fingers, shake your shoulders.

Whee! Just hear that syncopation! Can't you feel your shoulders straining? It's in the tune. It's the rythm. It's got you going.

When will that record stop? Now—it's over. Ah!

At last you sit down. Do you feel any strain in your back? More erect? More pliant?

Well, you should. Because that's exactly what jazz does—straighten and beautify our backs.

And this on the authority of none but the peer of them all, Paul Whiteman, jazz orchestra leader de luxe.

It's jazz, says Paul, that will produce a race of Kitty Gordons of the next generation. For shaking a wicked shoulder is the best beauty exercise in the world.

Like Rubbing!

Get out that piccolo and saxaphone duet and start the phonograph while Whiteman explains.

"I honestly believe the scrawny back was ushered out by the jazz dance," says Paul.

"The symmetrical backs of today are the result of rhythmic development of the muscles caused by dancing to syncopated music. The vibrations from jazz call forth a response in the upper nerve centers and muscles of the back that are more beneficial to health and beauty than massage or any artificial stimulation."

Debutantes and actresses of a generation from now, whose only claim to beauty is shapely shoulders, will be lost in the shuffle, he thinks.

"Because they'll all be Junos," he prophesies, "with well-rounded, well-knit, superb backs, when the drooping debutante slouch and the kangaroo walk of other days will not have left their imprint on the spine."

We Lead.

And that is why American backs are more beautiful than those of Europeans, he decides. That duet over? Put on another. Let's go.

"I watched the royalty and nobility of the world at the Grafton Galleries in London," Whiteman goes on, "and I could tell at a glance the Americans who were used to American dancing just by the well molded backs of the jazzers.

"Here in America you see what jazz has done for the American woman's beauty.

"I know of no parallel in history where any one exercise has improved the appearance of a whole nation as jazz dancing has."

Oh. boy, hear that oboe!

STEAM PLANT IS PROPOSED

Sir Adam Beck's Generating Scheme Approved by Premier Ferguson

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—(Canadian Press). — Stating that he had not gone into definite details as to the type of construction, cost, etc., Premier Ferguson this morning again intimated that he was inclined to favor the project of Sir Adam Beck in building a steam generation plant for power as a reserve source of supply.

Some time ago Sir Adam announced that he had the erection of such a plant in mind, although he was unable to state any definite location. Yesterday, addressing the Municipal Electric Association, he said the plant might be built in Toronto at a cost of eight to nine million dollars. The steam plant would be expected to generate between 100,000 and 300,000 horse-power.

COUNCIL SITS TIGHT

Alderman Maher enquired why all the policemen except the Chief were paid and was told by Alderman Phelan that the Chief's pay amounted to $103, and there was only $28 available so the cheque was held back.

Alderman Holloway:—"Why not pay him the $28 "

Alderman Turner:—"Then you would have less than $100 and could not appeal the case."

Mayor Taylor, reverting to the possibility of the Police Force laying down arms declared "We musa have protection."

Alderman Phelan:—"The relations between the Commission and the Council have not been right from the start. We sign the cheques for each member of the Police Force. If the Council allowed say $24,000 for the police for a year we should give a monthly cheque for the amount due and let the Commission issue the individual cheques. Let them open a bank account like the Charity Board, the School Board and the Separate School Board."

Alderman Fife: "Suppose your system were put into force, and at the end of ten months they had an overdraft, we would be in the same position as we are now."

Alderman Phelan—"If the unexpected happened and they had unknown expenses to meet we might favor paying them, but in this case they have simply been working on their own figures instead of ours and that is what caused the trouble. The only concession they made was a few months ago when George Grange was dropped, and, I understand, not replaced. If they had dropped two men when the Mayor asked them they would probably have kept within our figures. We chopped $5,000 off the Board of Works and more off the Parks and pared generally and we kept within our figures As a result everyone got a slight reduction in taxes. That is what we are working towards."

Alderman Phelan: To-morrow we will simply refuse to pay the accounts which the Commission passed to-day.

Aldrman Morrison: We will find out who is right. What we want to clear up is, are they running the town or the Council? I don't feel like having a suit, but I want to clean up the job. I say if there is any front in Toronto where we can get a decision, let us go there and get it cleared up.

Not Another Nickel.

Alderman Phelan: We struck the appropriation this year and advised the Commission that there was $25,000 at its disposal, and said distinctly that was all ,and told them at that time what we were going to do. They went ahead and ran the Department at the figures they had laid down. I say it is up to us not to pay another nickel out to them, and the onus of proof is on the Commission.

Alderman Holloway referred to the ruling of the Attorney-General's Department that Council has the power to control accounts of the Police Commission.

Alderman Maher said the Commission ighored the Mayor, the representative of the people.

Alderman Phelan concurred, saying the Mayor moved in the Commission that expenses be curtailed, but the Commission took no notice.

Alderman Maher: "Would it not be a gracious act if the Commission and the police resigned and called a public meeting for the people to say what they want?"

Alderman Turner: "Who would police that meeting?"

No decision was arrived at by the deliberations except that of standing on the line to which Council had advanced. It was announced that after paying the Police Department pay cheques to-day there would be $28.52 remaining of the appropriation of $25,000 sanctioned by Council.

"There are three more pays to take care of," Alderman Phelan said, adding: "As far as I am concerned I am not going to pay any more. It is illegal to spend more than the appropriation."

CHURCH CARD PARTY WAS SUCCESSFUL EVENT

The card party held in the basement of the Sacred Heart church last evening was well attended, thirty-six tables being filled. St. Anthony's Sewing Circle had charge of arrangements. Prizes were won by Mrs. F. Kearney and Mr. W. Prindible.

WEDDING BELLS

WOOD—EATON

A quiet wedding took place at St. Andrew's church at three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. November, 14th., when Miss Margaret May, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Eaton of 439 Park street, was united in marriage to Arthur D. Wood son of Mrs. Wood and the late James Wood. Rev. James Rollins, pastor of the church officiated The bride was attended by Miss H. Henry of this city and Dr. S. Walsh of Keene was the groomsman. Mr. John Crane played the wedding march and during the signing of the register Mrs. Ford Turner, sang very sweetly. The numerous and costly gifts showed the esteem in which the young people are held. The young couple left on the afternoon train amid showers of confetti and the best wishes of their many friends. They will reside in Peterboro.

OBITUARY

The death took place last evening at the family residence, 664 George Street, of Mrs. Ellen Eakins.

The death occurred last night of Mrs .Ellen Aikens, widow of James Aikens, who predeceasd her in 1905.

She was a daughter of the late B. C. Wright, and was born in Newcastle-on-Tyne.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. Robert Pogue will conduct the services.

JOHN C. SHERRY.

The death occurred on Wednesday, November 14th of the late John Sherry of Seattle, Washington, son of George J. Sherry, of this city.

He was a graduate of the Norwood high school,Toronto University and Osgoode Hall. He practised at Edmonton. For two years he was captain of the Varsity hockey team.

Besides his sorrowing wife, Helen Gillies, daughter of the late George Gillies of Toronto, he leaves to mourn his loss two sisters, Mrs. Geo Ling, Saskatoon, and Mrs. Percy Bond, Peterboro, one brother, Geo., of Saskatoon.

Society

Miss Jessie French, of Toronto, spent Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. French, 491 Murray Street.

Mr. B. Gardner returned home to Toronto yesterday after a short vacation in the city.

Mr. George James Sherry left for Edmonton last evening to attend the funeral of his son, Jack, who died at Seattle, Washington after a short illness.

The second of the series of afternoon teas which will be held during the season under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. A. Hodgson, Rubidge St. and proved to be a very successful and well attended event. From four to seven o'clock the big rooms were filled with crowds of ladies, who were entertained with a pleasant musical programme and an abundance of dainty refreshments. The guests were received by Mrs. Hodgson and Mrs. D. O. LeGendre, president of the League, assisted by ladies of the executive, Mrs. E. H. Hickey, Mrs. F. J. McFadden, Mrs. B. Law, Mrs. C. Snyder. Mrs. F. Shannon showed the ladies into the tea room where the pretty table, charmingly arranged with red, white and yellow 'mums and rose and white candles in silver candelabra, was presided over by Mrs. N. E. Phelan. Assistants in the tea room were Mrs. Chatterton of Pasadena, California, Mrs. (Dr.) Hayes, the Misses Briegel Teresa McNamara, Josie Conroy, Mamie Archambault and Geraldine Delaire. The musical programme included vocal numbers by Mrs. (Dr.) King, Mrs. J. Dwyer and Miss Molly Young and instrumental selections by the Misses Mary Lonergan and Teresa McNamara.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McNabb have returned to Ottawa after a two-weeks' visit at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Bolan, of 565 Gilmour Street, and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Sutherland motored to Trenton on the holiday.

Mrs. W. J. Geary and son Jack are visiting in Buffalo and Rochester, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie, their daughter, Mrs. Teague, and granddaughter, Minnie Roblin, of 87 Concord street, Ottawa, are visiting their granddaughter, Mrs. E. Glover, 182 Reid street, en route to California, where they will spend the winter months.

PEARLS ARE AGAIN POPULAR THIS YEAR

Deltah Pearls and Silverware combine to present a display window which delights the eye and tempts to close inspection. The showing in question is that of V. J. Tully, jeweller, 170 Charlotte Street, and the design is terrace in shape, each terrace containing its quota of the popular lines of Deltah Pearls, dominated in the background by select silver candle-sticks carrying candles of harmonizing tints. In this window one finds a combination of the antique and modern which holds and charms, especially the feminine beholder.

This is Deltah Pearl year, and the pearls here displayed sheen with quality and reflect exclusive value. They would make an imperishable gift for bride, debutante or friend.

LOWERED BARS BY NEW POLICY

Immigration Plan Means Admission of People of All Nations.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—The immigration policy will mean lowering of bars to admit to people of all nationalities able and willing to work with certain reservations as regards undesirables, Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of Immigration announced today following conference with Provincial delegates and transportation officials who are attending the immigration conference. It is understood that provincial delegates were generally favorable to plans enunciated by minister. Nationality of immigrants was not discussed.

Previous to the conference Hon. Mr. Robb asked transportation officials to consider reduction in steam ship fares, officials promised to give matter serious consideration. Minister also suggested that practice of ticketing immigrants through to particular provinces be not insisted upon in future.

J. B. NICHOLSON IS A BLIND INVENTOR.

Blind, Yet He Lights Way For Those Who Can See.

By Harry B. Hunt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Sightless himself he helps others to see.

For J. B. Nicholson blind inventor of Washington has perfected what many men with good eyesight have attempted and failed —a simple practicable automobile headlight that will always cast its rays in the direction the car is moving.

With Nicholson's invention, the light turns as the car turns. You never are driving into a dark wall, with your lights shooting at an angle of 30 degrees from the path in which you are moving.

"Equipped with these lights," Nicholson says, "the car looks where it's going and goes where it's looking. I believe they will reduce accidents materially and save many lives. They are a safeguard to pedestrians as well as to autoists."

Successful demonstration of the blind inventor's lighting mechanism has been made before Inspector Headley and officers of the police traffic squad here, before the police of Baltimore and a representative of ahe lighting committee of the Eastern Conference of Automobile Administrators representing 11 east ern states.

That a blind man should be the one to work out successfully a lighting problem on which men with good eyes themselves have failed seems one of the little ifonies which Fate.

Fate sametimes plays on us.

Nicholson not only conceived the idea, but he actually made the first detailed drawings of his invention "It was all easy," he, says, "I had it all right up in front of me, in my imagination like it was on a blackboard. I could see every detail of it—in my mind's eye. Of course in making the drawings I had to work on a large scale in inches, but that was easy. By measuring my distances from the edge of the paper I could get it all down accurately. The man who made the working drawings said it was the easiest sketch to work from he ever had."

Before losing his eyesight, Nicholson was an expert mechanic at the Washington navy yard. His blindness, he says has accentuated his inventive bent without seriously handicapping him in working out his ideas.

"The blindness doesn't bother me,' he insists. "I can picture to myself just how everything ought to be just as well as if I could see it."

Nicholson is now working on an "exhaust purifier" which he claims will neutralize the poisonous content of the fumes now thrown off by automobile engines.

GERMANS WORK AT LOWLY JOBS TO ADD INCOME

BOOTLEG COAL.

LEIPZIG, Nov. 15.—(Associated Press)—This is a time of by-professions in Germany. Doctors, lawyers, teachers, professors, scientists, dentists, preachers, government employees and actors who still cling to their old callings are, for the most part, doing something else in their free time to piece out their incomes.

Stock brokerage and money-changing are popular sidelines for professional folk. All sorts of securities are in great demand among persons who wish to get rid of their marks as soon as possible, with the result that there is a flourishing business for bond and securities agents, who conduct their business in a more or less secret way.

Everybody is dodging taxes, consequently there is a great desire among persons with funds to conceal their wealth.

Many professional men have also become agents for coal dealers. There are many restrictions on the sale of fuel. Consequently it is bootlegged, much as foreign money is.

Manual labor is much better paid than many professions, with the result that men of excellent education are accepting positions as janitors and street cleaners. One Berlin lawyer who had a lucrative practice before the war is now running a dustcart, and is much happier than many of his associates in the practice of the law who are waiting in idleness for clients to visit them in unheated offices.

Waiters are hard-pressed in their work by students and unemployed men of excellent education who are willing to accept any sort of work, which will supply them with nourishing food and a warm place to sleep.

Hotel prices have soared so high that most of the larger hotels have been emptied and their patrons have sought private lodgings to the great delight of women who have large apartments and are glad to get roomers who will pay higher prices than persons who get rooms assigned to them through the housing committees.

WINNERS ENTER THE SEMI-FINALS

Peterboro Collegiate Play Kingston at Riverside Park Saturday.

The Peterboro Collegiate team will probably meet their most formidable opposition of the season when they clash at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon with Kingston Collegiate in a sudden death game in the interscholastic O.R.F.U. series The winner of this game will be champions of Eastern Ontario and will go into the semi-finals against one of the Toronto winners, either Oakwood or University of Toronto School. The Kingston Collegians are a big heavy team and should be well scienced as well, but the local students despite several casualties in the squad, have to pull off a victory over the Easterners. The largest crowd of the season should be in attendance to encourage the students who are under heavy expense in paying the travelling expenses of the visitors on Saturday. It is the first time in many years since Kingston and Peterboro have clashed on the football field and the game should be a snappy hard fought tussle between two fast young teams.

DISPUTE WITH COUNCIL WILL BE TEST CASE

Mr. R. R. Hall Outlines the Proceedings to Be Taken in Police Case.

SUIT IS ENTERED

In an interview with Mr. R. R. Hall, K.C., to-day, regarding the dispute between the City Council and the Police Commission, Mr. Hall, who represents the Commission, had the following to say:

"The dispute that has arisen between the Board of Commissioners of Police and the City Council, is now on a fair way to be settled by the Courts, by adopting inexpensive procedure in the Division Court, with the right to either party to appeal to the Court of Appeal for Ontario.

"The Board submitted to the Council a detailed statement of their estimates required for the year 1923 for the Police Department, and notified the City Council that $23,843 was absolutely required for proper administration, and to furnish protection to life and property; and the Council claimed the absolute right to cut down these estimates to $25,000, without naming any particular item in the estimates that was objected to.

"The total amount voted by the Council has now been spent and the Chief Constable's salary for two weeks, and his account for $25.00 paid for gasoline, repairs to motor car, new inner tube, and car rental in connection with the Mervin holdup, etc., remains unpaid. In fact the Council have flatly refused payment of this account, and suit has been to-day entered by the Chief Constable in the Division Court to enforce payment.

"This will be a test case and the result will no doubt be accepted in the future by all the cities in Ontario as an authority governing the right of City Councils to 'prune' the estimates of the Boards of Commissioners of Police.

"In the meantime and until the case is decided, there is no reason why the public should suffer or assume any risk or danger, and there is no reason to doubt that the City Council will see that the Police Force is paid for their work without prejudice to their rights in the case that is pending for decision by the Courts, or the protection of the City.

"It is highly important in the public interest that the responsibility for the mainenance of law and order should be placed on the shoulders of the proper parties.

"At the present time the Board of Commissioners of Police are held responsible to the public for the faithful performance of that vital and important duty.

"If the City Council have the right to 'prune' the police estimates, and to cripple the service to the advantage of thieves and robbers, then the responsibility for that state of affairs must rest squarely on the shoulders of the members of the City Council, and not on the Board. That is the dispute.

"This test case is an important one and its course in the Courts will be watched with wide interest," said Mr Hall.

Mr. R. R. Hall, K.C., is acting for the Chief Constable, and Mr. Joseph Wearing, City Solicitor, is acting for the city.

Hunter May Lose Sight of One Eye

LINDSAY, November 16 (Special to The Examiner). — Noble Young, of Union Creek, Galway Township, is in the Ross Memorial Hospital here as the result of an accident which he met with while hunting in the northern woods.

It seems he was engaged in hanging up a deer when a limb broke off the tree and struck him in the eye.

It is feared at the hospital that he may lose the sight of the eye.

DRAFT HORSES BREAK RECORD

Team Over 3,500 Pounds Pulled 32,000 Pounds — Driver Rattled Can of Pebbles.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. — The world's record for tractive power of draft horses was broken at the National Horse Show to-day when a team, in the class of those weighing more than 3,500 pounds, entered by a local manufacturing company, successfully started a load of 32,000 pounds. The previous record was for 30,000 pounds.

The test to-day was the third recorded by a dynometer, a pull-measuring device brought here especially for the purpose from the Iowa State College.

John Coffin, driver of the winning team, interested horsemen by never using a whip to urge on his horses. Instead he carried a tin can in which were a few pebbles. When he rattled the can the team pulled uniformly.

PRIVATE "MINT" DID GOOD WORK

Counterfeit Half Dollars in Montreal Almost Identical to Genuine Coin.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—Counterfeit fifty cent pieces impossible to detect from genuine coin of the realm, were exhibited in the Court of Kings Bench this afternoon during the trial of Alberic Cote charged with fabricating spurious coins. Dies, hubs or "punches" and other paraphernalia used in the counterfeiting of coins were also shown to the court and jury.

Cote was arrested following a raid on his house in Verdun, a suburb of the city in March last. George W. Brisson who was a witness to-day and who is charged with a similar offence, stated that a coining press found in cellar was brought there by Cote. He admitted that he had been working with Cote on a 50-50 partnership arrangement. He has agreed to pay $125 monthly rent for the press but had never worked with it.

The case will be continued to-morrow.

NOTE MILITARY EXPENSES

PARIS, Nov. 15. —The Chamber of Deputies this afternoon voted an appropriation of 342,000.000 francs for military expenses in Morocco.

REPRESENTATIVES FROM CANADA ARE AT POSTAL UNION

Canadian Representatives Will be P. T. Coolican, W.J. Glover and Arthur Webster.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—Canadian representatives at the forthcoming conference of the Universal Postal Union to be held at Stockholm will be P. T. Coolican, General Superintendent of Postal Services, W. J. Glover, Financial Superintendent, and Arthur Webster, secretary, respectively, of the Post Office Department. The conference will be held during the first half of 1924, the exact date to be announced later by the government of Sweden.

In making this announcement, Hon. Charles Murphy, Postmaster-General, states that it has been the custom for a cabinet minister as well as government officials to attend such conferences. He feels, however, that the interests of Canadian postal administration may safely be entrusted to such technically qualified officials as those he has chosen.

THE PREMIER IS OBLIGED TO REPLY

Letters Between Premier Baldwin, J. Austin Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead Are Published Today.

LONDON, November 16. — Letters which have passed between Premier Baldwin, J. Austen Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead were published yesterday. They are only interesting however as showing that the inclusion of Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead in the Cabinet was found to be impossible because they were "unwelcome to some of those on whose support the Premier is obliged to rely."

Both Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead, nevertheless, promised to support the government's election campaign, and Mr. Baldwin while hoping to reunite his party later intimated a strong desire to have Lord Birkenhead "help Lord Derby to keep our flag flying in Lancashire."

Lancashire is considered the weakest spot in the Government's campaign, because the cotton interests there are strongly opposed to protection.

There was an interesting intervention in the debate in the House of Commons last night on a Labor motion of censure of the government, which was introduced by J. Ramsay Macdonald, Labor opposition leader, when Mrs. Hilton Philipson (well known as Miss Mabel Russell, the actress) made her maiden speech as member of the House. It was a telling little speech, and she acquitted herself with credit.

Another Month to Get Alberta Vote

EDMONTON, November 16 (Canadian Press). — The official closing up of the voting returns in the recent liquor plebiscite will not be possible, it is thought, until about the middle of December.

Athabasca, which is the most remote and difficult electoral district in the Province will need another month, according to its returning officer, to get in all the ballot boxes.

Peace River, the other northern district, expects to make better time, and will be ready by the end of this month.

PETERBORO DROPS TWO FAITHFUL WORKERS OFF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Another Link With the Past Severed When Fire Department Horses Are Disposed of to Sturgeon Falls.

MOTOR HERE TO STAY

Maude and Nell have gone away. Two more of the old-time fire-horses have stepped aside to make way for the modern motor-driven vehicle. With the receding horses, possibly will go some of the human touch that always lingered about the legend of the fire-horse doing his bit along with the men to prevent loss and suffering by the fire god. There isn't anything very romantic, to a casual eye in a big motor truck. It may be efficient enough, and a mighty welcome sight to the man whose home is going up in smoke, while the little yellow flames take their way with his household gods, but there was something very appeal to most in the spectacle of the big beasts pounding along, ears back, eyes wide, intent on one thing, and one only, and that thing the arrival at the fire in the shortest possible time, with their heavy load.

Maude and Nell were the two big heavy bays that have been familiar objects on Peterboro streets for the past three years. They were the usual type of fire horse, the well-bred looking, capable creatures with their intelligent, blinder-less eyes and their excellent grooming. Fire horses are always kept in the pink of condition, and it is said their grooms achieve their effect of spick and spanness by means of the clipper which keeps their heads free from surplus hair giving them that trig clean appearance that distinguishes them from other horses.

The friends of the big bays will be glad that they were not relegated to the hateful obscurity of a milk delivery waggon or a garbage cart, after their faithful years of nobler service. They will form the nucleus of a fire brigade at Sturgeon Falls, and will be together there to gallop to fires in the same old fashion, possibly something of the intended purpos, was known to them. They may have scented in the air the fact that they were about to be laid on the shelf as far as the Peterboro Fire Department was concerned, for the Chief declares that they never did better in their lives, nor appeared to better advantage, than on the day when they received a try-out by the visiting Fire Chief from Sturgeon Falls, with an eye to purchase. They came through the test with flying colors working perfectly and exhibited their skill as hitchers in a manner that left behind them the last two remnants of the old fire horse brigade, Steve and Rose, a pair of lighter bays who are left alone to ocupy the big box stalls at the station. The time will come for these too when their years of service will merit a place in the discard but that period hasn't arrived just yet. Steve is a big, intelligent creature with a 'touchy' head. They think at Fire Hall that some former owner of the big bay used to strike him there, and left him with 'tender' memories of the man. Once last year, he threw up his head sharply on going out of the door and cut the top severely, making a long-healing wound.

Maude and Nell were described as a 'beautiful pair of hitchers,' having achieved the faculty of being able to get into their collars when hung about three feet from the floor. They came to the Fire Hall on the 26th of April, 1920, at a cost of $550 and were sold after three years and seven months' service, along with some harness, at a price of $585.

The tradition that old fire-horses, when sold into other occupations, never fail to respond to the fire-alarm bell, does not meet with verification at the hands of Chief Gimblett whose only confirmation of the theory lies in the tale of one such animal, sold to a milk vendor in Hamilton who, on one occasion, ran away to attend a fire and forget his lowlier trade for the space of an exhilarating run. The friends of the two horses who have just been sold will be glad that they will continue in fire service for some years, at least, for the sagacious animals certainly realize and try to live up to their work in a manner that humans might scarcely credit.

Theirs is a kindlier fate than that which befell old Frank the lean brown old fire veteran, whose descent to service on a municipal garbage cart marked his passing from the realm of smoke and clanging bells. Almost any day in rain or shine, Frank may be seen on the city streets with his peculiar air of dejected submission to Fate's decrees. He, it is said by those who profess to know possesses a measure of good blood in his long brown frame and bony, long head. Frank looks well fed, and the aspect of fear of his driver that marked him for some time has passed with the passing of the man who used to strike at him, but he never holds the old head up, he never exhibits, as other horses do, any interest in his surroundings, and his whole demeanour is one of a sort of resigned despair. He sometimes pricks up the old ears when the fire bell rings, but it has never yet been recorded that he forsook the collection of the city's street filth and the men who urge him on from heap to heap of refuse for the delights of an old gallop to thrilling scenes of long ago. Perhaps the tradition of devotion to duty instilled in long years of fire-fighting remains with the big brown beast, working dumbly away at his lesser form of community service.

Crime Wave Still Baffles New York

NEW YORK, November 16 (Special to The Examiner) — New York's latest crime wave.... continued to baffle the police as bandits to-day smashed a plate-glass window in the fashionable 5th Avenue shov of Hickson Inc. and escaped in an automobile with $50,000 worth of furs

The fur robbery, which followed the theft of a waggon load of silk from a livery stable on West 26th Street, occurred while four watchmen were in the store, which is located on the avenue at 52nd Street.

The thieves sent two ash cans crashing through the window.

The watchmen were unable to reach the street in time to get a description of either of the bandits or their car.

PARTED BANDIT FROM HIS BRIDE

A Constable Broke Up Nuptial Celebration By Seizure of Bridegroom.

SASKATOON, Sask., Nov. 15.—Wasyl Wackenczuk, much-wanted bandit was captured at his own wedding celebration at Arran Sask., yesterdy and not while he was viewing a nuptial feast as a disinterested spectator it was learned to-day. Mackenczuk, unknown to the police came out of hiding a few days ago and was married to an Arran district girl. The celebration of the event was being staged when Constable Goodsell of the Provincial Police at Prescoville entered and overpowered the bridgeroom after a struggle.

To-day Mackenczuk was being escorted to Regina jail by Goodsell and the journey was somewhat of a triumphal procesion. At every rail road station crowds flocked to view the notorious bad man who was dressed in a heavy fur coat, puffed at a cigar and joked with his escort Mackenczuk was heavily manacled.

A host of charges face the man, including burglary theft, hold-up, vagrancy and a charge of attempted murder may be lodged as a result of his fight with Tadmore citizens in October when he escaped after a gun battle.

BRITAIN RECEIVES GERMAN TERRITORY

United States Have Full Equality of Commercial Opportunities in Former German Territories.

WASHINGTON, Nov 16—Drafts of two conventions giving the United States full equality of commercial opportunities in former German territories mandated to Great Britain and her dominions have been sent by the United States State Department to the British Government for its consideration. The drafts are in line with the Yap Treaty negotiated in 1921 between the United States and Japan and set forth the United States policies regarding mandated territories which already have been approved in principle by Great Britain.

OFFICERS SEND WARM WELCOME TO WILHELM JR.

Greet Crown Prince As "His Imperial and Royal Highness" — Also Illustrious Comrade.

EFFUSIVE GREETING.

OELS, Upper Silesia Nov 15.—Among the messages of welcome awaiting former Crown Prince Frederick William on his return to his castle here from exile in Holland was an effusive greeting from the League of Former Army and Naval Officers. The communication was addressed to "His Imperial and Royal Highness General of Infantry, Crown Prince Wilhelm."

In the message the former Crown Prince was welcomed as "our former army leader and illustrious comrade," and the hope was expressed that his activities and behaviour would prove themselves a blessing to the House of Hohenzollern and the German people. Among the signatories were numerous officers who served under the Crown Prince on the western battlefront during the world war.

PARTY LEADER GAVE ADDRESS

Hon. Arthur Meighen Spoke to Chamber of Commerce in Hamilton

HAMILTON, Nov. 15.— Canada has a deep interest in the fiscal crisis through which Great Britain is now passing and the attitude of the British public towards the preference proposals of Hon. Mr. Baldwin will have big bearing upon the future prosparity of the Dominion, according to declarations made at this centre last night by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, in the course of an address before the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Ontario. Matter is of such vital importance to Canada that Hon. Mr. Meighen felt that all business men should comprehend the significance of the fiscal move on the part of the British Premier and should realize that consistent preference trade policy for British Empire would be one of overshadowing importance in development of Canadian export trade. While all the Dominions would undoubtedly benefit by any such policy as Hon. Mr. Baldwin and seeking to put into effect, Hon. Mr. Meighen was confident that Canada would benefit most of all. That would be due to the fact that Canada hadadvantage of distance over balance of Dominions and to further the fact that industrial development had gained the firmest foothold in this country of any part of Dominions. Mr. Meighen uttered ardent conviction that Canadian National Railway system would in a few years cease to be a deficit, bearing enterprise and become profit-bearing enterprise. He made this statement quite appreciating, he said, that the colossal undertaking was launched in the face of a competitor that was, perhaps, the keenest and most virile that any railway ever faced. Deplorably popular in Canada, he said, was the wrong conception that deficits incurred by the National System represented money poured with lavish hand from the treasury of Canada, never to be recovered. But these deficits were becoming a condition of the past.

What would be the result? Mr. Meighen asked. In the near future when the system begins to pay its own way, the people of Canada would be the possessors of mortgages against advances made for deficits and these deficits would really be paying handsome interest to the people of Canada.

Walked Home From Eternity's Brink

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., November 16 (Canadian Press). —To be hit by a train have his automobile smashed to pieces, to be dragged fifty feet along the track, and escape unhurt was the experience of Dr. Draper, Niagara Falls, N.Y., here yesterday when he failed to notice the approach of a M.C.R. freight.

He waited for one to pass, but did not notice the other.

He was able to go home.

GOTHAM POLICE PLAN ROUND-UP

Three Dead and $66,700 Stolen in Seven Hold-Ups — Open Campaign on Suspects.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—While police and District Attorney's office joined yesterday in a campaign to drive bandits from the city, another daring holdup was added to the list capped yesterday by the shooting of two bank messengers in a $43,607 payroll robbery.

The latest holdup occurred this afternoon when two armed bandits followed a depositor from the Garfield Bank at Fifth Avenue and 23rd Street, fored him to get into his own automobile and drive two blocks to Seventh Avenue and then ordered him to remain in his car while they fled with $700 he had just withdrawn

A round-up of street loiterers, suspected criminals and known gunmen was planned by the authorities today in an effort to check the preholiday wave of crime which since Monday has cost three lives and loss of $66,700 in seven hold-ups.

DEPOSITORS OF THE HOME BANK ARE ON CRUSADE

Toronto Committee Has Been Empowered to Draw Up a Series of Resolutions to Go Before General Committee.

TORONTO, November 16. — Canadian Press. — There were obvious signs at the meeting of the Toronto committee of the Home Bank Depositors relief and Protective Association last night, that the depositors will start on a crusade for redress immediately following their meeting in Massey Hall on December 6th.

The Toronto committee has been empowered to draw up a series of resolutions which will go before the general committee of the depositors before the Massey Hall meeting.

One of the resolutions refers to a warning sent to Sir Thomas White, respecting the affairs of the Home Bank. Another is on the line of action to be followed at the coming session of the Dominion Parliament when a bill will be presented providing for payment of all claims of the Home Bank depositors. The claim is to be based upon information alleged to have been given to the then Minister of Finance, Sir Thos. White as to the condition of the bank, and bearing on certain loans which were specified.

The Dominion Government is also to be asked to "lift" its right to priority on assets for the amount of the government deposits.

His Honor Judge Coatsworth today refused the application of the directors of the defunct Home Bank for trial by judge without a jury. The directors are charged with making false returns to the Government and officials with concurring in returns. Application for trial by a judge was made before Judge Coatsworth last Friday.

The next move by counsel for ten defendants will be to make application to the Justice of the High Court at Osgoode Hall for a mandamus directing a County Court Judge to hear the case. It is understood that if the Supreme Court at Osgoode Hall directs the County Judge to conduct the trials, the defendants will ask for and obtain trial by the Judge without a jury.

PETER ROBINSON CHAPTER, I.O.D.E.
AN IMPORTANT MEETING WILL BE HELD IN THE Y.W.C.A., ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON, AT 4:15 P.M. ALL MEMBERS ARE ASKED TO BE PRESENT TO DISCUSS THE CARD PARTY AND DANCE ON DEC. 27TH. 1d116 4418

ROUNDING OUT KIWANIS CLUB MUSICAL SHOW

Another Shipment of Costumes Will Arrive Tomorrow — Catchy Music and Pretty Girls

TODAY'S LUNCHEON

Details of the Kiwanis Musical Revue that will be presented at the Grand Opera House next week, under the auspices of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, were discussed at to-day's luncheon. Rehearsals each evening until the date of the show have been provided for.

To-morrow another shipment of Oriental costumes will arrive from Toronto, and the services of several expert producers of theatrical productions have been secured to put the finishing touches on the show. When the opening curtain goes up on "The Garden of the Shah," it will reveal a chorus of pretty girls in addition to a strong cast of characters recruited by Martin B Chenhall from the ranks of Peterborough's musical fraternity, with some extra talent thrown in for good measure.

The tickets are selling well, and most of the members to-day were able to report the sale of their full allotment.

Kiwanian Ed. Wood was in charge of the gavel to-day, with the result that fines were unusually numerous.

The guests included Mr. W. Williams of the Campbell Milling Company, and Mr. Emmet Gardner, of the New York office of the De Laval Company.

A nominating committee, consisting of Kiwanians Ed. Wood, W. E. Conway, J. John, M. Yelland, and W. Oke, was appointed to bring in a report on the new slate of officers for the coming year.

The speaker of the day was Kiwanian Carl Brown, who gave an interesting account of this season's activities of the Collegiate Institute Rugby team, of which he is manager. To-morrow the team will play a sudden death game with Kingston at Riverside Park for the Eastern Ontario championship. The Peterborough team first cleaned up this district and to-morrow's play-off will be with the winners of the Kingston group. Mr. Brown told the story of a Scotsman who was such a football enthusiast that he walked fourteen miles to see a football game but failed to see the game because he was too tired to climb over the fence. It is almost necessary to rebuild the Collegiate team each year, as out of last year's team all but three of the players graduated. Mr. Brown is hopeful of putting Peterborough on the rugby map. His heart was in the work and he said it was not unusual to find some of the boys more interested in rugby than in Latin, Kiwanian Ed. Wood and Kiwanian J. Wearing both congratulated Kiwanian Brown on his success with the Collegiate Rugby team and as a former member of the Board of Education, Joe Wearing said Carl Brown ranked high in the estimate of the School Board as a teacher in the Collegiate Institute, and his influence with the boys was a worthwhile factor in their training.

Kiwanian Walter Stocker sang "Sussex by the Sea" by request, and the members joined in the chorus.

INSTANTLY KILLED IN RAILWAY SMASH

Motorman of Electric Line Was Victim—Eleven Others Injured

WINDSOR, Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Orley Wigle of Kingsville motorman was illed and eleven persons injured, some seriously, when two cars on Windsor Essex and Lake Shore Railway, an electric line running between Windsor and Leamington met in head on collision just outside this city shortly after nine o'clock this morning. Wigle met instant death.

Wreck was evidently caused by one of motor men over-running his orders on a single track line and an extremely heavy fog contributed to the accident. When the motor men sighted each other, both cars were travelling at high speed and crash was unavoidable.

The cars met each other with terrific force telescoping each other for a third of their length. Wigle was pinned in the wreckage.

Caught between two cars his body was terribly mangled.

The injured were residents of towns along the route of railway and were on their way to work in Windsor. One or two may die.

Within a few minutes after the accident a special Michigan Central Hospital train was on the scene and conveyed the injured to Windsor where they were rushed to hospital.

MUST NOT SHOOT AT THE PHEASANTS

Fish and Game Association is Getting After Offenders.

Some time ago the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association put out a number of pheasants in different woods in the district. It has now been reported to the Association that some people have been shooting these birds and a reward of $25 is offered for the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties. The pheasant is a protected bird and of course it is illegal to shoot them at any time. The public should thoroughly understand the conditions and the risk they run in illegal shooting.

LLOYD GEORGE HAS ENTERED THE ARENA

Makes His Presence Known in Speech Which Flays Government.

LONDON Nov. 16. — (United Press).— David Lloyd-George, dynamic and pepful, celebrated his reentry into the British political arena on Thursday when rising from the Opposition benches in the House of Commons he joined the debate.

His speech was an enthusiastic denunciation of the Government's policies as "ill considered, precipitate, foolish, insulting, recklessly and indelibly harmful throughout the world."

CO-EDS VOICE THEIR OBJECTION TO DRINK

MADISON, Wis., Nov 16.—(Canadian Press)—Three thousand University of Wisconsin co-eds last night at a compulsory meeting, registered unanimous disapproval of drinking and appealed to the federal authorities to take action against intoxication and liquor, but refused to sanction a proposed resolution prohibiting association with any men who drank.

"How can we tell if they have been drinking," was the universal chorus when a resolution prohibiting co-eds from dating with men who drank was proposed.

GIRLS MUST MARRY BEFORE SATURDAY

Stowaways Must Find Husbands Today or Return to Germany.

NORFOLK, Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Wanted: Husbands. Unless Hanny Dohrn 18 and Irmgard Schultz, 20 get one apiece by Saturday they will have to return to Germany on the steamship Sehostris now at this port.

The girls stowed away on the Sehostris in Hamburg. Ten days out hunger drove them from their place of concealment and Captain Reimer put them in the galley. They proved good cooks. Upon the arrival of the ship here they were turned over to the immigration authorities and now the order has gone forth that they must go back to Germany or get husbands here. They don't want to go back to Germany.

Crows, parrots, ravens and swans are the longest lived fowl. They live usually 100 years.

OPEN WIDER CANADA'S DOOR TO IMMIGRANTS GOVERNMENT POLICY

Approved By Conference of Provincial Representatives at Ottawa — Full Exposition of Government Plans By Hon. J. A. Robb.

INCREASE THIS YEAR.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—Moderation of immigration restrictions which would bring more people to Canada but would not mean the elimination of the selective principle, was approved, today, by Provincial representatives who addressed the Immigration Conference, which closed this evening.

In a final review of the discussions which had taken place at the conference, Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, referred to the "Open Door Policy" which had been receiving so much attention of late. The Government of the day, he said, must always reserve to itself the right of final inspection at the port of entry. Apart from this Mr. Robb asserted that the Government's policy today was to welcome immigrants generally no matter whether farmers, artisans, or of other callings, providing they were physically and mentally sound, and providing also that they were of a kind to be absorbed in and take a healthy part in Canadian national life.

Transportation Rates

Another matter to which Mr. Robb referred in his final remarks was that of transportation rates. He was not satisfied, he said, but that rates for immigrants were susceptible to some reduction. In view of the fact that the large proportion of the personnel on the steamships coming to Atlantic ports were drawn from Great Britain, where unemployment was so rife, he was unable to accept the transportation companies' claims as to their increased cost of operation. Mr. Robb said he proposed to have another conversation with the transportation companies on this point without delay.

Finally, Mr. Robb said that, while desirable immigrants should be invited to the Dominion, representations made to them should not be colored. Canada, today, was in as good shape if not better than any other of the countries which had participated in the Great War. The minister emphasized the healthy condition of Canada's foreign trade and said that people from other countries were not being invited to come over and help pay the national debt but they were invited to come to Canada and share in her prosperity.

Government Invitation

Speaking as a transportation official, Col. J. S. Dennis, Commissioner of Colonization for the C.P.R., stressed five important points which he thought should receive careful consideration in formulating a comprehensive immigration policy. They were: Invitation, selection, transportation, distribution and consolidation.

Open Door Wider

Hon. L. S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, commented upon the opinions expressed by the transportation officials. He said he favored the open door but not the wide open door as advocated by several of the speakers.

Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan, while strongly in favor of encouraging immigration, thought the selective principle should be applied. He believed that the department should show preference for settlers from the British Isles and Northern Europe; that Central Europe should be canvassed with some reservations and selections in Southern Europe should be made with the greatest care.

Col. Gear stated that it had not been the intention of himself or other speakers for the transportation companies to convey the impression that the steamship lines did not want due attention paid to the selection of immigrants. What they objected to was the policy of confining eligible classes to certain callings.

Hon. Geo. Headley, Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, contended that the selection of immigrants should be made in their native land by officials of the Dominion Government and that this important matter should not be left in the hands of interested parties.

Increased Inflow

Addressing a few final remarks to the conference, this evening, before it closed proceedings, Hon. J. A. Robb called attention to immigration figures which showed that during the first nine months of this year 106,973 people came to Canada, as against 56,507 during the corresponding period of last year. Of these, he said, more than half were British, and over 16,000 were from the United States.

There had been some criticism Mr. Robb said that the government had not inaugurated an aggressive immigration policy immediately after the war. Conditions, however, he contended had not warranted any such action. Up to the early months of 1922 the Canadian dollar was quoted in New York at 85 cents, and at that time and before large sums of money were being voted by the Canadian government to relieve unemployment. Today, however, the Canadian dollar was almost at par in New York and at a premium in London. Furthermore, today the employment situation had improved to the point that there was demand on the farm as well as the factory for more help. The trade of Canada had increased with every country with which she was doing business, Mr. Robb asserted. Today Canada was doing an export business of over a billion dollars, with the balance of trade in her favor. Canada, he said, was not inviting immigrants to come to this country to pay taxes and help wipe off the national debt; whe was inviting them to come here and share in the national prosperity.

Remove Restrictions

Mr. Robb assured the delegates that he proposed to see to the removal of certain irritating restrictions which had hitherto somewhat hampered the free entry of suitable immigrants. There existed, he said, practically no restrictions at present against incomers from Great Britain and the United States, whether they were farmers or artisans. The only assurance which the government must have was that such people were physically and mentally sound and were such as would mix into the Canadian national life. For immigrants from the Scandinavian countries, from Belgium, Holland, France and Switzerland, furthermore practically the only thing to which they must submit was an examination as to physical and mental conditions. Mr. Robb believed that into this category of desirables should come the natives of Hungary and Czecho-Slovakia, people who had a long record for going on the land and staying on the land.

While it was not going to be a wide open door from Atlantic to Pacific, concluded the Minister of Immigration, a point on which he was assured all the delegates were agreed, all restrictions would be removed which were likely to keep away from Canada desirable people who were willing to work and be associated with Canadian national life.

Women Bravest to Take Second Mate

PITTSBURGH, November 16 (United Press). — Having gone through the mill once men as a rule are not so anxious to try again.

This refers to marriage. Chas. Hendrickson, who issues marriage licenses in Allegheny Co., looked over his books and other records the other day and came to the following conclusion:

More women than men are quite willing to take the second chance on matrimony.

Most applications for licenses by divorcees are made by women.

Day before Thanksgiving seems to be the most popular day for getting marriage licenses. The most popular month is June, of course.

Friday is the dullest day in the marriage license bureau, while Mondays and Tuesdays are the busiest days.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Big Crowd at the Fowl Supper Last Evening—Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 16. — The fowl supper in the Methodist Church last night was a big success in every way. People from Hastings Havelock Stirling, Warkworth and surrounding country were present. About eight hundred people, were served and the proceeds were over four hundred and fifty dollars. It took about four hours to serve the supper, but the people upstairs waiting were entertained by the band, which very kindly furnished the music during the evening. They played in their usual good style under the leadership of bandmaster R. T. Cowell. Though the hour was late, a good program was given as follows: Opening hymn by the congregation, chorus by the choir, Address by Rev. J. E. Glover, Seymour circuit. Recitation by Mrs. Wragg which was heartily encored to which she replied with another selection, addres by Rev. C. W. Barrett of Stirling, duett by Mr. Parish and Mr. Collison, address by Rev. Mr. Wilson of Brighton, solo by Mrs. E. Bates, quartette by Dr. and Mrs. H. O. Richardson, Miss Hoover and Mr. Geo. Lucy. The addresses were good as well as humorous and everyone was pleased with the musical programme. The evening was brought to a close by singing "God Save the King."

Just before the people dispersed the chairman Rev. W. Elliott, pastor of the church, asked two questions:—1st Did you enjoy the supper? Loud answers of "Yes'. 2nd Did you enjoy the programme? Answered by the same response and a hearty hand clap.

FAMOUS MEN I HAVE KNOWN

Subject of G. N. Gordon's Address to the Lindsay Kiwanis—Sat on Sir John A. Macdonald's Knee—Befriended By Sam Hughes.

(Special to The Examiner)

LINDSAY, Nov. 15.—Lindsay Kiwanis Club was today addressed by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., of Peterboro, Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons. He took as his subject "Famous Men I Have Known," and referred to the outstanding characteristics and qualifications of the late Sir John A. MacDonald, Sir Wilfrid Laurier Sir Robert Borden, Premier Mackenzie King, David Lloyd George, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. Mr. Crerar. The address was an intensely interesting one.

On Sir John's Knee

Kiwanian Gordon first referred to the late Sir John A. MacDonald, whom he met on the occasion of Sir John's first visit to Peterboro. The speaker jumped on the rig and Sir John plucked him to his knee. Sir John was likened to Abraham Lincoln, both of whom were successful lawyers and both of whom gained the highest distinction and honor to be offered by their country.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir John had many points in common, and both were very human.

Sir John spoke brief, short sentences, made no attempt at oratory. Laurier was a Celt and a natural orator, but with poor health. He reached the climax in every speech—a tremendous climax.

Sir Robert Borden who followed, differed from both. He is a lawyer and he builds up his arguments step by step. He has no personal magnetism, but yet a man who has a splendid platform appearance, and a great voice for delivery.

Meighen Is Serious

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen is a very skilful, logical debater; a man of untiring energy, a young man who has had a rapid and brilliant career. He is a serious man, but does not lack humor. Mr. Meighen's ability to debate and his memory make him a man of note. He uses no notes. He has magnetism. As a platform speaker he casts aside many of the little frills that many speakers use to make their argument more acceptable.

The Prime Minister, Hon. Mackenzie King, is a different type entirely as a speaker—a highly trained man. He is not a lawyer but he builds up his arguments in a sweeping, pleasing manner and with great ability. He is also very industrious.

Crerar, Business Man

Hon. Mr. Crerar speaks as a business man and judging from the way he debates in the House he must be a good business man. His work in the House indicates his ability as a man of high mentality. As long as he is related to the Agrarian group, he will be a tower of strength to that party. His successor is a most pleasing speaker and as a Scotchman he has been a student of the classics and the biography of famous men.

The late Sir Sam Hughes was always very kind to him, Mr. Gordon said. It was pitiable to see him battling against death when the odds were much against him. He was a man highly esteemed.

HASTINGS BOY WAS INJURED

Everett Hess Hurt by Explosion in Furnace—Harry L. Scrives Died.

HASTINGS, Nov. 16.—What might have proved a serious accident happened to Everett Hess son of Dr. J. H. Hess when he went into the cellar to attend to the furnace and from some unknown cause an explosion occurred knocking him down and burning him badly in the face.

Medical Aid was obtained.

Personal

Miss Isabel Lancaster of Bowden and Miss Helen Gillespie of Keene spent Sunday with their aunt, Mrs. W. Humphries.

Mrs. Geo. Dickey and daughters of Belleville were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hill over the holiday.

Mr. J. E. Tempest formerly of the Bank of Toronto staff, Hastings has been transferred from the Stratford branch to Barrie Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. McConnell of Bracebridge, spent the holiday with their son Mr. Ralph McConnel.

Mrs. J. McGuire of Baltimore spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Dainard.

Mrs. I. L. Hawkins of Oshawa, is the guest of her son Mr. F. Hawkins.

Wedding Shower

A very delightful miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Madaline Scriver on Friday evening Nov. 9th prior to her marriage, given by the members of the Methodist church league. She received many useful presents on this occasion and all expressed the wish that her approaching marriage would be one of prosperity and happiness.

Ford's Pullman Most Luxurious

CHICAGO, November 14. — The most luxurious private car in America is being built in the Pullman car shops for Henry Ford.

Tiled bathrooms, sumptuous bedrooms, a drawing room equipped with electrically operated phonographs, as well as a broadcasting and receiving radio set, and an electrical kitchen, are some of the features to be installed in the car.

A richly appointed office and accommodations for secretaries and the car's complement of servants are included in the specifications, according to the Chicago Tribune.

LORD DERBY WILL SUPPORT PREMIER

Lord Derby Without Doubt Entertains the Strongest Sympathy Towards the Unionist Members.

LONDON, Nov. 16.— (Canadian Press Cable.) — Apprehensions of Premier Baldwin and his staunch supporters as to the probable outcome of the general elections are scarcely likely to diminish by the announcement last night that Lord Derby, secretary of state for war, will extend to the premier his support.

Lord Derby without doubt entertains the strongest sympathy towards those half-dozen Lancashire unionist members who protest that they were elected as free-traders and see no reason to alter their opinions now although Lord Derby himself probably is prepared to treat Premier Baldwin's tariff proposals as an emergency measure provoked by the European economic collapse, though he may do so reluctantly.

ARE WOMEN OVERWORKED

Yes, hundreds of thousands of them are. This applies to the housewife and mother who struggles on a small income to make both ends meet by doing all the washing, ironing, cooking, making and mending for a large family. There are others who not only support themselves working in factories, shops, stores and offices, but often have an invalid father or mother to support, therefore do housework beside. These are the women who break down early and are afflicted with various forms of female weakness. Ninety-eight out of every 100 women who have tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have proved that it is a successful remedy for woman's ills. For nearly fifty years it has been restoring women to health, and it will pay every ailing woman to try it.

UNITED STATES WAIVE PROTEST

Coolidge Says America Cannot Interfere in Kaiser's Return—Might Save Germany.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The American Government will not join in any protest by the allied Governments against the return to Germany of the Hohenzollerns, it was indicated at the White House. This decision is based on a realization by President Coolidge that since the American people insist on their own right to set up any kind of Government they see fit, they must also recognize that the same right must be conceded to other people.

The question of any protest by the allied Governments against the return of the Hohenzollerns, it was declared by State Department officials, was not before this Government in any way. A White House spokesman pointed out, however, that the proposed protest of the Allies would presumbaly be based upon certain provisions of the Versailles Treaty, and that since the United States was not a party to that treaty this Government had no official concern in the matter.

It was pointed out in another quarter that Part VII. of the Treaty of Versailles, which sets forth under the title of "penalties" the punishment which may be visited upon William II. of Hohenzollern, formerly German Emperor, "for his supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of treaties," was specifically excepted from the Treaty of Berlin between the United States and Germany.

In the face of apparently authentic denial from the German Government that permission had been given to the former Kaiser to return to Germany, and the apparently equally authentic information that the Dutch authorities have stated he would not be allowed to leave Holland, officials here were inclined to be skeptical of suggestions that the ex-Emperor was contemplating an immediate return. State Department officials, however, confined their statements for publication to a mere suggestion that no official report as to any movements of William had been received.

There was a suggestion in some circles, however, that the return of the ex-Kaiser, or even of the Crown Prince, to power might be the only means of saving Germany from disintegration. Those who took this view argued that the German people by experience and temperament were suitable for a monarchial form of Government, declared that republic had been a failure from the start, and asserted the return of the Hohenzollerns would put an end to the various Separatist movements in parts of Germany, which seem to threaten her dissolution.

Other observers, however, while admitting the return of the Hohenzollerns might have the effect of uniting Germany, were of the opinion that the name of the Kaiser was associated in the minds of the peoples of the allied countries so closely with the war that his resumption of authority would have the effect of alienating liberal public opinion in England and the United States, where there might have been a tendency to argue that the war was over and the German people should have a chance to live.

120,000 HORSES A YEAR KILLED TO FEED FRENCH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Consumption of horse meat as an article of daily diet is increasing in France, the Department of Commerce is informed, and the annual slaughter of horses is estimated at about 120,000 head. Of this number about 100,000 are of French origin, while the greater portion of the balance is imported from Great Britain.

The advantages claimed for horse meat are its comparative cheapness and nutritive qualities. Its sale is regulated by law to avoid its substitution for other meats and it is usually sold in butcher shops especially adapted for that purpose.

PRESBYTERIANS!

Do You Know the Full Meaning of the Proposed Bill for

CHURCH UNION

The four main provisions of the Bill are plain and simple. They are as follows:

(1) It would create a new corporate body, to be called the United Church of Canada.

(2) It would merge in this new corporate body the entire Presbyterian Church in Canada—its name, its ministers, its members, and its property.

(3) It would provide that, within six months, a congregation may vote itself out of this new corporate body.

(4) It would provide a commission to decide as to the equities of congregations voting themselves out in the general property and funds of the Presbyterian Church.

WHAT THE BILL MEANS:

(a) If this bill becomes law, then the Presbyterian Church in Canada passes out of existence—her very name is abolished. Canada would be the only civilized country in the world in which there is no Presbyterian Church.

(b) All the ministers and members, all the property and funds of the Presbyterian Church would, by law, become the property and form part of the United Church.

(c) This would mean coercion, for many ministers and members of the Presbyterian Church would be compelled by law to become members, and become subject to the discipline of an organization in which they do not believe and which they do not desire to join.

(d) A congregation must vote itself out within six months or ever after remain part of the United Church. If a congregation does vote itself out—it is out in the cold with a vengeance, for there will be no Presbyterian Church in Canada with which to unite.

(e) Should a bare majority of a congregation at a meeting held within the six months, decide to remain in the United Church, they would keep the whole of the property and funds of the congregation. Thus, if a congregation of 401 members voted as follows: 201 to stay in and 200 to withdraw, the 200 would have no claim whatever either on the congregational property or on the general property of the Church. That is: a bare majority of one at a meeting, where many through sickness and such like causes cannot attend, may create this crisis and perpetrate this injustice—from which there will be no appeal.

(f) This Bill, if it becomes law, will certainly create a serious disruption in the Presbyterian Church in Canada, for there is a very large body of solid, determined Presbyterian people who will absolutely refuse to be incorporated by law, against their will, into any non-Presbyterian organization.

These are the outstanding features of this Bill, and they show that Union, at this time, is out of the question. If Union can only be accomplished upon the terms of this Bill, then surely every true and loyal Presbyterian must conclude that Union should not now be consummated.

EDUCATION—NOT FORCE.

Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs, in an interview at Regina this week, gave vent to some views that should be of general interest, when he declared, speaking of the vote in the Manitoba referendum, that he did not believe that people could be made good or sober by legislation, adding that better results were to be obtained by educating the people along right lines.

Secretary J. J. Morrison of the United Farmers of Ontario, put the same opinion in different language some time ago by bluntly stating that prohibition could not be enforced with a club.

The view set forth by these well known men is becoming more general throughout Canada as was demonstrated in the swing away from prohibition on the part of Manitoba and Alberta.

As the Examiner pointed out a few days ago, such a condition leaves real work for the prohibitionist forces to accomplish.

If the law cannot make people sober then it remains for the temperance workers to educate the people to keep sober because it is the wise and sane thing to do.

Education rather than force, should be the weapon of the temperance party and only by education can definite and lasting results be confidently expected.

A COMMUNITY CHEST.

The Community Fund scheme discussed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce the other night should commend itself particularly to the business and professional men of the city who are constantly being called upon to dig down into their pockets and financially assist some local social service organization or another.

A plan by which these never ceasing calls could be eliminated in favour of one general campaign every year surely impresses the business world of Peterborough as a more satisfactory, less expensive and more business-like method than the present hap-hazard system.

In addition a good deal of over-lapping would be avoided.

Each organization would get exactly what it needed and the spectacle of one social service agency receiving more help than is necessary and other being compelled to carry on handicapped by lack of sufficient funds would be a thing of the past.

Such work suffers because of the multiplicity of organizations, each working independently of the other, each making its call upon the generosity of the public, with the result that the appeals are so frequent that the people grow tired of the constant drain, and worthy causes do not receive the help their activities warrant.

The community Fund method has been successful wherever it has been adopted and the Junior Chamber of Commerce deserves thanks for bringing it prominently before the people of Peterborough.

EARLIER ELECTIONS.

The number of municipalities holding their election for civic offices on the first Monday in December is steadily growing. Ingersoll, Wallaceburg and Simcoe being the latest to join the list which already includes the cities of Windsor, Guelph, London, Kingston and St. Thomas, and a number of towns.

There is much to be said in favour of the December date instead of New Year's Day.

It is sufficiently in advance of Christmas not to interfere with the Yuletide trades and it avoids holding the poll on a holiday when many people are away from home and many others are so occupied with New Year's festivities that they will not tear themselves away from the family group long enough to register a vote.

At first blush a general holiday would seem the ideal occasion for the holding of a municipal election, inasmuch as almost everybory has leisure time in which to vote but it has not worked out that way in actual practice, in fact the New Years' vote in most municipalities has generally been so light that they have been driven to the expedient of choosing an election day in advance of the holiday season in the hope of getting a more complete expression of public opinion.

Chatham, indeed is not satisfied that the first week in December is sufficiently early and in that town the first Monday in November, a month earlier than any other centre in Ontario, is the date chosen for the annual election.

The matter has never been seriously discussed by the local Council; it might form the subject for an interesting debate at one of the council sessions.

ONTARIO IN THE MOVIES.

The launching of Ontario into the moving picture business, or at least in the manufacture of films is a new departure for the provincial administration but unless like some government enterprises it gets loaded up with too many employees there seems no reason why the enterprise should not result in a substantial saving.

Ontario has been using educational films for some years and there has been a pretty strong suspicion that she has been paying too much for her propaganda pictures.

In fact, the Provincial Treasurer estimates that his new plant at Trenton will save approximately $50,000 a year and turn out more satisfactory films.

The proof of the pudding is, of course, in the eating but the initial cost of the undertaking is not large and is more than taken care of by a reduction in the appropriation for next year's films and the Government motion picture industry starts off with fair prospects for success.

It is expected that the pictures produced in the Ontario studio will be largely used in advertising this province in the British Isles.

At the same time much might be done in boosting Ontario in the United States as a tourist paradise and in this connection the Examiner suggests a new film of the Kawartha Lakes district, giving an adequate idea of the scenic charm of Stoney Lake, and other beauty spots.

THE LIGHT OF HISTORY.

History is rapidly becoming an exact science. The continuous revision of opinions, conclusions and deductions rendered imperative by the constantly changing light thrown upon past events has made the snap judgments of the older historians of little worth, and today we approach history from the viewpoint of a precision never dreamed of a quarter of a century ago, says the Montreal Star. Its significance as a study has been emphasized as never before, and its vital imporance as a guide to the future as well as a lamp over the past was never so clearly indicated.

At such a time, it is of peculiar interest to note the formation of the Canadian History Society, under the efficient direction of Sir Campbell Stuart, with His Majesty King George himself as patron and with a long list of distinguished men in the service of the State and of literature officiating in various capacities. The object of such a society should be self-evident. The King put it both concisely and expressively when he said it would give "the coming generations of Canada a deeper insight into the stirring history of their country." The Duke of Connaught added another and similarly intimate note when he made reference to Sir Campbell Suart's splendid efforts to cement still further the historic connection between Canada and England.

There can be no doubt either that the work of this society, if pursued, as there is every reason to believe it will be pursued, with energy, with care and with enthusiasm, will be of vital importance in enabling Canadians to form new and more accurate estimates, to establish a new orientation, as it were, of past events in their relation to present conditions and future aspirations. Already Lord Durham has handed to the Canadian archives invaluable historical papers upon which a new Life of the Canadian, Lord Durham, will be thrown upon a critical period of our history. The work of the society will naturally involve the co-ordination of all such informative material, and it will thus become at once a point of centralization and distribution. We cannot know too much about our past. It is very easy for us to know too little.

THEY NEVER AGAIN WILL LEAD.

Two men who have been demanding recognition as the leaders and exponents of causes considered by their admirers great have made of late the mistake, probably fatal to their reputations and ambitions, of consulting common sense instead of the higher sense which wiser men than these know how to substitute for it.

First it was Eamon de Valera, self-styled President of a non-existent republic. While making one of the impassioned speeches he suddenly found himself in the sort of danger into which his exhortations have driven so many of his followers. Bullet for once, were flying close to him, and instantly he threw himself flat on the platform whence he had been inciting others to count their lives as nothing, if only Ireland might be independent. In that posture he remained until the soldiers sent to arrest him seized and took him away to jail. Some say he fainted as well as prostrated himself, but that may be an embroidery of the tale by his enemies.

Now it is General Ludendorff, the man of blood and iron so harsh and stern, and looking the soldierly part so well. He, too, when there was a chance of getting shot, fell to the ground as promptly as a scared peasant, just conscripted, would have done it. And, after the firing stopped, he submitted to the humiliation of arrest with as much docility as such a peasant would have shown.

It is not reported that Ludendorff fainted; a story did get out that he had committed suicide, but seemingly he did not, though in Germany that was "indicated," as the doctors say, as the right course for a man like him to follow after such a failure.

Of course, it is no proof of personal cowardice to take cover or to lie down when nothing is to be gained by remaining exposed to bullets. Many and many brave soldiers of all ranks from commanding generals to raw recruits have done it—have been reproved, as they should have been, when they failed to do it. As for Ludendorff, in the earlier part of the war, and when it was his military duty, he exposed himself to fire as often and as bravely as anybody in the German Army, or in any other, for that matter. But it was a different matter, both for him and for de Valera, when they became the embodiment of a cause. Then they both were under an obligation to take and keep heroic attitudes, and it is not heroic, not inspiring, to be cautious. They should have forgotten their own perils, or have seen in them only an opportunity to express devotion.

Nobody can serve a cause better than by becoming its martyr, but these men want to live, in apparent disregard of the conditions that may be imposed. It is not for such as they to endure defeat as an alternative to success, and the dead always are victorious. At any rate the dead cannot be humiliated, and they can be an inspiration to others more fortunate but no more brave.

De Valera and Ludendorff are alive, but they might as well be dead, so far as the exercise of further leadership is concerned.—New York Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The chief difference of opinion in Europe is caused by the fact that some nations want to get Germany on her feet while France merely desires to get her feet on Germany.

Don't Marry Wooer Who Spends Money Freely, Says Minister.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Girls, beware of the young man who spends his money on you!

"Don't be fooled by the best spender. When a man blows his money faster that he can make it, he will not be a good provider. He's a cheap skate, too, who spends his dad's money on the girls."

There you have it, the advice of the Rev. Charles M. Rauch, D.D., before the congregation of the Brookline Presbyterian Church.

AUTOISTS FAVOR NEW BRUNSWICK.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(Associated Press)—The province of New Brunswick is rapidly becoming a favored field among American motor tourists.

A Department of Commerce census show that more than 2,000 tourists entered the province from Maine this season, and of these 1,700 passed through the border town St. Johns before the ninth of August. That was 500 more than had entered during the same period last season.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, November 16.—This week's receipts of cattle at the Union Stock Yards totalled 8,968, including 13 loads of Westerners, which came in on Wednesday night and were held here for sale. The sales up till Wednesday night were 6,943, so that there was still left over about 2,000 head for sale.

The receipts yesterday morning, not including the Westerns, were 85 cattle, 10 calves, 234 hogs, and 115 sheep and lambs.

The only active demand yesterday morning was in the canner and cutter cows and bologna bulls, and there were not enough of these to go around. The canners averaged about 2 cents a pounds and the bologna bulls about $2.75 a cwt.

Among the Western cattle were two good loads of finished steers, and Joe Wilson was asking $6.00 a cwt. for them. About half a load of heavy steers sold yesterday morning at $6.25 a cwt., but the highest price otherwise on butchers was $5.75 a cwt. One baby beef brought 9 1-2 cents a pound.

The dealers in feeders and stockers were moving a few loads yesterday at steady prices. Choice milchers and springers are selling and John Burns reports a sale of one extra good Holstein at $137.50. Trade in butchers' cattle was slow and commission men thought they would have to carry over small bunches of poor unfinished cattle.

Calves were unchanged and the offering was mostly medium to good and prices ranged from 9 to 10 1-2 cents a pound.

There was only one good deck of lambs on the market yesterday morning. These were from Manitoulin Island, and were sold by Fred Dunn at $11.15 a cwt. A bunch of heavy stale lambs were held at 10 1-2 cents. For a few light sheep 6 1-2 cents was paid.

The struggle between the commission men and the packers on Wednesday was settled by accepting $7.75 a cwt. for thick smooth hogs f.o.b. Some strength in the Buffalo market prevented the packers from lowering the price further.

WINNIPEG LIVE STOCK

WINNIPEG, November 15. — Receipts were 920 cattle and calves, 530 hogs and 100 sheep and lambs.

Trading was more active on the cattle market this morning. Killing steers and butchers' she-stock sold at firm prices, but quotations showed a weaker tendency in other classes.

The hog market was steady at $7.50 for thick smooths and $8.25 for select bacons.

Good lambs changed hands from $10 to $10.50.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, November 15. — A moderate amount of business was done in the cash grain market here to-day. There was no improvement reported in the flour trade. A good steady demand prevailed for millfeed and rolled oats met with a fair sale. Trade in baled hay was rather quiet. The market for eggs was fairly steady. The potato market was unchanged. Prices were up ¼c to ½c per pound in butter. There was a much better feeling in the cheese market.

Egg quotations to-day were:

Firsts 37c, extras 42c, seconds 30 to 32c.

Butter, special and No. 1 pasteurized not quoted; No. 1 creamery 37 1-2c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, November 15. — With the domestic visible supply of wheat said to be the largest ever known in time of peace, and with future deliveries being sold in Chicago against purchases in Canada, wheat prices here underwent a set back today.

The market closed unsettled ½c to 7-8c lower, with December $1.02 7-8 to $1.02 7-8 and $1.03; and May $1.08 to $1.08 1-8. Corn finished 7-8c to 1¼c down; oats unchanged to 1-8c and ¼c off, and provisions varying from 17c decline to 5c advance.

At first the wheat market showed an upward tendency owing to somewhat aggressive but transient buying from both the east and the west. Besides offerings early were light, and there were reports that Minneapolis prices were too low to permit Canadian imports at Minneapolis. Bulls, however, were handicapped by the current talk that the wheat tariff hearings in Washington were likely to take several months. Slackening of demand from buyers generally took place and about the middle of the Board of Trade session was followed by a broadening out of spreading operations between Winnipeg and Chicago. Then a sudden drop in values here ensued, and with little rallying power shown the market closed at but little above the day's bottom figures.

Announcement of a reduction of vessel rates for Canadian wheat shipments on the Great Lakes counted in favor of the bear side of the wheat market here, as did the predictions of a further decided enlargement of the United States visible supply total of Monday.

Sympathy with the corn market was also to some extent an element in the late depression of wheat.

Corn was weak from the start, with special notice being given to assertions that hog feeding at present is a loss. The majority of traders acted on opinions that readjustment between corn prices and the hog market would be made by corn declining. Oats became easier with wheat and corn.

Provisions reflected the weakness of hog values.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK.

CHICAGO, November 15. — Cattle, receipts, 14,000; fed steers and yearlings uneven, generally steady to 15c lower; top matured steers $12; best long yearlings $12.25; short fed weighty steers $8.75 and $9.50; she stock steady; bulls steady to strong; most vealers to packers, $8.50 and $9; stockers and feeders weak.

Hog, receipts, $58,000. mostly 10c to 15c lower; closed 15c to 25c lower; bulk good and choice 200 to 340 pound butchers, $6.70 and $7; top $7.25; better grades 170 to 190 pound average $6.40 and $8.65; bulk packing sows, $6.25 and $6.50; desirable weighty slaughter hogs $5 and $5.50; estimated holdover 17,000.

Sheep , receipts, 12,000; killing lambs uneven, steady to 25c lower; sheep steady; feeding lambs 25c lower; good and choice fat lambs $13 and $13.25; top $13.50; choice fed clipped lambs $12.25 and $12.35, cull natives $10; bulk fat ewes $5.57 and $8.25; bulk feeding lambs $11.50 and $12.50.

GERMAN PRINCE EMBODIES ALL FRENCH FEARS

His Return Only One Phase of Question Involving Whole Effect of Versailles Treaty.

BRITISH DISAGREE.

PARIS, Nov. 15. — The Allied Council of Ambassadors, which readily reached an agreement to send a warning to Berlin respecting the ex-Crown Prince before he returned to Germany, seems unable to reach an accord as to action now that Frederick William has arrived in the Fatherland. The Council adjourned until Saturday morning, after a lengthy discussion to-day, with the understanding that the members would seek instructions from their governments in the interim.

Britain Objects.

Great Britain, which took the initiative in notifying the German Government that the return of the Prince would be regarded as a grave menace, now raises objections to action because of judicial difficulties. It was argued during to-day's session, that the Allies were no more justified in asking the expulsion of the Hohenzollern heir than of the heirs to the other thrones in the Reich.

The presence of former Crown Prince Rupprecht in Bavaria, it was pointed out, is quite as much a menace to the peace as the presence of Frederick William in Silesia or Prussia, and the suggestion was made that if the Allies engaged in forcing the Princes into exile the task would lead them very far, with most doubtful chances of success unless they resorted to force. Great Britain is understood to be stoutly opposed to any thought of the latter.

Related Phases.

The French view is that the return of the Crown Prince, the threatened return of the ex-Kaiser, and the protection which the Allies are demanding for their military control mission in Germany are all connected, forming really three different phases of the same question; that they ought to be treated together, and that, unless the Germans are made to understand that the Allies are determined that all the clauses of the treaty must be respected, there is no hope of obliging them to execute any part of the treaty.

SHARP DISPUTE MARKS CLOSING OF CONFERENCE

LONDON, Nov. 15.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—The close of the Imperial conference is marked by an acrimonious controversy between Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, the chief Indian delegate and Premier J. C. Smuts of the South African Union.

When interviewed by Reuters on the eve of his departure for India, Sir Tej commented on his failure to reach an understanding with Premier Smuts on the subject of the status of Indians in South Africa and declared that Smuts had heaped insult on the government of India and by his attitude of obstinacy had harmed the Empire of which he posed as champion.

In an interview to-night Premier Smuts expressed surprise and regret at Sapru's attack which he feared would do the cause of India a grave disservice. He added that a difficult cause was unlikely to be made easier by vehement attacks on the representatives of other nations. The Dominions were represented at the Imperial conference by premiers who were vested with full responsibility. Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, who was not even an ordinary member of the government of India had departed from the etiquette which all other representatives at the conference had observed towards each other.

Premier Smuts emphatically repudiated the "ludicrous charge" that he had heaped insult on the government of India.

FOOD EXCLUDED FROM BALDWIN'S PROPOSED PLAN OF PROTECTION

British Premier Reserves Free Hand on All Other Articles Upon Which Import Duties May Be Raised—Declared Every Nation Had Set Up Tariff Barriers Against Great Britain.

FORMAL DISSOLUTION TO DAY.

MOTION OF CENSURE DEFEATED.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The House of Commons to-night, after a debate in which the Prime Minister and Mr. Lloyd George took part, and much hackling and derisive remarks were indulged in, rejected the Labor motion of censure introduced by J. Ramsay MacDonald, by a vote of 285 to to 190, amid ministerial cheers.

The Government thus maintained its parliamentary majority, and cleared for formal dissolution to-morrow, when the struggle, which already bears evidence of being an exceptionally determined character, will be transferred from the parliament to the constituencies. Ministers and members alike will distribute themselves all over the country, where a great oratorical campaign is already in full swing.

LONDON, Nov. 16. — King George, acting on the advice of his Cabinet, this morning dissolved Parliament in preparation for general elections to be held Dec. 6th. Parliament re-assembles on Dec. 20.

FOODSTUFFS EXCLUDED FROM BALDWIN TARIFF

LONDON, Nov. 15. — Premier Baldwin to-day told the House of Commons something about his tariff plans and the reasons for his precipitating a general election. He was specific regarding only what he proposes to exclude from taxation— that is, wheat, flour and meat, including mutton and bacon, and cheese, butter and eggs.

For everything else the Prime Minister reserves "a perfectly free hand" for later decision. On what articles he proposes to raise the tariff he awaits the advice of a committee appointed to consider the subject.

His plea of necessity was based largely on the argument that in the matter of tariffs every nation's hand is against Great Britain. All other governments, especially the United States, Italy and Spain, had greatly increased tariffs since the war.

A Business Talk.

Mr. Baldwin's speech was in no sense an oration. He gave the House a perfectly plain talk, such as the chairman of a company might give to his board of directors. On foreign affairs, which under the excitement of the impending campaign are almost forgotten, he said the Allies had been informed that the British people could not continue indefinitely to maintain the spirit necessary for co-opertaion under the existing situation and he deplored the failure to accomplish anything with American co-operation.

Mr. Lloyd George replied briefly, criticizing the Government's policy in calling a general election. He maintained that a settlement in Europe would be a better remedy for unemployment than tariffs and regretted that the Government had dropped international negotiations just when the United States had joined with Great Britain in them.

Heckled by Laborites.

The Labor members heckled both speakers, wanting to know particularly what Mr. Lloyd George had done for the unemployed when he was in power.

The debate was started by J. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Opposition, who offered a vote of censure of the Government. Mr. MacDonald said that over a third of the unemployed were from the engineering and other metal trades, and ship building, cotton and distributing trades. The engineering and iron and steel trades in the first nine months of 1923 had imported goods to the value of £19,000,000, and exported to the amount of £94,000,000. Tariff reform in such conditions offered no help for the unemployed. Bribing agriculture with £11,000,000 annually, he asserted, was of doubtful legality.

A Tame Session.

Altogether, to-day's session was a tame affair, contrasting sharply with other historic days when other Prime Ministers have had to expound policies of vital importance to the nation's destinies.

Mr. Baldwin dilated upon the added difficulties arising from currency depreciation and cheap labor, and from the poverty which in some countries was limiting the markets for the British exporters. He also emphasized another feature, namely the debt to the United States, which means that in adition to the exports formerly sent the British were called upon to export sufficient goods to meet these payments. The struggle had become so fierce that they were driven to compete in exports to their own detriment.

The Premier argued that they might have a superabundance of exports, and therefore it would be preferable to develop the home markets at the expense of unremunerative exports, while some contraction in imports must tend to check the fall of United States exchange which was telling on England by forcing up the prices of foodstuffs and cotton imported from the United States. He further predicted that rehabilitated Germany would be obliged to buy enormously abroad and pay for the imports by a similar increase in exports besides furnishing exports for every penny of reparations—"if she ever pays them." And he asked: "Where are those exports going? Obviously to the most open and the freest market, which is the British."

Moreover, he continued, these exports might not come directly from Germany, but in a worse form—from the cooperation of cosmopolitan financiers exploiting German labor.

Emphasizing the advantages nations drew from their ability to bargain, the Prime Minister mentioned other local remedies proposed for unemployment. Then, in concluding he said that he had never claimed infallibility. "He might be wrong, but it was for the opposition to prove him wrong.

He would not have risked his great position unless his convictions were sincere, and he believed that the proposals he outlined would put the country in a position better able to meet the storms around it.

Ill-Considered Policy.

Mr. Lloyd George, answering Mr. Baldwin, said the Prime Minister's policy was ill-considered, precipitate and foolish. A Labour member then shouted: "It has brought Liberal unity."

Mr. Lloyd George flashed back: "That will go down in history as the solitary achievement of this government."

Continuing Mr. Lloyd George said: "I am amazed that the Premier should choose this of all moments for distracting the attention of the country and diverting attention of the government from the settlement of Europe. An event has happened that was one of the most hopeful since the armistice. The United States had for the first time declared her intention of coming in to assist in a settlement and relations had been established between our government and the United States with a view to bringing united pressure to bear upon our allies in Europe to effect a settlement.

A Distracting Issue.

"It is a great and momentous fact that negotiations were beginning. There were difficulties with one of the allies, but all the others had agreed, and just then, before there was an issue, and while the negotiations were going on, the Premier had to raise a new issue, which has divided the nation, and has even divided his own Cabinet.

"Does anyone imagine that a settlement in Europe would not affect unemployment infinitely more than any tariffs? No tariff decided upon at this moment can have any effect for months, and in the meantime imports of all goods which are going to be taxed will be pouring into the country. The first effect will be to aggravate unemployment, not improve it."

Her Maiden Speech.

A curious incident of to-day's debate was that the third woman member, Mrs. Phillipson, made her maiden speech in the House on the last day of the expiring parliament. As might have been expected, her footlights experiences as the actress, Mabel Russell, served her well. She made a most effective three minute speech, supporting Mr. Baldwin's policy, and her manner captivated the House.

KITCHEN ECONOMY.

One of the greatest economies for the kitchen equipment is a set of steamers in which one may cook many things at once over one gas flame.

Never be without Peps if you are at all susceptible to coughs, colds and chills. Dissolved in the mouth, these breatheable tablets instantly fill the chest and lungs with their healing germicidal vapours. These strengthen the air passages and repel germ-attack. Peps end the snuffling and sneezing, the wheezing, soreness and cough before it develops into bronchitis or dangerous lung trouble. Peps are speedily effective and vastly safer and better than dangerous drug-laden mixtures or tablets containing harmful chemicals.

As a preventive and remedy for coughs, colds and chills, wheeziness, hoarseness, grippe, bronchitis and sore throat, nothing can equal Peps. Splendid also for weak-chested children and old folk, and for preachers, singers and public speakers.

TO FOIL FRANCE GERMAN OBJECT IN RUHR POLICY

Berlin's Intentions Obscure Although Decision Already Reported — Stresemann May Resign

DEFEAT IMPENDING.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The Rhineland and the Ruhr and the numerous internal and foreign issues interlocked with them, together with the immediate economic and political future of Germany, now constitute the outstanding problems confronting the Government of Chancellor Stresemann, and, although the Reich stag at present is not in session and Berlin still is without ts regular complement of newspapers, political circles confidently predict that the Stresemann "rump' cabinet will not be able to survive the parliamenarty attacks awaiting it from the German Nationalists and the powerful Socialist parties.

A casual survey of the party lineup suggests that if Chancellor Stresemann attempts to force a vote of confidence when the Reichstag convenes he will meet with withering defeat as the only tangible support vouchsafed him in the present situation accrues from the Clericals and Democrats and the wholly disunited People's Party.

Resign or Dictate

Under these conditions there seems to be a strong probability that the Chancellor will refuse to go before the Reichstag with his 'rump' government and will anticipate defeat either by resigning or forcing a dissolution of the Riechstag and continuing in office at the head of a non-parliamentary government comprising a semi-dictatorial directorate.

The situation with regard to the Government's decisions concerning the Ruhr and the Rhineland remains wholly obscure to-night, although inspired official bulletins and utterances continue to make emphatic declaration of the Government's intention to withdraw money subsidies and unemployment doles permitting the situation in the occupied ones to lapse into an informal "industrial and economic autonomy."

Foil the French

Stresemann's new Minister of the Interior Herr Jarres, the former military lord mayor of Duisburg, is viewed as the promoter of this policy which he considers to be inevitable under indefinite Franco-Belgian occupation and the adoption of which he believes would constitute a foil to France's Rhineland policies

Chancellor Stresemann will go before the Reichstag's Committee on Foreign Relations on Saturday for the purpose of discussing the negotiations now going on with the Ruhr and Rhineland leaders. He will inform the parliamentarians that the government no longer is capable of "mothering" the occupied areas, and that a resumption of reparations by Germany is out of the question as long as the Ruhr and the Rhineland are removed from German jurisdiction or France declines to arrive at an amicable working agreement with the industrialists and Germany's local administrative organism.

The Government's decision to let these territories shift for themselves at least while they are occupied, was made known in official quarters last night when it was announced that after November 25, the Reich would no longer be able to meet the unemployment bills in the Ruhr and Rhineland.

Burdens on Powers

In the event that political pressure does not force a change in the policy of the Government it is believed the local authorities in the occupied regions will be empowered to deal with the French and Belgian regime, thus making the future of the areas dependent upon such agreements as may be effected in local negotiations. This also it is pointed out, would place a preponderant share of the responsibility for the shoulders of France and Belgium.

A dispatch received in London last night by the General News Agency from its Berlin correspondent reported a semi-official announcement to the effect that Germany had completely stopped all reparation payments on the ground that France had violated the Treaty of Versailles and that therefore Germany could not observe the pact.

The London Daily Mail also carried a Berlin despatch saying that Germany had decided to repudiate the treaty and to disregard it so long as the Ruhr is occupied.

SYNOPSIS.

At a first night performance in New York, a beautiful young woman attracts attention by rising and leisurely surveying the audience through her glasses. Clavering, a newspaper columnist, and his cousin, Dinwiddie, are particularly interested, Dinwiddie declaring that she is the image of Mary Ogden, a belle of thirty years ago, who had married a Count Zattiany and lived abroad. He is convinced that this is Mary's daughter, but all efforts to establish her identity prove futile.

Clavering, determined to find out who she is, follows her home from the theatre one night. Luck is with him, for she has forgotten her keys and he helps her get into the house. She asks him in and finally tells him she is the Countess Josef Zattiany, a cousin of Mary Ogden's; that she had married a relative of Mary's husband; that Mary is ill in a sanitarium in Vienna. She asks him to join a small dinner party at her home the next night. Besides himself, the guests are Dinwiddie, a Mr. Osborne and Judge Trent, Mary Ogden's attorney.

IX. (Continued)

"I felt rather a fool if the truth be told." Her eyes had a curious exploring look and Clavering felt unaccountably irritated, in spite of all that her words implied. "I'd have done the same if you had been old and withered. Served me right. I should have thought before I left the house to telephone for a watchman."

"Ah! Quite so. American men are famous for their gallantry, are they not? Myself, I have always liked them." The smile rose to her wise penetrating eyes, and Clavering colored like a schoolboy. Then it faded and her face looked suddenly rigid. "I wonder," she muttered, then turned her back abruptly. "You must not forget your cocktail. And dinner has been announced."

Mr. Dinwiddie made a pretext of sipping his cocktail as the three raised their glasses simultaneously to their hostess. She had declined to join them, with a little grimace. "Perhaps in time I may become American enough to like your strange concoctions, but so far I think cocktails have a really horrid taste. Shall we go in?"

The Judge offered his arm with the formal gallant air he could assume at will and the other men followed at a discreet distance: her shimmering gown had a long tail. Mr. Dinwiddie's eyes seemed to bore into that graceful swaying back, but he was not the man to discuss his hostess until he had left her house, and Clavering could only wonder what conclusions were forming in that avid cynical old brain.

The dining-room, long and narrow, was at the back of the hall and extended along the entire width of the large house. Like the hall, it was panelled and dark, an imposing room hung with family portraits. A small table at the end looked like a fairy oasis. It glittered and gleamed and the flowers were mauve, matching the tall wand-like candles.

"I do hope, Madame Zattiany," said Mr. Osborne, as he took a seat at her left, "that you won't succumb to the prevailing mania for white, and paint out this beautiful old walnut. Too many of our houses look entirely too sanitary. One feels as if he were about to be shown up to a ward, to be received by a hospital nurse with a warning not to speak too loud." There was no chill formality in his mien as he bent over his young and beautiful hostess.

"Ah, you forget this is Countess Zattiany's house," she said, smiling. "But I will admit that if it were mine I should make few changes. White was quite a la mode in London long before the war, but, myself, I never liked it."

Judge Trent sat opposite his hostess at the round table. She had placed Mr. Dinwiddie and Mr. Osborne on either side of her, smiling at Clavering. "I am sorry I do not know any young ladies," she said graciously, although there was a twinkle in her eye. "You look rather lonesome."

"Why should he?" growled Dinwiddie. "He is young and you are young. The rest of us are the ones to feel out of it."

"Not a bit of it! Not a bit of it!" exclaimed Judge Trent. "You forget that Madame Zittiany has lived in Europe since infancy. She's talked to elderly statesmen all her life."

"Well, we're not statesmen, the Lord knows." Dinwiddie could always be relied on to make the obvious retort, thought Clavering, although it must be admitted that he was seldom with none at all. "But you must have seen more young men than old during the war, Madame Zittiany. I understand that Mary turned her palace in Buda Pesth into a hospital and that you were her chief assistant."

"That is quite true, and I had by no means confined myself before that to elderly statesmen; but I had almost forgotten what a young man on his feet looked like before the war finished. Or Society, for that matter. My one temptation to enter Society here would be the hope of forming a relief organization—drive, do you call it?—for the starving children of Austria. Russian children are not the only pitiable objects in Europe, and after all, the children of civilized countries are of more value to the future of the world."

"Another drive!" Judge Trent groaned. "New York flees to cover at the word. Enter Society by all means, but to give your youth its rights. You have been deprived of them too long."

"I shall never feel as young as that again. Nor will any girl who was merely sixteen at the beginning of the war ever be the same as your care-free young ladies here. I sit in the restaurants and watch them with amazement—often with anger. What right have they . . . however . . . as for myself I shall not re-enter the world for any but the object I have just mentioned. Luncheons! Dinners! Balls! I was surfeited before the war. And I have forgotten persiflage, small talk. I am told that Americans avoid serious topics in Society. I, alas, have become very serious."

She swept her favored guests with a disarming smile. They understood. There was no sting in her words for them.

Clavering spoke up eagerly. "Why should you bore yourself with social functions? If you want to raise money for the children I will not only start a drive in my column, but take you to call on several powerful editors—or bring them here," he added hastily at the look of amazement in her eyes, "and they will be more than willing to help you. They have only to meet you——"

"That is all very well," interrupted Judge Trent, who, like the other elderly gentleman, was glaring at the famous young columnist who daily laid down the law to his admiring readers. "But to raise money in large amounts you've got to have a committee, and no committee is of any use—for this sort of thing—without the names of fashionable women who are as well known to our democratic public, that daily devours the society columns, as the queens of the movies."

"Well—well—I do not know. I must think. It is not a step to take lightly."

Clavering intercepted a flash between her eyes and Judge Trent's and the old gentleman tightened his lips in a self-conscious smirk as he bent over his fish.

"Damn him!" thought Clavering. "He knows the whole truth and is laughing at us in his sleeve."

Madame Zattiany had turned the subject gracefully to European politics, and he watched her with a detached air. Trent's attitude toward her amused him. It was more deferential and admiring than infatuated. . . Whatever her charm, she was no longer in her first youth, and only unripe fruit could sting that senescent palate. But the other two! Clavering smiled sardonically. Dinwiddie, hanging on her every word, was hardly eating. He was a very handsome man, in spite of his shining pate and heavy white moustache. His features were fine and regular, his eyes, if rather prominent, were clear and blue, his skin clean and his figure but little amplified. He was only sixty-two.

Osborne, who looked barely fifty, was personable and clever enough to attract any woman. He, too, was astonishingly indifferent to the excellent dinner and both these gentlemen had reached an age where, if wary of excess for reasons of vanity and interior comfort, they derived their sincerest enjoyment at the table.

That she possessed sex magnetism in a superlative degree in spite of her deliberate aloofness, Clavering had, of course, been conscious from the first. Had not every male firstnighter been conscious of it? There was a surfeit of beauty in New York. A stranger, even if invested with mystery, must possess the one irresistible magnet, combined with some unusual quality of looks, to capture and hold the interest of weary New Yorkers as she had done. Even the dramatic critics, who looked as if they hated everybody, had been seen to gaze upon her with rare approval.

But tonight Clavering had a glimpse of something more than a magnetism for which she was not responsible and to which she had seemed singularly indifferent. It was quite evident that he was watching charm in action. She was sparkling and exerting herself, talking brilliantly and illuminatingly upon the chaos still known as Europe, and it was patent that her knowledge was not derived from newspapers or drawing-room gossip. Her personal acquaintance of public men had evidently been extensive before the war, and she had as manifestly continued to see those in and out of office in Vienna and Buda Pesth throughout all the later fluctuations. Her detestation of the old German militaristic party was unmitigated and she spoke of the late ruler of the Dual Empire and of his yearning heir with no respect whatever. With other intelligent people she believed Bolshevism to be an inevitable phase in a country as backward and ignorant as Russia, but, to his surprise, she regarded the Republican ideal of government as the highest that had yet been evolved from finite minds, still far from their last and highest stages of development. She believed that the only hope of the present civilization was to avert at any cost the successful rise of the proletariat to power until the governing and employing classes had learned sufficient wisdom to conciliate it and treat it with the same impartial justice they now reserved for themselves. ("And to educate themselves along the lines laid down in 'The Mind in the Making,'" interpolated Clavering.) might achieve would be followed by the same hideous results as in Russia—in other words, the same results that had followed all servile uprisings since the dawn of history. When the underdog, who has never felt anything but an underdog with all the misery and black injustice the word implies, finds himself on top he will inevitably torture and murder his former oppressors. He hasn't the intelligence to foresee the ultimate folly of his acts, or that the only hope of the world is equal justice for all classes; he merely gratifies his primitive instinct for vengeance—precisely the same today, as during the first servile uprising of Rome—he butchers and slaughters and wrecks, and then sinks with his own weight, while what brains are left reconstruct civilization out of the ruins. "The trouble is that the reconstructing brains are never quite good enough, and after a time it is all to do over again. . . ."

This was by no means a monologue, but evoked in the give and take of argument with Mr. Osborne, who believed in never yielding an inch to the demands of labor, and with Mr. Dinwiddie, who, since his association with the Sophisticates, was looking forward vaguely toward some idealistic regeneration of the social order, although Socialism was rather out of date among them, and Bolshevism long since relegated to the attic.

NOT REPUBLICAN MENACE

COLOGNE, Nov 15—The former Crown Prince, says the Volks Zeitung the leading Catholic journal in the Rhineland, is no menace to the present republican form of government. The newspaper adds that it believes Frederick William never will become a candidate or a rallying point for the monarchists. It is inclined, on the other hand, to view him as an element which in all probability will constitute a disturbing factor in the monarchist ranks, in that it will keep them divided.

A MOTHER CRIES FOR HER KIDDIES

By GEORGE BRITT.

WHITEWATER, Wis., Nov. 15.—No man, not even her husband, ever paid flattering attention to Myrtle Schaude before Ernest Kufahl came to room at her home.

These lines, perhaps, furnish the explanatory background and motivation for the incredible mystery tragedy resulting in the woman being held on charges of giving a deadly sleeping draught to her husband and attempting to poison her four children.

Characters in the drama:

Mrs. Schaude, 36, pretty, capable, ardent, suppressed.

Edward Schaude, 52, hard-working, conscientious, phlegmatic.

Kufahl, 29, prim and restrained.

And the children—Ralph, 16; Delbert, 12; Mae, 9; Lawrence, 5; all well-behaved and well-liked, helpless, police say, in woeful innocence.

In her cell in the county jail at Elkhorn, Mrs. Schaude constantly is pleading to see her babies.

"I can't bear the thought of being sent away from my children," she wails again and again.

Pleads for Children.

Yet, according to the authorities, if she had not faltered some weeks ago in sacrificing them, the children now would be in the cemetery beside their father.

This, the police declare, is the story they've pieced together bit by bit:

For 18 years Mrs. Schaude drudged through her married life. Her neighbors regarded her as a model mother and a stand-by in her church. On the farm, she helped her husband in the fields.

When the family moved to town, she began keeping boarders. Kufahl came to room at her house. He volunteered to help Mrs. Schaude wash the dishes and tidy the house.

Drinks and Dies.

In the spring, Schaude became ill. His wife was exhausted from nursing him, so Kufahl offered to take her place at night.

Kufahl, according to Mrs. Schaude's purported statement, agreed to mix a drink that would quiet the patient. Mrs. Schaude objected. But she says Kufahl insisted he knew what he was doing and she believed him.

She placed the glass beside the bed. During the night Schaude drank and died.

Kufahl threatened her with a similar fate, Mrs. Schaude maintains, if she should breathe the secret.

The Auto Ride.

Last summer, dressed in her widow's black, Mrs. Schaude visited Kufahl on a farm near McGrath Minn. They talked of marriage, she says, but he objected that she could not take the children with her.

On a September evening she borrowed a neighbor's automobile and took the children for a ride.

Before reaching a sharp turn in the road, she produced a bag of candy. Strychnine had been placed in advance in each chocolate drop. Ralph, the driver, would be stricken first, and the car would plunge over an embankment. The deaths would appear accidental.

But mother love conquered over clandestine infatuation. Mrs. Schaude's heart fluttered warningly as her offspring tasted.

Kufahl Denies Guilt.

"Spit them out," she screamed. "They'll poison you."

And with her own fingers, she removed a sticky wad from Baby Lawrence's mouth.

Ralph refused to be scared. He swallowed his candy. But the mother rushed all back to town and called a physician. Ralph took sick, but recovered.

District Attorney Alfred L. Godfrey stepped into the case and began asking questions. Twenty-four hours later she made a clean breast of it all, Godfrey declares.

Kufahl, also in Elkhorn jail, laboriously denies Mrs. Schaude's incriminating statements. And of her he will not talk.

"I'm not going to injure her," he tells all interviewers. "When this is all over and she gets back to her senses, I don't want any words of mine to affect her feeling for me."

College women live longer than other women, according to a study made by Myra M. Hulst of the American Red Cross.

ANTI-CHURCH UNIONISTS ADVERTISE.

The Presbyterian Church Association, which is championing the cause against church union, has decided that the daily press is the one logical medium to tell its story to the people.

The Anti-Unionists claim they have a real story to tell, and one that should be read and considered by all members of their Church.

They look upon this subject as one that concerns not only the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches, but one in which civil as well as religious rights are at stake.

Regardless of the issues—it is certainly a fearless method, and one that must carry the conviction that they do not fear a full consideration of their objections to church union as it is now advocated.

GARTERS OF LATEST STYLE.

Garters have become so very decorative this season that, while the come under the head of "useful" gifts, they may be as luxurious as you desire.

Take two pieces of inch wide ribbon and sew them together to form a casing for the elastic. You may make the outside of pink ribbon and the inside of blue and encircle it with French flowers. Or you can use more substantial color, such as green and rose, or navy blue and gold.

A very elaborate pair may be covered with pink satin and finished with a pompon of pink ostrich feathers with a tiny rosette of the the ribbon inside the pompom.

HOW TO SURPRISE HUBBY AND PLEASE HIS PALATE

JUST TRY THESE RECIPES ON HIM

If friend husband comes home regularly from an out-of-town appointment, raving over the meals he ate in the Pullman diners—

If you, Mrs. Housewife, cast an envious thought at the designers of those delicious dishes—

If that man of yours is still to be shown how extraordinary a cook you are—how, even, you can equal if not surpass the Pullman chefs he so ardently raves about—

Don't let hubby know the secret. THE EXAMINER has succeeded in rounding up some of the best Pullman chefs in the country and extricating from them their choice recipes with which you may surprise friend husband.

All of the cooks interviewed are "private car" men, the pick of the profession.

For instance, Cook Edward Gauffney has served such celebrities as the late President Harding, Lillian Russell, Anna Held, General Pershing, Former Governor Lowden of Illinios and Marshal Foch. For these he always made a hit with his recipe:

Braised Chicken, Spanish Style

Cube some salt pork and cut up dry onions, as desired. Fry together. Pour in together, when browned, one can mushrooms, one cup fresh peas, one can tomatoes ,one tablespoon paprika, two buttons of garlic, salt and red pepper. Cook fast, sprinkle flour and brown.

If you like spaghetti, try the kind Cook James H. Davis prepares for Rodolph Valentino, the original sheik of movie and stageland. And Rudy is one sheik who likes his spaghetti the real Italian way. Here it is:

Spaghetti Italienne

Boil spaghetti in salt water 20 minutes. Drain well. Sprinkle platter with grated Italian cheese, alternating layers of spaghetti and cheese. Cover with Paoli sauce.

The service should have started with soup. But even at this point it would not be amiss to detail one of Cook James Copper's favorite recipes. As a soup expert he's proven his worth to such persons as Paderewski, John McCormack, Senator W. A. Clark, the late Sarah Bernhardt and the late George Pullman himself. Here's his recipe for

Puree of Lentils

Boil two cups of dry lentils in three cups of water until soft. Mash through Chinese strainer in same water. Add one teaspoon butter, one cup cream, some salt and pepper and a few drops of maggi sauce.

* * *

Cook J. B. Burse, from the Philadelphia commissary, offers these two:

Popovers

Two cups flour, 1 quart milk, ⅛ teaspoonful salt, 6 eggs.

Beat up eggs, mix in flour, milk and salt and beat well. This will make twelve popovers.

Cinnamon Buns

One quart milk, 2 quarts flour, 1 cake yeast, ⅗ box raisins, 1 tablespoonful ginger, ⅛ teaspoonful cinnamon, 1 egg, ⅗ cup butter, 1 cup molasses, ⅗ cup brown sugar.

Make sponge as for bread. After it raises, roll out, spread on raisins, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg, brown sugar and butter. Roll up and cut in slices about 1 inch thick. Bake in moderate oven.

Now look over these recipes offered by Chef R. E. Harris:

Crab, Gumbo, Southern Style

One-half pound ham, 2 medium size onions, 1 large green pepper, 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, 1 quart okra (fresh), garlic to taste, 4 medium size crabs, salt, pepper and paprika to taste.

Clean the crabs by pulling the backs off; remove the "dead men" and break in four parts. Wash well and lay on clean towel to dry. While crabs are drying, cut ham, onions and green peppers in small pieces, also okra. Braize the ham over a slow fire. As it turns a golden brown add onions, green peppers, garlic, tomatoes and lastly the okra. Then add 1½ quarts of hot stock to the pot; if you have no stock, use hot water. Lastly add the crabs and let simmer over a slow fire 1½ hours. While that is cooking, prepare one cup of well-washed rice, plain boiled. When serving, place tablespoon of rice in center of plate and pour gumbo all around with piece of crab on each side of rice

Strawberry Shortcake

(For Eight)

1¼ pounds butter, 1¼ pounds lard, 1¼ quarts flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 pint whipping cream, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1 tablespoon salt, 2 quarts strawberries, milk.

To the well sifted flour add sugar, salt and baking powder and sift once more. Then work in well the lard and butter. To these dry ingredients add enough milk to make a soft dough, but not sticky. Kneed smooth and roll out ¾ inch thick and cut 8 biscuits. Place in biscuit pan or on cookie slab and bake a golden brown in moderate oven for about twenty minutes. While hot, on removing from stove, open biscuits and butter well. While they cool, thoroughly chill a deep bowl and pour the ice cold pint of whipping cream therein. Whip until it is stiff, then place in ice box to chill, after adding sugar and vanilla to cream. Next crush the well-washed berries, all but 8 large ones.

On each bottom half of biscuit put two tablespoons of berries. Then on top of berries put one tablespoon of whipped cream. Then put top of biscuit on, next berries, then two tablespoons of whipped cream and last in center of each biscuit the whole berry.

Smothered Breast of Squab Chicken

(For Eight)

Dress five 1½-pound squab chickens.

Place cleaned chicken split down back in a dripping pan and sprinkle well with salt and pepper and flour. Butter well, place in hot oven, let brown a golden color, then put one pint of boiling water in the pan, cover, place back in the oven to simmer about twenty minytes. This chicken should be served with corn fritters.

DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE
SYRUP PEPSIN
brought vigor by morning

How to Keep a Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching that elimination occurs regularly two or three times a day. Mrs. W. E. Margeson, Centreville, N. S., and Mrs. Pratt, 45 Gillson Ave., Runnymede, Toronto, always keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin in the house, ready for use, and avoid many of the ills to which children are subject.

A Substitute for Physics

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientific compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and suitable aromatics. The formula is on every package. You will find you do not have to force children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or coal-tar drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate. Laxative Syrup Pepsin is mild and gentle in action and your child will have an easy passage without griping or strain. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to an infant at the breast.

"Magic" in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Laxative Syrup Pepsin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

BIG CAMPAIGN IN MILLBROOK CHURCH

Rev. H. Barton of Ottawa is Evangelist --Literary Society Meeting.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 15.—The two weeks' evangelistic campaign being conducted by Rev. H. Arthur Barton, of Ottawa, in the Methodist church, Millbrook, under the joint auspices of the Presbyterian and Methodist congregations, is already well under way the opening meeting having been held on Thanksgiving night, when the speaker delivered an inspiring address on "Prayer." A union choir is a feature of the meetings, and the quartette, "For You I am Praying," sung by Rev. G. S. and Mrs. Gervan, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, carried out the theme chosen in a most appropriate manner. Rev. S. T. Tucker sang the verses of "Belshazzar's Feast," on Tuesday evening, the choir joining in the chorus. Mr. Barton's subject was "The Mysterious Handwriting," and the manner in which he recited from memory the dramatic story in the fifth chapter of Daniel, showed excellent training and ability in expression.

Born in England, the son of a Wesleyan Methodist minister who was for twenty-six years a chaplain in the army and whose death occurred in the early years of the war, Rev. H. Arthur Barton at one time chose the stage for his profession and played a leading part with an operatic company which visited many of the cities and larger towns of Canada and the States. To use his own words (for he had left the ministry to go upon the stage), "God kept hammering away at me," until he finally surrendered to the Master's call and entered the evangelistic field, taking up mission work in the Canadian West.

Previous to this time he had been twice pastor of Hyde Park Methodist-Episcopal church in Kansas City, Missouri, and held pastoral relationships in other city churches while in the ministry. He has successfully conducted evangelistic campaigns in Vancouver, Victoria, Lethbridge, Calgary, Toronto, Ottawa, Peterboro, and many other points. Beginning his work with an audience of not more than ten people, Mr. Barton preached to a gathering of three thousand at the fiftieth anniversary of the Nova Scotia Methodist Camp Meeting held at Berwick about two years ago, and as he becomes known in a community his congregations increase in numbers each night.

The subject for Thursday evening is "The Queen of the Home," and for Friday night "Thinking Black, White, or Gray," a particularly strong, and thought-provoking address. Sunday at 3.45 p.m. there will be a meeting for men only held in the town hall, the subjects being "Undiscovered Continents."

Aiken—Manning

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Manning, Oshawa, on Thursday, November 8th, when their only daughter, Barbara, became the bride of Mr. Harvey Aiken, of Cavan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. MacMullen, of Oshawa, a relative of the groom's family. The bride, who was unattended wore a dainty frock of orchid crepe de chine, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and maiden hair fern. Miss Mary Dearborn, a cousin of the bride, played the wedding march, the happy couple standing under an arch of flowers while the marriage was consummated. About fifty guests were present, and a reception was afterwards held, and a sumptuous wedding breakfast served. The drawing-room, dining-room and halls were beautifully decorated with flowers and foliage for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Aiken left for a short honeymoon, the bride travelling in a handsome tricotine suit with hat to match, and fur ruff, and upon their return on Monday evening, have taken up their residence on the family homestead, Fallis Line.

Among those from here who attended the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Aiken, the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Belch, of Fallis Line, the latter a sister of the groom, and his aunt, Miss L. Aiken, of Garden Hill.

Literary Society

At the last meeting of the literary society of the Continuation School the following programme was rendered, the president, Ewart Tucker, being in the chair:

Opening Chorus, "O Canada," by the school; Reading and adoption of Minutes of previous meeting, Secretary, Jean Burnham; Business; Piano solo, Gwendolyn Hutchison; Vocal duet, "Canadian Girl," by Misses Muriel Matchett and Margaret Lang; Reading, "Mr. Can and Mr. Can't," by Jean Blake; Song, "Peanuts, Five a Bag," by Nelles and Lawrence Rowland, Walter Sayles and Keith Barnard; Reading, "A Lecture on Hogs," by Henry Lancashire; Poem, "In Flanders Fields," read by Charlie Anderson.

Personal

The many friends of Mrs. Wentworth Gray will regret to learn that she had the misfortune to fall and badly sprain her right ankle. It is probable that Mrs. Gray will not be able to walk for at least two weeks. Mrs. Gray, Sr., is remaining with her at present.

Mrs. G. E. Burnham and daughter, Mary are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howe, and other friends in Toronto, motoring to the city on Wednesday.

Rev. S. T. Tucker was a visitor to Port Hope on Wednesday.

Mrs. F. Smith and little daughter Bernice and Mrs. J. McKnight were visitors to Peterboro on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howe and little daughter "Peggy," Mrs. E. McConnell and two children, Margaret and Bobby, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. Nattrass, motored to their home in Toronto on Wednesday.

The Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian church are holding their annual bazaar in the armouries on Saturday, Nov. 17th. Owing to the fact that the Aid is giving a fowl supper on the 27th inst. they will not serve the usual supper at the bazaar, but afternoon tea will be dispensed from 3 until 6 p.m.

The anniversary services of the Presbyterian church will be held on Sunday, Dec. 2nd, instead of Nov. 25th as previously advertised. The union evangelistic services do not close until the 25th, hence the change. Rev. Dr. McCrae, of Mt. Forest, is to be the preacher for the occasion.

FLIP OF COIN JAILS WOMAN

Tosses to See if She Should Steal or Take Poison; Former One Wins

DETROIT, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Anna Metevier, thirty-two years old, who flipped a coin to decide whether she would turn thief or commit suicide, faced a jail term today after pleading guilty to shoplifting. Judge William M. Heston remanded her to jail for a week.

Despondent because she lacked new clothes, Mrs. Metevier resolved yesterday to decide by a toss of a coin whether she take poison or steal dresses from a store, according to her statement to Detective Jean Kerr, of a protective association. The dress project won.

She was arrested by the detective as she was alleged to have been leaving a store with two stolen dresses tucked in a paper bag.

CAPITALIZING NAMES

PARIS (United Press).—Hotel men cafe and restaurant proprietors in Paris trying to appeal to the Anglo-Saxon trade usually give themselves a name such as "Henry's" or "Charley's" or what not. But that little possessive apostrophe gets them sometimes. Thus we have a very celebrated place in Montmartre boasting the Franco-Anglo-Saxon-Italian name of "Au Zelli's" which means nothing in any known language. But the climax came the other day when somebody opened a cafe near the Gare de l'Est and named it "Alsace's."

SPLENDID PLAY IN JANETVILLE

Young People Put on Interest-Holding Play —Church News.

JANETVILLE, Nov. 15.—The Quarterly Official Board of Janetville church met on Monday evening and held a most pleasant meeting. The report of the finance committee was called for and the financial condition was found to be most satisfactory. It was decided that the funds of the church would be raised by voluntary contributions rather than by any kind of social functions. The congregations last Sabbath were large and appreciative.

Entertainment

The popular play entitled "Martha Made Over," staged last Friday evening by the young people of the village, in the Foresters' Hall, and presented under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church, was an unqualified success. Notwithstanding the darkness of the night, and the unfavorable condition of the roads, about three hundred people attended, and availed themselves of a rare treat.

The entertainment was of a superior order and the play itself was characterized by lofty moral tone, wealth of humor and pathos, was simple, balanced and natural in action; and was absolutely free from the least objectionable word or suggestion.

The characters represented were as follows:

Martha Hays—Mrs. J. Bradburn.
Mr. Hays—R. J. Burn.
Ann and Blanch Hays—Miss Bone and Miss B. Bradburn.
Davie Hays—Arthur Stinson.
Ruth Dawn—Miss Gray.
Uncle Joe—Mr. Cawood.
Mrs. West—Miss Jacket.
Mrs. Fare—Miss Henry.
Samantha—Miss M. Richardson.
Dr. Molar—Harry Thornton.
Mrs. Box—Miss A. Armstrong.
Rev. Mr. Black—Naysmith Henry.

All of these excelled themselves, and it was clearly demonstrated as the action proceeded, that the selection of the characters had been well and wisely made. The whole cast reflects great credit on Mrs. J. Bradburn and those who contributed toward such an excellent issue.

The interludes by Mr. Harry Thornton awere well chosen and splendidly executed, and the order was the very best. Already the young people have been requested to repeat the play in Janetville, and they are booked for Nestleton on the 30th of this month.

The delightful evening's program closed with the singing of the National Anthem, and the audience went away pleased with the evening's proceedings and proud of the splendid talent of the young folks which is second to none in the county.

A Thought

Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night, till wine enflame them.—Isa. 5:11.

It were better for a man to be subject to any vice than drunkenness, for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness.—Sir Walter Raleigh.

Even the Joy of Christmas Carols

¶ There is not a city in all this land, not a village, no matter how remote that may not know even the joy of Christmas Carols as sung in the greatest Cathedrals—that may not have within their individual homes, the fulness of the festival spirit that is abroad at this time of the year—that may not know the living genius of such an incomparable artist as Caruso—that may not dance to the rythm of such famous orchestras as Paul Whiteman's—that may not be able to command at will the genius of the world's greatest artist—for "His Master's Voice" Victrola—the "Theatre of the Home" and "His Master's Voice"-Victor Records, the "performers of the home", are the artist and his genius.

¶ "His Master's Voice" Victrola is a versatile companion, an instrument of precious workmanship and marvellous tone that yields a melody of enchantment to all who have ears to hear. It is as distinctive from other instruments as the golden notes of Galli-Curci differ from the attempts of an unknown soprano.

¶ Even as the genius of Caruso is immortal, so are such gifts as "His Master's Voice" Victrola—immortal. They embody an expression of the highest, truest form of friendship, of regard, of love. And not one single home but will be the happier because of it. Then what better time for the giving of your Victrola than this very Yuletide.

¶ And price is no obstacle—for genuine Victrolas are made in many styles at many prices, from $37.50 to $615.00. To prevent substitution look "under the lid" for our famous trade-mark "His Master's Voice"—so that your gift may be all that you want it to be—a genuine Victrola.

An Ideal
CHRISTMAS GIFT

"His Master's Voice"—Victor records also make an incomparable gift. You can send into the homes of your friends the living individualities of immortal singers such as Caruso, great violinists such as Elman, famous dance orchestras such as Paul Whiteman's—these and the other world's greatest artists—are yours to choose from. "His Master's Voice" dealers have selections of records all in attractive Christmas boxes. Plan to buy yours today.

Red Seal Records are now double-sided. Two selections for practically the price of one. New catalogue listing all double-sided Red Seal Records now ready. Ask for free copy.

WOMAN'S WORLD IS FOUR-FOLD

Interesting Lecture to Women's Institute as Warsaw- Personal Newt

WARSAW, Nov. 15.—Last Thursday morning several Women's Institute members met in the Institute rooms and quilted and bound two quilts for the Armenian Home. They had lunch and a very happy time. The regular monthly meeting was held in the afternoon. Rev. P. L. Jull, of Lakefield, addressed those present on "Woman's World." He outlined the menial position which women had occupied for many years, her position was absolutely menial, even in the time of Christ. the disciples were surprised that He spoke with a woman at all. However, there were constantly examples of women winning out, as in the case of Queen Esther. Woman owes much to Christianity, for it is Christianity that put women where she is.

Woman's world is four-fold: First, in the home. No home is complete without her. Second, the Church. Sometimes a man's religion is in his wife's name. Woman has done much by her faithfulness and devotion. Third, to the School. Majority of teachers are women, and the greater number of them do not remain in the profession. Fourth, the State. Recently woman has been given the franchise and now the bogies which so many men feared, have been proven groundless. Woman has entered the world of business, also of politics. Woman's work in politics is more on the moral side. He spoke of the great need of women working to keep Canada, as a whole, dry.

He is not discouraged that Manitoba and Alberta have gone wet, the tide comes and goes. It will eventually be that prohibition must come, and women must do a great work there.

Mrs. J. A. Crowe recited "A Message from the Poor-house."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

Do you ever cure ham or shoulder or bacon yourself? It may sound like quite an undertaking but it's really easy to do and very much worth while. A fresh ham is never as expensive as a smoked one at the butcher shop and if you can buy direct from a farmer the saving will amount to much.

Most butchers have smoking facilities for their own use and are willing to take care of the smoking of meat for their customers.

While the cured hams and bacon on the market are very good you will enjoy some home-sugar-cured ham.

To Sugar Cure Ham or Bacon

Five pounds salt 5 ounces pepper 1 ounce saltpetre 1 pint molasses. This rule will cure 100 pounds of pork.

Rub one tablespoon table salt around the bone of the hams and shoulders. Rub meat well with molasses. Mix salt pepper and saltpetre and rub on the meat. Use about one-third of the whole amount the first time. Let stand three days. Repeat twice with an interval of three days each time. Let stand in a cool place for from four to six weeks. Smoke.

This method does away with fussing with a brine but it's sort of "messy" rubbing the molasses into the meat and the meat must be put into tubs while standing. Perhaps you will prefer the use of brine. Personally I think the meat runs less risk of being hard when a brine is used.

To Cure Pork With Brine

First rub each ham with 1 teaspoonful of powdered saltpetre. Rub around the bone with 1 teaspoon of pepper.

For 50 pounds of meat.—Mix one and one-half pounds brown sugar with two cups salt and rub meat thoroughly. Put a layer of salt in the bottom of a large tub put in meat skin side down and sprinkle with salt. Add more meat cover and let stand for eight days. Then take out wipe off all the salt and wash the tub.

Take five ounces saltpetre eight cups molasses eight cups salt two gallons water. Boil and skim. When cool pour over meat in the tub. The brine should completeiy cover the meat. Turn the meat once a week to be sure it is curing evenly. Let stand in the brine four or five weeks. The bacon will cure in three weeks. Then take out and smoke.

The woman who must use any large amount of lard during the winter will find she can save money if she will buy the fat and try out the lard at home.

Buy "leaf" lard at the butcher shop and try out the fat. This will insure superior lard for pies and cookies.

To Try Out Lard

Cut the fat into small pieces. Put in a big smooth kettle with just enough water to cover the bottom. The water is added to prevent scorching w hen the fat is put over the fire. Cook slowly stirring frequently until the pieces of fat are crisp and crackly. When these settle to the bottom of the kettle the lard is done. Remove tfrom he fire and strain into a sterilized stone jar. When cold tie a clean cloth and several thicknesses of paper over the top.

In the good old days these little crisp bits of fat were made into a sort of porridge. They were known as "cracklins" and were considered a treat.

Put cracklins into boiling water add salt and sift in corn meal to make a thick mush. Cook slowly stirring often just as you do plain corn meal mush. Turn into a mold and when cold and firm cut in thin slices. Fry a golden brown and serve with maple syrup.

This is a really delicious luncheon dish on a cold day.

Here's What Each of the 30 Club Members Will Get

Our Christmas Club Radio Outfit is the Detector or First Unit of the Northern Electric Set, which has been proved by our customers for a year or more to be fully capable of receiving programmes of any nature from such distant points as Chicago, Davenport, Iowa; Newark, N. J.; Denver, Colo., and other stations at shorter distances. All these points are reached in the most satisfactory manner.

This Unit is the first and main section of our large Northern Electric Outfit, and is complete in itself with Batteries, Peanut Tube, Aerial Wire and one set of Head Phones.

This section can be added to at any time desired with Amplifying Units that increase the receiving radius, or amplify the sound when weather conditions render them fainter than under ideal conditions.

Aerials are easily erected and connected, but if desired connection can be made to any electric light socket by a special attachment that usually gives the same service. This is the outfit at our second price of $49.50, but we recommend the Aerial in preference.

At a still lower price we offer a complete unassembled outfit of parts in a Knock-Down Set, including Cabinet, Panel Board, Peanut Tube, Dry Batteries, Head Phones, Aerial Wires, etc., which you can build up yourself and get the result with less outlay, or we'll build it for you at a small additional charge.

Our Club Offers

Lower In Price Than Ever Before

Each of the 30 members of our Christmas Radio Club will have their choice of the following outfits:

BOTNICK BROS. 432 GEORGE STREET

IN MEMORIAM.

CLARK—In loving memory of my dear Father, Thomas Clark, who died November 16, 1921.

Two years have passed our hearts still sore.
As time rolls on, we miss him more
His loving smile, his welcome face
No one can fill his vacant place.

Forget him no, we never will;
We loved him then, we love him still.
His memory is as fresh today
As in the hour he passed away.

Oh how our hearts do wander
To the lone and silent grave
Where they laid our loved one
Just two years ago today.

The happy hours we one enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still,
But death has left a vacant place,
The world can never fill.

His weary hours and days of pain,
His troubled nights has passed,
His ever patient worn out frame,
Has found sweet rest at last.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE TALE OF A COTTONTAIL

"'That's funny,' sez Mistah Fox."

Down in Dixie Land the Twins came to a field that looked as though there had been a snow storm.

"Why, it's cotton!" said Nancy in surprise. "I always thought betton grew in blue paper boxes that you buy at the drug-store."

"And I always thought it grew on Christmas trees," said Nick, laughing at his own joke.

"You two're jest lak two other folkses I know about," said a new voice, and turning the Twins beheld an old colored man.

"Will you tell us about them?" asked Nick qtietly.

"Sholy! Sholy!" said the old man kindly. "I'll tell you 'bout Mistah Rabbit an' Mistah Fox tradin' tails.

"Once upon a time Mistah Rabbit met Mistah Fox takin' a walk.

"'What yo all doin', Mistah Rabbit?' asked Mistah Fox, polite like.

"'Oh, jes' takin' a walk to exercise my tail,' sez Mistah Rabbit, foh in those days he had a sho nuf fine long bushy tail!

"'That's funny,' sez Mistah Fox. 'That's ezzackly what I wuz doin', and he set down hard, fer true as I tell you, he had no tail at all an' he didn't wand Mistah Rabbit. to see.

"'Say,' sez he, 'I saw a queer thing today, Mistah Rabbit.'

"'What wuz that' asks Mistah Rabbit.

"'Why I saw a tree with cotton growing on it,' sez Mistah Fox.

"'Oh, go 'long. Yo nevah did,' sez Mistah Rabbit. 'No tree ever had cotton growin' on it!'

"'True ez I tell yo,' sez Mistah Fox. 'I seed it with these very eyes. Ef I's mistaken, I'll give yo my tail, so I will!'

"'N nen Mistah Rabbit he spoke up 'n sez the very thing Mistah Fox know he would. He sez, sez he, 'It's too silly to be true, Mistah Fox. If yo all is right, why then I'll give you my tail.'

"'Don!' sez Mistah Fox. 'Come on 'n I show you. You go first ez I c'n see ovah yo head.'

"Bime by, sure enough they came to cottonwood-tree. 'There!' sez Mistah Fox. 'Didn't I tole you? Yo owe me something.' And befoh Mistah Rabbit could say 'yip' Mistah Fox don bit off his tail and ran off lickety split to get his ole woman to tie it on 'im.

"Ag' ever since that day Mistah Fox has had a fine tail, he has, and Mistah Rabbit isn't got any.

"Mistah Rabbit was so mad he dance aroun' and aroun'. 'All rightee!' he sez. 'I lost my fine tail all on account o' some silly ole cotton, so cotton can supply all de rabbits' tails foh de nex' two hundred yeahs.'

"An' dat's why rabbits is called cottontails, honeys. You can believe it or not. But don't ever arguly 'bout nothin' yo isn't sho about. Cotton doesn't grow on cottonwood trees any more 'n it does on milkweeed, but the blossoms looked enough like it to lose Mistah Rabbit a tail, so it did."

MOUNT ST. ELIAS IS GREAT HEIGHT.

It Is Now 18,024 Feet High But Wait Until It Is Through Growing.

SKAGWAY, Alaska, Nov. 15.—Mount St. Elias is 18,024 feet high today—but wait until it's through growing!

It may get taller than Mount McKinley and even take the world-wide leadership from Mount Everest.

St. Elias is a rapidly growing little cuss. Already St. Elias is third highest of North America's peaks—and it is a mere infant, geologists declare.

One of science's favorite sports these days is watching St. Elias grow. And it is performing, too, scientists tell the world.

Mount St. Elias is in southeastern Alaska, part of the St. Elias range, which forms the boundary between American and Canadian territory. Its lower sides and base are buried in massive glaciers, which stretch along the coast for more than 100 miles. It is just a few miles inland from Yakutat Bay. This makes St. Elias visible from steamers travelling fairly close to shore.

Quakes Responsible.

Rising from the coast through its glaciers, Mount St. Elias presents a vista not to be found elsewhere—a sheer sweep from ocean to sky, with nothing save low lying glaciers to break the view of the mountain.

But to get back to growing mountains—

It's not the climate, geologists say, although it is admitted that perpetual snow is an asset to a peak's beauty.

Rather, it is geological formation that makes Elias grow. The St. Elias mountains were formed by the earth's uplift, involving folding and faulting. Mount St. Elias is still actively growing, growth being accomplished by movements of the earth along a series of fault lines. Through these, the mountain block is being uplifted.

Earthquakes are the "growing pains" of the mountain's growth. In addition to sending the peak closer to the sky, these temblors have also made many changes in the Yakutat district.

"Growing Pains."

The last big growth recorded for Mount St. Elias occurred late in 1899. A cataclysmic upheaval shook a wide area in southeastern Alaska. It apparently centred in the Yakutat region. The few whites and the natives who were fishing there at the time, declare the earthquake shocks, of unusual violence, continued for 17 days.

And Mount St. Elias grew taller as a result. Likewise, Yakutat Bay's innermost recesses were changed about.

On the shore of Disenchantment Bay closest to Mount St. Elias, the beach was raised from seven to 47 feet. On the opposite side, there was a corresponding depression. In the bay, two reefs appeared.

High above the reach of the present highest waves, the west shore shows rock benches, caves, pebbles and other evidences of seawater activities. Scattered through these are the remains of marine life, left high and dry by the upheavals. Barnacles and mussel shells are found many feet from the water, still clinging to ledges. Marine growths always below low tide level are also out of the water, while there are several lines of driftwood, etc., some distance apart, each marking a former water level.

Sunk Elsewhere.

Compensating for this rise is the depression elsewhere. As a result, a forest formerly bordering the shore line is now in the water. Waves running through the trees are beginning to kill the trees.

The U. S. Geological Survey, which sent a party of scientists to study the phenomenon, found unquestionable evidence of the mountain's growth.

In the course of a few hundred aeons, Mount St. Elias, at this rate, ought to be a real sizable little hummock — while Disenchantment Bay may be moved from Alaska to Panama.

Mothers Should Not NEGLECT BRONCHITIS In The Babies

Mrs. E. Langdon, Kingston, Ont., writes:—"My baby boy had bronchitis when he was two weeks old, he recovered from the attack but took it again, several months later, and on account of the severity I was almost panic-stricken to know what to do for him. My mother advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, as she had used it for several years with splendid results.

I got a bottle, and after I had used it I could see a decided improvement in him; after several bottles he was completely relieved.

My boy is now two years old, and he has never had an attack of bronchitis since.

As a mother, raising a family, I am very grateful to know that I have found a real remedy for bad colds and bronchitis, as it lifts care and anxiety from an anxious mother's shoulders."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 35c. a bottle; the large family size 60c.; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

RAW STEAK MAK"? A MAN FEROCIOUS.

People Believe That Raw Steak Will Make Fighter Ferocious.

Do people acquire the characteristics of what they eat? Yes, according to one scientific theory supported by many vegetarians. A lot of us have the same notion lurking in the back of our heads—as, for instance, the popular belief that feeding raw steak to a prize fighter makes him ferociously aggressive.

Possibly this theory will explain the sad, resigned facial expressions of so many of the patrons of the buttermilk bars.

On the other hand, last night in a restaurant we observed a frail, timid-appearing little woman industriously attacking a huge steak, French fries, salad, pie and the like. Over in the corner sat a big bruiser of a man, picture of health. He was eating crackers and milk.

Considerable sensation has recently been caused among the world's anthropologists by F. P. Armitage's book which presents the theory that racial characteristics are determined by the diet consumed over many generations.

Armitage claims that racial pigmentation or coloring is controlled by the amount of salt habitually consumed with food. His theory is that the dark races could bleach themselves considerably by eating more salt for many generations.

And so on. Armitage arguing that all the physical characteristics, peculiar to the various races and nationalities, are the result of ancestors' diet.

If he's right, the eventual absence of alcohol from the diet may work some startling changes in our descendants' appearances.

Something New in Restaurant

By MILTON BRONNER.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—There is a restaurant here in which the set meal of the day is preceded by grace and closed with grace. It isn't under church auspices either.

It happens to be one of the quaintest eating houses of London. Its habits and customs have come down through the generations. For 200 years in this restaurant they have served at a low price a one o'clock lunch which is known as a "fish ordinary."

Even today with prices constantly going up, you get this lunch for about 50 cents: a thick, nourishing soup, boiled turbot with lobster sauce, fried sole (one of the kings of English fish) and then the tiny whitebait, beloved of Englishmen. Follows then a good old-fashioned heavy English boiled pudding and delicious cheese and biscuit.

The house has a chairman who presides at the head of the table, ladles out the food, says the two graces and conducts a guessing contest on the height, girth and weight of the huge Stilton cheese from which slices are carved for the guests.

If anybody in the place guesses all three correctly, champagne is served free to the guests!

There is an air of cozy jollity about the whole thing that could be matched no place in the world. Which is why visitors make a beeline for the place as soon as they hit little old London.

George Harvey, American Ambassador to Great Britain, is in serious danger of having a grandson-in-law, Dorothy Thompson, his little granddaughter, has been visiting him.

"Grandpa," she said the other day, "when I grow up I think I will marry an Englishman. They are nicer even than Americans."

"Is that so?" said Grandfather Harvey. "What kind of an Englishman will you marry?"

"A policeman. I love their nice blue bonnets with the chin-straps!"

A charming yarn has just come down here from the English-Scotch border line.

Queen Mary was visiting some aristocratic friends there. The hostess was very desirous that the Queen should fry some of the honey for which the country is celebrated. Accordingly one morning she set out for the little farm of an old woman who is famous for the product of her bees.

"I would like some of your splendid honey," said the noblewoman.

She got a negative shake of the head.

"But why not? It is for the Queen herself."

"Can't help it, ma'am. I haven't much and I've got to serve my regular customers."

* * *

Which reminds me of the experience of the King of Italy. He was on a hunting trip up in the Italian Alps. He stopped at a little farmhouse and had a simple breakfast of coffee, bread and two boiled eggs. The price for the eggs was quite exorbitant.

"Are eggs so scarce up here?" demanded the King.

"No," snapped the Italiant peasant woman, "but Kings are."

New York, with a population of 5,620,948 has only 365,963 dwellings.

Lapointe Gained 18 Lbs. by Taking Tanlac

"I have gotten rid of stomach trouble of five years standing, have gained eighteen pounds and never felt better in my life," is the way H. Lapointe, 368 Clarence St., Ottawa, Ont., sums up the benefits he has derived from the famous Tanlac treatment.

"Nervous dyspepsia hurt me so bad I could hardly eat or sleep. Often I went all day long without eating anything trying to keep off my pain and misery. I suffered from gas on my stomach, heart palpitation, and loss of sleep until my nerves got so unstrung I could hardly write my name.

"My weight dropped down to only one hundred and twenty-five pounds, but since tkaing Tanlac I tip the scales at one hundred and forty-three. I eat everything, sleep all night without waking and feel fine. I can tell the world that Tanlac is great medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

"FIRST PEEPS INTO CHRISTMAS"

Fashion's Favorite ! Fur-Trimmed Coats

WHETHER it is a band of fox across the buttom of the apron front, an upstanding collar of grey squirrel that softly frames the face or a strip of self material on bias at the closing point, the exquisitely Fur Trimmed Coat flatters as it becomes. Marvella, peachbloom and Bolivia in rich Hindu brown and sorrento blue lend added loveliness and mark these Coats decidedly in accord with the season's last-minute modes.

A Jacquette Blouse For Women Who Favour the New

WHAT woman does not have a radiant interest in the new style whims? Jacquette Blouses are splendid gift ideas. One of blistered silk, Canton crepe or satin will charmingly complete the tailleur, or worn with a silk skirt an afternoon frock is achieved. New shades are very smart.

Gowns Inspired by Paris

THE discriminating woman will recognize the correctness of these Gowns by their slim straight silhouette, or perhaps by the flounced skirt and semi-basque waist, by the picturesque chemise style, and by the long draped lines of yet another model. She will appreciate, too, the exquisite fabrics, embroidered crepe and velvet, Canton, Georgette and shimmering satin, in the season's loveliest colors.

Suits That Serve in All but the Coldest Weather

One Third Off the Regular Price

MANY WOMEN like to wear a good looking Suit under a loose wrap of fur or cloth on the chilliest days. This selection includes models just right for immediate wear, and marked at 1/3 off their regular.

Women's New Coats To Be Worn This Winter—$27.50

SMART women everywhere welcome the new Coats for fall and winter, with lavish trimmings and collars of fur. The collection just received shows ladies' and misses' styles and sizes in tweed, velour and duvetyne fabrics. Many have collars and cuffs of self materials and others are of beaverine. One particular number is in sand duvetyne, full lined, collar, cuffs and side panel trimmed with beaverine and side front fastening. Many others equally as smart.

Misses' Cloth Dresses $7.50

FIFTEEN only! These are priced regardless of their former cost. Many new materials are shown in styles that are prevailing this season. Homespun and tweed mixtures are exceedingly nice, while navy serge has been fashioned to make one who is most particular wish for one for every-day wear. Trims of wool, embroidery, soutache, military braid and buttons, and styles are mostly straight of line. Sizes 16 to 20.

Many Delightful Millinery Shapes $4.50

A NEW DRESS certainly deserves a becoming Hat. There are some fascinating ones of Velvet, Silk, and Felt in this Fall assortment, each one tastefully trimmed with Flowers, Ribbons, and Feathers.

Come in and try them on—you will like the many New and Different Shapes, and fall in love with their Trimmings.

Hosiery

With Extra Refinements of Quality

EVEN though Hosiery does make a splendid gift ordinarily, the new styles in gift selections here make another reason why you should give Hosiery. They are a fascinating ensemble of day and evening styles. The extra beauty of the texture and the distinctive touches, such as clocks, stripes and dropstitch effects, make them quite out of the ordinary.

Stationery

In Gift Boxes

NICER STATIONERY than a person might choose for herself is the loveliest sort of a gift and always in good taste. Of course, there is fashion in Stationery just as in other things, and the new shades and sizes are displayed here.

We have two hundred boxes of Thelma Lawn Note Paper and Envelopes with a new ripple edge and tinted outline in blue, pink, mauve and white shades, all attractively boxed, selling To-morrow at 39c.

A Fine Book

Is a Gift That Endures

THE people who seem to have everything—that are just the hardest in the world to choose for—give them Books. Many fine Books boast special gift bindings that make them especially attractive. Choose gift Books early enough to read them yourself, and then give each person the story best suited to his or her tastes. A Book world, too, for the children, sparkling with nuggets of delicious nonsense.

A Pair of Book Ends or Candlesticks

A FRIEND in need is the pair of Book Ends that gathers under its wing your pet volumes. The new ones are in walnut and mahogany. And Candlesticks! TURNBULL'S SALE
OF MEN'S SUITS

Continues To Be The Centre of Attraction

There are several reasons. First, because the value is the biggest ever presented to the men of Peterboro. Second, because they are made of high-grade pure wool materials that are especially constructed for durability. Thirdly, because they are made up in a practical business style, yet revealing expert workmanship. Fourthly, because there is a suit to fit every size. Fifthly, because there is a good variety to choose from. Sizes have been filled up again this week. The assortment is practically as good as on the first day of the sale.

SALE HELD ON TOP FLOOR

A CRIPPLED LAWYER MAKES IT CHEERY FOR THE AFFLICTED KIDDIES IN THE HOME TOWN

MINNEAPOLIS, November 16. — From the purse of a hopeless cripple comes a magnificent gift—a gift measuring $1,000,000 in money, but priceless in the measure of its aid to stricken humanity.

William Henry Eustis, former mayor of Minneapolis, helplessly lame since boyhood, has saved and struggled through life in order that he might prevent other children suffering as he has suffered.

Affliction and despair have made no misanthrope of him. He is a warm-hearted old bachelor, happier now than he has been for more than threescore of his 78 years, in the realisation that at last he has fulfilled his wish despite the terrible handicap fate imposed upon him.

Gets Noted Surgeon.

Eustis has set apart a million dollars from his savings for the erection and perpetuation of a hospital and convalescent home for crippled children to be administered by the University of Minnesota.

And he also makes it possible to have the hospital placed in charge of Dr. F. C. Pirquet, world famous pediatric specialist, who has resigned from the University of Vienna to come to the University of Minnesota and look after the Eustis enterprise.

Eustis hasn't always been a cripple. He, too, has known what it is to run and play.

The huskiest of 12 children, his father once entertained hopes of becoming a blacksmith.

Suddenly Stricken.

"And blacksmith I would doubtless have become," says Eustis, "had I not been struck, as though by a bolt of lightning, when I was 15."

It was not lightning though. It was necrosis. It confined him to a couch for the better part of the next six years, leaving him permanently crippled.

Later he was able to get around on crutches, and then he went to school, although his father figured he was wasting his time. His father by that time wanted him to be a cobbler, since his affliction prevented him from following the blacksmith's trade.

DR. F. C. PIRQUET (LEFT), ONE OF HIS LITTLE PATIENTS, AND WILLIAM HENRY EUSTIS, FRIEND OF THE CRIPPLED KIDDIES.

But young Eustis taught school in the spring and fall terms and went to the academy in winter. Then he went to Wesleyan College in Connecticut and took a liberal arts course, selling life insurance to keep going.

Leaves for West.

After getting a diploma, and incidentally, a Phi Beta Kappa key, he went to New York for a law course at Columbia.

"I practiced," he tells us, "for five years in partnership with Judge John R. Putnam in Saratoga Springs, N. Y. Then I decided to strike a bigger town. They told me Minneapolis was the fastest growing city in the middle west, so I came here.

First opportunity I bought a down-town corner. Then I got another one, out of my savings from my law work. And I kept buying until I had seven.

"Yes, I was pretty lucky in picking corners. That's the way I have made most of my money.

"If it hadn't been for my illness when I was a boy, I suppose I'd have been a blacksmith. But it's been worth a life on crutches to be able to do something for the little fellows who need help. And well I know how badly they need it when they are crippled."

Open to All.

One of the conditions of Eustis' endowment is that all children, regardless of race, creed or color, may have the advantages of the hospital and the home. Those who can pay will be allowed to, but the treatment for rich and poor will be the same.

Eustis was a candidate for governor in 1898, but was defeated by John Lind. He is a great lover of horses and until two years ago he insisted on driving his horse instead of an automobile.

His gift will be known as the Minnesota Hospital and Home for Crippled Children. He refused to have his own name connected with it, saying in his letter to the university:

"In a generation or two my name will be forgotten. The name I suggest should inspire faith among parents and children alike, and in the years to come when the little folks are restored to health and vigor, they will look back upon the institution as their alma mater."

BIRTH OF LOUIS HONORE FRECHETT, 1839.

Nov. 16, 1839: Louis Honore Frechett, the famous French-Canadian poet, who was also a journalist of exceptional ability and a lawyer and statesman, was born on this date and was educated at the Quebec Seminary and Laval University. He was called to the bar in 1864, but literature had much more attraction for him than law, and the greater part of his life was devoted to the muses.

During his career as a journalist he worked in Chicago, 1866-1871, and in 1879 he was engaged in editing three French papers, one in Quebec, one in Montreal and one in Chicago. He represented Levis in the House of Commons from 1874 to 1878.

Frechett received honors from the French Academy and the Imperial Institute of England. He was a Knight of the Legion of Honor and for a period was President of the Royal Society of Canada.

NEW YORK.

In 1914 it cost, roughly, 124 million dollars to run the city government of New York. The budget for 1924 is over 375 millions. This is only 188 millions in terms of 1914, for the dollar's buying power is about half what it was in 1914. Government has to pay more for what it gets, same as the rest of us.

All the more reason for economy. Debts contracted by government now may be paid off later when a cyclic period of lower prices may make the dollar worth twice as much as it is. Did it ever occur to you that a general return to pre-war prices would, in effect, double our national and city debts?

TALES OF A LONDON TAXICAB DRIVER

The fifth instalment of this series deals first with some of the famous "fares" the writer has driven about the West End, and reveals some new personal facts concerning Dickie, the murdered taxi-driver. Details of some exciting taxi-drives follow:

Recent Taxi-Tragedies

Many of my pals have told me some interesting yarns concerning very well known public men they have driven at various times. Bottomley figures in a good many of these tales, for he was a lavish user of taxis, and paid like a Prince—when he was in a good temper, but when he was n't he could be quite niggardly.

Some "Air Raid" Memories

One of my driver-friends well remembers driving Bottomley home to his flat during an air-raid on London.

The warnings had been given, and my friend was passing a famous restaurant in Oxford street, when the doors swung back and the portly figure of Horatio Bottomley emerged. He caught sight of my friend and his cab, summoned him and ran to meet him. The great man was panting and looked pale.

"Do you know who I am?" he asked, not for the first time when addressing a taxi-driver.

My friend nodded.

"Take me to my flat, then," Horatio ordered. "Those blighters up in the sky are after me!"

My friend took him home at double-quick speed and, before dismissing him, Horatio handed him a five-pound note.

The all-clear signal came round, and a policeman passed, letting all know that there was nothing to worry about, and the alarm had been a false one.

"If I was in charge," Bottomley said, crossly, "I'd stop this foolery of false alarms. Drive back to the—restaurant."

My friend took him there and, outside, Bottomly bumped into a man he knew, but whom my friend—just about to drive away—did not recognize. Bottomley was quite courageous. Greeting his friend, he was asked if he had gone home when the false alarm was given, and returned on hearing the "all-clear."

My friend had some difficulty in starting his engine. He heard Bottomley's reply quite plainly.

"No, old chap," he cried, loudly, "I came out as soon as the alarm came and was driving to my office. Those d——— Germans shall find me at work when they do get me. I know they're after me."

He moved to re-enter the restaurant, but he never did. A second alarm had followed almost immediately upon the "all-clear" and we heard the warning from the street.

Bottomley's friend had entered the restaurant, but the great Horatio wheeled about, ran to my friend again and sprang into the cab.

"Drive....." he began, but his friend had heard the warning maroons and had come out again, "to my office ....." Horatio called, loudly.

My friend was now ready. He drove off with Bottomley and turned off at the bottom of Oxford street. He did not, however, go in the direction of Bottomley's office, but put his notorious fare down outside his flat.

Another story of Bottomley comes from the lips of a man who owned his own taxi, and whom I got into conversation with outside a London theatre—during which vigil taxi-drivers often exchange experiences of this kind.

My friend was driving through a long street in the East End when a portly figure staggered out from a side-turning and hailed him. As he helped his fare into the cab he started, for he recognized Horatio Bottomley immediately.

He nodded at the great man's muttered request to drive him to his flat and, when he put him down, Bottomley seemed much steadier on his feet.

He tipped my friend handsomely and then—assuming that confidential tone which he often used when addressing drivers of cabs in which he rode, he said:

"I was pretty shaky just now, but I'm better for the rest in the cab. Do you know what made me so rocky on my trotters?"

The driver shook his head.

"Dope!" Bottomley replied.

The curious smile that he noticed on Bottomleys lips as he drove off seemed to indicate that, in a semi-intoxicated state, Bottomley had indulged in another of his lurid "jokes."

Stories of Dickie

I met poor Jacob Dickie—my taxi-driver friend, who was murdered in his cab by Mason—in rather a curious manner. Late one night I found the driver of a stationary taxi struggling valiantly in Whitehall with two gentlemen in evening-dress, who were levelling uncomplimentary remarks at one another in no uncertain manner.

The driver seemed to be endeavoring to persuade them to enter his cab quietly, and, seeing that his task was a difficult one, I pulled up to assist my "comrade of the road."

The driver was glad of my help. We eventually got the gentlemen apart and I realised that both were very drunk.

"I'll bang his head against the wall," the one I held cried, furiously.

"I'll bang your's against your own, you fathead," the other called back, vehemently. "I'll teach you to call me a policeman!"

From their subsequent arguments it turned out that—in those war-days—the gentleman which my colleague held captive was a special constable and his acquaintance had referred to him as a policeman. They were both badly intoxicated and, having left their club with the original intention of driving home together, their subsequent arguments had made both refuse to share the same taxi.

Both gentlemen lived in the same block of flats and there was nothing for it but for me to drive one and my colleague the other. We got them home and helped them indoors, but they got out somehow and started fighting again. The porter at the main entrance to the block of flats took charge of them eventually, persuaded them to pay us, and then induced them to return to their rooms.

The driver whom I had assisted was John Dickie and we became quite firm friends afterwards.

I remember talking to Dickie when the news of the disappearance of Gladys Pryce was featured in the newspapers. This case is still prominently before the public and most people will not need to be reminded of the details.

"I don't believe the vicar of St. Barnabas Church had anything to do with it," he said to me. "I know several parsons and I know that a parson dare not be too kind to any girl in his congregation, or it may be wrongly construed.

"I remember an old lady in Cornwall whose daughter threw herself over a cliff because she loved the curate at the village church and he refused to marry her. I wouldn't be a parson for anything in the world," he went on, definitely. "I believe Gladys Pryce must have mistaken the Rev. Wheeler's kindness and, becoming disillusioned, must have gone away with the intention of either doing away with herself or certainly never returning.

"I've heard there's a lot of that sort of thing a parson has to contend with. Some young women seem to forget all they've learned about honour. They often mistake that kindness for something else, and it doesn't seem to matter much whether the cleric is married or not. I don't blame anybody. Poor Gladys Pryce—if she had only been found I expect everything would be all right, and that she wouldn't lay any blame on the Rev. Wheeler. I once thought I recognized her as a fare, but then it is so easy to get a face on your mind until your imagination runs away with you!"

Jacob Dickie may have been right or wrong in his views, of course, and I often wonder if the truth of this mystery will ever come out.

The Kind Old Gentleman

I don't think I shall ever forget driving an old gentleman who used to live near the British Museum and for whom I had to call every Friday afternoon.

He would come out laden with tracts of a religious nature and would always have a definite route marked out for me. As we drove along he would throw tracts to pedestrians and sometimes shout a "God bless you!" to them as well.

He always requested the hood to be lowered, if the weather was fine, and sometimes he would stop the cab, get out and speak to someone whose appearance impressed him.

Once the man he approached resented his doing so and promptly knocked him down. A policeman rushed up, but my fare declined to pursue hte matter further and, after offering his assailant his hand—which was declined—he returned to the cab and, with a quiet smile, ordered me to drive on.

One Friday when I called at his house I learned that the old man had passed away, but I was requested to leave my name and address. A few weeks afterwards I received a cheque for twenty pounds. The old man had left that sum to me, in his will, "for the faithful service in the cause of Christianity which my taxi-driver has rendered me during two years, and for which I can never show the gratitude I truly feel."

I gave some of the money to a charity as I felt that, as my late fare had always tipped me generously, I could not retain it all.

I shall not soon forget an experience I had which is typical of many of which my friends can tell, but which I, myself, have only come across once in a long and not unexciting career.

Driving Frederick Bywaters

A young man and a woman hailed me in Regent street, and, saying they had only a few minutes to catch their train, requested me to "drive like the dickens" to a London terminus station. They were obviously afraid of losing their train, or something of the kind, and I made off at a high speed towards the station in question.

We were rushing through a square not far from the station when a shot rang out and my rear-left tyre went flat.

I pulled up, but the young man leaned out and pointed a revolver at my head.

"Drive on, I tell you! If you don't ....."

I had no choice but to obey, but a cab behind swiftly overhauled us and a couple of plain-clothes detectives got out.

The young man put up a stern fight, but he was secured with his female companion and soon handcuffed.

The reader can judge my surprise when I learned that I had been helping a couple of notorious crooks—the young man and the woman who proved to be his mistress and accomplice—who were being pursued by the police when they hailed me. They are still in prison, I believe, "serving time" for a series of thefts in and around London.

A friend of mine was once putting petrol into his engine near a kerb in the West End when two people passed, and he caught scraps of their conversation.

It appeared they had just met, and the young men—whose companion was a smartly-dressed woman—suggested they should go "home." The woman was cross at his having been late, for some reason or another, and said her husband wouldn't be safe if he caught sight of him.

The young man suggested to drive in a taxi and the woman agreed. They hailed my friend, who took them for a drive.

The young man's features impressed themselves on his mind and, a few weeks later, he saw a photograph in the papers which recalled the face.

My friend had been driving Frederick Bywaters, the Ilford murderer, but the identity of the woman—who was certainly not Edith Thompson—still remains a mystery to him.

In Limehouse, one night, a driver I knew was walking home when he saw Bywaters fighting with a burly seaman in a circle of shouting dockers and sailors. Bywaters got a severe thrashing and the reason, the driver learned later, was that his opponent had seen him, with the young girl with whom he Bywaters opponent, was living.

The girl watched the fight, and urged Bywaters on, but when her hero was down, her "husband" turned on her and would have done her serious harm had not those around interfered.

Bywaters was well-known in many taverns near the docks, and it is rumored that he lived for a short time with a Spanish girl—a barmaid in a public-house near Limehouse Basin—who tried to murder him with a dagger when he found her charms no longer appealing to him.

After this incident it appears that Bywaters deemed it no longer wise to visit his old haunts and the next Limehouse heard of him was through the newspapers. That story everyone knows.

A THOUGHT

"Mightiest Fighting Man" Now a Trooper

BOB MA RTIN

This shows Bob Martin, A. E. F. heavyweight champion, called by General Pershing "the mightiest fighting man," as he looks in his new role, that of a state trooper in West Virginia. Martin was recently advised to retire from professional fighting, following an ineffectual attempt to come back at New Orleans. Martin developed a blood clot on the brain after meeting Frank Moran, veteran Pittsburgh heavyweight, and hasn't been of much value as a fighter since. He hopes the work in the Virginia hills as a trooper will restore his old vitality.

DAPHNE POLLARD HAS SMALL FEET.

She Has Taken Prizes in England and Australia and Now in America.

(By MARIAN HALE)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The first aid to the perfect foot is the high lace boot, according to the petite Daphne Pollard, whose feet have taken prizes in England and Australia, and now in America.

Prepare for a shock when I tell you the size. She actually keeps those perfect Trilbys in a size 13—girl's size.

But then she is only four feet eight inches tall—or I should say, short—and 93 is the highest number she's ever been able to raise on the scales. But in their small way, her feet are declared perfect.

And she attributes their perfection to the high boot most of us have discarded.

"Nothing like it," she declares, "to keep the ankle slim and give the arches support. No, I know they aren't fashionable, but they should be. Low pumps worn constantly bring the larger ankle in time, that's certain.

"I haven't always been as particular about my feet as I am now," she goes on. "For a while I was enslaved by the high-heeled pump and wore it constantly. Then I noticed backaches and hurt insteps. So I switched to low heels and exaggeratedly 'sensible' effects and while my feet were perfectly comfortable I never looked very smart myself.

Purpose For Each

"Now I vary the daily shoe program. I wear high boots when I have much walking to do— and I take many hikes. For golf I wear low, flat shoes that give my toes a chance to spread out and exercise as they should. And I dance every day in my bare feet.

"This way I give my feet plenty of exercise and keep them healthy so I can wear high heels when I want to dress up and not be injured by them."

This diminutive comedienne, now a star in the "Greenwich Village Follies," is an Australian by birth, and has spent much of her time in England. But since her first visit to America, years ago, she has been a patron of American shoe dealers.

"No matter what country I live in, I have all my shoes made here," she confides. "English shoes are ugly and Parisian models too stubby, but American lasts are just right. No wonder everyone marvels at the American women's feet."

Part of Costume

Miss Pollard believes shoes emphasize the costume just as hats do. "If I had my choice between a new frock and a new pair of shoes," she said, "I would always take the shoes, no matter how low I happened to be on frocks—and believe me, I get low.

"I love old clothes, and prefer to wear them, except shoes. Unless my feet have the best money can buy I never feel well dressed. I believe most women feel this innate vanity about their feet, and that is why they buy models too small and bring on corns, bunions and the rest of the ills the feet are heir to.

"Small shoes," she concludes, "never disguise a large foot, but well-fitting, perfectly proportioned ones bring out the best in any foot and give the final touch to any outfit."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To EDITOR PETERBORO' EXAMINER,—

Dear Sir,—From reports appearing in the papers, and from other sources, it has been thought wise to draw your readers' attention to the Anti-Toxin Campaign now being widely advertised by an American Insurance Company. As to why this company is so interested may I direct your readers to a copy of the Truth Teller, Nov. 7th, published in Battle Creek, Michigan. The article is headed "POOR POLICIES!" A more striking exposure of this school scare could not be written. Some time ago a similar campaign was begun in England but it was promptly killed largely by the efforts of The Anti-vaccination League.

Day by day this deadly concoction from a sick horse is taking toll of our children. It is not compulsory—and never will be despite the threats of interested manufacturers.

Should any of your readers desire to get further information, I shall be glad to oblige them.

Yours for little kiddies,
JOSEPH E. HALL.

Automobile Chances

There are many of them for the carefully planning, prospective purchaser who takes advantage of the Want Columns in the Examiner.

What makes appeals to you most—would you like to get some particular style or kind of auto at a special price? Would you like to pick up a second-hand or a re-built car at a sacrifice price?

See what the Wants can do for you in accomplishing any of these automobile desires.

You may keep in close touch with automobile owners who will be interested in a chance to trade or sell their cars if you make the fact known through the Want Columns of The Examiner.

THEY WERE A HAPPY COUPLE OVER TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND YEARS AGO

But Like Present - Day Women, Mrs. Barbarensis Always Gave Her Jaws a Good Work-Out.

By JACK JUNGMEYER.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Nov. 16.—Timing his posthumous reappearance to jibe with efforts in several states to squelch the teaching of human evolution, the "Santa Barbara Man" emerges from his 25,000-year sleep to level a stony-eyed challenge at these disputants.

John P. Harrington, Smithsonian archeologist, unearthed him here a few days since, buried from time immemorial under what was recently the courtyard of a fashionable hotel.

About all that is preserved of "Homo Barbarensis" is his thick, low-browed and prognathous-jawed skull. But that is sufficient for scientists to envisage the whole creature as he once roamed among his prehistoric kind. A sub-man, just above the ape, by all the bony evidence.

Indian Progenitor?

Considered the most significant archeological find of years, the skull seems to provide another of those "missing links" long sought and occasionally accidentally found to bolster the theory of man's transmutation from Beast to Babbitt.

Pending more careful study, this primitive is believed to be the progenitor of the American Indian and the cousin of those races which roamed the glacial steppes of Europe when the world was young.

And so that Mr. Barbarensis, greatest of American grandfathers, may not have to bear alone the scrutiny of scientists and the eventual curious gaze of the world's young folk, his wife has come up out of the crypt with him.

Her Mouth Open

Her skull lay beside his, differing just enough to be pronounced female by the exhumers. Her jaws remain open, widely distended, as if with prodigious scream she sought to forfend her mate from that terror which may have laid them down to become the riddle of another age.

Both skulls are extraordinarily heavy—nearly twice as thick of cranium as any present-day man. In profile, they show no forehead whatever.

The slope from frontal bone to the back of the head is more pronounced than that in the famous relic of the Neanderthal man who is asserted to have lived in Europe more than 25,000 years ago.

The upper jaw lunges from beneath the nose at an angle seen today only in the apes. But the teeth, flat and square like those of a cow, prove their owners humans, though far down the transitional scale, according to Harrington.

Not Apes

The Santa Barbara pair were short and squat, presumably feeding largely on seeds and herbs that needed vigorous grinding.

Implements and crude weapons found near the bones were similar to those identified with the old Stone of Paleolithic Age in Europe.

"The size and contour of the skulls," says Harrington, "indicate that they antedate the Neanderthal man. It is certain they are not those of American Indians. Nor are they apes.

Precarious Lives

"They come somewhere between the two. The Santa Barbara skull is that of a 'sub-man'—a link apparently between the father of the American Indian and the early humans of the European continent for which scientists have long been searching.

The life of Mr. and Mrs. Barbarensis was the precarious existence of Stone Age folk in the red dawn of the race. Prowling the coastal benches with them were fierce carnivora, notably the saber-tooth tiger, who also left his remains in the La Brae tar pits near Los Angeles.

Over the eastern horizon hung the fiery glow of volcanoes. Even in those days southern California, as its boosters might boast, was nice and warm, while much of the world was shivering in glacial rigor.

But the cilmate which nurtured its early humans also brought hordes of predatory beats. A man had to be thick skulled to survive.

Haled forth from beneath their tomb-stone of marine reef rock, these lithic phantoms of remote time will compel a modification of H. G. Wells' assertion in his "Outline" that "Man was fully man when he entered America. The old world was the nursery of the sub-races of mankind."

For they are, apparently, as valid ethnological foundation as the fragmentary evidence from which prehistoric life in Europe has been projected.

THE REAL SHEIK IS NOT A SHEIK.

Wanda Hawley Gives the Final End to the Sahara Sheik As An Excellent Lover.

By JACK JUNGMEYER.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15.—Wanda Hawley, who has just returned from a picture-making jaunt to Egypt, gives the final coup de grace to the Sahara sheik as the lover par excellence.

Mercifully she also disillusions our gullible gals about other fables of desert diablerie so prodigally filmed of late.

Now we poor prairie-reared beaux may rest in such peace as we have not known since E. M. Hull, the novelist, ably abetted by one Rudy Valentino and a score of imitators, created the sheik cult.

"The average American girl," says Wanda, "wouldn't recognize the desert lord if she saw one. And after she had recognized him, she'd probably take the first boat back to her Main street sweetie.

Old Geezers.

"In the first place, a man seldom becomes a sheik, that is, the ruler or governor of his tribe, until he's at least 50 years old. Such age implies the wisdom necessary for the respect of his people. Sheiks are seasoned old sages, not impetuous young bloods, and not half as ardent as our own men."

While that sinks in, let it be known that Miss Hawley, as heroine of Gaumont's "Fires of Fate," journeyed camelwise to the tented lair of the Bedouins along the Nile and tarried there long enough to give her commentary the weight of authority.

She paraded her blonde tresses and her well-known dimples from the pyramids to the Valley of the Kings with only one proposal of marriage and with not a single threatened abduction by the sons of Araby.

"You've never seen real dignity until a tribal ruler has gravely kissed your hand and bent his forehead to it without the slightest trace of effrontery or servility. There is the true desert gesture.

Alas, No Romance!

"I couldn't have imagined one of them attempting to carry me off. That would lose him all caste with his folk, for to the Bedouin it is an abomination to marry outside his faith.

"The Bedouins generally are well mannered, many of them well educated and hold white women in highest respect.

"And if he is not the reckless, impassioned romanticist he's been pictured to American movie and novel audiences, he is of a magnificant race, forming the backbone of Egypt. A farmer, generally, with a few nomadic cousins, he keeps out of cities.

"I had one proposal of marriage from Prince Sacchuiti, a man of 80 who wanted to add me to his harem. He made love to me in French and handed me roses with the most courtly gesture. But much as I wanted to be thrilled by the compliment, I had to decline with thanks.

The Old Rascal!

"One old fellow timidly touched my hair with the remark, 'Now I will go to heaven,' much to the delight of his cronies. He was an 89-year-old patriarch playing the sheik in the picture."

Why, even the pronunciation of the word "sheik" is enough to have spiked the cult of the Sahara gentry among their movie idolaters. What woman could confess interest in a man whose title is a gutteral terminating with the hiss of a mad goose?

Thanks from us boys, Wanda, for the information.

Folks Back Home

Sketches By J. H. Striebel

By Robert Quillen

Mrs. Burts

The people in our village are old-fashioned, of course, as villagers commonly are, and a great many things that the outside world holds to be innocent are here regarded as sins. For example, though we have worldly people who play bridge and lost sheep who play stud poker, the majority eschews these evils; and some there are who hold that dancing and attendance at the movie show are signs of an evil nature.

Mrs. Burts has never been to a movie show or a circus or a musical comedy, and she makes no secret of her conviction that Fannie Hoyt should be put out of the church because she sells tickets at the Casino Theatre. For a long time Mrs. Burts thought dancing no less wicked than the movies, but her oldest daughter learned to dance while away at college and persisted in attending dances after coming home, and a few weeks ago Mrs. Burts said to a friend: "There is so little for young people to do here, and Jenny loves dancing so well that I believe it would be a positive sin to make her stop it."

She still thinks the movies wicked; but even this opinion may be modified in a short time, for her son Carl inherited $1,800 from his Uncle Walter and it is rumored that he is negotiating for the purchase of the Casino Theatre.

Famous Guys

SIR WALTER RALEIGH was endowed by nature with good looks, a smooth tongue and unlimited gall. The combination brought him the favor of Queen Elizabeth and a large place in history. He was historian, poet, chemist, soldier and explorer, but his abilities in these matters are little remembered.

He first attracted attention by reason of his zeal in persecuting the Irish, and when he had become a favorite at court the Queen enriched him by means of numerous grafts at the expense of the whole people. He had monopolies and grants of various kinds and lived on the fat of the land, but he hadn't earned any of his rewards, and then, as always, easy money went quickly.

Raleigh was broke most of the time and when he got in bad at court he had very little to fall back on. When James I. became king, Raleigh became too intimate with the opposition and eventually was separated from his head.

As a tormentor of Spain he served his country well, but he is remembered chiefly because he spread his cloak in a mud puddle for the Queen to walk across. If a modern should do that, it would be worth a news story. It is almost worth a news story when a modern offers his seat in the street car to a woman.

Willie Willis

Little Willie Willis had forty cents to spend at the church social on Friday night, having charged his friends five cents each to accompany him to the doctor's office and watch him have a boil lanced.

Aunt Het

"If these bendin' over exercises does a woman any good, she ought to be right healthy after she devotes her life to pickin' up things after a husband."

THE GIRL AND THE BUTCHER BOY

HIS HONOR THE MAYOR

"He sat in the best rocking chair and the room was blue with smoke."

Peace reigns once more at the home of the girl across the street, and Hiram, her husband and hero, is cock of the walk.

Last week Hiram's mother called on the girl's mother and predicted that further curtailment of Hiram's liberties would result in open rebellion and disaster, Hiram not being the type long to submit to the nagging of a mother-in-law.

And perhaps she was right, at that; for it is the nature of man to regard his mother-in-law as a natural enemy and to take up arms against her. In his prideful heart he feels that he should be the boss and that his wife should acknowledge no other authority. His wife's mother, however, having long enjoyed the privilege of bossing, is reluctant to surrender her authority and regards her daughter's husband as an outlander who seeks to take away her privileges. Conflict is inevitable, and conflict continues until the man surrenders to a life of martyrdom or the mother is won over to the opinion that he is an important citizen and a credit to the family. In the latter case the mother-in-law becomes the man's most ardent partisan, defending him even from the charges of her daughter.

The mother of the girl across the street was won over by the municipal election Tuesday. There were three candidates for the office of mayor, and Hiram received 82 votes in a total poll of 126. True, the mayor's office pays but $50 a year, and he must serve as police, judge, direct the activities of the town marshal and superintend the labors of the ancient colored man who drives the garbage cart; but a mayor is a mayor and much honor attaches to his office, be his constituency but a baker's dozen.

The polls closed at 4 o'clock and the count was finished at 4.40. At 6 o'clock Hiram closed his butcher shop and walked home with a juicy steak and the good news. He walked with him head and jaunty step, as befits a conqueror.

At 8 o'clock, when a few of us called to congratulate him, he sat in the best rocking chair and the room was blue with smoke. Even as we entered he drew happily on the once-forbidden cigarette, and his mother-in-law, once his tyrant and the bane of his existence, stood at his elbow to urge upon him a glass of lemonade.

How strange are women! Soft the affairs of the great outside world and at once they flutter about him in eager humility to bask in the reeflcted light of his glory.

Mayor Hiram! What more could mortal ask! Let come what will; that much at least is an accomplished fact, and through generations to come may thrill and encourage and content the family. Hail Hiram!

LENIENT WITH POOR POLICE SLAY ROBBER

MADRAS Nov. 16 (Associated Press)—An Indian robber named Jambulingam known as "Robin Hood" because of his sternness with the rich and his respect of the poor has been shot dead by the police after a desperate struggle which has ended an intensive campaign of daylight robbery throughout the Nanhuhori division.

Jambulingam with his lieutenant Kasi Nadan escaped from prison a third time and immediately proceeded to follow his usual plan of action. This included a call on prominent people to whom he disclosed his identity and purpose at the same time demanding a fixed sum of money. Almost invariably the demands were complied with as any refusal provoked the wrath of Jambulingam and his gang which took the form of assault and robbery. His last exploit was at a village wedding at Nambi-Kurichi where the robber and his gang mixed with the guests placed two armed guards at the exits and then relieved the guests of their valuables.

All the police in the district set out to get Jambulingam. Late in September at a place called Koriyar special police surrounded a house occupied by the gang. Police set the roof ablaze Jambulingam made a dash for freedom killing the inspector in his rush but was himself killed by the police.

IGNORED

In New Orleans they held a "conference" of all kinds of experts to fight the boll weevil the beetle which is going to destroy the American cotton industry entirely unless it's checked.

Buried at the bottom of the news story is this: "One little woman insisted on addressing the conference on the efficacy of prayer as the only real remedy for the boll weevil evil."

She was literally "laughed down." That is to say ignored. Observe here the attitude of an egotistical generation destroying itself by its defiance of the spiritual.

TONGUE COATED BAD TASTE IN MOUTH EYES TINGED WITH YELLOW

Liver Trouble The Cause

Mrs. A. C. Brown, Oromocto, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled with my liver for a few years back, and was so bad I did not feel able to do my work.

I had severe pains in my stomach, so bad I could hardly stand them at times; coated tongue; bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning; whites of eyes tinged with yellow, and had a muddy and sallow complexion.

I had read a great deal about Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and decided I would try a vial, and after taking two or three I found I was greatly improved, and can truthfully say that I felt more like living and can now do my own work without any trouble."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

It may be incorrect to use the term rotation in speaking of body-building foods. Rotation of crops by the farmer is a well-known process. Rotation of foods or a systematic change of diet is on the same principle.

Most people know what it means to get in a rut, going over and over again the same thing in the same way. It is not best to do this, in the selection of food for your daily needs.

Of course there is a large class of families who are compelled through force of circumstance, to adopt a certain regimen in diet in order to make the family income fill the bill. Yet even in families with small incomes, the rotation of food can be successfully carried out and a distinct gain in health will result. Not only will a certain kind of food taste better if sidetracked for a while, but the different protein, fat and starch foods will get a better chance to do their proper work and a surplus of any one class may be avoided.

The average working man of normal weight, for his age and height, requires from 2500 to 3500 calories a day. The term calorie refers only to energy, so you will have to balance your daily needs in choosing your food for the table in proportion to their calorie giving values. Just a few may serve for an example.

In the protein or body-building foods a 100 calorie portion is as follows: Beans, about two tablespoonfuls; roast beef, small slice; eggs, one and one-third; milk, small cup.

Fat foods: Bacon, two small slices; olive oil, tablespoonful, butter, large spoonful.

Starch foods: Bread, one large slice; small portion of oatmeal; one medium baked potato.

Sugar foods: Granulated sugar, two tablespoonfuls; molasses, about the same portion.

Mineral foods: One baked apple, one orange, three heads lettuce, one head cabbage.

The housewife can with a little patience and experience choose her daily change in her bill of fare with the greatest good to all members of the family. This change, or rotation, in food made daily or weekly, will prove of great health-giving value.

She's Greatest of All Mermaids

MISS EDERLE IN ACTION.

GERTRUDE EDERLE.

What Ruth is to baseball,
Zev to the turf,
Hoppe to billiards,
Barrymore to the drama—
Gertrude Ederle, 16-year-old New York mermaid, is to swimming.

The greatest ever.

If any doubts ever existed as to the positive genius of the youngster her performance in sprinting away with all the honors in the fall water carnival in Honolulu removed them emphatically.

Not only did Miss Ederle triumph decisively over outstanding Hawaiian stars in three feature events but she broke the world's record in all of them, giving one of the most astonishing exhibitions of swimming in the long history of the sport.

Competing against Mariechen Wenselau and Lillie Bowmer, noted water queens of the Outrigger Canoe Club, the American maid shattered the best previous marks for the 100, 200 and 400-meters events, setting new open water standards of 1:12 1-5, 2:45 2-5 and 5:54 2-5, respectively. The former records were 1:12 4-5, 2:49 1-5 and 6:00 1-5.

The races were conducted under the same conditions that will prevail at the Olympic games next summer. Miss Ederle will be America's chief reliance in the 1924 free style swims. It is confidently expected that she will establish herself as the world's undisputed all-round swimming champion at the great international games. Here is her native land she is already accepted as such.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Arthur I. Bernstein of 336 South Fourth Avenue, Mount Vernon, reported to the police that fourteen goldfish, valued at from $1 to $5 each, had been stolen from a tank on the front porch of her home during the night.

When the police suggested that the family cat might be guilty, Mrs. Bernstein refused to believe it, because, she said, there was no water spilled about the tank; the cat and the fish were good friends, and, anyhow, the cat eats fish only on Wednesdays and Fridays.

A DEAF AND DUMB BOY SELLS PAPERS.

He Lies Coiled Like a Snake at a Corner Under a Lamp Post.

(By DON RYAN)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16.—Johnny, the deaf, dumb and paralyzed newsie, lies coiled like a snake at the base of the lamp post on the corner of Fourth and Spring streets. Here he has lain for years.

The corner idlers close in, consumed with curiosity when Johnny attempts to set down in his notebook the figures of his day's sales. Their intrusion enrages Johnny—the business man. He totters erect, weaving back and forth on unsteady feet, like a shark standing on its forked tail. His long fingers cure about the handle of his cane and he sweeps it in a circle at his tormentors.

"Ai, ow!" bellows Johnny at the corner loafers. "Ai, ow!"

Anger has hoisted the paralytic erect for the first time in years.

Amy Leslie, veteran dramatic critic oc Chicago, has bought a house in Hollywood. Plump and pretty, with hair as white as snow, Amy is an observant precioitate in the strange alchemy of this movie laboratory.

The five-year-old son of a friend came up to her rocker and inquired:

"Are you married?"

"No," replied Amy, "I can't find anybody who will have me."

"You're too old," the child told her.

"If I were younger would you marry me?" she asked.

He looked her over carefully and then replied:

"I can't say that I'd marry you. But if you were younger I'd sure like to play around with you!"

Where do they come from—the old men who are always eating in the Los Angeles dairy lunch rooms?

Nobody knows. Yet at any hour of the day or night they are there. Always that complement of withered, yellow faces, yellow-white polls, old ragged white mustaches, stained yellow with coffee drippings.

John Barrymore, suave and cynical, is back in Hollywood, ready to go to work for the Five Warner Bros., Inc.

Jack Warner, youngest of the five, plump and practical, bustles into Levy's Cafe on Hollywood boulevard. He waves his fork impressively at the listening impresarios of celluloid.

"Listen!" exclaims Jack. "We got big authors, we got big actors, we got big sets—now we're going to make big pictures."

Girl Forger Weds in Jail; May Be Set Free To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. — The cell doors of the District of Columbia Jail swung open twice for Miss Gladiola Peyton, 19-year-old prisoner—once to permit her to marry, the second time to give her temporary freedom and a possible honeymoon.

Miss Peyton, a stenographer, was sentenced recently to a year's imprisonment for forgery. On Wednesday Frederick Ewers, a salesman and her fiance, called at the jail by special permission and accompanied her to the altar. The bridal party, as arranged, returned to the jail and Mrs. Ewers went to her cell.

An hour later the bride received her first wedding present, the Criminal Court permitting her to leave the jail under the custody of her attorney when she changed her former plea of guilty to not guilty. Her attorney will seek to have the case dropped, so that the proposed honeymoon to Florida may be started immediately.

The homicide rate is higher in Memphis, Tenn., than in any other city in the United States. It is lowest in Hartford, Conn.

Dear Tom

I love you and want only you! I don't want the million dollars you get when you are married—It's YOU! Please say you care!

BOOKS AND AUTHORS

(By F. M. DELA FOSSE)

One often hears the trite expression, "I think it would be just lovely to be working all day in a library." Of course, this is a purely feminine mode of expression and voices exactly what any book-loving woman would have in her heart.

To give library work its due, there is a great deal that is fascinating about it. It is nice, for instance, to be in a position of service to the public and to have the means at hand to assist any who require such information as books may impart. It is nice also, to be able to stand day after day in the presence of the great and learned of past and present times and to ruminate in quietude over what they have to say. Carlyle will not sneer at you, nor Rogers frighten you with his cadaverous countenance; Lamb will be able to speak to you without stuttering and Addison to make his views known in a speech in which there will be no suspicion of the hesitation or confusion which caused him to be such an object of mirth to his parliamentary associates and opponents.

But whilst there is a great deal to elevate and inspire one in a library there is also a very great deal to produce dejection. Whenever I come upon a book on which oblivion has laid its hand, I think of the close analogy between it and a dead person. Once, many years ago, I was engaged on a Government survey in a very barren and desolate part of Alberta. It fell to my lot on one occasion to be despatched for the party's mail to a station some fifty miles away from the camp. Returning the following day, after a strenuous bare-backed ride in which I had experienced, amongst other things, the inconvenience of dismounting amongst a lively colony of snakes and of getting into a back swirl of a prairie fire, I found myself at nightfall on the bank of the Red Deer River and about five miles from camp.

The first thing I noted, on jumping from my pony was the track of a cinnamon bear on the river bank, and I entered the gloomy depths of a cottonwood grove that lay beyond, with several well-defined tremors coursing down my spine. I saw no further signs of a bear but I did see something that made me not the least bit more comfortable. Apparently, I had stumbled upon an Indian burial ground, for here and there through the trees I could discern platforms, with shrouded objects upon them. I did not wait to investigate very closely and was glad enough to gain the open country where the sighing of the evening breeze, sorrowful as it was, did not produce such a dismal effect as it had in the branches of the trees.

I have always thought since that a dead book in a library is much in the same category as those dead Indians. Like them they are perched on their appointed shelves and, in most instances, seay there, till decomposition accomplishes its inevitable work.

But in many instances there is really no reason why such an analogy should be possible. There are hundreds of books that in their day were reckoned outstanding works, which, owing to the hurry and confusion of our present-day living, have been relegated to the lumber rooms of our libraries. Many more have been cast aside owing to the change that has come over our ideas as to what constitutes readable literature. Our grandmothers used to cry over the misfortunes of their heroines. We laugh at their sentimentality but I cannot see that we are better than they in our tastes when we demand that our books should have the same sorrowful endings with a considerable dash of suggestiveness thrown in. It does not augur well for the present condition of society that at the present time there is so much fiction that is absolutely nauseating and vicious. In fiction, as in every thing else, there can be a happy medium struck, and it is to be found in such writers as Walter Besant, Charles Reade, Wilkie Collins, Rhoda Broughton, Miss Braddon and even Harrison Ainsworth, although his 'Jack Sheppard' was as instrumental in starting a wave of crime in his own day as our blood and thunder movies have been in our own time. Of the authors above mentioned a few words may be said. Walter Besant, who first started writing in collaboration with James Rice, wrote many books and probably the best known are those in which he had his friend for a partner. Rice died in 1882, at the early age of 39, but he had made his mark with Besant in such books as 'The Chaplain of the Fleet,' 'The Monks of Thelema,' and 'Ready-Money Mortiboy.' Whilst on a visit to Muskoka, Rice got the plot for another novel entitled 'Shepherds All and Maidens Fair," which does not seem to be mentioned in his published works.

Charles Reade wrote many notable books, chief among them being the mediaeval romance, "The Cloister and the Hearth," in which Erasmus, Luther, Froissart and other historical personages figure. Besant has characterised it as "the greatest historical novel in the language."—F.M.D.

CURRIE ATTACKED TEMPERANCE ACT

McCausland Follows with Promise to See it Completely Killed—Conservative Association Meeting.

TORONTO, November 16. Canadian Press. — The Ontario Temperance Act was subjected to much verbal abuse by several speakers at the nomination meeting of Ward Four Conservative Association here last night.

John A. Currie, M.L.A., opened the attack during the lull in the nomination proceedings. J. A. McCausland M.L.A., followed it up with a definite promise that he would do his utmost to see that the present temperance legislation was 'completely killed," and F. G. McBrien, M.L.A., later said that he was sure there would be a sufficient number of sane Conservative members in the House to afford the people of the province an opportunity of giving voice to their opinions on the subject.

"One of the ticklish questions that will come before the first session of the next Parliament," Mr. Currie said, "will be that of prohibition. My riding sent me to Parliament to see that there would be changes and modifications in the Temperance Act and I am going to make every endeavor to have the question submitted. It is becoming more evident every day that the present temperance law is unsound and that it is not working out either to the benefit of the government or of the people. The only class it is benefiting is the bootlegger, who is making his revenue from the illicit trade."

While there were several other matters in which as a member he was interested, Mr. McCausland admitted that "O.T.A. is my specialty," he not only wanted the rough edges taken off the measure, he wanted it completely killed. The Act, he considered, was a public disgrace, and because of that he had every confidence that Premier Ferguson would bring the question before the electorate. A. E. Donovan and Ald. R. H. Cameron also addressed the meeting.

JOHN KENWOOD CONFIRMS ALBERTA OIL FIND

EDMONTON, November 16. — John Kenwood is the only director of the British Petroleum Co., residing in Edmonton. In an interview yesterday Mr. Kenwood said that to the best of his knowledge the news contained in the despatch from Vancouver was correct. Wainwright citizens also corroborate the statement that oil to the extent of one hundred barrels a day is being taken from the well which is located 5½ miles from that town.

EXPECT SENSATION IN LINDSAY CASE

Police Are Reticent—Rumor Says Owner of Revolver Has Been Found.

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press.)—Hamilton police will not comment on the story that the owner of the revolver with which Homer Lindsaly was shot has been found and that an arrest is imminent.

The case is in the hands of Provincial Detective Miller, who is not in the city. The police have intimated that there will be sensational developments.

CHOP UP MONEY TO MAKE PAPER

BERLIN, Nov. 16. — (United Press). — More than 100 private printing shops were working three shifts a day to help the Reichsbank print paper money for Germany before the establishment of the new "renten mark."

Thirty paper factories turned over their entire output to the Government printing shops.

The main Reichsbank in Berlin has been sending 2,000 shipments of notes daily to outlying branches to keep pace with the drop of the mark in relation to the dollar.

Automobiles, airplanes and trains were employed to carry them.

Much of the money was returned to the Reichstag, where 15,000 women and girls, working in three eight-hour shifts, counted it and sent it to be chopped up and made into wrapping paper and cardboard.

CALL ON FRANCE TO EXPEL PRINCE

PARIS, Nov. 16. — (By Webb Miller).—"Expel the German Crown Prince with or without the help of England," was the call on the French Government voiced by the press to-day.

Following the sharp disagreement between England and France that came to light in the Ambassadors' conference yesterday and the British Prime Minister's warning of a refusal to collaborate with France, Premier Poincare was urged to discipline Germany by himself.

RAILWAYS SUGGEST PLAN TO TORONTO

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 16. — (Canadian Press.)—Five bridges over the railway tracks west of Yonge street and a viaduct with nine subways east of Yonge street, was the substitute for the water front viaduct proposed to the Board of Control and Board of Harbor Commissioners this morning by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways and President E. COURT ORDERS HUSBAND TO GIVE WIFE HOLIDAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. — Mrs. Chas. Tierney of this city, a railroad man's wife, has not had a ride on a train for 19 years. Next week, however, as a consequenece of an order by Judge Morgan in the Court of Domestic Relations, Mrs. Tierney will take a trip to New York and have money for new hats and a real vacation.

"My husband is a railroad man but since I married and came to Chicago as a bride, I have never even had a ride."

"I treat my wife the best I can," Tierney said "and I give her all my money. She says I give it to another woman. She just won't believe me."

"Well," decided Judge Morgan, "women are peculiar being. They do not always believe everything we men say, but I know what I am going to do in this case. Your wife has washed too many dishes and cooked too many meals without getting a vacation. I understand her folks live in New York. I want you to get a pass to New York for your wife so that she can go there and give her enough money to have a good time for a month. While she is gone you will be responsible for the children."

"Thank you very much," Mrs. Tierney said to the Judge. "I am very tired and a trip is just what I need."

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — New York Stock Exchange — and Curb Prices

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. — (United Press).—Lower reserve ratios marked the weekly bank statements, but this feature was interpretedly constructed as pointed to the increased flow of money into business channels. Stocks continued to ignore the developments abroad, principal interest in the early dealings being attached to the issues affected by special developments.

Davis Chemical spurted two points to 62½, reflecting the contract with Vacuum Oil for the use of the Silicia gel process, which was taken to indicate that all doubt about the feasibility of its employment in gasoline reduction had been removed. Erie, Reading and other active rails scored fractional gains in response to another weekly aggregate of car loadings above the million mark in the seven days ended Nov. 3rd. Sterling and French francs fell off on the talk of dissolving the francs by the British entente.

Further selling took place among the industrial leaders around 11 o'clock, but these offerings were readily absorbed, while bullish demonstrations went ahead in a number of industrial specialties of the type of the Davison Chemical, Maxwell "A" and Mack Trucks. The latter company will earn more than $20 a share on the Common this year. This estimate is based on earnings of $17.02 in the first nine months. In 1922 the surplus available for the common was approximately $10. The short interest in the market is still large. There has been a great deal of selling by traders playing for a re-action after an advance that has extended over a period of two weeks. Naturally there has been heavy profit-taking, but in spite of the short selling for a turn and the profit-taking, the market has held remarkably well, and the opinion of close watchers of the situation is that the general run of stocks will sell higher in the last two weeks of the current month. Industrial news has all been constructive and extra stock dividends will be numerous in December and January.

The stock market has by no means disccunted a possible reduction in the bank rate after the holidays.

Cobourg and District

COBOURG, Nov. 16.—As the weeks go by mystery deepens as to the object of those who participated in Cobourg's spectacular burglary of stores and other business places a few weeks ago. Two lots o fvaluable goods stolen from P. McCallum & Sons dry goods and millinery store have been accidentally discovered hidden underneath piles of leaves, and now some of the plunder from the hardware store of W. L. Allen & Co. has been found, the latter, however, at a point a couple of miles north of the town, and some three miles from the place where the McCallum goods were located. A quantity of razors were missed from Mr. Allen's store. One day the first of this week as a local citizen, Mr. Wills, was walking through Mr. Roy Howard's woods, north of the Home for the Aged, he found a box containing five razors placed against the trunk of a tree. The burglars apparently abandoned their car near the place where the other goods were found, and all circumstances so far but tend to shroud the robbery in deeper mystery.

Parents Are Bereaved

The death occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Mahon here on Tuesday of their infant son, Thomas Chishom Mahon, aged six months. The remains were interred in Fairview cemetery.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Wednesday was the golden wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKinnon, whose marriage was solemnized in Paisley, Scotland, fifty years ago. Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon have been residents of Cobourg for the past thirty-five years, where Mr. McKinnon organized and is still the senior member of the firm of D. McKinnon & Sons Matting Company, one of the stable industries of the town, situated at the foot of Bagot street. Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon have three sons, James, Donald and Alex. of Cobourg, and all associated with their father in business, and one daughter, Miss Flora McKinnon, graduate nurse, New York City. There were present with their parents in this happy occasion and presented them with gold and flowers. Congratulatory messages were received from Scotland and other places in which the people of Cobourg heartily join.

Local Surprise Party

Friends of Mr. Thomas Green, the popular proprietor of the New Dunham Hotel, tendered him a surprise party on Monday evening, the occasion being his birthday. A splendid supper was served and ex-Mayor W. J. Maher A number of congraturatory speeches were made and Mr. Green was presented with an electric reading lamp, also silver cigarette and cigar holders. A pleasant evening was spent by a genial company.

Paid Official Visit

On Tuesday evening District Deputy Grand Master E. J. Wormington paid his official visit to St. John's Lodge, A.F. & A.M. here. After the business of the meeting was over a very enjoyable banquet was held.

Auction Sales

Auction sales still continue and the question is sometimes asked: Who, among the farmers, will be left to carry on? Yesterday Mr. J. H. Wilson sold farm stock, household effects and implements belonging to Miss Violet Simmison of Hope township.

Yesterday also Mr. A. Heard, residing near Orland in Brighton township, had a sale of his farm stock, implements, grain and household effects. Mr. Heard is moving to California.

Off On Hunting Trip

Rev. A. M. Irwin, pastor of King street Methodist Church, Oshawa, and Dr. F. H. Donovan, Oshawa, left last week for the former's cottage at Baptiste, where they are spending a fortnight in search of big game. Dr. E. W Baker, of Belleville, took charge of Mr. Irwin's pulpit duties last Sunday.

ENCOURAGING CLEAN SPORT.

W. H. Merrill, of 544 Harvey Street, is donating to the Cognawaga hockey team of St. James' Church a set of cuff links, valued at $5, to be presented to the member of the team playing the cleanest hockey throughout the coming season in the City League. The standing is to be judged from the referees' decisions.

ST. JAMES CHURCH HAS BRIGHT PLAY

Big Crowd Saw "The Deacon's Tribulations" Under Cognawaga Athletic Club.

A crowd of people numbering about two hundred and fifty, assembled in the Sunday school room of St. James' Methodist Church last evening, for the production of "The Deacons Tribulations," a bright comedy drama put on under the auspices of the Cognawaga Athletic Club of the church. The presentation, which was under direction of Mr. G. Wagar, was carried through in a very successful manner reflecting credit on the painstaking efforts of those taking part. It is a comedy of rural life, in four acts with the cast in appropriate costume and portrays the trials and difficulties of Deacon Thornton who has a fondness for lemonade with a stick in it, and the energetic campaign conducted by his wife Amelia to cure him of his habit The part of the lady was well taken by Miss J. Hamilton, and a good deal of real comedy was injected into the play through the efforts of E. MacLaren and A. Vannest in the parts of Billy, the Deacon's hired boy and Pete, Mrs. Thornton's dusky factotum.

Other parts taken in excellent style were those of the Deacon himself played by P. Vannest, George Graeff his nephew, played by D. Davis president of the Club; George Darrah and James Reed, both escaped convicts, played by E. Hotston and W. Wright, Dusty Jim, a tramp by L. Bristow, the Constable by A. Davis; Mrs. Thornton, Amelia's sister by Miss M. Carey; Daisy Dean by Miss H. Plunkett and Nellie, by Miss G. Welbourne.

An added attraction to the performance in the playing of the Sunday school orchestra, and the vaudeville turns between acts provided by A. Vannest supplemented by the bagpipe playing of L. Macdonald.

"The Deacon's Tribulations" will be repeated this evening.

JURY ACQUITS TWO MEN OF SHOOTING AN ENVOY

LAUSANNE, Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Maurice Conradi, Swiss engineer, and his alleged accomplice, Paul Polonnine, a Russian, were acquitted by a jury to-day of the assassination of Vaslav Vorovski, Soviet envoy to the second Lausanne Conference, who was shot and killed here on May 10th last.

LADIES TO PLAY BASKETBALL HERE

Teams Organized and a Start Will Be Made Tonight.

The ladies of Peterborough have been strenuously practising basketball for the past few weeks and a League has now been formed, consisting of six well matched teams.

To an onlooker who has watched their every pratcice, it would be difficult indeed to say which team is the strongest, and some splendid team work has been seen.

Throughout the coming months the Y.W.C.A. floor will be the battle ground for these opposing teams and the public generally is cordially invited to witness the games which will be played each Friday evening.

This evening the following games will be played:

Normals vs. Woollens, 8.15 p.m.
De Laval vs. Quakers 8.30 p.m.
C.G.E. vs. Y.W.C.A. 8.45 p.m.

The first half of each game will be played commencing at the times specified above—the second half of the Normals vs. Woollens game starting at 9 p.m. This will give the public an excellent opportunity to witness one and a half hours of good clean sport and enable them to size up the merits of each team.

We would like to see a good crowd on hand to-night to give this League a good start off.

ADD TO THE DOUGH.

Use the bits of potatoes that are too small for the table to boil and mash, adding to the dough for the bread or doughnuts.

LONGER WEAR.

Silk and wool garments will last much longer if they are washed or cleaned before becoming too badly soiled.

KITCHEN CABINETS.

Kitchen cabinets should be emptied of their contents at least once a month and washed thoroughly.

BOARDS OF TRADE NOMINATION DAY

J. J. Duffus, President of the Local Chamber of Commerce is Named.

HAMILTON, Ont., November 16 (Canadian Press). — Lieut.-Col. W. N. Ponton, of Belleville, led the opposition to a resolution on immigration presented to the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade this morning.

He declared that it favoured Western Canada to the exclusion of Ontario, which, he held, was discriminated against.

The resolution will be drafted.

The officers for 1924 named by the Nominating Committee to be elected this evening are:

Hon. presidents, Wm. Taylor, Owen Sound, John Elliott, Belleville, Col H. Brock, Toronto.

President, M. P. Byrnes, Collingwood.

First vice-president, J G. Elliott, Kingston.

Second vice-president, K. P. Dunstan, Toronto.

Third vice-president, J. J. Duffus, Peterborough.

TRINITY CHURCH CHOIR HAS SPECIAL FEATURE

In preparation for the Sunday School anniversary next Sunday, the Trinity Church choir last night, at their weekly practice, rehearsed a feature which, having proved so successful, and which was well received on a previous occasion, is to be given again at next Sunday evening's service, that is, musical renderings by an "echo choir." For this purpose the choir last evening was greatly augmented, bringing the number up to over eighty. After the rehearsal, the regular choir members entertained those assisting to a social hour in the basement of the church, thanks being given by the organist and choir leader to all who had so kindly responded and given their support, also to the ladies who rendered such good service in making the social side of the evening the success it was in attending to and serving light refreshments.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

Perhaps you are to "have" the sewing cub next week some afternoon. Of coursel your first thought is "what shall I serve?"

These recipes may be a bit different or else so old they seem new to you. Just because a dish is old is no reason to condemn it.

If you would drink cocoa in place of tea try dropping a marshmallow cut in halves in each cup. You'll like it and it saves fussing with whipped cream at the last minute.

Maraschino cherries are quite as good in hot tea as cold lemonade.

How would you like a frozen salad, sandwiches, salted nuts, tea and bon-bons instead of ice cream and cake?

Or these little marmalade rolls, tea or cocoa, baked ice cream and salted nuts may appeal to you.

Frozen Salad

One pint canned tomatoes, 1 cup water, 1 cup Roquefort cheese, 2 cups whipping cream, 1 small onion, 2 stalks celery, 4 tablespoons tomato catsup, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper.

Put tomatoes, onion, celery and water in a smooth sauce pan. Stew 20 minutes. Rub through a fine sieve. Add catsup, sugar, salt, pepper and soda. Soften gelatine in four tablespoons cold water. Dissolve in boiling tomato puree. Let stand until gelatine begins to set. Mash cheese and work in enough cream to make smooth. Whip remaining cream and combine with cheese. Fold into tomato mixture. Pour into a mold and freeze in four parts ice to one part salt for two or three hours. Serve on crisp leaves of head lettuce with or without French dressing.

The merit of this salad is that it's ready to serve without any mixing when wanted.

Brown bread sandwiches, toasted or plain, are delicious with this salad.

Marmalade Rolls

Three cups flour, 3 tablespoons butter, 6 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, water, orange or grapefruit marmalade, ¼ cup chopped English walnuts.

Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Work in butter with tips of fingers. Cut in water with a knife, using enough water to make as soft a dough as can be handled. Roll on a well floured board. Make the sheet oblong as to shape and not more than one-half inch thick. Spread with softened butter, marmalade and sprinkle with nuts. Roll up like a jelly roll and cut in inch slices. Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven.

These can be made and cut, placed in the pans and kept in a rather cool place until ready to bake and serve. They should be served warm and fresh from the oven.

Baked Ice Cream

Make a rich pie crust and bake in small deep individual pans. Prick the dough many times on the bottom and around the flare to prevent bulging while baking. Chill the shells thoroughly after baking. Fill shell three-quarters full of firmly frozen ice cream. Cover with meringue. The meringue must completely cover the cream. It should be about one-fourth inch thick and fit closely along the pie crust. Put under the flame in a gas stove to brown or in a very hot oven. Serve at once.

To make the meringue allow two tablespoons of sugar to each egg white. Beat white until stiff and dry on a platter with a wire whisk. Beat in sugar. Three eggs whites should be enough for 16 tiny "pies."

The ice cream is also baked in one large deep pie shell and cut like ordinary pie.

Pie Crust

Two cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup butter, ¼ cup lard, cold water.

Wash butter in cold water to remove salt and buttermilk and to make it easy to handle. Mix and sift salt and flour. Work in lard with tips of fingers. Add very cold or ice water to make a stiff dough. Put on a floured moulding board and roll into a oblong sheet about one-quarter inch thick. Put the butter which has been made into a flat oblong pat in the center of the lower half of the pastry. Fold upper half over butter. Fold lower half over enclosed butter and upper half under. Pat and roll out to one-fourth inch thickness.

Fold in thirds and roll out again. Keep lifting and dredging board with flour to prevent sticking. Fold in thirds and roll out the second time. Use as desired.

Speech From the Throne in British House Reveals Profound Anxiety —Serious Situation Has Developed.

SEARCH FOR LIQUOR

(By LLOYD ALLEN, United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Nov. 16.—After a speech from the Throne revealing the "Profound anxiety," with which Britain views the continental situation, King George's decree dissolving Parliament was read today.

With Anglo-French friendship apparently at the breaking point again the King, in his usual restrained language, directly placed on France responsibility for holding up a solution of the reparations problems. The speech from the throne always a carefully weighed statement prepared by the Cabinet, was read by the Lord Chancellor Viscount Cave, in the House of Lords shortly after Parliament assembled for its usual early Friday session. It referred to Anglo-American efforts to start a reparations inquiry and continued.

Situation Serious

"Unfortunately it was not possible to secure the assent of the French government to proposals which it had been hoped would lead to a solution of the reparations problem.

"My government regard with profound anxiety the continuance of the present economic conditions in Europe, which depend so largely on the settlement of this question.

"A serious situation has developed in Germany which is engaging the close and earnest attention of my government."

The King's speech, always examined here for its slightest shading of meaning as conveying the utmost significance, then passed on to the Anglo-American discussions about search of ships off the American coast for liquor and noted.

Negotiations are proceeding with the United States government for the settlement of difficulties as regard the carriage of liquor in transit and its illicit importation into the United States."

The decree dissolving Parliament set Dec. 20 as the date for convening the new one, but in well-informed circles today, it was thought likely a proclamation after the election of Dec. 6th would postpone the new session until after New Years, so as to not interfere with the usual Christmas holiday.

Refuse Humor France

Examination of the King's speech, together with the refusal of the British Government through its Ambassador in Paris, the Marquis of Crewe, to consent to France's demand for military action to expell the Crown Prince from Germany, caused the belief today that England was through with trying to humor France.

Prime Minister Baldwin's remarks in the House of Commons last night contained even more direct reference than the King's speech to French actions. Speaking of the high hopes he had held for a reparations conference, he continued:

"We have found all our efforts brought to nought, not by our own action, nor by the action of America, but by the action of two of our allies."

This statement, referring to France and Belgium, it was believed, was heartily cheered.

HASTINGS NEWS

HASTINGS, Nov. 16. — The death occurred on Tuesday morning of a life long resident of Hastings in the person of Henry S. Scriver, aged 66.

Mr. Scriver had been in poor health for some time though not seriously until the last few weeks.

Some years ago he suffered a stroke but sufficiently recovered to get around again, but never gained and gradually grew worse until he passed away.

He was a member of the Methodist church.

Besides his sorrowing widow, he leaves to mourn his loss a family of seven children Mrs. Wm. Thompson of Peterboro Mrs. Henry Harvey of Huron Mountains, Mrs. Jas. Seymour, Hastings; Henry, Lewis, Nelson and Solomon all of Hastings

The funeral took place from his late residence in the Norwood Road to the Trent Valley Cemetery and was largely attended.

The sympathy of all is extended to the bereaved family in this hour of trial.

Mr. J. H. Cowan has leased the Clarendon Hotel from Mr. A. B. Spellman and has taken possession.

Mr. F. Stewart of Toronto, spent the week end at the home of his mother Mrs. Wm. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Taylor and son of Trenton spent the holiday with Mr. J. E. Taylor.

Miss Gertrude Hill of Toronto, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hill.

Dr. J. H. and Mrs. Hess spent Thursday in Campbellford.

TWO STATES CLASH OVER TOWN STATUS.

IRONWOOD, Mich., Nov. 16 (Associated Press).—On the arm of the attorney general of Michigan, the town of Hurley, Wisconsin, notorious in its past, has been ushered before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Born to notoriety in the days of the north country's "rum rebellion," Hurley, nevertheless, is desired by Michigan, with Wisconsin just as firm in fighting the attempt to remove the town from its jurisdiction.

Hurley is on the small strip of land that Michigan claims as its own, despite the fact that the land, situated in Iron and Vilas counties, has been Wisconsin territory since 1836. Michigan's contention, as presented to the Supreme Court in a bill of complaint, is that the boundary line between Michigan and Wisconsin was established originally as "through the middle of the main channel of the Montreal river." Later it was discovered that the original surveys were incorrect; that the river branched. Michigan asserts that the correct boundary is in the west branch of the river; Wisconsin, the east branch.

The territorial acquisition that would result to Michigan, if this state's contentions are recognized by the high court, would be small, including besides the land in the two Wisconsin counties, several islands in the Menominee river and Washington island in Green Bay. Valuable deposits of iron and coal, however, make the disputed terrain a tempting bone for the two commonwealths to wrangle over.

Michigan's bill of complaint to the Supreme Court charges that Wisconsin has refused to settle amicably the boundary dispute. Wisconsin is require to file an answer by January 7.

The Michigan-Wisconsin dispute is of long standing. Michigan officials have explained the present court action is not as much directed to the extension of the territorial limits as it is to the settlement forever, one way or another, of the boundary argument.

Wedding Bells

St. Barnabas' church, Toronto, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Nov 7th, when Jessie Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Walker Cole, of Crawford street, Toronto, was united in marriage to Rev. Milton George Barlow Williams, curate of the Anglican church at Millbrook, and only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Williams, of Havelock. Rev. W. H. Heard of Capreol, Ont., a college chum of the groom, performed the ceremony. The church was tastefully decorated with palms and mums. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in her pretty wedding gown of white georgette with the customary bridal veil and orange blossoms. She carried an ivory prayer book. Miss Beatrice J. Williams, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid and looked very pretty gowned in pale green shot taffeta with large picture hat and bouquet of Ophelia roses. The groom was supported by his uncle, Mr. R. M. Barlow, of Toronto. After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the usual toasts were proposed. Rev. and Mrs. Williams left for a short honeymoon. On their return they will reside in Millbrook. Havelock friends of the groom extend hearty congratulations.

SPEYSIDE DISTILLERIES BUSY.

ABERDEEN, Scotland. — Owing to the pressure of whisky orders most of the Speyside distilleries opened the season's work two or three weeks earlier than usual. The home demand is much lower than in pre-war days, but the orders from overseas, and especially from the dry areas in America, continue to increase.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

A story of old days in the Southern States, a tale of the Mississippi River, with old-time paddle schooners churning their way down its mild waters; a story of love woven around a gentleman gambler and the dark-eyed, shy beauty who captures his heart; a tale of sudden duels and swift passions, cloaked by the stiff, formal manners of another and older age, such is the outline of "Cameo Kirby," a John Ford production playing at the Capitol Theatre just now. It is a picture staged in old Southern days, and darkies and lovely maidens in hoop skirts and pantalettes come and go, companioned by stiff backed gentlemen with high stocks and outrageous hats, who snap out of their aristocratic languer to take pot shots at each other in fierce duelling encounters.

Cameo Kirby is a poseur, but he is a romantic figure, nevertheless, one calculated to thrill the heart of a susceptible maiden, with his dark, piercing eyes, his immaculate clothes and his mysterious demeanor. Companioned by the faithful Bunce, he makes a precarious living as a straight gambler, playing a skilful game against crooked opponents. In a three-cornered card encounter, he foils the plans of his enemy, Colonel Moreau, and wins the St. Rose plantation from its owner. Before he can carry out his intention of returning the deed to the loser, the latter suicides, and the wily Colonel puts the onus of blame on the shoulders of Kirby, who hastens with sorrowful steps from the scene of the suicide.

He becomes involved later on in a fantastic imbroglio that forces him to impersonate a man he has just shot dead at the duelling oaks, the Colonel Moreau, who is the villain of the piece. Kirby is mistaken by the heroine for this man, and plays out his part at the Southern plantation, in face of the suspicious demeanor of the men of the family. The tale unwinds to a logical and happy ending, with the dark-eyed Southern beauty, in her white dress and dusky curls, melting into his embrace in a scene where white pigeons fly through a sunlit wood, a conclusion that marks the keynote of the picture, with its appealing atmosphere of romance and reserved, fierce action.

The travel pictures that form the introduction to the Capitol picture programmes are usually among its most charming bits of screening. They are brief, instructive, keyhole views of colorful life and living in other, remote climes.

The comedy that accompanies the feature included many of the juvenile performers of the screen in a presentation of Hal Roach's Rascals in "The Big Show." It is a 'kiddie' interlude, with a group of clever junior performers romping through a children's circus, where the wild animals are painted dogs and dressed-up geese.

AT THE ROYAL.

"A ROYAL DIVORCE" BASED ON FAMOUS PLAY THAT TOURED ENGLAND FOR THIRTY YEARS, COMING TO ROYAL MONDAY.

The story is a fascinating one, and shows how the Little Corporal, Napoleon, found the Crown of France lying in the gutter, picked it up at the point of his sword, and then by sheer strength of personality brought all the kings of Europe to his feet. In Austria, Prussia, Russia, Italy and Spain, all the monarchs of the ancient houses of Europe with dread and fear bowed to the will of this little Frenchman, and in France he was beloved and worshipped, and there was hardly a man or woman in all of France who would not give their lives with but three words on their lips, "Vive L'Empereur."

The prologue opens with the Little Corporal as a cadet in a military school at Brienne, where he was alone and friendless, and sneered at by the rank and file of the cadets, and even here by a few remarkably interesting touches is shown where he was characterized by the fire of the great genius which was soon to make him Emperor of France and the king of a hundred kings.

Then we see him as Colonel Bonaparte at a ball at the Imperial Palace at the Tuilleries, where starts his romance with Josephine, and it is here that the Minister of the Interior, Talleyrand, the coolest and cruelest man in Europe, utters the incredulous statement, "There is a young man whom I would make the military director of Paris." Little did Talleyrand dream that this same young man would soon be the military director of Europe and three-quarters of the entire world.

The story takes up the romance of Napoleon and Josephine, and shows how, in the midst of all his triumphs and victories, complete happiness is denied the Emperor by the failure of his wife to bear him a child, and for this reason, against all the impulses of his love for Josephine, he finally succumbs to the repeated persuasions of Talleyrand to ally himself with the reigning house of Austria and wed Marie Louise, a daughter of the Caesars. To use Napoleon's own words, as spoken to Talleyrand, "What reason have I to marry the daughter of kings—I who make and break kings to suit my own fancy?"

From then on all the personal side of Napoleon's life is shown, on the one hand, Josephine, whom he divorced, and on the other hand, the proud Austrian Princess, Marie Louise, who came from the most ancient court of Europe, instilled with the Austrian hatred and contempt for the little French upstart.

The English actors who play the parts of Napoleon and Josephine, namely, Gwlym Evans and Gertrude McCoy, give such an artistic interpretation of these famed figures that they are now the rage of all Europe. Gertrude McCoy, beautiful to look at, and a born actress, is now capturing the fancy and touching the hearts of audiences in England and all over the continent, where "A Royal Divorce" is creating an absolute sensation.

The play, which ran in England for 30 years, was a huge success, but the picture, which embraces all the intimacy and personality of the play, has the advantage of the opportunity to stage all the big scenes, and the producer, G. B. Samuelson, has spared no money or expense in seizing the opportunity. The Battle of Waterloo, the mightiest conflict of all the centuries, has been staged anew in the film, and a touching and stirring sight it is. We also see the Burning of Moscow, the famous city of the Czars. We see Napoleon's famous retreat from that city, with his army of a million, which at the end of the route is reduced to a miserable and straggling 150,000, while all through the long, grim journey, beset by the hunger and extreme cold, the soldiers were dropping off with the last few words on their lips, "Vive L'Empereur."

Then we find Napoleon returning to Paris shorn of all his glory, with the allied armies of all the capitals of Europe clamoring for revenge. Other big scenes include the signing of the divorce by the Empress at the Imperial Palace at Fontainbleau, a touching, pitiful, historic sight; the farewell of Napoleon to the armies in a courtyard at Fontainbleau, and the officers of the English army making merry at the Duke of Richmond's hall, on the eve of Waterloo, when the word is given out by Wellington that every man must leave for the field, whereupon England's manhood, each in his own different way, takes leave of his loved ones and marches to what may be his doom.

The picture was produced by G. B. Samuelson, the English master-producer, who has to his credit that great English picture, "The Game of Life," and who now, after the remarkable success all over Europe of "A Royal Divorce," is more famed on the other side than any producer of any other nation.

MANY HAZARDOUS STUNTS IN "3 JUMPS AHEAD," MIX FILM

New friends were made by Tom Mix last night at the Royal Theatre where his latest tale of the Western plains, "3 Jumps Ahead," was shown for the first time in this city. This photoplay will remain at the Royal tonight and three shows Saturday, 2.30, 7 and 9.

After seeing the last few of the Tom Mix pictures, it did not seem possible to invent new stunts for every picture, but his latest screen offering exceeds even the best of his previous pictures. At least two new and thrilling stunts are offered in this photoplay for the entertainment of motion picture fans.

Tom Mix in "3 Jumps Ahead" shares the honors with "Tony," the remarkable horse who has become known to thousands of fans in every city. The new leading lady for Tom Mix is Alma Bennett, one of the most beautiful actresses appearing before the camera today. Although Miss Bennett is very young, her work has attracted considerable attention and her role in this production is capably handled.

This story deals with the activities of a band of cattle rustlers of the old West and their subsequent defeat at the hands of the Texas Rangers. The rustlers capture Mix and take him to their secret cave which has its entrance beneath a waterfall. In order to enter the cave the men ride through the water and thus come to a rock walled fortress. Mix escapes from the rustler's stronghold and rescues the father of the girl he loves. Then he leads the Rangers in pursuit of the bandits.

In order to cut off pursuit, the bandits destroy a bridge over a deep canyon and then continue their flight in a stage-coach. But Mix leaps the canyon which is twenty feet wide and ninety feet deep. This is one of the most remarkable stunts ever shown in motion pictures and will give even the most confirmed movie fan a new thrill.

If you like a fast moving Western tale with plenty of thrilling stunts, superb photography, an interesting love story and a capable cast, then this picture will surely entertain you.

AT THE GRAND.

ANOTHER FINE BILL.

Another well-balanced bill of pictures and vaudeville will greet the Grand patrons for the balance of the week, and the programme as given last night indicates thoroughly satisfied audiences at every performance. Manager Bickell has been fortunate, not only in his choice of vaudeville acts, but in his picture selection as well, for the feature film which opens the bill is one of the most enjoyable pictures shown here in a long time. George Arliss, one of the few artists who is as good on the silver sheet as he is on the stage, is seen to great advantage in "The Ruling Passion," a film version of Earl Derr Biggers' entertaining story in "The Saturday Evening Post." With a most cleverly constructed little comedy, a chuckle every thirty seconds, a plot that is convincingly real and characters not grotesquely overdrawn, "The Ruling Passion" is miles ahead in charm entertainment and merit of many much more lavishly advertised productions. Mr. Arliss has a role that fits him like a glove, and he is given intelligent support by an able cast.

There are five vaudeville acts — and not a dud in the lot. Sid Jackson, who opens the programme, sings and yodels nicely, and plays the piano-accordion with the skill of a Pietro. He is a whole band in himself.

Williams and Healy, the "Welsh Miners," have a very enjoyable act with some comedy and more music. Both members of the act sing in excellent voice, and one of them does some remarkable whistling, including some realistic bird imitations.

The McMahon Sisters, harmony singers, are all that and more. They have a singing act, including both solo numbers and duets, that is away above the average, and every number given last night was a hit.

Will Thomas contributes a contortion novelty in which his work is clean cut and clever. If there are any bones in his body they must be plentifully supplied with hinges, for Thomas twists himself into unbelievable shapes.

The bill is closed by Clifford and Clifford in an act in which the male member demonstrates that if everybody had teeth like his, dentistry as a profession would disappear. He juggles heavy tables and chairs with his teeth, and makes the feat look easy.

The same bill will be given at the Grand to-night and to-morrow night, with a matinee to-morrow.

ZEV AT LOUISVILLE FOR SATURDAY RACE

Arrives at Churchill Downs For Match With In Memoriam.

LOUISVILLE, K.Y. Nov. 15.—After an absence of six months, Zev, winner of the Kentucky Derby returned to Churchill Downs late to-day. To-night he is quartered on the same grounds with In Memoriam, his opponent, in another great turf match scheduled for Churchill Downs Saturday.

In Memoriam was not asked to extend himself in his workout by Trainer Bob Gilmore to-day. The track remains in good condition and is fast despite a light rain that fell during a brief period early this morning.

M'TIGUE ALLEGES FRAUD BY MANAGER

Opens Suit Against Joe Jacobs For Accounting of Receipts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Mike Mc Tigue world's light heavyweight champion, today fired opening gun in the legal skirmish with his manager, Joe Jacobs and brought into the court the dispute which has been waged between the pair since Mc Tigue nearly lost his crown in a fight with young Stribling, Georgia schoolboy at Columbia, Georgia.

McTigue filed in Supreme Court a suit to compel Jacobs to account for money received under a three-year contract they enterd inao August 30, 1921, and under which the boxer was entitled to 70 per cent. of the profits of his engagements in the ring on the stage or eleswhere. Mc Tigue charges that he was defrauded by Jacobs, and also that the latter misrepresented their financial affairs to the State Athletic Commission, which at its recent hearing into the case upheld Jacobs' claim that the contract was valid and advised the pair to settle their differences, preferably out of court.

SPORT NOTES

The running interference allowed in the Intercollegiate will not be allowed from now on for Queen's and they must make up in other ways for this loss. There is a feeling among the players that they can hold the Dominion title in Kingston this year and there is not a fan in Kingston who does not think that Queen's can do it.—Kingston Standard.

Porkopolis, otherwise Toronto, is desolate. Toronto has become even as Montreal and Toronto, devoid of rugby titles and denuded of its importance in the athletic world. It has been a lean year for the athletic exponents of the bacon city. Outside of Granites they have nothing to show. The cupboard is empty and the cups have fitted to other buffets. Parkdale went out yesterday trying hard to put one over as is characteristic of their city. Toronto was desperate, and they introduced their fifth ace in the person of Lionel Connacher. President John De Grouchy saved Toronto from itself. Some team from there had to be in a play-off. It has been thus since the war. Parkdale took a desperate chance. Hamilton refused to be cowed. Now two championships repose in the shadow of the Mountain. For a few weeks anyway, till Queen's do their stuff the Ambitious City will be top of the world in rugby.—Ottawa Journal.

Origin of "The Sticks."

Few big league ball players are natives of the towns in which they play. They come from the towns and hamlets of the West and South—from what the ball players themselves call "The Sticks."

This expression originated with Big Chief Meyers, the stout, Mission Indian, once a catcher with the New York Giants.

Travelling with the Giants through the low lands of the South one spring Meyers was struck by the long stretches of tall, bare tree trunks. They had been stripped by fire and stood out over the landscape like toothpicks stuck in a cake.

For some reason Meyers always afterward associated any region not New York with stretches of tall, bare tree trunks. The country beyond the cities with him was, vaguely, "The Sticks."

DAVE BANCROFT.

Bancroft never has had managerial experience, says Damon Runion, but he has had a great deal to say about running a championship team. As a player he is not going on and probably knows it. His physique has never been sturdy. But granting that he may be brittle, he is likely to make a good director for the Boston team. He will find that young Smith, who played short for Boston in 1923, will give him or any other shortstop a merry race, because Smith is a coming baseball player.

In the exchange of Bancroft for Southworth, the Giants did not lose so much. They propped up an outfield which had been on crutches for a year and they have Jackson to play short next season. It was the good work of Jackson that held the Giants to their knitting when they were slipping last season. McGraw never makes trades to weaken the Giants and the sacrifice hit stuff of the sentimentalists does not belong in the score.

DECIDE STUDENT RUGBY SATURDAY

Championship of Eastern Ontario Hinging on the Kingston Game.

The rugby fans will have a chance to see the results of a whole season's training and practice on Saturday afternoon at Riverside when the P.C.I. meet the Kingston Collegiate team for the championship of Eastern Ontario and the right to enter the Interscholastic semi-finals. The locals were badly weakened by graduation this year but by hard practice and gameness have come forward in great strides. They have tucked Lindsay C.I. and Oshawa H.S. both away by large scores and Coach Browne thinks this year's team is every bit as good as the fast squad of last year which gave Oakwood such a close battle.

Kingston will certainly have a smart crew, being able to see the best teams in Canada in action. The Kingston back field players journeyed to Oshawa on Monday to see the P.C.I. play Oshawa. They are out for the championship and warned the locals to expect a real battle and their first mark in the see it that way.

Anyway the game this Saturday will be the cream of the rugby played this year in the city. The rugby team of P.C.I. are under a great financial obligation in bringing the team all the way from the Limestone City and the sporting blood of Peterboro should be out to back them.

LADIES' NIGHT AT SOLOMON'S ALLEYS A SUCCESS.

Last night at the Water Street Alleys saw a large number of young ladies bowling. Good scores were set up by some of the fair sex and it is expected that after a few more games have been played that the ladies will be hanging up some high scores. Bowling is very popular among the young ladies and it is expected that as much interest will be shown by the ladies here as is shown by them in some of the larger cities. Now that game has taken hold on the young ladies it is most likely that bowling parties will become popular.

EXAMINER INTERSHOP LEAGUE.

There was some great bowling in the Examiner Intershop League Wednesday night at the Water Street Alleys. H. McCauley of the Linos copped the high three games with 579, while Roy Taylor of the Proofers had the high single of 271. There was great improvement shown in the games. The number of teams rolling over five and six hundred and the number of players rolling over 200 in a single game clearly indicates the improvement that is being made by some of the bowlers who made their initial appearance at bowling this season. The following are the scores:

MOST "CHAMPS" ARE BESET BY JINX FIGHTERS

Harry Greb's Recent Experiences in Bout Against Soldier Jones Shows Mental Hazard.

(By JOE WILLIAMS)

The mental hazard exists in the prize ring, too. Only the knucklers don't call it that. Tough egg comes closer to the phraseology used. A tough egg is an inferior battler who always manages to make some particular star look bad.

Most of the champions have at least one tough egg on their list. Benny Leonard's tough egg is Johnny Dundee. Considering the difference in weights and the added fact that Leonard is accepted as the greatest lightweight since the days of Gans and Lavigne, Dundee has no license even to give him an interesting fight.

Dundee, however, always gives him a great fight. They have fought a dozen times or so. Leonard has yet to knock him out. Only once has he scored a knockdown. Usually at the finish Dundee is fighting on even terms with his heavier and more gifted foeman.

A suspicion exists in some quarters that Leonard "carries" Dundee. This is untrue. Dundee is Leonard's mental hazard and the champion can't shake him off.

Greb's Mental Hazard

Harry Greb, champion of the middles, has an active, two-fisted mental hazard in the person of Soldier Jones of Canada. Very likely you never heard of Soldier Jones before. You don't hear his name mentioned when the parlor chit-chat concerns the big leaguers of cauliflowerdom.

Jones is pastry for some middleweights, and poison for Greb. The Canadian came within a wink of knocking out Greb when the Pittsburger held the light heavyweight title.

Jones, a wild swinger who starts his punches from the sub-cellar, caught Greb on the chin with a righthander, and the titleholder went down with a resonant boom. A few minutes later Jones caught him with another whizzing wallop and knocked him across the middle rope.

Greb's amazing recuperative powers and fine courage alone enabled him to escape serious trouble.

Some several days ago Greb and Jones met in a return bout at Pittsburg. This time Greb knew what to expect. He knew Jones was a wild swinger and a terrific hitter. Greb adopted cautionary methods, but back deep in his memory flamed pictures of his first fight against Jones, and the knockdowns.

More "Tough Eggs"

Greb couldn't get them out of his mind and in less time than it takes to tell, Jones had him on the floor again, the result of another sweeping righthander. As soon as Greb got up Jones knocked him kicking again, thus rewriting, in almost identical terms, a chapter from the first fight.

Greb reassembled his addled wits and came on to win after a sensational up-hill fight; but he won't forget soon the second narrow escape he had at the hands of a battler of mediocre talent.

Other champions have had their mental hazards.

Jack Dempsey, next to Bob Fitzsimmons, the greatest of all heavies, could never do much against Willie Meehan, the Pacific coast roly-poly. Meehan, on the other hand, could win from nobody else.

Pancho Villa, who knocked the great Jimmy Wilde into retirement, has thrice been beaten by Frankie Genaro, a New York Italian of negative skill. Easy for others, Genaro, in some manner or other, finds Villa an appetizing dish.

Pete Herman, in his purple days of greatness, was always a sucker for Pal Moore's freak style.

Johnny Kilbane had his hardest fights against Tommy Kilbane, a fellow Clevelander. Tommy was never particularly hard for other featherweights, but Johnny, obviously superior, had to fight his greatest fights in order to beat him.

GIANTS PURCHASE CATCHER AINSMITH

Was Emergency Backstop With Brooklyn Last Season.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. — The New York Giants made another move in their reconstruction campaign today when they signed Eddie Ainsmith, veteran catcher, who was a free agent.

Ainsmith played most of last season with the St. Louis Cardinals. Released late in the summer he was signed by Brooklyn as an emergency backstop, but let out unconditionally at the end of the diamond year.

NEW YORK, November 16. Canadian Press. — A hold up here last night resulted disastrously for the bandit, who is believed to be dying in an hospital after his skull had been fractured. The robbery occurred in a candy store on the lower east side, and as the robber fled he was pursued by a crowd, throwing stones and bricks. The bandit turned and fired twice, but as the second shot barked a youth stole up behind him and swung a baseball bat on his head, dropping him unconscious.

HOLDS RECORD IN HIGH JUMP.

KATHERINE LEE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.— Seventeen years old, an athlete for exactly one year, Katherine Lee of this city now looms as one of the most promising feminine sports contenders in the country.

Recently she established a world's record for women in the high jump, clearing the bar at 4 feet 10 7-8 inches. Later in an unofficial effort she bettered the performance with a 5 feet 1-4 inch jump.

She is also broad jumper, pole vaulter and hurdle racer of exceptional ability. Experts predict she will be the greatest all-round woman athlete in the world within a year or so.

IS A COP NOW

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 15.—Back in his youth, Clarence J. "Big Tim" Timmons here was a crack luminary on the college gridiron.

Today his star no longer twinkles in the athletic heavens, but there's another on his breast just as bright.

For which, if any explanation is needed, let it be known that "Big Tim" is a cop.

However he's of the super variety. And 'tis said hereabouts that they broke the mold after pouring Tom out.

No longer does he buck the line in pursuit of the elusive pigskin.

But his football training comes in mighty handy.

For Tim Timmons directs traffic at a street intersection forming Pittsburg's busiest corner, and likewise the most traveled spot in the country, according to statistical sharps.

During the past 10 years his whistle has shrieked its "come ahead" and "stop" blasts to an ever lengthening line of vehicles.

Once, he had a semaphore to assist him in his work. But the contrivance took up too much room in the needed space where every inch counts.

Passing autoists hail him by the score. They know Tim stands for law and order, which his commanding presence does little to belie.

By goes the snaky winding line, and from out of it come repeated shouts of greeting.

"Hello, Tim! How are you?" And so on and so forth.

You can take it from police department heads that it takes a real man to handle Tim's corner and not get fussed.

And in the cheerful veteran all concur that a police gem—because Tim's just what they say—has been found.

The other day Tim celebrated his tin anniversary on the force.

He's been a cop 15 years now and likes it.

LOCAL COUNCIL WOMEN DISCUSS HEALTH WORK

Resolutions Will Be Forwarded to the Dominion Government—Address by Dr. Sutton.

The Local Council of Women had a good attendance at their regular monthly meeting, held in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon. The president, Mrs. A. Mowat, occupied the chair. A feature of the programme was an address by Dr. N. H. Sutton, speaking on the subject of Public Health work generally, and with regard to the necessity or otherwise of petitioning the government to institute a course for training midwives.

In the absence of Mrs. Joseph Wearing, Mrs. N. D. Seaton acted as recording secretary, giving also the financial statement up to date. Correspondence was read by Miss S. A. Tomkins. A telegram from the Cherniavisky Musical Trio, from Montreal, requested the Council to sponsor a concert by the Trio in Peterborough during the first week in December, asking also sixty per cent. of the gross proceeds. On account of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir concert, with Dame Clara Butt assisting, taking place in the same week, the Local Council decided not to undertake the proposition.

Resolutions Considered.

Several resolutions which will come up on the agenda at the executive meeting of the National Council, to be held at Georgetown next week, were considered. The endorsation of the Local Council was asked for one resolution, advanced by the sub-executive committee; that the Government be petitioned to pass restrictive legislation which would forbid or regulate under permit or license, the use of second-hand material, called quilt stock, in use as filling for mattresses and pillows for domestic use. The resolution was endorsed by the Local Council.

A second resolution will ask that greater attention be paid by the Federal Government to living condition in rural communities, as it is believed that migration from the land results in a great measure from unsatisfactory social conditions, leading to unrest among the women and children. A plan for rural settlement, advanced at the recent annual meeting of the National Council of Women, was mentioned and consideration of the problem was left for the hearing of further discussion by Mrs. Mowat, who will probably attend the Georgetown meeting.

The Local Council of Moncton, N.B., will advance a resolution, which declares that competitive examinations, as now carried on in the Public schools of their province, are a detriment to the physical and mental health of the students, and often in the case of a nervous scholar, do not constitute a satisfactory test of the pupil's ability. The Moncton Council then goes on to frame a resolution to petition the Government to declare the monthly report cards shall be taken as a basis for grading.

Mrs. W. R. Morris explained the system of grading at present in use in Ontario as being in a great measure one of consideration of the pupils' report cards as a basis for promotion. A certain percentage of scholars are passed by recommendation every year, and Ontario is doing away, in a larger degree, with the system of competitive examinations. "It is the tendency of the day," said Mrs. Morris, who thought that Monctons' problem was one which concerned only its own province.

Some of the ladies were of the opinion that the reports after examinations, as issued by the Collegiate Institute, were of little use in determining the pupil's daily progress, and thought that the Public school system of issuing reports every two months was much more satisfactory, as far as the parents' supervision of their children's education was concerned.

Miss Tompkins also recorded the receipt of a circular from the oleomargarine interests in Canada, who are still "on the war path" with regard to their petitions to the Government to allow the manufacture of their product in the country. The Federal Government takes the position, it is said, that war-time use of oleomargarine was simply a war measure, and that promises had been made to the Dairy interests that its use should cease with the conclusion of the war.

Appreciation of Examiner and Manager.

A motion, unanimously carried, put the Local Council on record as expressing its appreciation of the generosity and thoughtfulness manifested by R. M. Glover, manager of the Peterborough Examiner, in connection with the recent Baby Show and Contest at the Peterborough Fall Fair, when Mr. Glover donated a number of valuable prizes and gave a great deal of his time and newspaper space in boosting the show. A rider to this resolution expressed appreciation also of the space and attention given to the Local Council activities by the Examiner.

Re Training of Mid-Wives.

Prior to Dr. Sutton's talk, the president, Mrs. Mowat, explained in concise fashion the interest taken at the present time by the National Council of Women in the question of training mid-wives. Mrs. Hannington, a member of the Victorian Order of Nurses and a member of the National Council, gave a comprehensive report covering the subject, which appears in the latest issue of the Year Book. Mr. Mowat outlined this report briefly.

Mrs. Haunington, after a careful survey of the question, reported that, although the practise of mid-wifery is at present considered illegal by the law, that fifty per cent. of the babies born in Canada are attended by midwives. In one province alone, out of a total of 8,000 births, only 3,000 were attended by a doctor or nurse. In Northern New Brunswick, out of 1,000 births in one county, only 300 had a doctor or nurse, or both. The others were attended by anyone who would volunteer at the time.

Causes were given as lack of funds and lack of doctors and nurses in rural and isolated districts. Another difficulty in connection with the trained nurse was that of lack of help in the home. As well as care for herself the mother in the poor family was usually worried by the care of the home at such times, and the need for a skilled household worker was as great as the need for nursing care. The idea in advocating training of mid-wives was to give them a certain amount of tuition in nursing, and also train them in household work and supervision of the children. From the 16th century down, declared Mrs. Mowat women had been trained as mid-wives. Their associations were often opposed by the medical profession, and it was only of late that some physicians were becoming open-eyed to the need.

In Prussia, said Mrs. Mowat, midwives were given a training of nine months; in France, two years; in Italy, from two to three years; in Switzerland, from six months to a year; in Amsterdam and Rotterdam, Holland, two years; in Belgium, two years; in the Scandinavian Peninsula one year. In England, in 1902, an Act authorizing the training of midwives, was passed by Parliament, and after a committee of investigation to England, had been sent over by the United States, two years ago, a training school for mid-wives had been opened in New York city, and adopted later in many of the other States.

Dr. Sutton's Talk.

Dr. N. H. Sutton gave a brief and interesting talk on the subject, and on other aspects of Public Health work. This question, he declared, was only one item in public health work and not as important in his mind, evidently, as other activities that might be undertaken by a body of women interested in social and health advancement. He doubted if the figures given by Mrs. Hannington were correct, saying that, in the opinion of a physician of his acquaintance, not more than fifteen per cent. of child births were attended by mid-wives.

"The problem of half of the unattended child-births in Ontario is largely in the northern sections, where districts are great and funds are few, and the other half is in our city centres, where the foreign population is used to attendance by midwives, and averse to having, or paying for, the services of a male physician."

The doctor was of the opinion that in normally healthy cases, where little trouble was likely to occur, midwives were satisfactory enough, but thought that the entire conduct of the case should not be left to a midwife, in the many instances where careful medical attention and prenatal care were necessary. He considered the old-fashioned monthly nurse to assist the physician, and take charge of the household during the mother's illness, so as to obviate the worry of the mother, was an excellent alternative, and spoke in high terms of the experience manifested by some of these women, as contrasted with the inexperience of even a trained nurse in confinement cases.

The National Council's efforts to pass legislation for the training of such women, was, however, characterized by the speaker as somewhat in the line of mis-directed energy, which he thought might be applied along other lines, to better advantage. He cited the supreme needs of any community as an abundance of good water and pure food, and of attention to the disposal of all waste products, so that they would not form a menace to the public health.

The doctor spoke of the pollution of the Otonabee River, in our own city. "From the Auburn dam to below the city the river is polluted," he declared, referring to the refuse discharged into the water from the numerous factories along its banks. He also spoke of the danger at the Little Lake beach, where the water is highly polluted, and where several cases of typhoid and children's diseases have been traced to this source; to the infection of typhoid garnered from wells in East City, "where there is more typhoid than in any other area in the city," to the danger of eating fish taken from the polluted waters of the river; to the campaign now going on with regard to immunizing children to diphtheria, "which we still preserve in our midst, with its character as a killer," and to the dangers from social diseases.

"At one time, discussion of social diseases was taboo. Now it has become quite fashionable to talk about them. I hope the fashion will not go out until everyone is seized of the importance of the idea of their eradication and cure. In one generation, by proper treatment we could rid this country of this curse. They can, by treatment, be rendered incommunicable, and to a large extent, their ravages can be controlled.

Dr. Sutton declared that the habit of fastening blame on the late war for the spread of such diseases was absolutely wrong. When conscription was enforced, it was discovered that venereal disease was much more prevalent at home than overseas. "A great percentage of the victims are quiet, respectable, God-fearing citizens, those who have sowed a few wild oats, or perhaps only one wild oat. But the consequences crop out in the children to the third or fourth generation." The use of the Wasserman test as a routine of medical examination was endorsed by the doctor who asked for the support of the Social Hygiene Council's activities, "which will give results more amazing than any other branch of public health work."

The Original Question.

Mrs. Mowat, who voiced the appreciation of the society in a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker, reverted once more to the original question before the meeting, that which had to do with consideration of the necessity for women workers, who would be willing to give attention to cases where lack of funds prohibited the services of either doctor or nurse, and where the mother was worried over household cares accumulating during her illness and convalescence.

One lady cited the case of a woman whose husband is earning as much as his health will permit, and yet, in view of a coming confinement the father and mother, with two other children to look after, do not feel able to pay for the services of a doctor or nurse. "What shall we do with her?" enquired this lady, and no one seemed able to answer her inquiry.

Mrs. Mowat also referred to the undeniable fact that mortality among mothers, in child-birth, was alarmingly on the upgrade.

The meeting concluded with a reference to the re-opening of the Public Library on Sundays, in the same manner as it was conducted last winter, with which all the members expressed their approval.

ARGUMENT OVER GIRL RESULTED IN MURDER

KELLIHER, Minn., Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Argument over a fifteen year old girl Myrtle Sanders by two rival suitors resulted in the murder of four people near this village yesterday.

Leonard Portano, the alleged murderer considered as a "bad man" has taken to the woods. The girl's parents were the victims of the desperado. Her whereabouts are unknown.

IN LOVING MEMORY
Of Thomas Clarke, who departed this life, November 16, 1921:
In loving memory of my dear Grandpa, Thomas Clark, who died Nov. 16, 1921:
Long days and nights he bore his pain,
To wait for cure but all in vain,
Till God alone knew what was best,
He took him home and gave him rest.
Two years have passed, our hearts' still sore,
As time goes on I miss him more,
His loving smile, his tender face,
No one can fill his vacant place.
—Ever remembered by his granddaughter Violet, Mrs. C. Harris.

IN MEMORIAM
CLARKE—In loving remembrance of my dear father, Thomas Clarke died Nov. 16th 1921.
Memory keeps my father near me,
Whom God called two years ago
Days of sadness still come over me
Tears of sorrow often flow
Loving remembrance last forever,
I think of him wherever I go.
Inserted by his loving daughter, (Carrie) Mrs. G. Downer.

'BRESLAU, Germany, Nov. 15.—Neighborhood sentiment in Breslau refuses to wax warm over the advent of former Crown Prince Frederick William in Oels. It is taken for granted that he will be no Hitler and will promptly refuse to make his caste the headquarters for monarchical plotting.

"The Crown Prince has had ample time at Wieringen to reflect on the past present and future and has come to the conclusion that this is not time to project a crown prince issue into Germany's numerous difficulties," says the conservative Silesian Gazette.

STRANGE AUTO IN EAST CITY

Robert Graham Saw Men Renumbering License Plate — The Bandits' Car?

Coming on three men changing the number of their car in East City last night, Robert M. Graham failed to realize the import of his discovery until the men had got away.

Graham resides at 115 Robinson St. and is employed by the William Scott Company Limited as a carter. He owns a lot lying between the railway and the canal. Last night on his way to a shed to husk corn, he came on a large car hidden behind a tree. The engine was running and a man was seated at the wheel. A second man was squatted on his heels painting figures on the license plate while a third held a light for him.

Graham, who was carrying a lantern, noticed that the car was wine-colored, and he thinks it about the build of a McLaughlin.

He said "Good evening," to the men, one of whom grunted in reply. As he passed he noticed that only one figure had been painted on the license plate, and the man was busy at the second.

The men got into the car when their work was done and drove away stopping for a time on the canal bridge. They then went north over the C.P.R.

Mr. Graham told the Examiner today that it did not occur to him to telephone the police. He did not realize until they had driven away that their actions were suspicious.

Same as Wanted Car.

The description of the car which was seen under so suspicious circumstances by Graham tallies with the description of the car which was implicated in the hold up and attempted burglary on Saturday night, it is believed. One man who saw the car on Sunday morning, said it was dark red, while another claimed it was black. The car that visited East City last night was wine-colored, and was about the build described by those who chased the thugs on Sunday.

A large, dark red auto was noticed on the market square on Saturday evening and was reported to Chief Newhall by one of his men. After the hold-up of Miss Mervin the car had disappeared.

RECOVERED AUTO IS STOLEN AGAIN

Provincial Police Left Car Safe But on Return Find it Gone With Another.

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Provincial police last night recovered in a garage at Cornwall, fur coats and other goods to the value of about $5,000 which are believed to have been stolen in Toronto or Hamilton and also a motor car bearing an Ohio license which had been stolen. The furs were placed in safe keeping and the timer removed from the car, but when the officers returned to the building this morning found that it had been entered and the car again stolen as well as another. The Ohio car was recovered on the western outskirts of the town.

MONTREAL NOTABLE IN BRITISH ELECTION

Lieut- Col. Andrew H. Gault Who Commanded P.P.C.L.I. Has Conservative Nomination

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press Cable.) — "Lieut. Col. Andrew Hamilton Gault, the well-known Montreal wholesaler, who organized, equipped and commanded the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, and distinguished himself in the war and who now resides in England will be an active participant in the British General Election.

Col. Gault has consented to accept the Conservative nomination for the Taunton division of Somerset in Opposition to the sitting member J. H. Simpson, Liberal, whose defeat of Sir Arthur Griffith Boscawen, Minister of Agriculture in the Coalition Government was one of the surprises of the last general election.

ENTENTE RUPTURE SAY THE FRENCH

PARIS, Nov. 16. — (Canadian Press)—Premier Poincare took issue with Prime Minister Baldwin of Great Britain as to who is to blame for the present Franco-British differences when he arose unexpectedly to speak in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon during an interpellation on Foreign affairs, "I cannot let it be said it is by our fault that an agreement has not been reached," he declared. "For several years we have not ceased to make concessions from our rights and it is not on our side that the attitude is uncompromising."

The Premier said he had not intended to speak because he could not at this time discuss certain subjects, but the occurrence in the British Parliament yesterday could not be allowed to pass and must be answered immediately. The British Ambassador," he said, "had supported the German point of view in the Council of Ambassadors, during the discussion of the seizure of twelve Franco-Rumanian company airplanes in Germany, although the treaty of Versailles gave the allies the most favored nation treatment in commercial serial matters, and later the British delegate repeated this opposition when the subject was submitted to jurists.

Cries of "It is a rupture of the Entente Cordiale" greeted this description of the British attitude.

CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED BY ALL PARTIES

Labor Party Claims Absolute Remedy for Unemployment - Help Present and Invest for Future.

DIVERSE VIEWS

LONDON, Nov. 17. — (Canadian Press). — Prime Minister Baldwin to-day issued a manifesto to the country, in which he put the electorate in possession of the main features of his tariff proposals, showing at the same time how he means to fill in the blank check which, in the words of his opponent, he is demanding of the country.

One of the credits Mr. Baldwin is projecting, according to present speculation, is an all-round ten per cent. duty on imported manufactures which, it is figured, will yield a revenue of twenty-three million pounds.

The Liberals will launch their manifesto this evening.

The Conservatives were considerably heartened by the Earl of Derby's declaration last evening that he had not resigned, did not intend to resign, and that he would certainly support Mr. Baldwin. The Secretary for War added that Lord Birkenhead was heart and soul with him and would co-operate cordially and loyally.

Labor Manifesto.

The British Labor party issued an election manifesto to-day, appealing to the nation in challenge of the Government tariff policy and the whole conception of economic relations underlying it.

It argues that tariffs, instead of remedying unemployment, will foster the spirit of profiteering, materialism and selfishness and thus will perpetuate the inequalities in the distribution of the world's wealth which Labor means to remove. The manifesto claims the party has a positive remedy for unemployment through the operation of national schemes for productive work with adequate maintenance for those who cannot obtain employment to earn a livelihood for themselves and their families.

These schemes include the establishment of a national system of electrical power supply, the development of road, rail and canal transport and the improvement of national resources, land drainage, reclamation, forestation, town planning and housing schemes, all of which, it is argued, will be investments for the future as well as a remedy for the present situation.

The Labor party promises the British farmer restored prosperity and the farm laborer a living wage, through the development of agriculture.

The party proposes "to restore to the people their lost rights in the land, including minerals."

UNEMPLOYMENT HELP AND NOT PREFERENCE IS THE ISSUE IN BRITAIN

Campaign Opens in Atmosphere of Mingled Anger, Apprehension and Doubt — Baldwin Scored For Plunging Government in Melting Pot at Critical Time.

UNWELCOME MOVE

LONDON, Nov. 17.— (Special Cable by Wickham Steed, Copyright.)—After existing literally for one year and one day, the British House of Commons was dissolved yesterday by a speech from the Throne by King George, which was read to the House of Lords, consisting of two Peers and one Bishop.

On November 16th, 1922, Bonar Law found himself at the head of 343 Conservatives, equivalent to a majority of 73 in the popular chamber. Thanks to a curious play of circumstances this majority was returned by the votes of less than two-fifths of the electorate.

In order to attain this result Bonar Law willingly risked his own life. Now his successor, Stanley Baldwin, throws his dead leader's achievement into the crucible, despite the likelihood that it will carbonized in the process.

Within the memory of living men no dissolution of parliament has been so unwelcome, except the Liberals —Asquithians and Lloyd Georgians alike—whom the emergency re-united and filled with confidence. All parties are discontented and apprehensive. The most sanguine Conservatives do not expect to gain any seats, most of the Conservatives expect to lose 50 seats, the Liberals, who hope to reduce the strength in the House of both the Conservatives and the Laborites, believe that in the worst event they will succeed in ousting Labor from its position of second strongest party in the House of Commons, if they do not actually gain an absolute majority.

The Labor Party's funds are depleted, but voluntary helpers may partially neutralize the lack of cash while the anger of Labor electors at the sharp practice of the Conservative government will likely prove a substitute for enthusiasm

The Liberals expect to secure the votes of a wide section of the electorate which voted for the Conservative candidates last year, in order to escape the Coalition system. By placing one party in power, they expect also to secure the suffrages of voters who equally dislike tariff reform on the one hand and the Labor party cry for a capital levy on the other hand.

The question remains, what do the Conservatives hope to gain? Their one chance of success rests upon the hypothesis that Premier Baldwin's claim that protection is the only possible remedy for unemployment will be accepted uncritically by a majority of the electorate.

Mr. Baldwin seems to have adopted the advice of a handful of militant protectionists who have insisted that the best prospect of victory lay in a quick election on a vague programme, but he is fighting at a serious disadvantage against catch words like Lloyd George's phrase about cementing the empire with "canned lobster and dead crabs" against the discontented luke-warmness of his own party, and against the failure of his programme to create an adequate basis for an effective policy of imperial preference. Many strong partisans of Imperial preference do not believe this election can further their cause, while fear may tend to discredit the cause itself.

The unwisdom of the British government going into a melting pot at a moment when the European situation is exceptionally critical likewise inspires widespread antagonism to Premier Baldwin's action. The campaign therefore opens in an atmosphere of mingled anger, apprehension and doubt.

Whatever the outcome, it is important to remember that the foremost issue is not Imperial conference, but instead the local British issue of how to find a remedy for the problem of unemployment.

As the campaign proceeds this topic will likely overshadow all others.

Woman Violates Man's Sanctuary

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The smoking car, long regarded as a sanctuary for males while travelling, can no longer be regarded as exclusively masculine territory. While riding in from Dedham, a well-dressed young woman with bobbed hair, entered the smoker with her escort. She sat down beside him, accepted a cigarette and a light from him and then lolled back in her seat, where she continued to chat and smoke all the way to Boston.

BOYS TIED IRON NUTS ON TRACK

Parents Must Give Bonds For Three Years For Good Conduct of Their Sons.

PARR YSOUND, Ont., Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press.)— In the Juvenile Court to-day two boys, Ray Smith and Wilfrid Fraser, pleaded guilty to placing obstructions on the main track of the Canadian Pacific Railway. They took large nuts which they found on the track and bound them to the top of the rails, using hay wire to hold the nuts in place. Fortunately a sectionman saw the boys and was able to remove the obstructions when an incoming freight train was within about fifty feet of them.

Most of the C. P. R. passenger trains pass through here in the night and had these nuts been placed late in the evening it is probable that a serious accident, possibly with loss of life, might have resulted.

The C.P.R. has been having a good deal of trouble with switches being interfered with and obstructions placed on the rails and intends making an example of persons caught. The boys were placed in the Parry Sound shelter for the thirty days and the parents, who reside in the township of Humphrey, must give bonds for their good behaviour for three years and pay the costs of the court in this case.

SINGING ENDED LABOR DISPUTE

British Boilermakers Reach Agreement With Federated Engineers and Shipbuilding Trades.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Amid cheers and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" a settlement of the long-drawn out shipyard dispute on overtime and night shift agreement was reached last night between representatives of the Boilermakers' Union and the Federation of Engineering and Shipbuilding Trades and the terms of the settlement will be submitted to the boilermakers for a ballot thereon. It is said the new agreement meets the boilermakers' contentions and it is expected that a resumption of work will follow the taking of the vote. Ten thousands boilermakers have been locked out since the end of April last as a result of the dispute.

The dispute was complicated by an inter-union quarrel. The federation of engineering and shipbuilding trades entered into an agreement with the employers on overtime and night-shift working in federated shipyards and it was confirmed by a ballot vote of the members. The boilermakers' union, who were against the agreement, withdrew their representative from the negotiating committee and did not take part in the ballot but repudiated the federation.

A serious question of discipline arose which led to the expulsion of the boilermakers' union from the federation. The boilermakers took a vote on the question of accepting the agreeemnt and gave a majority of almost 10,000 against it.

On June 6 the boilermakers' union made a proposal—which was a reiteration of a former demand—that they would accept the agreement if they were place on a time-work basis instead of piece rates, or, alternatively, they would accept arbitration by the industrial court. The employers refused both proposals.

BRITAIN WILL NOT ACCEDE TO FRENCH DEMAND

Firmly Opposed to Coercive Penalties Threatened By France Against the German Cabinet Decision

DESPATCHED NOTE.

LONDON, November 16, Canadian Press. — The British government will not accede to the demands of France for punitive measures against Germany and has notified the British Ambassador in Paris to so inform the Council of Ambassadors.

This action was taken after the Cabinet at a lengthy meeting had deliberated on the punitive measures, M. Poincare the French Premier, proposes to take against Germany, to force the extradition of former Crown Prince Frederick William and permit a full resumption of allied military control in Germany, which has been suspended for the past ten months.

Britain Determined.

The Foreign Office immediately the Cabinet meeting adjourned, telegraphed Lord Crewe, the British Ambassador to France, to inform the Council of Ambassadors when it resumes its sittings, that Great Britain remains firm against the imposition on Germany of the severe coercive penalties threatened by France.

As Premier Poincare declares that France will enforce these penalties separately if Great Britain refuses to join her, there appears to be a hopeless deadlock between the two nations, which some of the political observers believe portends an ultimate dissolution of the entente cordiale.

It is felt in ministerial circles here that matters are exactly where they were early last August when Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, sent his famous note to Premier Poincare in which he declared that Great Britain could not much longer delay separate action toward a settlement of the Ruhr problem, without the gravest consequences to the recovery of trade and to peace of the world.

Election Obtrudes.

The Cabinet is so preoccupied with the elections that it has been forced to subordinate the Ruhr problem, and for the present there seems to be no likelihood of independent action in dealing with Germany. The government appears bent on preventing, if it can, any further territorial occupation by France, which, it believes, would only further paralyze Germany's ability to pay reparations.

Some members of the government favor making a demand on France for the three billion dollars France owes to Great Britain, as a lever to force France to adopt the British viewpoint regarding Germany but other ministers are opposed to this, in the belief that it would bring no results from France, and would upset the economic equilibrium of Europe and cause a further depreciation in the franc. They feel they must consider in this connection the interests of the large number of British firms and individuals who have large interests in France.

If however the United States should see fit to ask France for repayment of the United States debt, it is probable, these officials say, that Great Britain would make a similar request.

11 More Lumber Camps This Year

SUDBURY, Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Lumbering operations in the North Country are on a considerably larger scale this year than for some years.... past. The larger companies have eleven large camps more than last year already open, and the timber output for spring should be double that of this year. One year ago today there were orders on the books of Government.... Employment Bureaus for 391 men; today there were 2,258 unfilled orders.

AGREEMENT ON USE OF WATRE

Secure Increase of Power From Chaudier Falls on Ottawa River.

OTTAWA, Nov. 17. — With the idea of bringing about a co-operation that would ensure the most economical use of the water now flowing in the Ottawa river, the various owners of water rights at the Chaudiere Falls following a series of meetings have reached an agreement which will increase the total power available. Under the plan agreed upon at the time of day when the demands for power are heaviest, water properly belonging to owner on this side of the Ottawa river is turned over to the Hull side because of the higher head at the plant of the Ottawa and Hull Power and Manufacturing Co. This has the result of increasing the total power available.

CATTLE DISEASE REPORTED WORSE

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—(Canadian Press).— Two further outbreaks of foot and mouth disease at Glasgow are reported in a cable received by the Department of Agriculture covering the British cattle market. Quotations at that port are not available as all sales of livestock have been prohibited.

During the week 756 Canadian cattle were sold at Birkenhead, mostly at from 18 1-2 to 19 1-2 cents per pound in sink.

London reports the sale of 500 Canadian dressed sides prices ranging from 16 to 17 cents. Dressed trade is reported slow but firm.

There were three shipments of Canadian cattle from Montreal during the past week with a total of 1,353 head. The shipments were to Liverpool, Dundas and Glasgow, respectively.

AVERT BREAK IN ALLIANCE UNTIL MONDAY

Ambassadors' Meeting Postponed Pending Instructions to British Representative.

CRISIS REACHED

(By Webb Miler, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, November 17. — To-day's meeting of the Council of Ambassadors has been postponed, thus deferring the expected split between Britain and France.

It was anticipated that the council would meet to day and that the British and French viewpoints would be so divergent that the session would break up.

The cancellation of the meeting averts this.

It is surmised that the British and French ambassadors' views on what shall be done with the former Crown Prince and the control of German armament are irreconcilable.

Premier Poincare's strong speech in the Chamber on Friday, in which he expressed the hope of maintaining the entente, but refused to change the French policy in any degree, has left the next move up to Britain. Poincare, who was loudly cheered by the deputies at frequent intervals, flatly accused the British representative in the Ambassadors' Council, of supporting the Germans against the French on some issues.

If the British stand pat the entente is as good as ended just now, it is believed here.

Even without any open and spectacular split in a meeting of the ambassadors' Council, co-operation between the two great allies will be done with it.

No Peace Effort.

Poincare struck out in all directions. He denounced the plan for an expert examination of Germany's capacity to pay, recently put forward by Secretary of State Hughes, as a try, to force a reduction in reparations, engineered by foreign bankers.

America and Britain, he said, need not expect payment of inter-allied debts until Germany's reparations are paid.

The speech caused a sensation among the diplomats here, and the opinion was freely expressed that Britain and France would make no further effort to maintain even a pretense of an entente, but that each nation would go its own way in dealing with Germany.

STERLING DROPPED TO A LOW RECORD

Fear of Political and Economic Disturbances Abroad Caused Heavy Selling.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Heavy speculative selling of foreign currency and transfer of capital from London to New York, largely through fear of further political and economic disturbances abroad assumed greater proportions today with result that demand sterling dropped 2 1-2 cents to $4.27 3-4 new low record for the year. Other exchanges yielded in sympathy.

HUNTER KILLED AS SEASON ENDS

Accidentally Shot By Companion Walking Close Behind Him, Near Parry Sound.

PARRY SOUND, Nov. 16.—Another shooting accident, the second this hunting season, occurred last evening in the Bolger Lake section. A party of Hunters from the County of York were returning to camp and sat down on a log for a rest. When getting up to go to camp the rifle of one of the party exploded with fatal results. A Mr, Kerr, a farmer of King township, near Aurora, a single man, was the victim and his comrades brought his body here this morning. An inquest was held this afternoon by District Coroner Dr. Limbert and Mr. W. L. Haight, Crown Attorney.

The evidence showed that last evening, the final day of hunting for the party, they sat down on a log for a rest while returning to camp and after chatting some time one suggested they had better start for camp. Stepping over the log one by one the last man, an old, experienced hunter of thirty seasons, lifted his rifle, and as he did so there was an explosion and the bullet struck Mr. Kerr who was only about four feet from the gun, in the middle of the back, passing through the spine and coming out below the left breast, killing him instantly.

Accidental death was the verdict The body will be taken home by his comrades to-night.

SMUTS HOPEFUL OF IMPERIAL TARIFFS.

Says Negotiations Are Already On Afoot Between Dominions.

LONDON, Nov. 17.— (Canadian Press Cable.)— Premier Smuts, of South Africa, interviewed at Southampton just before sailing for home after having attended the imperial conference here, expressed much satisfaction at the result of the conference, which he considered had been of distinct advantage to the various dominions.

The dominions, Premier Smuts said, stood to reap material advantage if the preference offered by the British government were confirmed by the electorate on December 6. In any case, whatever the result of the election might be, the system of a preferential tariff which had been initiated would develop, as between the dominions themselves, negotiations already were afoot to that end, Premier Smuts added.

BEATS NEW YORK RECORD

Team of Ottawa Horses Draws a Weight of 17 tons.

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—The world's record for tractive power of draught horses claimed by a New Yorker in a press despatch last night, where a team of draught horses weighing 3,500, pounds successfully started a load of 32,000 pounds, is challenged by a local contractor, George N. Crow.

"On Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, a team of mine, weighing 3,600 pounds, on each day, drew a generator wheel consigned to the Hydro-Electric Company, weighing 34,000 pounds shipping weight, a distance of five hundred feet," declared Mr. Crow. "The wheel was drawn on a six-ton truck, and no whip was used during the trip," continued the contractor.

BIG CROWD ON LOCAL MARKET THIS MORNING

The Fish Man Had Something New That Some People Like and Others Don't.

THE MARKET SENATE

Eggs were practically unobtainable on the farmers' market this morning. The few precious specimens that did appear were snapped up immediately, their purchasers pay ing a nickel apiece for them. Butter was more plentiful than it had been for some time, and ranged in price from 38 to 42c a pound. Fowl, while not up to last week in quantity was fairly much in evidence, with a few turkeys in view. One bird, weighing seven and three-quarters pounds, sold for $2, and other vendors were asking 35c a pound, Duck was selling from 25c to 28c a pound, geese at 30c, and chicken, from 20 to 25c.

A lady with white and grey knitted wool socks and mitts, at $1.25 a pair, had an interested audience of men, who fingered the warm things with speculative eyes.

In the open section, there were a couple of loads of wood, at $8 and $10, in mixed quality, and a load of hay at $15. Potatoes were fairly plentiful this morning, selling at $1.50 and $1.60 a bag. One vendor still retains the rear guard of his red tomato crop, and had his product in baskets this morning, at 45c and 65c, or 15c a pound. Parsnips were 50c a peck, beets 40c, turnips were 25c, and onions 75c.

Apples were on many of the carts. Russets and Baxters were 50c a peck; Spys, 'from the famous township of Cavan," were $1.50 a bag; and Baldwins $4.50 abarrel.

Lamb in front and hind quarters, was 20c and 25c a pound, and pork was selling for 15 and 17 cents.

Amber mixed honey was 10c a lb.

The fish man had a novelty this morning, described as "greencoats," little shell fish, similar to tiny mussels, "that the Old Country people like." "You pick them out with a pin. They make a fine relish," declared one lady, but her companion turned up her nose at the prospect. Housed in a big bag, they sold for 30c a quart.

Little pigs went to market this morning with white coats and pink noses, that poked through the crate edges. There were big Barred Rock fowl in vertical crates, and Rhode Island Reds, companioned by guinea hens and live ducks, in grey and shimmery green.

The advisory committee on politics and other weigity topics is preparing to convene again around the box stove in the upstairs of the market hall.

BELGIUM HAS NEW IDEA IN COMBINATION AUTO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(Associated Press).—An interesting new automobile of Belgian make, which may be transformed from a limousine to a touring car in a few minutes is described in a report received by the Department of Commerce. The body consists largely of glass panels which may be folded back within the sides, and the roof can be folded back just as the ordinary touring car top.

The lower rear portion of the tonneau is so arranged that it can be opened like the lid of a chest, and the combined back curtain and side glasses turned down out of the way.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

"Savior of all men, specially of those who believe." I. Tim. 4:10. In what sense are all men saved? Certainly not in the sense of going to heaven. Even those who propagate Satan's lie, "Thou shalt not die," would not admit such a state. They tell us the great majority die unsaved, and go into eternal torments. Nevertheless, it is true, Jesus is the Savior of all men, by saving each and every one from death, the penalty of sin. "As in Adam all die even so in Christ shall all be made alive." I. Cor. 15:22. This being saved from death by being resurrected, does not usher man into heaven, but it does put him on trial for eternal life. And to have eternal life he must become pure and come in line with the will of God. Those who are specially saved, are those who in this life accept Jesus as Savior and Lord, and live in obedience to the law of the Spirit. Those who continue in this course to the end of the present life are heirs of eternal life, and shall not come into judgment or trial in the age to come.—M. T. Butcher.

The population of the earth, at its present rate of gain, will be about 4,000,000,000 in 2014.

MILLBROOK CROWDS HEAR EVANGELIST H. A. BARTON

His Forensic Eloquence a Feature of Impressive Addresses This Week in the Methodist Church.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 17.—Interest in the union evangelistic campaign being conducted by Rev. H. Arthur Barton, of Ottawa, in the Methodist church and attendance at the meetings, grows constantly as the speaker's ability and earnestness are recognized.

Rev. G. S. Gervan and Rev. S. T. Tucker lead the singing, with the union choir, on alternate evenings and one special musical selection is arranged for each night. The 'teen age boys are being urged to attend and occupy the middle front seats where they can give assistance with the music, about twenty-five being out on Thursday evening. On Wednesday night three of the boys, Walter Sayles, Keith Barnard, and Lawrence Rowland sang the verses of "Brighten the Corner," the others joining in the chorus. The speaker has a special message for the boys before he begins his regular sermon. The duet, "Ever Near," contributed by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston on Thursday evening was especially appreciated.

Rev. Mr. Barton's dramatic ability adds greatly to the forcefulness of his appeal, as well as to the pleasure of listening to his addresses, especially as he invariably recites from memory his Scripture lesson, giving the words a new meaning as the real literary and spiritual intent of the passage is thus strikingly brought out.

On Wednesday evening the theme was, "Humanity's Headlight," the text being from Ephesians 6:17, "The Word of God," which is a lamp unto the feet and light upon the pathway. The Bible is indeed a "window in this prison-world through which we may look into eternity." A library of sixty-six books, written by thirty-six authors, during a period of fifteen hundred years, it is the most popular book in the world yet the practically general ignorance regarding its contents is startling.

Divinely Inspired

That it is God-inspired is proved by the fact that it is being more widely sold and read than ever after two thousand years of the enemy's hate and destructive devices; time and criticism only illustrate and confirm its pages. A pyramid could be built with the books written about the Bible, but the Book itself changes lives from badness to goodness as no other can.

"A man may mount any sort of fool hobby, ride through this Book and find proof for his pet theory, by ripping a bit from the beginning, adding a portion from the middle, and snipping another bit from the end," but a garbled and disjointed faith is the result. It must be intelligently and reasonably interpreted, noting the great highway of truth which runs through the Word from its beginning in a garden to its end in a city. The spirit in which we go to the Book means so much, and the Holy Spirit is its only true interpreter. "It is fated to error to run crooked," but the sacred writers are in complete harmony. There are no 'ifs' nor 'buts' in the teaching of Christ.

Tribute to Motherhood

Seldom has there been a finer tribute paid to motherhood, or one more eloquently expressed, than was contained in the address on "The Queen of the Home," which was the subject of Mr. Barton's address on Thursday evening, the speaker evidently believing that if the world is to be reformed from its vices, the work must be begun by enlisting the mothers. "Mothers can put so much of the spirit of Jesus into five, or six, feet of humanity." "Behind every strong, pure man, stands some splendid Christian woman." "Practically all of our soldier boys who turned to Christ during the world war were brought up under the influence of a consecrated mother." "The home is the school where the child is taught the best things for which to live, and in after life no man can get away from the shadow of his own mantlepiece." "A friend of the home is Jesus but you cannot have Him in the home unless He is in the heart, and He will not enter your heart without prayer."

Millbrook Personals

Rev. S. T. Tucker was in Peterboro on Thursday attending a meeting of the committee for publicity in connection with the church union campaign. Rev. Mr. Rollins was appointed chairman, and Rev. H. Young secretary.

Misses Alice and Lottie Vance, who have been in town for the past few weeks arranging to close their house for the winter, left for Barrie on Thursday, where they will be guests of Judge G. W. and Mrs. Vance until after Christmas.

Mrs. Woodhouse, of Barrie, is the guest of Mrs. J. C. and Miss Annie Kells.

Addressed Students

Evangelist H. Arthur Barton visited the Continuation School on Thursday afternoon and addressed the scholars, giving them some selections from "As You Like It," with his usual fine dramatic eloquence, and not forgetting in his address to emphasize the underlying purpose of his visit to Millbrook—the winning of souls for the Kingdom of God.

Accompanied by Rev. S. T. Tucker, Mr. Barton visited the schools in the immediate vicinity of Millbrook on Friday afternoon: Whitfield's, Carmel, Fallis Line, and Zion, placing before the pupils the great truth that "if the spring puts forth no flowers, in summer there will be no blossoms and in autumn no fruit. So, if youth be trifled away without improvement, manhood will be contemptible, and old age miserable. The flower of youth never appears more beautiful, and is never so fragrant as when it bends toward the Sun of Righteousness."

WILLIAM HILTON DIES AT MARMORA

Former Reeve of Township and Member of Bisley Team.

MARMORA, Nov. 17.—The death occurred on Wednesday, Nov. 14, of one of the oldest citizens of Marmora in the person of Mr. Wm. Hilton. Although he had been in poor health for some time past, his passing came as a shock to his many friends. The funeral service was held Friday morning at St. Paul's Anglican church, at 10.30 and was very largely attended.

Deceased was born March 15th, 1840, in the township of Rawdon, in Hastings County, and was 83 years old at the time of his death. He was the second of a family of eight, the children of Wm. Hilton and Catherine Maria Johns. When about 18 years of age he went to live with his uncle, the late Solomon Johns, on the old David Johns' homestead near this village. After the death of Mr. Solomon Johns in 1884, Mr. Hilton bought the old homestead. As he was a man of good physique and great energy his farming career was a decided success.

Besides one of the best farmers Marmora township has produced, he was also Reeve and Councillor of the township for many years. He also held the office of President of Marmora cheese factory. As a sportsman he made a success of whatever he went in for. He was one of the best shots in the country, having been a member of the Dominion Rifle Association, and was twice selected for the Wimbledon and Bisley teams sent to England to compete in the Empire matches.

Six years ago he left the farm because of his advancing years and moved into the village. He was an Anglican in religion and a member of the Masonic Order. He is survived by his wife, a sister, Miss Emma Hilton of Trenton, and two brothers, Alfred, of Trenton, and Edmond, of Vancouver.

HUGHES—SHANNON

MARMORA, Nov. 17.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the church of the Sacred Heart on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, when Monica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Shannon, Marmora, was united in matrimony to Lac. son of Mr. James Hughes, also of Marmora township. After the marriage the happy couple left for Timmins and other points north.

Miss Daly, who has taken Mr. H. J. Payette's position as principal of the Continuation school, arrived in town on Wednesday.

Mr. Eugene O'Neil and Mr. Lac Hughes, who have been at Baptiste Lake, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Hughes.

PATROLMEN RECALLED TO HALT CRIME WAVE

NEW YORK, N.Y., Nov. 17.—(Canadian Press.)—In order to put all patrolment possible on the streets because of the crime wave in the city, Commissioner Enright yesterday decreed that all vacation of policemen are to be suspended. Lunch hours are all lessened, captains and inspectors are to sleep in station houses and except for eight hours' sleep detectives are to be constantly on duty and all clerical members of the force are to perform a few hours' patrol duty in addition to their regular work.

MRS. COFFMAN ILL SEVEN YEARS

Saved from an Operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sidell, Ill.—"I was a nervous wreck. I was suffering from a pain in my left side, which was almost unbearable, and I could not even let the bed clothing rest on my body at night. I had been sick for seven years, but not so bad until the last eighteen months, and had become so run-down that I cared for nobody, and would rather have died than live. I couldn't do my work without help, and the doctors told me that an operation was all there was left. I would not consent to that, so my husband brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged me to take it. I have taken fourteen bottles of it and I feel ten years younger. Life is full of hope. I do all my housework and had a large garden this year. I never will be without the Vegetable Compound in the house, and when my two little girls reach womanhood I intend to teach them to take it. I am never too busy to tell some suffering sister of my help, and you can use my name and letter to spread the good news of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines."—Mrs. IDA M. COFFMAN, R. R. 2, Sidell, Ill.

NUMBER FARM SALES KEEP FARMERS BUSY

Good Prices Realized—Campbellford News of Interest—Personal Items.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 17.—Mr. J. R. Battisby, auctioneer, and Mr. C. A. Wilson, clerk, are busy these days with auction sales, having had one every day for nearly two weeks. On Wednesday they had a record sale at Mrs. Kavanagh's in Dummer Township, when the farm implements and stock realized $3,200. Yesterday another sale was held at Mr. Hugh Masterson's, north of Burnley. The stock and implements brought $2,000. Mr. Masterson is a well-known farmer. The articles sold brought a good price. Mr. Batisby had a sale yesterday at Mr. Wm. Zufelt's, Warkworth, and another to-day at Mrs. Mary Palmateer's, Norham.

On Monday, Company "C," under command of Major J. M. Bygott, will go to Cobourg for nine days' training at the barracks, accompanied by the Regimental Band, with Mr. R. T. Cowell, bandmaster, in charge.

The Seymour West Women's Institute had a very pleasant time yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chas. Macoun. They had an old-fashioned supper. Those present were grandmothers, mothers and young girls. Some were dressed in costumes of fifty years ago, even to the bonnets. The programme consisted of old time songs and the readings were based on customs of sixty years ago. There was an exhibit of relics used in those old times. The answers given to the roll-call were incidents that happened in this part of the country and historical events, such as when the explorers came through here and went down the River Trent in canoes and out to the front and named Lake Ontario. The ladies brought their knitting and sewing. The number present was about 40. An old-fashioned tea was served.

PHEASANT SEEN AT BAILIEBORO

Ducks Plentiful at Rice Lake—Several Flocks of Wild Geese.

BAILIEBORO, Nov 17.—The Ladies Institute of Bailieboro, are planning to hold a bazaar and tea in the Foresters Hall here, on November 21.

The bazaar will be opened by the ladies at 3 p.m. There is a large quantity of both useful and fancy articles, which will be offered for sale. A good tea will be served from 5 to 8 o'clock.

The Ladies Institute of Bailieboro are to be congratulated upon their good work in the village during the past years, and it is hoped that their success in the future may be equally as bright.

Personals

Among those from Bailieboro who attended the funeral at Tyron of the late Rev. W. T. Wickett, a former pastor of the Fraserville circuit, were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Dawson, Mrs. Albert Dawson, Rev. R. M. Patterson.

Mr. Wr Bateson has been under the doctors' care for the past few days, suffering for a weak turn which contracted Sunday last.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Methodist church held a quilting bee in Mr Bateson's hall on Thursday afternoon. These quilts will be placed in the missionary boxes.

Among those from Bailieboro who attended the Fowl Supper at Cavanville on Monday evening were: Mrs. W. H. Barnard, Mrs. Robt. Johnston, Messrs. J. Eagleson, C. Brackenbridge, F. Barnard, J. Brackenbridge.

Ducks Plentiful.

There were many duck hunters from Peterboro Toronto, Port Hope besides many others, enjoyed shooting on the lake.

Ducks have been very plentiful during the past three weeks and several large flocks of wild geese have been noticed.

A short time ago a splendid henpheasant was seen by several different people near the shore of the lake. The bird was seen different times eating in the gardens with the hens. It didn't seem at all timid, as those who were fortunate enough to see it stated that it would let one get within close range before flying.

Weather Helps Farmers.

The lovely weather which we are now having, is enabling the farmers to complete their fall ploughing. The majority of farmers in this district will complete their fall ploughing this week.

It is also helping out the feed question wonderfully well, as the cattle are eating off the old grass in the meadows and thus the hay and grain is saved for the winter.

BUFFALO, Nov. 17.—(Special).—A $98,000 judgment was delivered against the Home Bank of Canada to-day.

LONDON IS AGAIN IN OLD POSITION

It is the Greatest Financial Centre in the World and the Place Where Other Nations Turn to Float Loans.

MONTREAL, November 17. — Walter Leaf, chairman of the London county, Westminster and Paris Bank, and past president of the British Institute of Bankers, addressing the Canadian Club here, made it clear that London had already gained its old position as the great finacial centre of the world, and the place to which most nations turned to float loans.

Although a pronounced free-trader Mr. Leaf said he approved of protection in the United States which has had the effect of equalizing British trade to and from that country, and by raising the cost of American products had enabled British manufacturers to gain foreign markets hitherto held by the American exporters.

He took a gloomy view of the European situation and concluded with an appeal for a union of the British Empire and the United States in an endeavor to straighten out affairs which joint action he regarded as the only hope of the world.

COSGRAVE REFUSES RELEASE PRISONERS

DUBLIN, Nov. 17. — (Canadian Press).—Appeals for the release of Republicans held prisoners by the Free State were made in the Dail Eireann last night, but President Cosgrave refused to be moved. He described the hunger strike as the greatest failure in history, saying that out of the original 7,000 only 300 are still on strike. Richard Mulcahey, Minister of Defence, declared the prisoners were seeking release in order to go into the field again against the Government.

SOLDIER POET HAS SACRIFICED AWARDS

BRESCIA, Italy, Nov. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Gabriel D'Annunzio has refused the silver medal for military valor recently conferred on him by the ministry of war to replace one of Bronze. In an announcement rejecting the bestowal the poet soldier declared that he has burned all his decorations of which he received sixteen for bravery, including the highest gold medal award of the Italian army on an altar erected at his Villa.

SHARING PRIZE CAKE.

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 17.—Mrs. F. J. Brewer received by mail on Thursday of this week from a friend in Toronto, Mrs. Taylor, a piece from a cake won by Miss Ioleen Taylor, her daughter, at a box social held at Trent River in August, by Mr. McKeel, in aid of the memorial to our brave hero, Richard Cowan. Miss Taylor reserved her prize, which is a rich piece of confectionery, donated by Mr. Stover, of Campbellford, until Armistice Day, and Mrs. Brewer is treating her recent visitors to a piece of the cake.

SAFETY FIRST.

BERLIN, Nov. 17.— The British Embassy to-day advised its women clerks to return to England to avoid possible hunger riots and outbreaks in Germany this winter. This action is considered very significant.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1923.

THE BRITISH ELECTION.

Appearing in the news columns of the Examiner to-day is a special cable from Wickham Steed, former editor of the London Times and now editor of the Review of Reviews, summarizing the important features of the British election.

The whirlwind campaign in Great Britain will be for the next three weeks the biggest news event of the moment, and the battling of the three chief political parties will be followed with intense interest by Canadians, especially in view of the fact that the tariff changes proposed by Premier Baldwin will, if approved by the British electors, have a considerable effect in this country.

The Examiner, therefore, has been fortunate enough to be able to arrange for a daily summary of the campaign by Mr. Steed, who has a world reputation as a student of politics and as a writer.

It is another proof of the Examiner's desire to give its readers the best that can be obtained.

INSPECTING IMMIGRANTS.

The Examiner is in accord with the Social Service Council of the Church of England in its message to the conference on immigration, particularly to that portion which urges a better inspection of immigrants at the place of origin.

It has always been a mystery why more attention has not been paid to this feature of immigration work.

The practice of allowing physically or mentally unfit people to pay their passage to Canada, only to be rejected at the port of entry, has been unbusinesslike as well as needlessly cruel.

Had proper inspection been conducted in England or wherever the prospective immigrant lived this unnecessary voyage would have been spared.

The other side of the Atlantic is the logical place to make sure whether or not people are physically and mentally fit to become citizens of Canada, and the Immigration Department's machinery should be modernized to permit of this being done.

It is the only system that is fair to the immigrant and that is businesslike so far as Canada is concerned.

HOPELESSLY OUT OF DATE.

The Anti-Vaccination League bobs up again in opposition to the use of toxin anti-toxin as a means of immunization against diphtheria.

People are entitled to have their own views even in matters affecting the health of themselves and their children, regardless of how such views may conflict with expert opinion.

But it is rather surprising to find that after the experiences of the war there would be enough opposition anywhere to make the formation of an anti-vaccination League possible.

When it is considered that typhoid fever was almost completely kept away from the British armies by use of anti-typhoid innoculation, and that the dread lockjaw claimed but a comparative handful of victims, in spite of the most favourable conditions for the development of this disease, because of the anti-tetanus injections used, it might naturally be thought that the efficacy of such prevention and its safety so far as the patient is concerned would be universally accepted.

The discovery of anti-toxin has saved thousands of lives, and it has been used most successfully by the medical profession.

Toxin anti-toxin represents a step in advance, inasmuch as it renders those innoculated immune from the disease.

Combined with the Schick test, which establishes the susceptibility or otherwise of the individual to diphtheria, toxin anti-toxin can make a community practically invulnerable against that terrible disease.

It would be a piece of folly indeed if such a protection was discarded to meet the old-fashioned prejudices of anti-vaccinationists who are an anachronism in these days of medical science.

TIME FOR ACTION.

If both the Liberal and Conservative Governments have not failed dismally in the immediate past in the vastly important business of bringing in immigration, then the statistics which they themselves publish have been woefully misleading, says the Montreal Star. But we are not concerned at the moment to stress the failures of the past. The new signs of awakening and activity are much more pleasant to contemplate.

The new Minister of Immigration has an ideal situation ready to his most enterprising and vigorous initiative. The British Government—any British Government—is little short of frantic to reduce the vast mass of unemployment which weighs upon the British taxpayer and constitutes the gravest problem for British statesmanship. The best plan in view for this is assisted emigration to the Overseas Dominions. Australia and New Zealand have already gained enormously through this plan. Canada can now step in and share richly in the opportunity.

The need in Canada is pressing, paramount and notorious. We need men to man our fields, provide traffic for our railways and help carry our war debts. Then we shall soon need more men to fill the additional factories and shops which these new farmers will call into being.

The farming community in old Canada is, indeed, in the direct need of help. We have shown in these columns how the farmers of the Eastern Townships are on the verge of despair because they can neither cultivate their own farms nor find help to do so. Hon. John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, testifies that they have the same need up there. They applied for four thousand of the British harvesters; but, through some stupidity of arrangement, could not get them.

Mr. Robb should take off his coat and go to it. The country will be behind him.

When it comes to short speeches on brief elections all hats must be doffed to the British people.

MAKING SHOPPING A PLEASURE.

Persons who have gone through a few last minute Christmas shopping rushes do not need to be urged to do their buying early; they need only to be reminded, says the Brockville Recorder and Times. Advertisements will soon be emphasizing this counsel from every page, billboard and window. In the meantime, stores, large and small, are making complete showings of Christmas goods at an unusually early date; it is to their interest, also, to spread the holiday trade over a period of weeks.

Many look upon selection of Christmas gifts as a disagreeable task—to be delayed as long as possible. Others are merely careless. Some, unsystematic, are daily reminded of some friend whose remembrance has not been obtained. These are the various procastinators who elbow and stampede each other, break down the display tables and overwhelm the clerks in Christmas week.

Yet Christmas buying, properly done, may well be a great pleasure. But to be done properly requires forethought, careful and systematic planning and prompt action. Call a friendly council this evening, make out a list of those to be remembered and decide what shall be sent to each. Then do your buying at the earliest possible moment. Your shopping will be pleasant and Christmas week will then find you carefree, with a capacity for real enjoyment of the Yuletide.

If you would co-operate, the holiday time could be made happy for the shopgirl, for the delivery boys, for the postman. But they are helped by the early shopper hardly more than the early shopper helps himself.

A GOOD SCHEME.

Canada's plan of assisted immigration from the British Isles should achieve remarkable results in land settlement within the next few years. The granting of free passage to nominated men and women, and to domestics will serve vastly to stimulate the movement of population across the seas. By restricting this privilege to nominated persons, it is implied that it will in the main benefit men and women of good character and of particular integrity. Some guarantee, of course, is required that those who accept this form of assistance in the matter of settlement will stay in the country. A year's residence in Canada is sufficient to make them eligible for entry to the United States. Care is therefore necessary that the Americans do not eventually obtain the cream of this country's colonists.

The extension of land settlement facilities to former British soldiers on the same terms as apply to Canadian veterans should bring to this country a large number of extremely desirable men. The man who has received the training and experience of a soldier is above the average value as a citizen. Military instruction has always possessed a high value for peace activities.

The reopening of employment agencies to place settlers in farm employment is also a constructive step. The opening of facilities for training British students in agriculture for a year in Canada is designed to obtain as settlers an eminently desirable class—men of some means. These in a sense can qualify as community leaders and serve as nuclei of agricultural improvement.

The decision of Canada in the matter of assisted settlement, with the approval of the Imperial Conference, is not final. The arrangement provides for the formulation of other schemes calculated to assist the struggling settler. One phase yet to be worked out is the payment of certain doles to newcomers on the land until they become established.

It is needless to point out that the carrying out of this project will require large expenditures of money. The cost will be justified by the retention of the colonists and their establishment as paying individuals. Every healthy man, woman and child is an important asset to the country, even having a definite money value running up into the thousands of dollars. To increase the national wealth by so large an amount of labor as is in prospect is worthy the initial expenditure of large amounts. Every country in Europe owes its greatness to immigration, either in modern or prehistoric times. The settlement of French Huguenots in England brought there valuable industries which remain till this day.

The embarkation by the Government on a vigorous colonization policy opens up a new prospective Marine. Instead of benefiting private steamship comfield of service for the Canadian National Mercantile panies by the payment of the passage money of settlers as individuals, the Government should adopt the plan of bringing them across the seas at actual cost by utilizing its own steamers. Some of the ships could be fitted for the carrying of many passengers. Periodic sailings of assisted or free passengers could be arranged. Medical health inspection should take place at the port of departure and not at the point of entry, so as to eliminate the loss of money entailed by the sea transportation of undesirable immigrants.

Altogether the application of the scheme which has received the definite commitment of the Canadian Government should immediately begin, and it should proceed with vigor. Concentration on the settlement of British immigrants as the backbone of the sections to obtain development is the proper procedure to insure the stability of the country.—Border Cities Star.

SWEDEN HAS ROYAL RESIDENCE FOR SALE

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 17.—(Associated Press).—Oak hill, one of the most beautiful of the royal residences in Sweden, is again for sale or rent. The last occupant was Ira Nelson Morris, recently American minister to Sweden.

The villa was built 12 years ago by the Romanoffs for Princess Maria Palovna when she married Prince Wilhelm. Today it is again being related that the Russian royal family told the Russian minister at Stockholm what it desired in the way of a house for the Princess, and to find out the cost. The minister, an honest diplomat and not a business man, made inquiry and was quoted two million by the Swedish contractor. Money meant rubles to the minister, and he told the Czar 2,000,000 rubles would be needed.

Russia sent him the money, and then the minister woke up to the fact that the Swedish contractor had meant 2,000,000 Swedish crowns, or 1,000,000 rubles.

The minister and the contractor sent the extra 1,000,000 rubles back—in those days this sum amounted to $500,000—"much to the amazement and smiles of court circles in St. Petersbourg," the story runs.

POLICE LEAD CRUSADE AGAINST THE BEGGARS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 17.—(Associated Press).—Since the Municipal authorities have taken control of the city, they have effected the reform of many abuses that went untouched during the years of the Allied occupation.

Most striking is the crusade against beggars who have always infested this place. Under strict police efforts they have begun to disappear, and it is now possible to walk the streets without filthy men, women and children tugging at one's coat in importunate impudence. Now the order is out that the city is to be rid of its gypsies, who are said to constitute the majority of the beggars, sneakthieves and pickpockets that have infested the thoroughfares. They are to be sent into the interior and put to work at agriculture, public works and other unskilled jobs.

EVERY MONTH MANY WOMEN

Take ZUTOO Tablets and are free of the Griping Pain and Sick Headaches.

Read what Mrs. Wright says: "I received your sample of Zutoo Tablets, and took them for severe pain (monthly) and headache. At the end of 30 minutes, I was entirely free of pain and experienced no more throughout the period. I suffer a great deal at these times and feel grateful that I have a remedy which affords quick relief. Every woman in the land should know about Zutoo Tablets and what they will do."

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, November 16. — Although the holiday on Monday cut out one day's trading at the Union Stock Yards, there was a full supply of cattle this week, and with a few left-overs the total was about 9,000 head. Over 500 Western cattle came in since a week ago but nearly half of them were sent forward to another market.

The week's business was about on a par with that of a month past. Heavy fat steers and good butchers were readily picked up, but the unfinished pood quality stuff was a slow sale.

There was an overabundance of common to medium butchers, and prices were not at all steady. Buyers made the market to suit themselves, and prices varied according as the commission men were anxious to effect a sale Good medium butcher's steers and heifers sold from $4.75 to $5.00 a cwt., and were fairly steady. Quotations for these below this grade were wide. Dealers asked $4.00 for common killers and buyers offered $3.00. Few common butchers made over $3.00 a cwt., and many were disposed of below this.

There was a better demand for butcher's cows and bulls than for any other, except the choice steers and heifers. Good cows sold freely at $4.50 to $4.75, and choice cows a little higher Good medium cows were about $3.50, and the common $2.75 to $3.00 a cwt. Few good butcher's bulls were offered this week, and more bologna bulls could have been sold at about $2.75 a cwt. Canner cows were also wanted at $1.50 to $2.00, and orders for these remained unfilled on Thursday.

Good and choice calves were scarce this week, and the prices held tenaciously around 11 cents for these. Good medium calves sold from 8 to 10 cents, and most of the heavies at close to 6 cents. Too many of the latter are coming to make prices any better.

A light run of lambs this week brought prices up to 25 to 50 cents above those of a week ago. For light choice ewes and wethers the quotation stands 11 to 11 1-4 cents, with bucks $1.50 a cwt. lower. Heavy lambs are 50 to 75 cents a cwt .below those of select eights.

Sheep continue steady, with handy weights 6 to 6 1-2 cents, but heavy sheep are not too good a sale.

A combined refusal to buy hogs higher than $7.75 a cwt. f.o.b. brought the price down to this on Wednesday, and this carries over the week-end. This is a drop of 50 cents a cwt. for the week, and the packers are disposed to try for another cut if outside markets could be got to work in consequence.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, November 17 (Canadian Press). — Wheat underwent a fresh setback in price yesterday, largely as a result of breaks in the foreign exchange rates, together with talk of strained relations between Great Britain and France.

The market closed nervous 1-8c to 1-4c to 1 1-8c to 1 1-4c net lower. December $1.01 3-4 to $1.01 7-8 and May $1.07 1-4 to 3-8 to $1.07 3-8.

Corn finished 1-8c to 5-8c down; oats a shade to 1-8c to 1-4c off; and provisions unchanged to 25 cents higher.

Downturns in the value of wheat began at the opening, with confidence of holders disturbed by foreign political developments, especially as reflected by the word that sterling exchange had dropped to another new low record for the year.

Prospects that the domestic visible supply total would show a decided further increase on Monday counted also as a depressing influence. Besides, there were predictions current that any advance in the United States import duty on wheat would be so late as to permit huge quantities of Canadian wheat to be unloaded beforehand in this country.

A noticeable rally that the wheat market showed during the middle of the Board of Trade session was ascribed to gossip that contrary to previous reports, the wheat tariff probably would be raised within a few weeks. Declines in New York stock market quotations however and indications of increased anxiety as to European tension over German affairs, both economic and political, led to renewed weakness in wheat before the day ended, as did a bearish estimate of the Argentine exportable wheat surplus.

Corn was affected by indications of enlarged receipts, but late forecasts were that no big movebent was to be expected for two weeks yet. Oats were easier in sympathy with corn.

Provisions averaged higher in response chiefly to scantiness of the warehouse stock of lard here.

QUAKE-PROOF HOUSES ADVOCATED FOR CHILE

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Nov. 17.—(Associated Press).—Dwellers in the earthquake zone of Chile have been supplied with simple but scientific instructions how best to build their houses to withstand possible collapse.

After the earthquake of last November the Chilean Government sought expert building advice, and under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation Dr. Bailey Willis, Stanford geologist, went to Chile and studied the situation for five months. He prepared his conclusion in pamphlet form and this booklet, in Spanish, has been made available to the inhabitants of the quake zone.

"RUPTURE OF ENTENTE" GREETED POINCARE'S RETORT TO BALDWIN

Premier Ignored Interrupting Cries, Heard For First Time in the French Chamber, As He Reviewed the Reparations Controversy.

MADE CONCESSIONS.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—Premier Poincare to-day replied in the Chamber of Deputies to Prime Minister Baldwins censure of France in the House of Commons yesterday.

France could easily reach an agreement with Britain if she would pay the expense of such an agreement, he said, but she was resolved not to yield on the question of further reduction of the reparations due from Germany.

Three-fourths of the Chamber was on its feet cheering him when, after an energetic review of the whole question, covering an hour and a quarter, he left the rostrum with the final declaration:

"We shall continue to negotiate in the friendliest way possible, but France cannot give way."

M. Poincare hastily decided to speak this morning after indicating that he would not intervene in the Chamber debate on foreign affairs before next week. His decision was inspired by Premier Baldwin's statement, and by the British press comment tending to hold France responsible for the failure of the Allies to agree in execution of the Treaty of Versailles.

Have Made Concessions.

Declaring that the utterances in the British Parliament could not be allowed to pass but must be answered immediately, M. Poincare said:

"I cannot let it be said that it is by our fault an agreement has not been reached. For several years we have not ceased to make concessions from our rights, and it is not on our side that the attitude is uncompromising."

The Premier went over the whole history of the reparation problem and recalled that the British Government has approved the occupation of the Ruhr on two occasions and nameless German territory on another.

When he told of opposition encountered from the British in the Council of Ambassadors, cries of "It is a rupture of the entente cordiale!" were heard for the first time in the Chambers, but the Premier ignored them.

Previous Resolutions.

He recalled that the Chamber had on two previous occasions resolved that France could make no further concessions with regard to reparations.

"That is why," he said, "we could not adhere to the propositions made by Lord Curzon and Secretary Hughes to consider an estimate of Germany's capacity to pay through an international conference."

He had examined the proposals with the greatest willingness of finding a way of agreeing.

"But how could France consent to a procedure which some of our allies admitted would mean reduction of our claim on Germany, when we had already advanced a hundred billion francs on Germany's debt, and were debtors to our allies, as we were reminded again yesterday?" he asked.

Insolently Prosperous.

The result of an expert conference with unlimited scope, the Premier declared, would undoubtedly have been against France. Further concessions would have been made to Germany, which, having no internal debt, but possessing formidable balances placed abroad and with her industrial equipment practically renewed, would have come out of the imbroglio in an insolent state of prosperity as compared with that of her victims.

The Premier was in excellent form and delivered his speech in a combative tone that seemed to please the Chamber, which punctuated it with applause. The whole House, with the exception of the Socialists, Communists and a few of the Republican-Socialists, heartily approved M. Poincare's conclusion that, while the Reparation Commission would undertake in full independence to examine Germany's assets, the Allies would remain firm in the Ruhr exploting the pledges seized there, pending the time when Germany should realize that the only way out for her was to make a real endeavor to fulfill her obligations.

EUROPE GETS SHIPMENT OF WHEAT FROM CANADA

WINNIPEG, Nov. 17. — The steamships Lisken and Vesla, which sailed from Fort William to Queenstown this week, carried the first cargoes of wheat to be shipped from the Canadian head of the lakes to Europe, it is stated in grain circles here. The bills of lading made out to cover the shipments were identical with those issued at seaboard ports.

BOARDS TRADE WOULD CHANGE SYSTEM TAXES

Object to the Present Method of Tax Exemption for Public Utilities

TREAT ALL ALIKE

HAMILTON, Nov. 17. —At the yesterday afternoon session of the Ontario Association Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, in session here, the following were appointed to the Chamber of Commerce of the British Empire: John Elliot, Belleville; G. C. Coppley, Hamilton; K. J. Dunstan, Toronto.

Caused Warm Debate.

Introduction of a resolution by the Niagara Falls Chamber of Commerce calling for the abolition of tax exemption for public utilities, provided the basis for a keen debate.

In proposing the resolution, Dr. Geo. Synder of Niagara Falls argued that the originaol intention of the act was merely to exempt such institutions as schools and hospitals. A private company that has been paying taxes is taken over by a public corporation and straightway it is free from taxation. The municipality accordingly suffers. This is a very unfair state of affairs. Public ownership should be encouraged but not at the expense of private enterprise One section should not be penalized for the benefit of another. Taxation of public utilities is fundamentally sound and economically just—this in brief, was the argument advanced by Dr. Snyder and backed up by C. N. Glendenning the seconder of the motion.

Treat All Alike.

Dr. Horace L. Brittain of Toronto made a strong appeal for the support of the resolution on the grounds that the Ontario aim was to treat all alike. He said it would not add one cent to the cost of public utilities. It was just a matter of bookkeeping. "If I had my way," he declared, "I would tax every public owned institution and I would not exempt the churches either."

He argued that if they could be sure there would be no furtehr advancement in public utilities the question would be purely an academic one, but public ownership was growing and for this reason, if the municipalities expected to remain solvent, these public enterprises must be taxed.

Representatives of Kitchener, Owen Sound, Peterboro, Picton, opposed the resolution, while those from Toronto, Brantford and Hamilton supported it. When a standing vote on the resolution was taken the count stood 21 to 20 in favor of it.

In presenting a resolution covering the subject on behalf of the Hamilton chamber of commerce, Hon. G. P. Smith, former minister of education in Alberta, laid particular stress on the western phase of the situation a stand which was violently objected to by Lt-Col W N Ponton, K.C., of Belleville.

"Are we an Ontario Association or a western association?" asked Col. Ponton amid loud applause. 'What about the needs of our own province It seems to me it is about time this province went after its own instead of remaining in the category of the horse who also ran. Mr. Smith has not been back in Ontario long enough to get over his western bearing. You can see this running all through his utterances and the resolution that he has drawn up."

Col. Ponton went on to point out the needs of Northern Ontario for population and development. "Let the east come into its own," he declared. The west can look after itself. I am ardently a Canadian but fervently an Ontarionian. We need immigration in this province, let us go after it.'

Ontario Discriminated Against.

Col. Ponton was backed up by W. A. Wegenast of Brampton. "I am convenced that Ontario has always been discriminated against in the matter of immigration. It is largely by accident that Ontario gets the for new settlers that she does"

Mr. Smith found a champion in J. P. Laidlaw of Toronto. "Ontario was never more prosperous than when the west was prosperous," he declared.

"Let us keep our own house in order," said F. B. Byrnes of Collingwood, "before we try to clean up somebody else's. I believe that Ontario's great problem to-day is to keep the population that she already has."

"Ontario is misunderstood in the prairie country," declared Mr. Smith. "Let us extend the olive branch to their people, and show them that our interest is national instead of sectional."

Rising again, Col Ponton proposed the motto, 'Britain has men; Ontario has room; try Ontario first." "We have been stupidly respectable," he continued, "now let us be splendidly progressive."

Referred to Special Committee.

The resolution which was eventually referred to a special committee commended the removal of war-time restrictions on immigration and approved the finding up of the soldier vote. It suggested the formation of settlemen. board with immigration work. It suggested the formation of a council on citizenship through which federal authorities should provide leadership, information and financial assistance.

It was also suggested that, in order to stimulate economic improvement, preparing the way for effective settlement experiments on the use of Alberta coal should be speedily carried to a final conclusion; necessary railway branch lines should be built, facilities for the movement of grain through Pacific ports should be developed, rate discriminations should be removed; and that natural resources within the borders of western provinces should be handed over to those provinces for development.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Here is a party bag that's French through and through. To make it, take a foundation of crinoline and arrange on it an assortment of ribbon flowers, using a row of green leaves or a ace ruffle for the outside. Then cut a bag just the size of the bouquet in a satin to harmonise with the gowers, and join it to the underside.

If you want to be very generous, put in a fancy handkerchief, a powder puff, and a rouge stick, and you will have a complete and charming gift.

Italian Government Opposes the Occupatian of Germany

ROME, November 16. — "The Italian government cannot give its approval to any further occupation of German territory," Premier Mussolini said to-night in the Senate.

"One must have the courage to say that the German people cannot be destroyed," the Premier continued. "They are a people which has known civilization and which may to-morrow be an integral part of European civilization."

Signor Mussolini intimated that Italy did not contemplate such an extremely grave step as breaking with France, which would, in a certain sense, be equivalent to declaring the Treaty of Versailles void, and might involve another European conflagration, and leave Italy isolated.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Parliament was formally dissolved to-day, and a royal proclamation printed in the Gazette to-night summons the new Parliament to assemble January 8.

It was thought the new session would convene December 20, but the Cabinet decided upon the later date.

Two prolonged Cabinet meetings were held to-day, one ostensibly to draft the Government's election manifesto, and the other to discuss election routine. Rumor, however, has it that Premier Baldwin is having great difficulties in holding his party and the government together.

Auspices Adverse

The Premier will begin his new campaign under adverse auspices. Not only has he had the greatest difficulty to prevent defections of colleagues with free trade beliefs, but he failed to consolidate his party by securing Lord Birkenhead and J. Austen Chamberlain as members of the Government.

The inside story of this affair shows it was a revolt of the Under-Secretaries, led by Ronald MacNeill of the Foreign Office and W. Orms by-Gore, of the Colonial Office which deferred the Premier from taking Lord Birkenhead and Mr. Chamberlain into the Cabinet.

Title For Cecil

A political surprise to-day was the announcement that Lord Robert Cecil had been raised to the peerage. The Lord Privy Seal has held his present title of Lord by reason of the fact that he is a son of the third Marquis of Salisbury. His elevation to the peerage is a clear indication of the difficulties Premier Baldwin is experiencing. Lord Robert is a stalwart free trader and already had decided not to contest his seat in the House of Commons.

The official explanation of his decision not to run is that Lord Robert's physician advised him to avoid great exertion until after Christmas. It adds that as Lord Robert has attended a meeting of the Council of the League of Nations during that period he will be unable to take part in the general elections.

As a peer Lord Robert can continue a member of the Administration having his seat in the House of Lords instead of in the House of Commons; but the incident is significant and Lord Robert's actual resignation from the Cabinet probably has been withheld only out of a desire not to embarrass the Premier at a difficult moment. Also Lord Robert, as a sturdy upholder of the League of Nations may have felt it desirable to retain his official position where he could better advance that ideal and at the same time avoid in the seclusion of the Upper House close contact with party conflicts.

Other Deflections

There have been other defections not of Ministers, but of influential men of the rank and file of Conservatism who are unable to approve the Government's protectionist move In fact, in the same ratio that Mr. Baldwin succeeded in welding together his opponents, he seems at the same time to have been causing a disintegration of his own party and although open ruptures have been avoided in most cases, the disagreements cannot be shielded from the public.

The Premier has been reminded in connection with his sudden conversion that it was only a few months ago he offered the Chancellorship of the Exchequer, the most important position in his government, which deals with the country's finances to a strong free trader, Reginald McKenna. It was reported today that Mr. McKenna was re-entering the political field but this report apparently is premature. In the newspapers some of the Government's warmest supporters still express the strongest misgivings as to the advisability of the course the Government has taken.

The outcome of these various aspects is that owing to the lukewarmness displayed by considerable sections of the Conservative Party for its new departure the Government is suffering theloss of many admirable speakers while on the Liberal and Labor sides there is an abundance of oratorical talent.

Churchill's Attack

Winston Spencer Churchill opened his campaign to-night in the famous Free Trade Hall in Manchester. He declared a futile and inglorious parliament was terminating its brief existence by an attempted assassination of free trade which was to be tried by drum-head court-martial and shot at dawn. The Government Mr. Churchill declared, had blundered into to position of hopeless confusion and had decided to brazen it out in hope of extricating itself by violence from the difficulties into which it had fallen through folly.

It was a fine thing, Mr. Churchill continued to be honest; but it was very important for a Prime Minister to be right. He characterized Mr. Baldwin's conversion as a mystic and almost miraculous conversion, like that of Saul at Damascus.

Refers to Cotton

In a vehement attack on the new policy Mr. Churchill said nobody knew better than the members of the British Cotton Growers' Association that "however we develop our tropical possessions we shall be compelled to buy cotton during our lifetime, and in gigantic quantities, from the United States."

He added that there would be nothing but misfortune and impoverishment for Lancashire if it consented to bear the yoke of a protective system.

Again asking when Mr. Baldwin reached his extraordinary conclusion regarding protection Mr. Chuurchill said it certainly was not in his mind when he invited Reginald McKenna to become his right-hand man. He also asked why if Mr. Baldwin thought his proposed policy would not increase prices he had exempted wheat and meat from duty.

Derby Reluctant

The Earl of Derby, Secretary for War addressed the Unionist at Northwich to-night, denied the insinuation of former Premier Lloyd-George that he (Lord Derby) had presented his resignation to Premier Baldwin. He admitted, however, that it was quite true he could have wished there should be no general election. The speaker said he recognized the Premier's absolute honesty

IMPORT CATTLE FROM WISCONSIN

WINNIPEG, November 17. — Declaring himself in sympathy with the objective aimed at: the encouragement of diversified farming in western Canada, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture for Canada, received a deputation from the dairy interests of Manitoba asking that "the regulation in regard to the free admission of animals for the improvement of stock be amended to include high class dairy females upon the furnishing of an import certificate."

The intention is to import dairy cattle from Wisconsin, where there is now a surplus, it was stated, of high grade stock, and in addition to the removal of the duty the Federal government is requested to aid in the cost of the transportation of the animals.

Mr. Motherwell stated that the matter would be considered by his department.

CONDEMNS SKYSCRAPER

Future Generations Will Curse It, Says London Councillor

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Future generations will curse the invention of the skyscraper, according to A. Emil Davies, member of the London County Council.

"New York, meant by nature as a harbor, not as a city, has no other recourse than to grow vertically," Mr. Davies says. "With Chicago there is no excuse for creating vertical slum districts, shutting out light and air."

Public ownership of transportation could direct the growth of population, he says.

ANGLO-FRENCH BOND STRAINED BY DISSENSION

France Will Probably Act Alone and Occupy More German Territory If the Entente Splits.

FINAL EFFORT.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The talk in the lobbies of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday centered about the precarious situation brought about by the disagreement between France and Great Britain with regard to proposed measure to require Germany to faciliate the work of the Inter-Allied Military Control Commission in Germany.

The general opinion among the deputies seemed to be that what was termed the half-way measure contended for by Lord Crewe, the British Ambassador, acting on instructions from London, would be worse than none, since it would merely tend to demonstrate to the Germans the helplessness of the Allies.

Speak of Rupture.

The eventuality of an actual rupture in Entente Cordiale was speculated upon for the first time yesterday, and even found an echo in the session of the Chamber of Deputies itself, where the Socialists interrupted Premier Poincare during his address with cries of "It is a rupture of the entente cordiale."

M. Poincare declined yesterday to discuss the question of military control, or the Crown Prince, because the negotiations with regard to both subjects are still going on; but members of the Chamber who are not bound to such discretion exchanged views as to consequence, which were generally regarded as not likely to weaken the hand of France in dealing with Germany.

Will Act Alone.

The opinion was expressed that the Reich would find its position weaker if the Entente split, since encouragement from Great Britain then would lose its significance, and France, free from the necessity of consulting her allies, who disagree with her, would be able to simplify her program and apply it with greater vigor.

It is expected a final earnest effort will be made today to find some way to avoid a break between the Allies; but if Great Britain still refuses to join with France in some energetic action it seems to be a practical certainty that M. Poincare will act alone and occupy more territory, probably contiguous to that now in the hands of the French.

KEEP PERPETUAL LIGHT.

PARIS, November 17 (Associated Press).—The tomb of France's unknown soldier beneath the Arc de Triomphe will become a more impressive symbol of sacrifice if the proposal to keep a flame under the arch burning night and day is adopted.

The unknown soldier's tomb continues as a national shrine, and is visited by thousands on Sundays and holidays.

In this connection it has been pointed out that time has effaced many memories connected with the war. It is a rare thing to see a war ribbo in a man's buttonhole, while during the first years after the war every winner of a war cross displayed its ribbon.

Health Rundown?

Health Restored

Mrs. F. F. Malcolm, Lucknow, Ont., writes:—

"My system became run down and I was very nervous. I was easily irritated and any trivial matter or noise from the children would upset my nerves. I also suffered from indigestion, and often gas would accumulate in my stomach, causing great distress. For about a year I was unable to attend any kind of gathering or be in a crowd, my nerves were so bad. In fact, it would be difficult to outline fully just how I felt. I called on the Doctor, and took the medicine he gave me, but did not seem to improve. One day I read of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and what it was doing for other people suffering from nervousness. I resolved to try it, and by the time I had taken three boxes, I could notice an improvement. I continued this treatment until I had taken nine boxes. By this time I felt real well and strong again. All my old troubles and symptoms had been removed, and I felt like my old self once more. Since then, I usually keep Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the house, and when I feel the least bit run down or fagged out, I take a few more. By following this plan I keep strong and healthy."

"NOTHING SERIOUS," you say, "guess I will soon be all right." And yet you do not feel well, are easily tired and irritated, have some digestive troubles and headaches perhaps, and have spells of depression and discouragement.

You know that you are not getting the most out of life, but do you realize that you are drifting into a condition of chronic ill-health.

Perhaps you are already familiar with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and need only a reminder of what you may expect from the use of this great restorative treatment.

There is scarcely a community in this great country but can produce evidence to the unique quality of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of forming new, rich blood, strengthening the nerves, and building up the system generally.

Try it when you are tired out and discouraged. Try it for sleeplessness and irritability. Try it for nervous headaches and indigestion.

It is not a mere relief, and for this reason you must persevere in its use until the lost vigor is restored to the nerves. The fact that the results are thorough and lasting will encourage you to keep up the use of the Nerve Food until you feel strong and well.

You are not experimenting when you employ this great reconstructive agent, but can turn to it with confidence that what has restored the health and vigor of many thousands of men and women will not fail you.

Will do wonders for you if you only give it a chance. 50c, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

DU-KO

for Pies and Puddings

SAVES TIME-LABOR-MONEY

BECAUSE—It only takes 5 minutes to prepare.

BECAUSE—DU-KO only needs the addition of milk or water.

BECAUSE—DU-KO needs no eggs, sugar or extra flavoring to "improve" it.

"Neither silver nor gold
Can better its flavor,
Wherever it's sold,
DU-KO finds favor."

RECIPE FOR PIE OR PUDDING

½ contents of a can of DU-KO; 2 cups of milk (water for Lemon) Pour enough milk into powder to make a batter; beat the balance; when it boils, pour in the batter. Stir until it thickens, then pour into pie shell, previously baked, or into a mould if a pudding is desired.

Three flavors: Lemon, Maple Cream and Chocolate.

The "Cheapest" is not always best. Compare the results you get from DU-KO with the price you pay for it. Figure the saving you make in cost of extra materials, time expended and work involved. You will find DU-KO is a real economy. Satisfaction guaranteed or money will be refunded.

SYNOPSIS.

At a first night performance in New York, a beautiful young woman attracts attention by rising and leisurely surveying the audience through her glasses. Clavering, a newspaper columnist, and his cousin, Dinwiddie, are particularly interested, Dinwiddie declaring she is the image of Mary Ogden, a belle of thirty years ago, who had married a Count Zattiany and lived abroad. He is convinced that this is Mary's daughter, but all attempts to establish her identity prove futile.

Clavering, determined to find out who she is, follows her home from the theatre one night. Luck is 2ith him, for she has forgotten her keys and he helps her get into the house. She invites him in and finally tells him she is the Countess Josef Zattiany, a cousin of Mary Ogden's; that she had married a relative of Mary's husband; that Mary is ill in a sanitarium in Vienna. She asks him to join a small dinner party at her home the next night.

But Clavering was not particularly interested in her political views, sound as they were. Foreign women of her class, if not as liberal, always talked intelligently of politics. What interested him keenly was her deliberate, her quiet conscious attempt to enslave the two men beside her, and her complete success. Occasionally she threw him a word, and once he fancied she favored him with a glance of secret amused understanding, but he was thankful to be on the outer edge of that glamorous crescent. It was enough to watch at a comparatively safe distance. Would his turn come next, or was she merely bent on so befuddling these old chaps that there would be no place left in their enraptured minds for suspicion or criticism? No doubt he was too rank an outsider. . . . She shot him another glance. . . . Was his to be the role of the sympathetic friend?

Then she began to draw Dinwiddie and Osborne out, and it struck him that her attitude was not merely that almost of wistfulness, in her expression as she listened to one or the other doing his admirable best to entertain her. They had the charm of crisp well-modulated voices, these two men of her own class; she had met no better-bred men in Europe; and their air was as gallant as it had been in their youth. He had a fleeting vision of what gay dogs they must have been. Neither had married, but they had been ardent lovers once and aging women still spoke of them with tender amusement. And yet only the shell had changed. They had led decent enough lives and no doubt could fall honestly and romantically in love today. In fact, they appeared to be demonstrating the possibility, with the eternal ingenuousness of the male. And yet nature had played them this scurvy trick. The young heart in the old shell. Grown-up boys with a foot in the grave. Dependent upon mind and address alone to win a woman's regard, while the woman dreamed of the man with a thick thatch over his brains and the responsive magnetism of her own years. Poor old fighting-cocks! What a jade nature was . . . or was it merely the tyranny of an Idea, carefully inculcated at the nativity of the social group, with other arbitrary laws, in behalf of the race? The fetish of the body. Stark materialism. . . . . However, it was not as hard on them as on women outgrown their primary function. Theirs at least the privilege of approach; and their deathless masculine conceit—when all was said, Nature's supreme gift of compensation—never faltered.

It crossed Clavering's mind that she was experimenting on her own account, not merely bewildering and enthralling these estimable gentlemen of her mother's generation. But why? Joining casually in the conversation, or quite withdrawn, he watched her with increasing and now quite impersonal interest. He almost fancied she was making an effort to be something more than the polite and amiable hostess, that she was deliberately striving to see them as men who had perfect right to fascinate a woman of her age and loveliness. Well, it had happened before. Elderly men of charm and character had won and kept women fully thirty years their junior. Possibly she belonged to that distinguished minority who refused to be enslaved by the Ancient Idea, that iron code devised by fore-thinking men when Earth was young and scantily peopled. . . Still of the accomplished hostess. They both talked well, they were intelligent and well-informed, and he was himself interested in what they had to say on the subject of national politics. (The Judge, who had an unimpaired digestion, was attending strictly to his champagne and his dinner.)

There was something of anxiety, —why this curious eagerness, this—it was indecipherable . . . no doubt his lively imagination was playing him tricks. Probably she was merely sympathetic. . . . And then, toward the end of the dinner, her manner changed, although too subtly for any but the detached observer to notice it. To Clavering she seemed to go dead under her still animated face. He saw her eyes wander from Dinwiddie's bald head to Osborne's flattened cheek . . . . her lip curled, a look of fierce contempt flashed in her eyes before she hastily lowered the lids. . . . . He fancied she was glad to rise from the table.

X.

"Well?" he asked, as he and Dinwiddie were walking away from the house; Osborne had driven off with Judge Trent. 'Do you still think her a base impostor?"

"Don't know what I think and don't much care. She can pack me in her trunk, as we boys used to say. She's a great lady and a charming woman; as little doubt about the first as the last. She's like Mary Ogden and she isn't. I suppose she might be merely a member of the same family—with several thousand ancestors where types must have reappeared again and again. If she wants New York Society, especially if she wants money for those starving children, I'll go the limit. But I'm going to find out about her all the same. I'll hunt up Harry Thornhill tomorrow—he's a recluse, but he'll see me—and I'll get on the track of some Hungarian refugee. She can't be the usual rank impostor, that's positive She has the same blood as Mary in her veins, and if she's Mary's daughter and wishes to keep it dark, that's her business. I'll never give her away."

"Well, good luck. Glad it went off so well."

They parted at the door of Mr. Dinwiddie's rooms and Clavering walked slowly home in an extremely thoughtful mood. He felt an uneasy distrust of the Countess Josef Zattiany, and he was not even sure that he liked her.

On the following Monday night, however, he was by no means averse from making a notagle personal score. As Abbott, a dramatic critic, who happened to sit next to Madame Zattiany, made his usual hurried exit at the falling of the first curtain Clavering slipped into the vacant chair. She smiled a welcome, but it was impossible to talk in the noise. This was a great first-night. One of the leading actresses fo America had returned inlan excellent play, and her admirers, who appeared to be a unit, were clapping and stamping and shouting; handkerchiefs fluttered all over the house. When the curtain descended after the fifteenth recall and the lights went up and demonstration gave place to excited chatter, Madame Zattiany held out her hand toward Clavering.

"See! I have split my glove. I caught the enthusiasm. How generous your people are! I never heard such whole-souled, such—ah—unself-conscious response."

"Oh, we like to let go sometimes and the theatre is a safe place. One of the best things that can be said for New York, by the way, is its loyalty to two or three actresses no longer young. The whole country has gone crazy over youth. The most astonishingly bad books create a furore because from end to end they glorify post-war youth at its worst, and the stage is almost as bad. But New Yorkers are too old and wise in the theatre not to have a deep appreciation of its art, and they will render tribute to old favorites as long as they produce good plays."

"But that is very fine. . . . . I go to the matinee a good deal and I am often very bored. And I have been reading your current novels with the desire to learn as well as to be amused. I wish so much to understand the country in which I was born. I have received much illumination! It is quite remarkable how well most of your authors write—but merely well, that is. So few have individuality of style. And even in the best authors I find nearly all of the heroines too young. I had read many American novels before the war—they came to us in Taushnitz—and even then I found this quite remarkable preoccupation with youth."

"Well—youth is a beautiful thing—is it not?" He smiled in a beautiful face. "But, if you will notice, many of our novelists, capable of real psychology, carry their heroines over into their second youth, and you can almost hear their sigh of relief when they get them there."

"Yes, but they are still behind the European novelists, who find women interesting at any age, and treat intelligent readers agree with them. Young women have little psychology. They are too fluid."

"Quite right. But I am afraid we are too young a country to tolerate middle-aged heroines. We are steeped in conventionalism, for all our fads. We have certain cast-iron formulea for life, and associate love with youth alone. I think we have a vague idea that autumnal love is rather indecent."

"And you—yourself?" She looked at him speculatively. "Are you too obsessed?"

"I? Good Lord, no. I was in love with a woman of forty when I was seventeen."

How MISS ALLEN improved the cooking in her skyscraper kitchen

OUR friend Miss Allen has one of the oddest kitchens you could ever imagine. It is on the top floor of a skyscraper overlooking the business section of a great city. Miss Allen's kitchen is really a business laboratory, for her work is to advise manufacturers who make food products.

If you were to chat with Miss Allen about cookery matters she would almost surely bring the conversation around to Crisco. First she would probably explain Crisco's manufacture, showing you why its rich creaminess is the natural result of the pure sweet oils of growing plants from which it is made. Then she would be apt to stress Crisco's versatility, explaining how Crisco alone answers every shortening purpose: for frying, for cake-making, for pastry, biscuits and muffins.

Yes, Miss Allen is a Crisco enthusiast, for during the last two years she has made hundreds of tests of Crisco in comparison with every other shortening under every conceivable condition.

Once she made digestibility tests of 37 different shortenings gathered from many different cities. (Doctors, you know, tell us that a low melting point is essential to a fat's ready digestibility.) Miss Allen found that none of these fats had so low a melting point as Crisco.

How Miss Allen surprised 10 husbands

One day, when Miss Allen was requested to cater for the private luncheon of a small group of business men, she decided to use these men as subjects for an experiment she had long wanted to make.

So she colored and salted some Crisco and "buttered" bread with it. Not a single one of the ten men but thought he was eating butter! The purpose of this odd test was simply to test Crisco's delicacy—Crisco has no "taste" and that is why its use permits the fine, natural flavor of ingredients to come out in cooking.

One of these same men boasted that he could always tell a "butter" cake. So the next time Miss Allen catered she served a butter cake and a Crisco cake and asked all the men to guess which was which. Well, that very man whose boast caused the experiment guessed that the Crisco cake was the butter cake!

Miss Allen's sister, also a very fine cook, hesitated to buy Crisco, saying that all her cookery training had been with another shortening. So finally Miss Allen asked her to try Crisco as a personal favour and now she is entirely dependent on Crisco. She will tell you that her Crisco pie crusts are the flakiest she has ever made, and that her Crisco fried foods have a crisp, brown outside and a tender, fine-flavoured inside.

Made in Canada. Sold throughout the Dominion

In over 2,000,000 homes the wives and mothers find that Crisco adds new convenience to the cooking of foods and new delight to their eating. All grocers sell Crisco, so we suggest that you buy a can and use it in any of your favorite recipes. When using Crisco in place of butter take ⅓ less and add 1 teaspoonful of salt to each cup of Crisco.

For easy digestion, say doctors, a fat should have a melting point near body temperature of 98⅘ degrees. This pure shortening melts at 97 degrees—even below body temperature. Yes, it is very digestible.

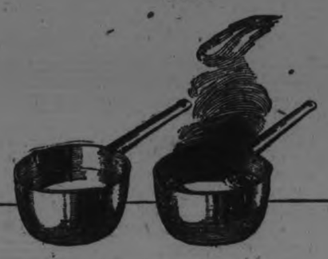
Chocolate Cream Pie

(We ran across this recipe in an old cook book published by a church society)

¾ cupful sugar
2½ tablespoonfuls flour
2 level tablespoonfuls cocoa
2 eggs
1 cupful sweet milk
pinch salt

Mix together sugar, flour, cocoa, beaten yolks of eggs, and milk. Cook until thick; put into baked crust; beat whites of eggs to a froth, add 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar; spread on top and brown.

(Follow Miss Allen's pastry rule—¾ cupful Crisco to 1½ cupfuls flour.)



Avoid Smoke and Unpleasant Odor

By using this fat you can keep your whole house fresh and charmingly free from odor yet still enjoy French Fried Potatoes, Doughnuts and all the delicious foods which require deep-frying.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"How do they make pink lemonade?" asked Nancy.

The next person Nancy and Nick met in Dixie Land was the circus fairy.

They didn't know he was a fairy until he told them so. But after he had waived a little stick and changed himself into a parrot and back again, and into a donkey and back again, and into a gold fish and back again, they believed him.

He explained that he was in Dixie Land to see after the lemonade-peanut crop for next year.

"I've just been over to the lemon orchard and the trees are simply loaded," he said. "Great big fellows as yellow as canary birds!"

"How do they make pink lemonade?" asked Nancy.

"Out of pink lemons," said the circus fairy quickly, "or that is, they would make it out of pink lemons if there were any pink lemons to make it out of. Perhaps they put roses in it. I'll watch next time and see and I'll write you a letter and tell you, if you give me your address. But there! We're spending all our time talking about lemons! As though the elephants cared a whoop-de-dee about lemonade! Why, they are staying awake nights dreaming—I mean worrying—about peanuts, and it's up to me to see that the crop of peanuts in Dixie Land is bigger than ever. Come along, kiddies! Left, right, left, right, step to the peanut field. Here we are!"

"Why there isn't a tree!" cried Nick. "I thought nuts grew on trees!"

"Not peanuts," explained the circus fairy. "They grow on these little bushes in the sand."

"Why, I don't see a nut!" said Nancy, dropping down on her knees.

"That's because the peanut bushes are too modest to boast. But the nuts are there just the same. As soon as a nut begins to grow on the end of a little branch, the bush shoves the nut down under the sand to do the rest of its growing, and to get ripe. I'm going to peep! Come along and peep, too, if you wish."

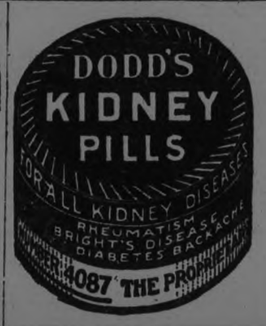
So Nancy and Nick followed the circus fairy along the sandy rows, and every here and there where he scraped away patches of sand, wasn't there a fine peanut hiding underneath!

"My, but there are a lot!" said Nick.

"I don't think the elephants need to worry," nodded the circus fairy happily. "Or the children, either. Now I'll go and tell the peanut man to get his roaster ready, and the paper-bag man to get his paper bags ready. Everything is in fine shape in Dixie Land."

With that he disappeared.

(To Be Continued)



The reported discovery of the "University of Bacchus" has solved the question, and the expected arrest of the six moonshiners, all of whom were at one time or another connected with legitimate distilleries, will end the strange school, authorities believe.

The pupils, said investigating officers, are made up of young men out of work, discouraged over financial difficulties, who are attracted by the glowing tales of the immense profit in bootlegging. Agents for the institution of "learning" take the wayward lads in hand and paint roseate pictures of the marvelous benefits of a college education along this line.

Upon payment of a small sum the student is enrolled in a course, handled by an expert. Then, when he starts out in business for himself, another fee must be paid. If the graduate should be recalcitrant and refuse to pay, a quiet tip to the Government officials would finish him.

The faculty is far-sighted enough to know that a good product pays in the long run. Cleanliness is a primary principle with them. The pupils are taken to model plants, where the scientific principles underlying distillation are explained and sample "batches" turned out with different materials. The class is told exactly what process and combinations of mash and metals produce the "poison" that causes blindness or even death. Along with this instruction goes a short study of metals.

ARE YOU SUFFERING FROM SICK HEADACHE?

People who are suffering from constipation, billiousness or sick headache can obtain speedy relief by taking one or two of Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets at bed time.

These tablets are recommended by well known and reliable druggists and if they fail to do what we claim for them, return the bottle and your dealer will refund the money.

Mr. E. L. Payne, Druggist, says: Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets are one of the best preparations we keep in stock and our customers speak highly of them."

Week's Event

Collapse of the Hitler-Ludendorff monarchist movement in Bavaria means a riot to Germany.

It doesn't end unrest. It doesn't mean that there mayn't be a "red" uprising next thing. Yet the completeness and speed of the royalist fizzle makes it look as if the strength of that kind of sentiment was much overestimated. Maybe the same thing's true of "red" sentiment.

On the other hand, the republican government seems to be more firmly seated than people thought. Nor is Germany, apparently, so close to breaking into a lot of little states as it appeared to be.

* * *

Probably Ends It

General Von Ludendorff undoubtedly was real organizer of the monarchists. Adolph Hitler, a would-be Mussolini, was his mouthpiece.

Hitler proclaimed a new regime in Germany. As its "regent" or head, he named Dr. von Kahr, who was acting as dictator of the German state of Bavaria. He nominated himself (Hitler) as "chancellor." Ludendorff was to be military commander. Presumably the idea was to make Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria emperor of Germany.

Rupprecht repudiated the whole thing. Kahr not only repudiated it but told loyal troops to put the uprising down. Hitler and Ludendorff had to surrender. Hitler's said to have escaped later, but Ludendorff remained a prisoner.

That probably ends it all, for the present.

The ex-crown prince has returned from Holland to Germany, which may or may not mean something. He's as much a citizen of the country as any other German, so why shouldn't he live there?

* * *

Count America Out

France has "spiked" the attempt England made to get the world's big countries into a discussion of the French claims against Germany, a discussion it was hoped would lead toward an end of Europe's troubles.

The Paris government pretended to be willing to talk matters over, but the only terms it would do so on were such that it was clear no agreement

Want Their Money

It's expected the next thing will be for the United States and England to tell France, since she won't do anything else, that they wish she'd pay the war debts she owes them. Of course, she can't, and they know it. It's a scheme (if that's what they do) to "bring pressure" on the French. How it will work nobody can say.

Fox-Coburn Tragedy

Philip E. Fox, publicity man for the Evans faction of the Ku Klux Klan shot and killed William S. Coburn, attorney for the Simmons faction of the organization. Prominent klan members say it was a personal quarrel, unconnected with any klan question, but the police investigation at Atlanta, where the tragedy occurred, centers around the theory of a klan dispute.

Waste and Dishonesty

Investigation, by a sanatorial committee, into Colonel Forbes' management of the Veterans' Bureau, goes on

As typical of the testimony, one witness told of the purchase for the bureau of sheets costing $1.03 each, which, as they were received at one door of a bureau warehouse, were passed out through another door to purchasers who had bought them at 16 cents each.

General O'Ryan, attorney for the investigators, has announced that, though the committee is prosecuting nobody, yet "I think we have developed a picture of extraordinary waste and dishonesty.

THE OLD APPLE SAUCE

(By HENRY L. FARRELL)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (United Press)—Around the college campus it is termed psychology, and in the stuffy gymns, where gather the knights of the tin-ear, it is called "givin' 'em the apple sauce."

By any name it is, fundamentally, the effort to instill confidence in an athlete and its general application to all lines of sport has become a prominent factor in training.

It is not a new art, but its general application in sports is, at least, modern—and successful.

Bill Roper, wise and modern in the ways of coaching football, tried it with great success at Princeton last year, and great results were accomplished.

When Roper gathered around him in late summer the squad from which Princeton expected him to develop a team, he found that with the exception of fine spirit, the players at his disposal were not well equipped with the makings of great players.

Roper started working on that spirit with the theory that he could make it overcome physical and technical deficiencies and he had hung up in the club house various placards calling attention at every turn that "A team that won't be beaten, can't be beaten."

Transposing words and phrases, Roper's logic as pointed out to his more intellectually alert young athletes was what a fight manager might say to a boxer who "didn't have much":

"You're game, and that's half the fight. You go in there and stay in there and when that bird misses you, clip him on the jaw. Clip him every time he misses and we'll win. If you don't, you'll lose."

Princeton's success last season in developing a team with a good claim for the eastern championship from very ordinary material was founded upon the belief and the following up of the theory that every team in every game is bound to make a mistake and those mistakes could be turned into a Princeton victory.

Every mistake that a team made against Princeton last year was developed to the maximum possibility by the Tigers.

Jack Wilce, Ohio State coach, found himself this fall in very much the same position Roper was in last year, and Wilce tried the same way out of it, without success in the same degree.

Wilce went so far as to literally paint the university red on the theory that red was an inspiring color. Before the Colgate game he hung signs around the locker-room: "Intersectional," and before the big game with Michigan he called the attention of his squad with the simple placard: "Michigan."

Ohio tied Colgate and lost to Michigan, but anyone will admit that it would have taken more than psychology to beat that Michigan gang.

* * *

Having had experience with the value of morale not so very long back, it might be considered unusual that the West Point officers didn't use psychology on the Cadets earlier than the week before the Yale game.

Perhaps the Army coaches felt that the Cadet eleven didn't need any psychology to go through the present season and no doubt the Cadets felt the same way about it.

When Notre Dame came east and gave the West Pointers a thrashing, the Cadets learned that they didn't have the best team in the country and to impress the point upon them firmly, the coaches had tacked up around the gymnasium little signs which held out at every turn of the head: "NOTRE DAME."

* * *

South American trainers who prepared Luis Firpo for his fight with Jack Dempsey went to extremes in boosting the confidence and mental edge of the Argentine giant.

Firpo was told from morning till night that he was the next champion. Every night, after dinner, the training staff would gather around Firpo and present in pantomine his victory over Dempsey.

When Firpo would return to his corner after a sparring bout with one of his champ-mates, his handlers would say: "Well done, my kiug; that is the reason you are the champion."

Associates of Jack Dempsey did the same thing around the champion, although they paid tribute to him in less emphatic fashion.

Dempsey is always referred to by his manager and his camp-mates as "the champ." His title is always used in conversation with him, and some of his more staunch supporters advise visitors to his camp that it would be pleasing to address him as "champ."

* * *

With Firpo, perhaps it was overdone and, it might be pointed out that, it did him no good, but it could be argued just as well that it did him no harm.

WOULD NOT HAVE ULCER CUT OUT OF STOMACH

Took "Fruit-a-tives" Instead and this Medicine made from Fruit Juices Relieved the Trouble.

MAPLEHURST FARM, HILLHURST, P.Q.

"About 25 years ago, I began to have trouble with my Stomach.

Three years ago, I consulted one of the best specialists in Montreal. He said I must go to the hospital, have an Ulcer cut out of my stomach and gall stones removed. I was then 74 years old. I said "NO."

Then, I began to take "Fruit-a-tives".

I am so much better that my old friends often ask me what I have done to myself to look so well. I am gaining in weight and enjoying life very much." H. W. EDWARDS.

"Fruit-a-tives" is made from the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes, combined with tonics, and gives quick relief in stomach troubles.

This fruit medicine actually strengthens the stomach muscles and enables the stomach to give out sufficient gastric juice to digest the meals.

"Fruit-a-tives" also correct Constipation and Biliousness from which so many Dyspeptics suffer.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent post paid on receipt of price.

HUXLEY'S SON MADE NEW PLAN RELIGION

Strikes at Fundamental Premise of Christianity —Prominent Theorist.

By LYLE C. WILSON.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (United Press).—The fundamental premise of Christianity that God is a personal God, capable of and actually effecting occasional interference in this world's affairs, is untenable, and the structure of religious argument based upon that premise is actually toppling today.

That is the opinion of Julian S. Huxley, grandson of Dr. Thomas Henry Huxley, who first aligned his family with realism, Darwinism and attacks on "theological prejudices" many years ago.

Commenting on Huxley's recent book, "Essays of a Biologist," the book reviewer of The London Daily Express, says:

"Religion, as we know it, is doomed to fall to pieces. Prayer is useless. God is a mere man-made fantasy of accumulated traditions.

"Our ideas of Him as a personal being must be revolutionized if we are to attain to that crystal-clear religious perspective which, at the moment, is apparently possible only by biologists with obtruse minds.

"These are the conclusions to which one is forced after reading the essay on 'Rationalism and the Idea of God' in Mr. Huxley's 'Essays of a Biologist.'"

Julian S. Huxley is a biological research worker of prominence. His theories of the thyroid gland operation, by which old men are allegedly made young, paved the way for the actual experiment on human beings.

Huxley is also an authority on the changing of sex and kindred subjects which stand between biologists and the full understanding of biology.

No More Sleepless Nights— Finds Health in Internal Bathing.

Mr. F. C. Voigt, Queen's Hotel, Rapid City, Man., writes:

"For the last few years I have been a sufferer from indigestion, nervous debility, insomnia, and allied troubles. My health became so bad that I despaired of living through the winter. Loss of appetite and sleep were making by condition unbearable. I purchased a J. B. L. Cascade, and though only using it for a short time, have obtained remarkable results. My appetite has returned, and I am now enjoying the most refreshing sleep that I have had for years. I regard it as a God-send."

If people only knew what Internal Bathing is doing for thousands of others, fewer Pills and Laxatives would be taken and very much less suffering from constipation and the accompanying stomach and nervous troubles resulting from it.

If you are robbed by constipation of the sound sleep and good appetite so essential to health and vigor, you should not lose a day in availing yourself of the simple home treatments which hundreds testify have meant for them a new lease of life.

The J.B.L. Cascade is the only perfect appliance for Internal Bathing. It is shown and explained at the Warne Drug Company.

HOW TO BOOTLEG NEW CURRICULUM.

Los Angeles Has Its University of Bacchus to Train For Degree of Bachelor of Bootlegging.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17 (United Press).—Cambridge may have its Harvard, New Haven its Yale—but Los Angeles has a new one—the "University of Bacchus," inspired by the ancient god of wine, that ribald old gent who has stimulated man for ages.

Five hundred students are reported by Federal prohibition agents to be enrolled in his institution, which educates bootleggers. The college, they say, has professors, a regular curriculum which leads to a degree—probably a "bachelor of bootlegging."

Arrest of six of the leading pedagogues for moonshining is imminent and is expected to so disrupt the scholastic momentum that functioning will be impossible.

Dry Agent Dolley said he began to suspect something was wrong when agents reported that samples of liquor seized about Los Angeles showed upon analysis much less percentage of poisonous ingredients, due to careless and incomplete distillation, than formerly.

"Why this sudden purity," he inquired and started out to find out what it was all about.

SHARP BREAK IN FOREIGN MONEY

New York Exchange Reports Heavy Transfer of Capital Funds From Europe to U.S.A.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.— Foreign exchange rates and prices of foreign government securities broke sharply in yesterday's markets in direct response to unfavorable political developments abroad.

One of the most significant developments in the situation, local bankers pointed out last night, was the fact that heavy offerings of sterling, franc and other European bills in the New York, London, Paris and other big financial markets, represented not only payments for purchases made in the United States, but also a heavy transfer of capital funds from Europe to the United States through fear of further political and economic disturbance abroad.

Lights Turned Low Made Dance Popular At the University

KINGSTON, Ont., November 17. — (Special.) — The ban has been placed on "moon" dances at social functions at Queen's University.

These dances, with the lights turned low, with electrical moon effects, have been very popular with the students, but the College authorities have isued an order that no more dances of this character can be held at the University.

CENTRAL SCHOOL HAD ENJOYABLE BANQUET.

Winners of Silver Football Trophy Honored—The Programme.

One of the most enjoyable events to take place in the Central school for some time was the banquet held last evening in the school's kindergarten rooms under the auspices of the Central Home and School Association to recognize in a fitting manner the prowess of the school's boy pupils, who acquitted themselves so creditably along sport lines this season. The Alex. Kay silver trophy in football and the Relay Race cup donated by the Board of Managers of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition obth fell to the lot of the Central school boys this summer, and the banquet last evening was arranged in their honor as a testimonial from the school and the ladies of the school association.

Between twenty and twenty-five boys were present and other guests included Mr. Alex Kay, Mr. A. Mowat, Mr. R. F. Downey, former principal, and the three men teachers on the staff; the present principal, K. S. Wightman, and Messrs. O. M. Steer and R. Frost. Brief addresses were given by the guests present eulogizing the record of the boys and emphasizing the principles of sport, in the exercise of the spirit of fair play and emulation. The three referees who took part in the school series were also invited, but were unable to be present.

A special feature of the occasion was the appearance of the table, which presented a glowing and cheerful aspect with dainty floral decorations and headp-up baskets of fruit. Many congratulatory remarks were showered on the ladies for the general excellence of the arrangements and a hearty vote of thanks accorded them at the conclusion of the banquet, the motion voiced by Roy Lewis, captain of the school team and the relay race team, and seconded by Deen Snelgrove.

A humorous note was given the programme by each of the boys present relating a funny story, which as Mr. Steer expressed it, "made as many laughs as there were boys." The musical programme included community singing, and selections by Carl McCarthy, pianist, Arnold Spencer, violinist, accompanied by Miss Laura McFarlane, and Wilson Dunlop, xylophone.

A QUIET FAMILY IN ALL SAINTS'

Good Crowd Present at A.Y.P.A. Gathering

"The Quiet Family" was the title of a huomrous little one-act comedy given by the A.Y.P.A. of All Saints' church in their parish hall last evening, when a good crowd was present. The chair was taken by the president of the A.Y.P.A., Mr. A. Hope, and the programme was interspersed by musical offerings, which included vocal solos by Mrs. R. Trotter, Miss Edna Borbridge and Mr. E. Lewis, a reading by Mrs. Gerald McClelland, a violin solo by Mrs .P. Hooper, a piano duet by the Misses Martin and Olga Johnston, and a comedy act by members of the A.Y.P.A.

"A Quiet Family" was very much enjoyed. It depicted the trials of two quiet married couples, the man in one case, the woman in the other, plagued by noisy partners. An heiress and the lawyer who wishes to marry her, are interjected into the plot, and there are two servants who add to the atmosphere of the "quiet family."

Miss J. Maconomy acted the part of the heiress, Selina Summers, and Mr .E. Lewis was her suitor, Peter Parker. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bibbs were Miss G. Smith and Mr. J. Price, while Miss Pearl Twigg and Mr. Wm. King took the roles of Barnaby Bibbs and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. H. Sisson were the two servants, Grumpy and Snarly.

Decay of wood is not due to direct chemical action or the action of the elements, but is always the result of the activity of low forms of plant life which feed upon the wood and destroy it.

Halifax—Wholesalers report business very good. Retail trade improving, collections fair.

St. John — Wholesale trade continues satisfactory, retail business showing slight improvement. Collections fair.

Montreal—Wholesale grocery and hardware lines showing improvement with collections increasing. Dry goods, ladies' ready-to-wear and boots and shoes not quite so active. Collections fair. Retail business fair and with the winter season better business is expected.

Toronto—Wholesale business generally fair with slight improvement in some lines. Weather not conducive to sale of fall merchandise. Retail business also affected by weather conditions and leaves room for improvement. Collections fair.

Winnipeg— Wholesale conditions in some lines showing slight improvement. Continued mild weather retarding sales with both wholesalers and retailers. Collections slow to fair.

Regina—Wholesale trade not very brisk for this season of the year. Retail trade good generally, although clothing business somewhat slack on account of weather conditions. Collections leave a good deal to be desired.

Saskatoon —Wholesale trade generally showing improvement in business being done. Retail trade fair. Weather has been colder and should have better effect on sale of fall goods. Collections improving.

Calgary—Very little change being recorded in wholesale conditions as until grain is moved money will not be available for outstanding obligations. Collections in the country slow. Retail business quiet.

Vancouver — Wholesale grocery trade very good, hardware and boots and shoes fair. Dry goods show slight improvement as weather becomes more seasonable. Interior farmers expect returns for fruit this month and business there generally should improve. Retail grocery quiet; hardware, boots and shoes only fair. Collections wholesale and retail all lines just fair. Slight improvement in dry goods. Employment conditions still comparatively good.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — New York Stock Exchange — and Curb Prices

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, November 17 (United Press). — Reaction characterised the week-end session of the stock market, the sombre character of the foreign despatches finally finding reflection in Wall Street sentiment.

Heavy selling took place in the early dealings in response to the overnight news which showed that the friction between France and Great Britain was growing in seriousness.

Exchanges on the principal European countries drifted to new low levels, with the sterling rate the most unfavourable to London seen this year.

Leading speculative stocks experienced declines running from one to three points in the first hour, while the general list was steadier in the final half of the shortened day; little recovery took place, and prices closed considerably below the previous final figures.

Stocks were steadied a bit at the start of the second hour by the appearance of good buying for the account of traders, who missed the initial stages of the current recovery, and had been awaiting a sizeable setback before making commitments. Interests of the constructive side argued that conditions abroad were about as bad as they could be, and that any turn would be for the better.

The refusal of the British Cabinet to agree to the further imposition to sanctions to Germany, thus completing the deadlock with France caused further unsettlement among the foreign exchanges, and brought some selling into the stock market, which resulted in a generally lower opening.

Good sized recession took place in Dupont, American Locomotive, Bethlehem Steel, Industrial Alcohol, Steel Common, and other speculative leaders.

Pressure continued on the general list through the first hour, and further recessions took place in most of the active stocks. The borrowing demand for stocks indicated that the traders were taking the short side owing to the European news.

Sterling closed at $4.28 1-4 off 2 cents.

Just before the close, sterling touched $4.27 5-8 for a New Year's loan.

The stock market closed lower.

"Conversation Circulation"

IN the days when Conversation Circulation" statements were the basis on which the advertiser bought space, the advertising solicitor who put up his story in the most pleasing manner generally got the business.

In case the advertiser questioned the figures he might possibly go to the newspaper office and look over the circulation records with his own auditors. But neither he nor his auditors knew the intricacies of newspaper circulation records or the possibilities for juggling figures.

Circulation differences and arguments caused bitter battles between many newspapers. Ingenious schemes were used by unscrupulous publishers to put up the appearance of a larger circulation than they had. The prevalence of these practices brought out the necessity for a reputable agency to audit and report on circulation matters.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations was started eight years ago by a nucleus of the leading advertisers, agents, newspaper, magazine, farm papers, and trade paper publishers. Today it has a membership of 1800. The purpose of the bureau is to make fair and impartial audits of circulation records and it is now accepted as the Standard Authority among space buyers throughout the United States and Canada.

Every Publisher-Member of the Bureau is required to make semi-annual statements setting forth the actual net paid circulation. Once a year the Bureau sends an auditor to the office of each publisher to check and if necessary correct his circulations statements.

Study the A.B.C. reports of the publications you are considering and it will not be necessary to argue about competitive circulation.

The Examiner is a member of the A.B.C. and would be pleased to submit a copy of the latest circulation report

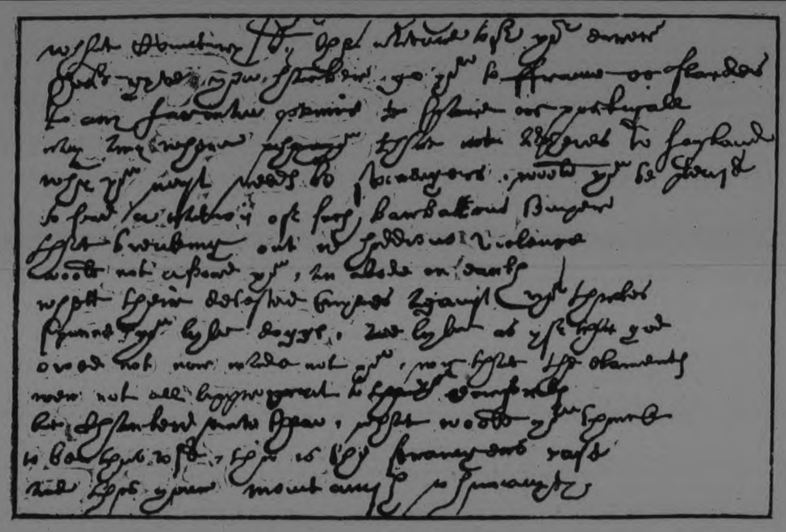
World's Richest Script Discovered; Page of Shakespeare's Handwriting



The world's most valuable manuscript has just come to light.

For more than a hundred years a "scrap of paper" with just 147 lines of writing has lain unnoticed in the British Museum.

They were an addition to a play written in the years when Good Queen Bess was on the throne of England and centered on the life of St. Thomas More. These lines described a topical subject—the quelling of a small riot in the city by the aforesaid Sir Thomas —and it occurred to a student of medieval literature some time ago that the scene in which the mob is subdued might have been written by the great master dramatist of England, William Shakespeare. He delved into the subject and interested brother scholars in his search with the result that it has now been proved beyond question by any save the Baconians that not only did Shakespeare write the scene in question, but that the manuscript is in his own handwriting.

Until the discovery was made there were only six known signatures of Shakespeare in existence, and no other specimen of his handwriting. The new find is therefore not only one of the most interesting manuscripts in the world, but is probably the most valuable. A first folio of the great dramatists' works, which is one of many samples, has fetched over $40,000 in the sale room. What price therefore would this manuscript fetch if it was put up for auction? Not that this is ever likely to be the case, for the British Museum, although always in the market as a purchaser for the world's rarest books and objects of art, is not likely to give up this treasure that it may be snatched up by some trans-Atlantic millionaire to be gazed at not for its own intrinsic worth but in admiration that anything so small could fetch so many thousands of dollars.

More than this, the signatures of the poet which are already in existence almost all belong to the last years of his life when he was in failing health, including the attestation of that famous will in which the poet left his second best bed to his wife. This handwriting, however, belongs to a much earlier period, probably at least twenty years before his death. Yet a handwriting as all the students of the art of graphology tell us does not materially change after it has once been formed, and it will advance the world's knowledge of the poet and drive another nail in the coffin of the sceptics and unbelievers to see this handwriting and to hear that it is by the same hand as the signatures.

It was only natural that the learned men who made the find should be quite sure of their facts before they made them public. Sir E. Maude Thompson, a great authority on bibliographical research, tells us that nowhere except in this More addition has he or anyone been able to find writing which reproduces the personal kinks of the signatures. Thus in the signatures now extant the open "a" is formed with a spur at the back, a freakish addition unknown to any other manuscript, although Sir Maude and his colleagues have been examining thousands during the last quarter of a century.

Another point which Mr. Vernon Rendall, the former editor of the Athenaeum points out, is that although we have no actual manuscript of Shakespeare we have, it is now generally conceded, the direct results of his writing in the best quartos of his plays which were set up from prompt copies, and which in some cases still preserve the names of the players instead of the characters in which they appeared. The mistakes made by compositors in those quartos are the very ones which might be expected from a hand with the peculiarities which are clearly apparent in the More manuscript.

Mr. Dover Wilson, another expert, goes further than this and shows that fully equipped modern editions of that script have made similar mistakes in printing it.

Shakespeare cherished an old-fashioned hand and spelling. Here and in one of his quartos, and nowhere else in any known manuscript or text, "silence" is spelt "scilens."

Corroboration on the side of literary style may be felt to be eminently desirable. Prof Chambers shows that the sentiments expressed by More in his speech to the crowd are specially Shakespearian, and such as do not occur to other dramatists in similar scenes. Shakespeare had a trick of repeating himself. The More addition is followed closely in the later plays. Both he and Coriolanus use the same argument in the same words—that the crowd, if they go on unchecked, will "feed on one another" in the last extreme. Rare words and odd phrases are echoed frequently in the later dramas.

Those gathered by Prof. Chambers do not make a complete list; there are more yet. And the crowd is revealed with that broad understanding which belongs to Shakespeare alone. He laughs with them rather than at which the clown adds, "Jumpions" as of like quality. In the "Merry Wives" is a reference to this unwholesome humidity, this gross watery pumpion."

Radio News

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 17.—The crystal detectors are the simplest of all radio detectors used at the present time. Unlike the vacuum tube, it does not, in most cases require a local battery for its operation and the intial cost is practically the last cost, says Beverly B. Dudley, local member of the American Radio Relay League. The crystals are inexpensive, easily obtained, and can easily be replaced with little trouble, should the old ones become inoperative or dirty. Their disadvantages are threefold. They are critical to adjust; they are not as sensitive as vacuum tubes; and thirdly, they cannot be made to oscillate for the reception of amateur continuous wave signals.

The Contact Point

Essentially the crystal detector, sometimes known as a mineral detector, consists of a crystal upon which a contact of copper or steel wire is made. It is this contact that permits the reception of signals, inasmuch as this contact is a rectifier of the radio frequency currents. Crystal detectors consist in the commercial form of a base, a metal cup in which the crystal is mounted, a wire contact, known as the cat whisker, a holder for the wire, and binding posts for convenient connections. The crystals used most commonly at the present are: galena, radiocite, silicon, carborundum, and bornite in the order named. The first two require a light copper or phosphur bronze contact, while the rest work better with a heavier steel, needle-point contact.

The radio frequency energy in the receiving set, before it reaches the detector, is a weak alternating current, similar to the house lighting current, but where the house lighting current alternates its polarity 120 times per second, this radio frequency current alternates its polarity 1,000,000 times (or more) per second, i. e., where the house lighting current has a frequency of 60 cycles the radio frequency currents have a frequency of 500,000 cycles per sound.

Current Reverses

A current of this frequency cannot be heard for several reasons. When one of the groups of alternations acrs on the telephone receiver it causes no motion of the diaphragm, because each variation of the current in one direction is followed by the current flowing in the opposite direction, so that the telephone diaphragm has not enough time to start moving and resulting effect is no motion at all. Something that allows the current to flow through it in one direction and stops the current from flowing in the opposite direction is needed in the circuit, to actuate the diaphragm. The detector does this.

At the contact between the crystal and the cat whisker, current can flow through in one direction, but not in the other. Such oscillations pass through the detector, which suppresses half of these oscillations. This current is still vibrating much too fast for the telephone diaphragm to follow, but the successive impulses of current flow through the telephone receiver, and the impulses in any one group are all in the same direction so that their effects add and produce a motion of the diaphragm. The motion of this diaphragm causes sound waves which vary in pitch and intensity according to the rectified current passing through the windings of the receiver.

JORDAN BROTHERS HAVE BIG DISPLAY

"Mums" in Bloom and Many Other Well-Known Varieties.

Now that outdoor flowers are done for this season, a sight of the artificially grown blooms of the florist is somewhat of a treat. A visit to the well-kept greenhouses of Jordan Brothers recently was a revelation of the achievements reached in the flower raising business by a firm of successful growers. The first house seen brought an introduction to the propagating section, which had just yielded a crop of rooted cuttings and was clean and ready for the next batch. Adjoining was a bright spot, the centre benches full of "mums" in bloom, the varieties being cut now called Razor, Dolly Dimple, Golden Wedding, etc., with later varieties showing buds just ready to burst into their wealth of color. On the side benches, marigolds of very double form and a rich yellow awaited the lover of this color. Other houses were well filled with such popular plants as cinerarias, primroses, primulas, Christmas cherries, calceolarias, begonias, asparagus ferns, table ferns, and a grand lot of azaleas. All have a fine healthy appearance, and are either in full bloom or with buds just far enough developed to promise a fine showing for Christmas. The sweet pea bed, from which long stemmed beauties are being cut daily, was well worth the admiration it elicited.

But after all these had been looked over, the climax of quality and the pride of the whole establishment was shown in the cyclamen houses. Here over 1,000 magnificent plants are nursed and cared for, and show the evidence of it in the wonderful leaf formation and bud promise that assures the grower of a supply of this most popular Christmas plant, as fine as could be found anywhere. These have been produced from seedlings started about sixteen months ago, and the new crop which will take till this time in 1924 to develop, are also healthy looking youngsters.

The survey of the houses ended in the carnation house, where the winter crop of these beauties is most favorably forecasted. There did not appear to be a weak spot in the place. All the plants had a healthy, well-cared-for appearance that not only reflects credit on the staff of growers, but assures a fine supply of home-grown flowers for Peterboro householders this winter.

HEART WAS SO BAD HAD TO SIT UP IN BED

Mrs. O. E. Fitzgerald, 106 Ross St., St. Thomas, Ont., writes:—"In the Fall of 1921, I was taken ill with my heart, but I did not pay much attention to it. I kept on with my household duties, but seemed to become worse and worse, and finally had to call in a doctor. He said I was all run down and was a nervous wreck. I had a severe pain in my chest which would move over to my heart and it became so bad I could not lie down, as when I did I had such a smothering feeling I would have to sit up in bed till it passed away.

I tried several remedies, but with no good results. Finally, I was induced to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I took 7 boxes, and I am now as well as I was 30 years ago, and I am now 65 years old."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PUT ALTERNATIVES BEFORE THE U.F.O.

Three Plans Will Be Brought Before the Convention Next Month

TORONTO, Nov. 17. —(Canadian Press).—Whether the U.F.O. remains in politics as an organization, allows the clubs to act as local conditions warrant, or withdraws entirely from political activity will be decided at the annual convention next month.

Resolutions urging all three alternatives have been forwarded by various clubs in the province.

There are eleven resolutions dealing with politics.

The Cedar Row Club of Bolton, advocates the formation of a province wire political organization.

The York Road Club of Guelph is opposed to Mr. Drury's plan of broadening out and forming a third party "also we don't want him as leader of the U.F.O. in the local house."

From several clubs came resolutions urging the complete elimination of politics from U.F.O. activities.

From Haileybury Prof. John Sharp has forwarded a resolution urging that each electoral division be entirely free to decide on the lines of its own political action.

NO PAYMENTS TO BANK DEPOSITORS

Misunderstanding Arose Through Unofficial Advances by London Banks on Home Bank Deposits.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—(Canadian Press). — G. T. Clarkson, interim liquidator of the Home Bank, has been inundated with the question from the bank's depositors concerning the time of payment of a portion of their deposits. Because some banks in London, Ontario, took upon themselves to pay 25 per cent. of the Home Bank deposit, taking the depositors' claims as security, creditors in other places apparently concluded that payments were general.

Mr. Clarkson now makes it plain that no creditors can be paid anything from the bank's assets until after the general meeting on December 6th.

KICK IN BEER DROP IN GAS HELP COUNTRY

Sweden Rejoices Over the Drop in Price of Utilities For Winter and Increase of Pep in Beer.

SURPLUS EARNED.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 17 (Associated Press).—The old adage that troubles come not singly has been reversed in Sweden; at least, that is what the bulk of the population in Stockholm think. One day they learn that the charges for gas and electricity will be greatly reduced during the winter, the news that water rates also will be cut, and the third that beer is to be made stronger And all these reports are true.

The Swedish Riksdag has voted to permit the increase of the alcohol content in beer from 3.6 percent to 4 percent in volume, or from 2.8 percent to 3.2 percent by weight. Since Stockholm voted wet on last year's national referendum on prohibition, which was lost, there is general satisfaction in the new legislation. The consumption of hard liquors in Sweden, however, is steadily on the decrease, official reports showing that the total consumption in 1922 was 30 percent less than in 1920, and 42 percent less than in 1913.

The cutting of gas costs in Stockholm 25 percent lower than the present rate, and of electricity 12½ percent, to take effect at the end of this year, is the result of the profits earned by the Stockholm city gas and electrical plants during the past two years. Water rates, for the same reason, will be lowered four percent from the present schedule.

In announcing these reductions the administration of the municipal industrial reported that the three utilities of gas, electricity and water had earned a surplus last year of $3,400,000, and that present conditions indicate similar profits for this year. This gratifying success is due to rapidly increasing consumption on the one hand and a marked decrease in the cost of production on the other.

It is believed to be virtually impossible to find a man over 40 years old who has perfect eyesight.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

A new health cure is on the market. There are about thirteen millions of this cure in the United States. A leading automobile official is authority for the statement, that after a careful investigation, it has been found that the automobile is the cause for an increased lease on life.

In 1903, according to this official, the average life span in the United States was only 37.64 years. It has jumped to 48.66 years. "In this connection it is interesting to note that in 1903 there were only 10,850 automobiles in the United States. In 1913 when motor cars had increased to 161,500, the life span of the average person had advanced to 41.01 years. In the last ten years the motor car population has jumped to 13,002,427 and the national life emergency has risen 7.65 years." This would seem to indicate that the automobile is actually making life longer and happier, in automobile reasoning.

Now comes Dr. Chas. H. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., who states that cleanliness and intelligence are the great aids in avoiding infection and lengthening life. The boy of today has twelve years more coming to him than his grandfather did. Five more years could be added if every man and woman would undergo a rigid health examination when 40 years of age, and follow health rules.

Dr James B. Eagleson of Seattle says that medical science has advanced the span of life at least ten years during the last quarter century.

From the foregoing, it would be a matter of choice to decide the cause for increased longevity. If a large number who ride in automobiles don't worry too much about the upkeep and where the money is coming from to pay up the balance on the car, all well and good. It certainly takes them away from four walls into the open air and sunshine.

But if you are fair, fat and forty, look out for trouble, if automobile riding is all the health exercise you take.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

SUBSTANTIAL LUNCHEON DISHES

Now that canned vegetables must take the place of fresh ones "made" dishes of vegetables come into their own. These dishes are specially nice for luncheon as they are usually almost a meal in themselves.

Spanish rice is a hearty dish that might well form the principal food for a substantial noon-day meal. This with brown or whole wheat bread and butter, celery and a simple fruit dessert forms a well balanced meal that requires little time to prepare.

Spanish Rice

Two tablespoons bacon fat, 1 large onion, 2 cups canned tomatoes, ½ cup rice, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Wash rice thoroughly through several waters, rubbing it between the hands. Drain. Melt bacon fat in frying pan. Add onion, peeled and cut in thin slices. Cook until onion is a pale straw color. Add tomatoes and sprinkle over rice. Season with salt and pepper. Cover and cook slowly for an hour. If the rice becomes too dry before tender add a little boiling water. Stir to prevent sticking. Serve very hot. A Spanish onion is preferred, but two small, plain, ordinary onions can be used.

Mock Sausages

One-half cup dried lima beans, ½ cup fine dried bread crumbs, ¼ cup chopped peanuts, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Canned lima beans can be used in this recipe.

If dried ones are used, soak beans in cold water for three hours. Parboil in soda water for 10 minutes. Drain and rince in clear cold water. Boil in salted water until tender. Drain and use as canned limas. Rub beans through a strainer. Add bread crumbs, nuts, egg slightly beaten, butter, salt and pepper to bean pulp. Mix well and shape in the form of small sausages. Roll in bread crumbs and fry in a frying pan.

When canned vegetables such as beans, peas or asparagus are used they should be opened and rinsed in clear cold water.

Pea Souffle

Three tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 cup peas rubbed through strainer, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ tablespoon minced parsley.

Make a white sauce of butter, flour, milk and salt. Measure pulp of peas after rubbing through strainer. Add to white sauce. Beat whites and yolks of eggs separately. Add yolks beaten until thick and lemon colored to mixture. Add pepper and fold in whites beaten stiff and dry. Turn into a well buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven until firm to the touch. It will take from 30 to 40 minutes.

Asparagus in ramikins is used for dinner when the meat is light or as the main dish for luncheon.

Asparagus in Ramikins

One cup canned asaparagus, 2 hard boiled eggs, 1½ cups white sauce, 4s teaspoons grated cheese, 4 tablespoont grated bread crumbs, salt and pepper.

Cut asparagus into inch lengths. Put a layer of asparagus in each ramikin, add slices of hard-boiled egg and pour over white sauce to cover. Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and cheese and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven.

QUAKES CAUSED BY SHIFTING EARTH.

Low and High Lands Equalized by Moving, Finds Scientist.

(By HARRY B. HUNT)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Mountains are lighter than valleys. Submerged lands are heavier, per area, than the upland plains.

Such is the decision of William Bowie, chief of Uncle Sam's geodesy experts, whose job it is to study variations of gravity. It is the effort of old Mother Earth to adjust changing pressures, due to these varying weights, that causes earthquakes, he says.

Bowie pictures the earth's crust as a covering, approximately sixty miles thick, resting on a central mass which, instead of being molten, as generally believed, has at least the rigidity of steel.

This crust he conceives as a mass of vertical columns, comprising respectively mountains, plateaus, coastal plains and submerged lands. At a given time these are in a state of perfect equilibrium.

But natural changes disturb this equilibrium. Freezing and thawing, rainfall and melting snow erode and wash away hundreds of millions of tons from the mountains and highlands. These are carried out into the ocean and deposited as sediment on the ocean bed.

Slow Movement

This accumulating weight on the ocean bottom slowly forces the columns of crust downward. The compensating movement which must take place is an upward movement of the mountain column, carried through the solid central mass, which is plastic, to long-continued stresses, as is steel or glass.

Whenever quick shifts result, through some weakness or fault in the upper crust or between two chafing weight-columns, then there is an earthquake. Normally, however, the adjustment in weight proceeds slowly, plastically, without tremor, the result being that mountain, plateau and plain maintain apparently unchanging altitudes, being forced upward from below as they are worn away at the top. They are, Bowie says, simply floating on the central mass, the lighter columns floating highest, the heavier sections lower or submerged.

Every few millions of years, however, there comes a different readjustment, in which new continents and new mountain ranges are thrown up out of the ocean's depths and existing continents and mountains sink beneath the seas.

A submerged column, weighted down through the centuries by accumulating sediment, sometimes as much as 20,000 or 30,000 feet in depth, presses slowly downward into a zone of greater heat. The expansion which results finally culminates in an upheaval which throws up a whole new continent or mountain range.

Jap Quake "Slight"

"The Himalayas, the highest mouhtains in the world, were once below the sea," Bowie explains, citing the power of such subterranean expansion. "Nearly all mountain areas were at one time areas of heavy sedimentation. This process of heavy sedimentation is now going on at the mouth of the Congo, in the Indo-Gangetic region, and about the La Plata estuary."

The recent Japanese quake, Bowie contends, was not, scientifically speaking, of first magnitude.

"The public conception of an earthquake," he says, "gauges its intensity by the amount of damage done property and the number of lives lost. From that standard, the Japanese quake was severe But in actual violence and shifting of the earth's surface it was much lighter than the Chilean quake of a year ago or the Alaskan quake of 1902. That quake, which raised one side of Resurrection Bay, in the Yukatat region, between 30 and 40 feet vertically, was a vastly greater quake. But since it was in a sparsely inhabited region and caused little or no loss of life, it is remembered only by scientists.

TIRES SMOOTH ROUGH RIDING

Low Air Pressure Supplies Cushion Effect to Riding.

AKRON, O., Nov. 17.—If you have over run your tires low to cushion your body against road bumps, you will appreciate the latest tire innovation which some automobile manufacturers have already adopted.

It is the air-cushion, or balloon tire. This is a tire with large cross section, thin side walls and containing low air pressure. Its purpose is to produce better riding comfort without entailing a loss in any of the advantages already experienced in auto driving.

More than a year ago, this problem was taken in hand by the tire engineers of this city, with James E. Hale of the Firestone company one of the pioneers. They recognized that greater cushioning and protection against vibrations demanded lower air pressure. To have lower air pressure, and still support the same weight, required greater air chambers. Hence the larger cross section.

A 33 by 5 tire, for instance, is increased to a cross section of 7.3 inches. And the original pressure of 65 pounds is decreased to 35 pounds, to carry the same weight.

But the lower air pressure demanded greater flexibility of the tire carcass, especially the side walls, because of the greater road contact. The manyplied cord tire of today would be too stiff and would crack under such requirements.

Advantages of Cords

At the same time, it was recognized, lower air pressure lowered the bursting stresses on the carcass. Therefore a thinner wall with less plies of fabric was possible.

That was just what was wanted to produce greater flexibility and greater cushioning effect. Thus, the thin-walled, low-pressure, large-sectioned tire is just as effective against blowouts, and just as durable, as the more heavily constructed cord tire.

Hale is enthusiastic over the advantages the new tire affords. Because there is no necessity to slacken down for road bumps or ruts, he says, a higher average speed is practical with this than with the older form of tire.

"Road surface irregularities are toned down and almost obliterated," he explains. "Everything is cushioned so that there are no sharp shocks or jolts and one does not have to watch the road to put his body in a tense condition to get over the rough spots nor be worried about being tossed up from the seat. He does not have to pick out all the good places in a rouch road because it makes little difference whether he takes them or not.

Fuel Costs No Higher

"Chuck holes are not near so dangerous, the sharp jolt being softened because the wheels are brought more gradually to rest and the action absorbed. As for fuel consumption, tests have shown that the balloon tires take no more, if not less, than regular tires.

"Naturally, steering is affected to a degree at very low speeds, but under other conditions the new tires actually favor better control. In crossing street car tracks at a near-parallel angle there is no deflection; the reaction on the steering wheel from jolts and obstructions is also much less pronounced; while the soft, wide contact of the tires tends to keep them true without effort.

"Better control is also noticeable under difficult traffic conditions. The larger area of tread contact with the road, combined with the greatly increased lineal total of non-skid edges, gives excellent non-skid and traction results. In rough going this is particularly true because there is contact at all times, the tire being so flexible that it rolls and folds over rough surfaces maintaining a uniformly larger area of contact."

DISCOVERY OF NEWFOUNDLAND

Q.—When was Newfoundland discovered, and by whom?

A.—On August 4, 1583, Sir Humphrey Gilbert reached a "large triangular island, of irregular shape, about nine hundred miles round, with many harbors, but unfruitful soil, which he named Newfoundland; but it being Sunday he would not take possession of it—"in the name of Queen Elizabeth"—till the next day. And so the first Protestant service was held off the coast, and the flag raised, after that Sunday had been kept, now waves over all Canada."

CANADA'S FARTHEST NORTH SAW MILL

Q.—Where is Canada's farthest north saw mill?

A.—Canada's farthest north saw mill is operated by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Aklavik, on the delta of the Mcakenzie River. It was primarily purchased with the intention of squaring logs for new police posts in the Arctic, but lumber is also cut, and if the guardians of the North were to fill all the orders received, every Eskimo along the Arctic coast woud be possible customers.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant —children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out, and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

PORTRAITS MAY BE REINSTATED

Now That Breach in Liberal Party Has Been Healed.

LONDON, Nov. 17.— (Canadian Press Cable)—National Liberal Club the majority of whose members throughout the Liberal trials of last few years remained faithful to H. H. Asquith, possesses elaborate oil paintings of Lloyd George and Winston Churchill. When Asquith was virtually driven out of the Premiership, feeling ran so high in the club that both portraits were banished to the cellar. Now that Liberals are united, the matter of reinstatement of portraits will be considered by the club next week.

AN AWFUL ATTACK OF PIMPLES ALL OVER HIS FACE

Pimples breaking out on the face and other parts of the body is a sure sign that the blood is not in proper shape.

While the skin is the object of the attack the real seat of the disease is in the blood on account of the entire circulation being poisoned.

Burdock Blood Bitters quickly and effectually banishes pimples and all other skin diseases as it goes right to the root of the trouble by cleansing and enriching the blood.

Mr. Conad Anderson, Kelfield, Sask., writes:—"A year ago I had an awful attack of pimples. They broke out all over my face and I could not get rid of them in any way. One day a friend told me about your Burdock Blood Bitters and let me have a bottle he had to spare. After using it I noticed a change, so I bought three more bottles, and now I don't know there is such a thing as pimples."

CAPT. MACMILLAN SENT A MESSAGE BY RADIO RELAY.

From His Winter Quarters at North Greenland, in Forty-Eight Hours.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 17.—After completing a wide curve across Canada and back over the United States, a radio message from Captain Donald B. MacMillan in winter quarters at north Greenland was delivered forty-eight hours later to his secretary in Boston, through the traffic system of the American Radio Relay League.

The message was received here in the early morning by Boyd Phelps of the technical staff of the C. D. Tuska Co. Unable to work amateurs in Boston on account of approaching daylight, he gave the communication to Edwin Adams, advertising manage of "QST" who was leaving for that city in a few hours. Upon his arrival the latter delivered the North Pole message in person.

Due to peculiar atmospheric condition affecting reception, the routing of the message was through Jack Barnley's amateur station at Prince Rupert, B. C. and from thence to the station operated by Glenn West, 7ZU, at Polytechuic, Montana. He tried to give it to amateur station 9BAB without success, but luckily it was picked up by Phelps the first time it was sent.

Land of Maple Leaf and wild flower,
Scented breeze and summer shower,
Land where all are thriving.
All industrious like bees a-hiving?
Ye Land of winter snowy mantle,
Ye setters to the world example!
Land of plenty, sweet sanctuary,
For many an Eden as it should be.
Ye citizens, toilers of Mother Earth,
Excel each other, show your worth,
And then you're glad you're on the earth.

Here for that worker will always be,
Contentment and better, sweet liberty.
No dollards set moning,
But instead his scythe is bowning
To reap his grain, gather his grist,
From the wheatfields he must not be missed.
Those who wail, always fail!!!
The Canadian hustler he's advancing,
And his luck he's ever chancing.
Which spells for all "Excelsior."

CROP REPORT

The following is a summary of returns made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The present appearance of fall wheat is all that could be desired, except where sown too late. Reports of injury from Hessian fly or other insects are very scattering.

Fall plowing is well on in most districts, with the prospects of a week or so of opportunity in most sections to complete the job.

Root raising has been general during the present month although turnips have been delayed in some quarters owing to steady rains or the rush of other work.

Lincoln

The last of the peaches are being cleaned up at a price around 50c. per 6-qt. basket. Apples are plentiful and prices range from $1.25 to $2.25 per bushel, depending upon quality.

Kent

The Co-operative Potato Growers' Association is now distributing seed potatoes for next year. Four car loads of Irish Cobblers are coming into the country, three from Northern Ontario and one from New Brunswick. These are being sold to the Growers at $2.10 per bag.

The Dominion Sugar Company estimates that the quantity of beets being received at their Chatham and Wallaceburg plants this year will be in the neighborhood of 150,000 tons, which is 30,000 more than was received last year.

North Simcoe

The best feeders off grass are bringing only around 4c. per lb. Hogs are bringing 8c. on thick smooth basis. Six weeks old pigs are selling at $6.00 per pair.

Brant

Feeding cattle are being brought in now in quite large numbers, prices varying considerably depending on quality. The better cattle are running from 5 to 5½c. per lb. The Canadian Packing Plant at Brantford paid $8.75 for straight loads of hogs Monday of last week, while selects brought about 85c. more. This Plant reports an increase of about 10% of hogs coming to the factory as compared with a year ago. Just now little pigs are in greater demand than they have been for the past two weeks and are bringing about $10.00 per pair.

Peel

At a recent sale high-class grade Holsteins sold at from $125 to $150, one at $175.

Leeds

At an auction sale of pure-bred Ayrshires during the week, the highest price was $165.00 for fresh milch cows, while the average ranged around $100. The owner, apparently was quite satisfied with the prices received.

Carleton

A car load of steers from this County was recently shipped to the Old Country.

Manitoulin

Large numbers of cattle and sheep are being shipped. Cattle prices are very unsatisfactory, as farmers are not able to realize very much out of cattle and are in such a position that they are forced to sell for what they can get. Good steers are bringing around $40.00 which leaves the young stock and thin cattle going very cheap. Lambs, however, are selling quite satisfactorily; farmers are receiving $9.25 to $9.60 per cwt.

Algoma

In some localities there is a tendency to reduce the number of cattle to be carried through the winter. Five carloads of cattle and lambs were shipped to Toronto last week. Prices, beef 4½c. to 6¼c. per pound; Lamb sold as high as $15.00.

Hastings

Greater interest is being taken in the production of bacon type hogs. In the past our farmers have paid very little attention to the type of hogs being bred. Plans are now under way in the County for the organization of bacon hogs clubs, and many farmers have inquired regarding the supplying of purebred boars of bacon breeds.

Bruce

During the past week over 1,400 hogs were shipped on graded basis from various points in this County. Forty per cent of these graded selects, 42% thick smooths and the balance were shops, lights and heavies. The best quality of hogs were shipped from Lucknow, Elmwood and Walkerton.

Lennox and Addington

Farmers and poultrymen are crate-fattening a large number of birds for the Napanee Poultry Fair on November 28th and 29th. The extra price per pound received for crate fattened birds over stall and range birds at the Poultry Fair last year has been the means of influencing the people to crate fatten.

SHERIFF PROTECTS MURDERER OF FOUR

KELLIHER, Minn., Nov. 17. — (Canadian Press). — Leonard Portano, who shot four persons to death in a quarrel over a fifteen-year-old girl, near here, on Thursday, was captured three or four miles from this place last night. It is said that the sheriff who has Portano in charge is being pursued by armed men, bound on lynching the murderer.

WORK-WORN WOMEN

Care of Home and Children Often Causes a Breakdown

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her. No wonder the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and relief at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one way to get this good blood so necessary to health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These enrich the blood, and through their use many weak, ailing wives and mothers have been benefitted. If you are ailing, easily tired or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

REDUCE PAY SCALE OF BRITISH ARMY.

Committee of Three Recommends a General Reduction Below Rank of Colonel.

LONDON, Nov. 17 (Associated Press) —The drums of war having ceased to beat, Tommy Atk'ns is going to have his pay reduced. So are the sergeants and subalterns and captains and even majors in His Majesty's Army. The colonels and generals, however, will continue to draw their present salaries.

One of the members of the committee of three which recommended the reductions is a general. The committee said it did not think any of the services err on the side of paying their best men too much. The other two members of the committee are knighted civilians.

It is far from certain that these recommendations will be carried out to the letter. For one thing, there will be a long and loud protest raised against lower pay, but it is probable that, to some extent, the proposed reductions will be put in force.

Privates now receive two shillings and nine pence a day to start on. The committee would reduce this to 1s 6d. Subalterns, whose rank is comparable to second lieutenants in the American Army, receive 13 shillings a day, which the committee would drop to 11 shillings. A captain's pay of 23s 6d would be cut to 21 shillings. Reductions in the navy and the air forces also are proposed, but only for those ranking below commanders.

The committee declares that the pay of an infantry recruit and of an ordinary seaman has increased 175 percent and 167 percent, respectively, above the scale of 1914. Before the war Tommy Atkins got less money than agricultural, engineering and building laborers, but now he receives considerably more. That is one of the chief arguments used by the committee.

The committee recommended also that the lower ranking workers in the civil service toil eight hours a day instead of seven. Their bosses, however, are not asked to extend their working hours.

WOMAN'S HEROISM BALKED BANDITS

Presence of Mind of Telephone Operator With 1,300 Lines Cut, Saved Town.

HOOPSTOWN, Ill., Nov. 17.—The heroism and presence of mind of Mrs. Addie Farrell, night operator at the local telephone exchange, yesterday saved this city from an organized bandit raid.

Nine yeggs, in two automobiles, swooped down on the town shortly after midnight, cut 1,300 telephone lines, and started to blow the safes in the two banks and the post office.

When her lines were cut, Mrs. Farrell realized immediately that something was wrong, and she turned in a general fire alarm, which brought crowds of citizens to the street.

The telephone operator remained at her post while a clanging fire bell brought half the town's population into the streets.

Pyjama-clad citizens joined firemen, nightwatchmen and the town police in a dash on the robbers.

Several men even managed to get between the yeggs and their automobiles, but the bandits brandished revolvers and the night-shirted citizens retreated.

The men finally escaped toward wooded hills.

MESSAGES PICKED UP WERE DENIED.

Report Picked Up By An Amateur From Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic Explorer, Is Untrue.

TOPSHAM, Me., Nov. 17.—Erroneous reports circulated recently throughout the middle west to the effect that a message had been received by an amateur from Captain Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, stating that his vessel the Bowdoin, now in winter quarters near Refuge Harbor, was gradually being crushed by ice, were denied in a radio message picked up here today by L. L. Hamilton of this place, member of the American Radio Relay League.

In the message Captain MacMillan branded as untrue the account that his ship was in great danger from crushing by ice floes. On the contrary, all was well on the Bowdoin and the crew was even then preparing for a birthday celebration. Two of the Eskimo had gone south and they were expected to return with many others.

COGNAWAGAS GAVE A SECOND PERFORMANCE.

The Cognawaga Athletic Club of St. James' Methodist Church gave a second performance last evening of the play, "A Deacon's Tribulations." The Sunday School Hall was again filled with a large and appreciative audience, who enjoyed the performance. There was the same cast of characters, with some added features; but with greater confidence they acted their parts, and the second performance was even better than the first.

Much credit is due to Mr. Wagar who so carefully coached them in training, and to Mr. Shadgett, who painted the scenic decorations.

LAST STRETCHES OF COLORADO CANYON SURVEYED BY DARING PARTY RECENTLY WHO PLAYED WITH DEATH IN TORRENTS

Climbing on Waves Twenty Feet High Or Plunging Into Pit-Like Troughs—Boats Leaped to Throw Passengers Overboard — Torrential Rains Increased Danger.

SCIENTIFIC SURVEY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—Shooting stern-first in small boats through boiling, swirling rapids between sheer walls—

Plunging into seething reaches of river where the waters, dashing madly against rocks, were lashed into waves 40 to 50 feet high—

Riding boats that lunged like frenzied bronchos, sometimes being hurled overboard, sometimes capsized, always facing danger and often death but going steadily ahead—

Such is the story brought to Washington by the government party which surveyed the last uncharted stretch of the Canyon of the Colorado.

Rains Increase Danger

The party, headed by Col. C. H. Birdseye of the Geological Survey; E. C. La Rue, hydraulic engineer, and R. W. Burchard, topographic engineer, started from Lee's Ferry, in extreme north central Arizona, Aug. 1. Last Chance Rapids, 252 miles below, was reached Oct. 13.

Meantime, torrential rains in the mountains raised the Colorado to flood stage. Grave fears were felt for the safety of the explorers and a searching party was sent out from Needles, Calif. But despite hardships and dangers, not one life was lost, and the only injury of note was a broken rib.

At first, portages were made wherever possible past the worst portions of rapids. At Soap Creek Rapids, for instance, they got the boats over the rocks for about 100 yards and into an eddy below the main rapid.

"However," says Colonel Birdseye, "we might have got through safely without portage, as we ran worse rapids later. It was man-killing work to portage the heavy wooden boats here.

Recovers Boat

"At noon on Aug. 4, we reached a rapid that lay between vertical cliffs which rose directly from the water, so that there was no foothold for portage and no chance even to look the rapids over and form a plan to run them.

"We called these the 'Sheer-wall Rapids,' and we made them safely, though everybody got wet. We ran such rapids with the boat stern first, in order to steer better. We put on life jackets and lay face down in the boats, clinging to the lifelines that were stretched across the deck.

"The waves seemed mountainous, and to most of us this was a thriller. But we afterward became so used to riding rough water that we vied with one another to make the plunge with lighted pipe or cigaret without losing the light."

Frank B. Dodge, expert boatman who accompanied the party largely in the role of emergency lifesaver, in making one rapid in the canvas canoe upset in one of the swirls, but he swam out, dragging the boat with him and righted it without help.

"On Aug. 10," Birdseye recounts, "the boatmen of the party ran the little fleet of four boats through Boulder Rapids while the more conservative members picked their way through the boulders.

"H. E. Blake, one of the boatmen, was hurled completely out of his boat, turning a complete somersault and going completely out of sight. But he soon reappeared and caught his boat, climbed in and paddled on through the rapids.

Surveyors Busy

"All this time the real mission of the expedition was never forgotten.

"All along the course the surveying instruments were set up, observations and photographs taken in furtherance of the scientific ends of the trip, an accurate survey of the canyon and location of dam sites for flood prevention, power development and irrigation.

"This often forced extra dangers, as at Granite Gorge, where great difficulty was experienced in getting a footing for instrument and rod stations.

"In spite of the steep walls and swift water, though, the survey line was carried through without a break, the surveyors often clinging perilously to small projections just above the swirling water to make their sights.

"At some places, no foothold for walking could be found; for the canyon walls rose straight from the torrent. Then the whole party had to shoot through on the boats together and take the chances.

Scraping Boulders

"At the dreaded Sockdolger Rapids, where the waves ran about 20 feet from trough to crest, all had to take to the boats. The Hermit Creek Rapids were among the roughest. The boats tossed about like corks on the huge waves, many of which broke over them."

Sept. 8, in running a cataract no preceding party had ever made, Kolb grazed a rock and lost an oar, but managed to pull through. Freeman, the next man to run ,struck a rock on which his boat seemed to hang for a moment, the stern of the boat being badly smashed.

It was Sept. 18, after camp had been made on a sandbar below Lava Falls, that the record rise in the river, which occasioned national alarm for the safety of the party, set in.

No one expected a rise of more than five or six feet. But time after time during the night the boats had to be dragged higher and higher up a shelving shore of limestone. At one time block and tackle had to be used to drag one of the boats to safety.

Felix Arises Early

Felix, the cook, who went to bed 10 feet above the water, was flooded out at midnight. His pals had to rescue his bed and clothes.

During the night the beds and the cook's outfit had to be moved three times. Before the recession set in the river had risen no less than 21 feet.

At Separation Rapids, where the sheer walls forced everyone to ride, Kolb, Blake and Lint ran their boats safely, but the deckloads made the boats topheavy and they danced like corks, even after the cockpits were filled with water.

Freeman ran last, with La Rue and Moore clinging to the hatches.

Exciting Moments

"They had the thrill of their lives," Birdseye says, "for the huge waves tossed the boat into the air and when it came down, bottom side up, they were thrown out between the boat and the rocks on the bank, La Rue narrowly escaping being crushed.

"Freeman dived clear of the boat and came up a few yards from it, where he caught a rope. Blake and Dodge pushed out in their boat and hauled the men aboard. Freeman and Moore, holding hard to the upturned boat, towed it to quieter waters and righted it. All loose articles, such as hats, pipes and glasses were lost."

Such were the daily experiences, almost, for more than two months, of this little band of nine men who blazed the path of science through the heretofore uncharted course of one of our great rivers.

This is the intrepid surveying party that charted the Grand Canyon. Top picture shows, from left to right, Lint, Blake, Word, Colonel Birdseye (Chief of the party), Moore, Burchard, La Rue, Freeman and Kolb. Lower left, beaching the boat, Marble, for repairs, and lower right, skidding a boat over the rocks at the head of Soap Creek Rapids.

RADIO MAN OFFERS A DERBY AS PRIZE.

Kenneth B. Warner Is Becoming the Owner of the Strangest Outfit of Clothing in the World.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 17.—At the start of the fourth series of trans-Atlantic amateur radio tests, Kenneth B. Warner, secretary of the American Radio Relay League and editor of "QST" is in a fair way of becoming the owner of the strongest outfit of clothing in the world; all because of wagers with a radio man in England.

The outfit has been coming in piecemeal with each new record made by American amateurs in transoceanic transmitting tests; first a high felt hat that would do credit to a cartoon of a missionary being lifted by savages into a boiling kettle and now a beautiful Firth "Avenoo" curved handled cane, an ultra modern twirler!

The hat was shipped across the water by W. W. Burnham, the British participant in the wagers after American hams had landed their signals in Continental Europe and now comes the cane, which was the tribute exacted when ten amateurs in this country succeeded in picking up signals from foreign transmitters.

It is perhaps fortunate that Mr. Warner has never appeared in public wearing the English hat, except at amateur radio conventions where its significance is appreciated. The combination styl c has made of it a top-piece unique in itself and one that will live long in amateur history.

The secretary of the league is now contemplating a new wager with the English radio fan which will be one more step toward the completion of the international costume. It has been suggested that a frock coat would be in order, or a pair of striped trousers, the stripes being red, white and blue.

In this connedtion Mr. Warner wished to have it clearly understood such a wager has nothing to do with his offer of a brown derby to the first American amateur that establishes two-way communication between the continents.

THAT HANG-ON COUGH MUST GO

Home Made Cough Mixture Best of all for the Cough that Sticks.

MAKE IT YOURSELF IN TWO MINUTES

The coughing season is on and every home should have a supply of the best cough remedy to be had, and as you can make this supremely excellent cough mixture yourself why pay high prices for the common kind.

Get from any druggist one ounce of Parmint (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one half pint—that's all there is to it.

Then when any member of the family starts coughing or catches cold in chest or head, or has acute catarrh, you are prepared as you should be.

And the children love to take it. With speed almost beyond belief, this home made cough mixture stops the toughest hang-on cough, and all because in it there is a substance (too costly for ordinary cough syrups) that immediately covers the membrane like a soothing, healing poultice, and blessed relief comes at once.

And you should also bear in mind that any remedy that overcomes catarrh, partially or wholly, is bound to be of benefit to those who are troubled with head noises and catarrhal deafness.

Get Parmint and get better.

INSURE PARCELS TO OLD COUNTRY

Parcel Post Insurance in Operation for Two Years

The insurance of parcel post within Canada has been in operation for two years and has been working out satisfactorily. During the first year 3,000,000 parcels were insured and $40,000 was paid in compensation. The second year of operation has shown an increase in the number of parcels mailed, while the losses have decreased.

The extension of the system to the United States followed the Postal Conference with that country in December 1922. The service with the United States is giving every satisfaction.

Following the policy of giving the public every possible postal facility negotiations have been conducted with the British Post Office with a view to establishing an insurance of parcel post system between the two countries. These negotiations have resulted in the establishment of the service dating from November 15th 1923. The same regulations apply as apply to parcels for delivery within Canada, with the exception that the scale of insurance fee will be as follows:—

12c for insurance not exceeding $50.
30c for insurance exceeding $50 and not exceeding $100.

Undoubtedly, this latest extension of the service will be of great advantage to persons mailing parcels to Great Britain. They will be afforded an opportunity to protect themselves against loss up to $100 at a very moderate fee.

The public should take full advantage of this extension of the post office insurance system and insure all parcels for Great Britain.

The number of Insured parcels received at the Local Post Office is increasing each month.

Bronchitis Yields to Vicks

Mr. Leo Berrigan, Dunedin, Prince Edward Island, says: "During the winter months I was always troubled with bronchitis and tried many preparations to relieve the trouble. None were successful until I tried Vicks VapoRub. It gives relief in a very short time after application and I can honestly advise sufferers from bronchitis to use this salve."

By invitation of the manufacturers, fifty thousand families in Canada tried Vicks for cold troubles, the only condition being that they would report results. The above is just one of the many enthusiastic reports received.

Vicks VapoRub comes in salve form, and for chest colds, you just apply it over the throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases vapors that are inhaled all night long into the throat and lungs—Menthol, Camphor, Thyme, Eucalyptus and Turpentine.

Vicks is also absorbed through and stimulates the skin, aiding the vapors to relieve congestion. Usually colds go in one night and croup is commonly relieved in 15 minutes.

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul St. W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

BLISS CARMAN TO VISIT PETERBORO

Teachers' Association Is Bringing Noted Poet Here on Thursday Next.

On Thursday evening next, November 22nd the citizens of Peterborough will have the opportunity of hearing and see Bliss Carman, Canada's greatest living poet.

The poet is making a transcontinental tour of Canada giving interpretive reading of his own poems. He has delighted his audiences wherever he has been and his tour is proving a great success. In several Ontario cities he has been asked to return for a second meeting so desirious are the people of hearing him.

It is to be hoped that he will be greeted by a large audience on his visit to Peterborough. He comes under the auspices of the Teachers' Association and tickets may be procured from any of the Public of Separate School teachers. The meeting is to be held in the Assembly Room of the Collegiate Institute and begins promptly at 8 p.m.

SUNDAY'S SINGER TRAVELS WORLD

Songs of the Evangelist Are Getting Across in All Foreign Countries.

By CLARENCE DUBOSE.

TOKYO, Nov. 17.—(United Press).—Billy Sunday's songs are now getting across in Japanese, Chinese, Javanese, Siamese, Burmese—and almost any other "ese" you can think of from Suez to Siberia.

This performance is being accomplished by Homer Rodehevers Billy Sunday'e famous choir leader. Rodehever was here recently with a small group of religious workers who are on a sort of free-lance round-the-world missionary tour. They pay their own way. They are working for no particular church or board. They wanted to see the world so they're just singing and preaching and praying around the globe—with especial attention to the Orient.

In Japan China Siam, Java, Ceylon, Egypt, and so on, Rodehever has, or will, make phonograph records in the languages of each country, of "Brighten the Corner Where You Are," and all his Billy Sunday favor the Gospel songs.

Also in each country Rodehever is looking for a native with a good voice, a lot of pep, a Christian slant on things—and an ambition to sing like Homer Rodehever. All such material found by Rodehever will be sent to America, trained and returned to their native lands to be the Billy Sunday choir leaders of their home country.

Wouldn't "Get" Sunday.

"No, I don't think Billy himself will come out," said Rodehever. "As a matter of fact, I am afraid it would be hard to translate his slang into Japanese, Chinese and other Oriental languages. But I want him to go to Australia. I think they'd get his stuff there."

Rodehever found in Tokyo a young Japanese, U. Nakada, whom he intends to make the "Rodehever of Japan." Nakada is a fledging preacher, son of a veteran Japanese minister, Juji Nakada, who has established 80 Christian churches here. "Nakada is going to be a better Christian singer some day than I have ever been," said Rodehever. "I hope I can find as good material in all the other Oriental countries."

Rodehever is accompanied by his brother, Dr. J. N. Rodehever, Chicago, preacher and lecturer; Dr. W. E. Biederwolf, Monticello, Ind., noted evangelist; Miss Grace Saxe, Denver, Bible teacher, and Miss Florence Hay, Erie, Pa., artist, who illustrates with quick impromptu drawings the Bible stories as Miss Saxe tells them.

This "free-lance missionary team" is appearing in Christian churches, native and foreign, throughout the Orient, and bearing their own expenses.

Oh, yes! Rodehever plays his trombone, too. It makes a big hit everywhere.

LETTER SYSTEM FOR COUNTRIES.

Eleven Countries Are Represented in Plan to Be Used at Midnight on December 15th.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 17.—Looking forward to the time when radio amateurs of all nations will communicate with one another as easily as do amateurs in the several states of our own country, the American Radio Relay League through its Assistant Secretary Charles A. Service has prepared an international amateur call letter plan, that is to be launched for trial on midnight, December 15th, of this year.

By this is meant a system of intermediates to be inserted between the call of the station addressed and the station sending, definitely locating the stations according to their respective countries. The plan has been so simplified that, in most instances, the initials of the various countries are used for this intermediate sign. For example, if French 8AB was calling Canadian 3BP he would send "3BP 3BP 3BP de 8AB 8AB 8AB k" and the answer would come back with the intermediate letters reversed 8AB 8AB 8AB fc 3BP 3BP 3BP k."

An arrangement of this kind has been long in vogue among amateurs on either side of the Canadian border, but then it was not thought that international communication would become common in so short a time. Since the plan involves all countries that have radio amateurs, it was not accepted by officers of the league until eleven different nations, representing hundreds of foreign amateurs, had been scoured and a huge pile of correspondence carefully tabulated. It was agreed that a feasible working plan ought to cover these points:

"Should not increase the length of the calling now used between amateurs of various countries.

"Should make identification, both of call and nationality, reasonably sure.

"Should not employ arbitrary signals.

"Must be capable of use by amateurs of all nations.

"Nust identify amateurs of the same country working each other, when heard by amateurs of another country.

"Should take care of present and future requirements for several years, or until such time as the next International Radio telegraphic convention meets and assigns a better scheme on the basis of the present commercial assignment of calls."

Whenever possible the initials of the various countries have been selected as the intermediate, but when conflicts have occurred, arbitrary initials have been selected, phonetically suggestive of the country, which makes it ahtat mu easier. They are:

A—Australia; B—British Isles; C—Canada; I—Italy; M—Mexico; N—Netherlands; O—South Africa (the exception; P—Portugal; Q—Cuba (phonetic); R—Argentine (phonetic); S—Spain; U—United States; Z—New Zealand.

This arrangement leaves twelve letters which may be assigned when amateurs become active in other countries. Amateurs are advised, when calling another amateur in their own country, to insert between the two-station calls the initial of that country, so that listeners in other nations may identify the operator sending.

UNION STATION OPEN NEXT YEAR

Sir Henry Thornton and E. W. Beatty Prophesy Bright Era for Toronto

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 17. — (Canadian Press).—The new Union Station open to handle traffic for Canadian National Exhibition of next year, such was the possibility expressed last night by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, should the City of Toronto accept the grade separation proposals made yesterday.

E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, put the same idea in slightly different words. "I should say ten months," was his estimate of the time necessary to see Toronto in full possession of the New Station. Both Presidents seem convinced that their scheme offers a far more suitable answer to the Toronto water front problem outlined by 1913 agreement.

"I am looking toward the future," said Sir Henry Thornton. 'That time is surely coming when the St. Lawrence deep water traffic will add to the lake shipping in making Toronto a port of very considerable magnitude."

FOUR THOUSAND TELEPHONES IN OPERATION NOW

Large Sum of Money Spent in Peterborough by Bell Telephone Company.

CALL TO CALIFORNIA

The four-thousand mark in Peterborough's telephone service has now been reached. There are that many telephone instruments attached to walls desks and tables throughout the city and districts up to date, and ever their four thousand sets of wires and through their four thousand black receivers go every day an average of 23,000 local calls. If every man, woman and child in the city decided to use a telephone once a day there would hardly be a greater total rolled up.

During each day also there is an average number of 400 long distance calls put through, with a staff of 68 employees working constantly to keep the telephoning public in communication with each other.

Five years ago, in November of 1918 there were 2760 telephones installed in Peterborough, and the increase reckons up in round figures, since then to just about 248 new telephones per year, or one for nearly every working day.

This year the local Bell Telephones office spent $56,000 in the laying of extension lines and cabes.

A notable achievement a few days ago was the putting through success fully this week a long-distance call to Pasadena, California, a distance of 3700 miles in route measurement.

TWO BARNS LOST AT FRASERVILLE

Spark From Blower of Threshing Machine Believed to Be Cause.

FRASERVILLE, Nov. 17.— Two barns owned by William Clark, about a mile south-east of Fraserville, and a threshing machine, the property of Sidney Todd, were destroyed by fire last night.

At about 10 p.m., when straw was being put in the mow, flames suddenly burst from the blower and quickly spread.

Sidney Todd, endeavoring to save the valuable threshing machine, was almost trapped by the flames and was compelled to jump from the barn door at a height of 15 feet.

It is thought that the fire may have been caused by a spark from a stone in the blower.

The loss, it is reported, is covered by insurance.

"Help the Veterans"

Try this new patience you may win 1st prize

$55,555.00

Enter the Poster-Judging Competition which is being conducted in Canada for the benefit of the Veterans' Associations, and to which BOVRIL Limited has donated prizes totalling about $140,000.00 (£30,000).

These are divided in 2,003 prizes, each of the first three being really a fortune in itself—

1st	Prize,	$55,555.00
2nd	"	13,888.00
3rd	"	4,555.00

To play this game send a donation of $1.20 for a ticket-folder.

On this folder sixteen of the most celebrated posters of the Bovril Co. are reproduced in full colors. Which are the 12 best, in order of merit, is what you must decide. The folder shows just what you must do and how to do it.

It is a fascinating trial of taste and judgment to class these posters in the order which popular fancy will endorse. It is a real game which can be played over and over again, and in which all the family can join and which will interest visitors, be they young or old.

And just think of the possible reward? A Prize which is a real fortune—and you help an excellent cause.

You can make as many trials as you like—every donation of $1.20 entitles you to a folder, thus $12.00 secures 10 folders—though only one prize will be given to one person.

TRIPLE HEADER AT THE Y.W.C.A.

Bonner-Worth Team Won From the Normalites

The first of the series of basketball games to be played during the season in the City Basketball League were played in a triple header at the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium last evening before a good crowd, with the Bonner-Worth team winning from the Normalites by default, the De Lavals beating the Quakers by a score of 40-4, and the Y. W. C. A. team piling up a total of 57-12 against the C.G.E. team. Miss C. Littlefield and W. M. Perks, of the De Laval staff, acted as referees. The good combination work of both the Y.W.C.A. and the De Laval teams proved the undoing of their rivals.

The new Intercollegiate rules were used and found to be very satisfactory, giving excellent scope for team work.

The series will be continued during Friday evenings in the Y. W. C. A. gym.

The Y.W.C.A. line-up included the following players: Dr. Phyllis Young and Gertrude Gimblett, forwards; Florence Thompson, spare; Mildred Sisson and Eva Outram, centre; Thelma Paxman, spare; Hazel Jackson and Carrie Cruikshank, defence; Irene Chambers, spare. De Lavals — Gertrude Kirn and E. Forrester, forwards; M. Kirn and B. Meredith, centre; M. Archambault and Verda Graham, defence. Quakers—Myrtle Frost and Lily Naish, forwards; M. Whalen and L. Wilson, centre; Mrs. Curtis and Lois Edwards, defence; Alice Hawkins, spare.

FALL OVER CLIFF KILLED A HUNTER

Body Found After Several Days Search — Didn't Notice Drop.

RENFREW Ont. Nov. 17.—Canadian Press.—The season's first hunting fatality in these parts was recorded yesterday when after several days search, the body of John Pulcheski resident of this town, was discovered at the foot of a rocky cliff.

Early in the week, Pulcheski, together with three neighbors entered the woods above here each hunter taking an individual route.

When Pulcheski failed to meet at the point agreed on, search was instituted. He was blind in one eye and it is thought that he failed to notice the sharp drop in the trail, over which he fell to his death.

FRIDAY MEETING AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Last Night's Attendance Taxed Capacity of Hall

The Friday evening meeting of the Y.M.C.A. members continues to grow in interest and attendance, the dining-room accommodation being taxed to capacity. A splendid address was given by Mr. Joseph Wearing on "Our Responsibility to the World." A considerable number of the Kingston Collegiate rugby team were the guests of the Association.

Next Friday Mr. F. V. Slack, the National Student secretary of India and Ceylon, will be the speaker. Mr. Slack is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. Those desiring to hear Mr. Slack are asked to make reservations early, as the accommodation limits the number who may be arranged for.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Will you kindly allow me a small space in your paper. In reading over the list of Peterborough city men who laid down their lives in the Great War, I find several names missing, of boys who went over with and fell with Major Bennett Why were their names omitted?

It is hurtful to a child looking for its dad's name, or a brother's, and also to a mother looking for her son's name.

I think at a time like this all the names should be mentioned, or none at all.—Yours,

A Soldier's Mother.....

Editor.—In publishing the list of names in connection with the above, The Examiner made use of the only available list in the city. To get an accurate list of several hundred names of men who left Peterborough at frequent intervals, extending over a period of five years, is almost an impossibility, and The Examiner realised this when it published the list.

LEVIATHAN TO BE TIED UP..

Slackness of Travel and Trouble with Turbines Given as Cause.

New York, November 17. — The mammoth United States liner Leviathan will be laid up for three months after completing her present trip and one other, it was learned on good authority to-day. Officials of the United States lines refused to comment on the report.

The Leviathan will get a complete overhauling at one of the piers in Hoboken. Early in February she will go to Boston where she will go into dry dock for scraping. It is understod that the troubles with her turbines has not been satisfactorily repaired, and this coupled with the slackness of winter travel, led officials of the line to order her taken off the service until spring.

PRESENTATION TO MR. WILLIAM BARRY

Last evening, at the regular meeting of Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, A.F. and A.M., a presentation of a Shriner's jewel was made to Bro. William H. Barry, whose departure from the city takes place this month.

Although Mr. Barry is not a member of the Corinthian Lodge, his services, both professional and musical, have always been at the disposal of that society, and the Master, F. L. Roy, when presenting the emblem, expressed the hearty appreciation of the organisation in a few well-chosen words, referring to the generous support always received from Bro. Barry.

CANADIAN LABOR WOMAN INVITED TO ENGLAND

HAMILTON, November 17 (Canadian Press). — Miss Mary McNab, first vice-president of the Ontario Labour Party, and executive member of the Ontario Branch of the Canadian Labour Party, has been invited to speak for the Labour candidates during the British general election. Miss McNab will advise the Islington branch of the Labour Party of her inability to visit England.

KIWANIS REVUE A GOOD PRODUCTION

Mr. M. B. Chenhall Sparing No Pains or Effort in Production.

"The Garden of the Shah," the Kiwanis revue to be produced in the Grand Opera House on Tuesday and Wednesda, nights of next week, under the direction of Mr. Martin B. Chenhall, promises to be one of the musical events of the season.

With a double bill, presenting musical numbers and romance in two entirely different settings, one staged in the dusky South, the other in the languorous, perfumed East, the bright offering which will be this year's Kiwanis contribution to amateur entertainment in Peterborough, is certain to be very worth while.

Mr. Chenhall is sparing no pains or effort to bring the cast up to a pitch of perfection, and is giving much of his time to directing and coaching their practices, while experts in the dancing line are overlooking the choral numbers, which add so much to the plot.

The cast includes many names well know in Peterborough's musical circles. Miss Ernestine McManus has the stellar role in the Southern revue, which opens the programme, and Miss Mathilde Masson, with Miss Greta LeBarr, and Mrs. Walter Byers, who does some good work in both the singing and dancing line, are noticeable in "The Garden of the Shah."

Costumes and scenery and musical numbers alike are calculated to enhance the effect desired, in both sections. Every member of the cast is reported to be working hard to make the production memorable.

GASP SAVES MAN'S LIFE.

Lung Collapses and Is Out of Circular Saw's Path.

ST. CLAIRVILLE, O., Nov. 17.—Falling against a circular saw while at work near Piney Fork, Oscar Pupil was saved from fatal injury because he let his breath go, collapsing his lungs as the saw tore through his collarbone and every rib on his left side, a cording to Dr. R. H. Wilson, of the Martin's Ferry Hospital.

The fact that he gasped "Oh!" when he stumbled against the blade is thought to have forced all the air from the lung, which, collapsing, was out of the saw's path. The ribs and muscles were sewed together. Mrs. Pupil is in the hospital with her husband. She was operated on two weeks ago.

AVERT BREAK

In such a new alignment of the nations of Europe, France would have the support of Belgium, and Britain evidently can count on the support of Italy, judging from the speech made by Premier Mussolini in the Italian Chamber.

Mussolini, while stating that he did not want a break with France said plainly that Italy could not stand by and see the German people destroyed by further encroachments upon their territory.

Pertinex, the French political writer, in commenting on the adjournment of the Council of Ambassadors said Britain favored control of the German armaments by small allied forces, but that such small forces would be inefficient, Britain he said, was unable to spare the troops for enforcement of the allied control.

"In such circumstances," he wrote, "let England support our policy in the Ruhr and reinforce France's need for security and protection. Thus France would abstain from taking fresh military action against Germany at any moment."

London Hopeful.

Strong efforts are being made over the week end on both sides of the channel to preserve the integrity of the Franco-British alliance, says a London despatch.

There are indications at the Foreign Office to-day that France was changing her attitude to some of her threatening penalties against Germany in the event of failure to give up the ex-Crown Prince and permit the inter-allied military control to resume its interrupted investigation of German armamens.

Premier Poincare appears now to be willing to confine action regarding Frederick William to a firm letter of protest to Chancellor Stresseman for allowing the return of the Kaiser's heir and the exaction of a pledge from the German government that he will not become politically active there.

Paris Expects a Break.

The British Cabinet is seemigly not ready to give the final word to Lord Crewe, the British Ambassador, as to its position on the application of further penalties upon Germany, says a despatch from Paris. The efforts which will be made meanwhile to prevent a break are regarded in political circles here as unlikely to be successful, the French and British governments being too far apart, it is thought, to make an agreement.

"CASCARETS" BEST BOWEL LAXATIVE

10 Cents a Box! Don't Stay Bilious Sick, Headachy, Constipated

PROMINENCE TO FRENCH CRISIS

Election News Gives Way to Break Between Britain and France.

LONDON, Nov. 17. — (United Press.)—Despite the pressure of election news, London newspapers give great prominence to the crisis between Britain and France. The speech of Premier Mussolini, indicating support of Britain, is emphasized.

"Italy backs British policy," said the headlines. "Mussolini refuses to allow France to destroy Germany."

This news offset the distinct pessimism caused by previous reports of Premier Poincare's speech.

Italy Opposed.

Premier Mussolini, in an address to the Senate, went flatly on record as opposed to further occupations of German soil and any demand on Germany for the surrender of the former Crown Prince.

"I must say the Italian government could not approve the additional occupation of German territory," said Mullolini. "We must not think of destroying the German people which has our own civilization and will to-morrow be an integral part of European civilization."

As instances of Italian-British collaboration, he cited their stand on Secretary Hughes' proposal for an examination of Germany's capacity to pay.

HIGHWAYMEN GET BIG HAUL

Hold Up Paymasters and Take $10,000—Few Seconds Work.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 17. — Bandits this morning held up the paymasters of Lowneys, Ltd., on William Street, and robbed them of $10,000.

The two paymasters had just arrived at the main entrance of the plant of Walter M. Lowney and Co., cocoa manufacturers, when a touring car bearing a Rhode Island license plate, drove up.

Four men leaped out and thrust revolvers in faces of the paymasters, seized the bag containing the money they had secured from the bank and vanished in a blaze of crackling pistol shots.

The hold-up was only a matter of seconds.

DOMINION TRADE SHOWS INCREASE $173,000,000

OTTAWA, Nov. 17. — (Canadian Press).—There was an increase of nearly $173,000,000 in the total trade of the Dominion during the first seven months of the present fiscal year, according to returns made public to-day by the Department of Customs. There were increases in both imports and exports, but the rise in imports was much greater than in exports.

The total trade for the period under review, the seven months ending with October, was $1,004,564,000 for the current year, as compared with $921,699,000 for the year previous.

SAFE FAT REDUCTION

Reduce, reduce, reduce, is the slogan of all fat people. Get thin, be slim, is the cry of fashion and society. And the overfat wring their hands in mortification and helpfulness; revolting at nauseating drugs, afraid of violent exercise, dreading the unwelcome and unsatisfying diet, until they hit upon the harmless Marmola Prescription, and learn through it that they may safely reduce steadily and easily without one change in their mode of life, but harmlessly, secretly and quickly reaching their ideal of figure with a smoother skin, better appetite and health than they have ever known. And now comes Marmola Prescription Tablets from the same famously harmless formula as the Marmola Prescription. It behooves you to learn the satisfactory, beneficial effects of this great, safe, fat reducer by giving to your druggist one dollar for a case, or sending a like amount to the Marmola Company, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich., with a request that they mail to you a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets.

A TORONTO WOMAN WAS BADLY KNIFED

Husband Gave a Blood Tranfusion to Save Her Life.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Mrs. Fred. A. Damsky lies in the Toronto General Hospital with fifteen knife wounds, inflicted by Joe Camby, an Italian roomer, and her eight-year-old son, Maurice, is also in the hospital, being hurt in an attempt to protect his mother. Camby surrendered to the police. Mrs. Damsky's husband gave a blood transfusion, and it is expected she will recover.

"PRIMPING" IS BUSINESS.

BISMARK, N.D. (United Press.) —The eternal feminine was formally recognized by the North Dakota Workmen's Compenstion Bureau, which ruled that the stenographer who "'primps' before going on an office errand is engaged in the course of her employment." The decision was made in awarding compensation to an office employe who hurt her eye while brushing her hair before going to the post office for the mail. The board awarded the girl compensation by a vote of three to two.

Can You Afford to Speculate?

EVERY time you buy something you are either speculating or making a definite investment.

Few people can afford to speculate. Yet many do it continually, in making their every-day purchases. And it is so unnecessary! The advertisements make it easy for anyone to avoid taking a chance.

The merchant or manufacturer who advertises, realize that the good-will of his customers means money in the bank to him. He knows that public confidence in his product and public respect for his own character are as valuable as his credit at the bank.

So he makes the individual satisfaction of his patrons, their loyalty and their friendship par amount issues in his business.

When you buy an advertised product, you can know in advance what to expect in return for your money. You can count on it being right. You are making an investment.

But when you buy nameless, unbranded merchandise, you are taking a chance. You are speculating.

New and Interesting Facts from Science and Life

Should a Singer Have the Tonsils Removed?

SHOULD the tonsils of singers be removed? This has been a moot question for some time, but, as Dr. Harold Hays, F. A. C. S., points out in a contribution to the Medical Times, the tendency has been for laryngologists to be more careful in suggesting operation on a class of patients who are rather temperamental and to whom a great deal of harm can be done if not physically, at least mentally, by having their throats enlarged so that the oral cavity and the resonating chamber is considerably changed.

Up to a few years ago, the author was always of the opinion that it was dangerous to remove tonsils in singers, mainly for the reason that the throat cavity is thus enlarged, that there is a change in the musculature of the throat, which makes it necessary, after the voice has been toned to a certain pitch, to have the entire range of the voice changed. However, he changed his mind when a well-known singer was operated upon in Germany, having one tonsil removed, during which process the throat was considerably lacerated. The voice of the singer was not changed in any particular.

When this patient arrived in America, it became necessary to remove the other tonsil because of a severe infection, and a tonsil measuring two inches in length by a half inch in diameter was removed without any particular difficulty and without any impairment to the voice.

Shortly after that, the author operated upon another singer, the operation being done with the utmost care, with no change in the pillars of the fauces or the musculature of the throat. It was almost a year before this patient could sing a single note. And for this reason, and because he had studied a number of similar cases, he came to the conclusion that the effect upon the voice from having the tonsils removed was more a psychological one than a physical one.

It is surprising to see how much mutilation of the throat, can be stood by the average person without causing any harm, either in vocalization or in the general health. The uvula has been removed, the pillars of the fauces have been severely mutilated, adhesions have taken place between the posterior pillar and the pharyngeal wall in a number of instances, and yet, with all of these deformities, the voice frequently remains good. Such deformities have often occurred in singers, in whom one would consider that such mutilation would change the vocalization considerably.

Vocal Mechanism of a Normal Throat. The Arrow Points to the Hyo-Glossus (Singing) Muscle.

Dr. Harold Hays Says That "the Effect Upon the Voice from Having the Tonsils Removed Is More Psychological Than Physical."

Within the past year a number of such cases were shown at the New York Academy of Medicine, in which the mutilation to the throat was so fearful that one wondered whether anybody, who had had any experience in removing tonsils, could possibly have operated upon these patients. All of these patients were singers who depended upon singing for a living, and in every one of these cases, the patient was able to sing as well after the operation as before, regardless of the deformity that had taken place. Considering that, in one instance where no mutilation had taken place, and where the throat was in excellent condition, the patient could not sing, and in the other instance of severe mutilation of the throat where the patient was able to sing, one can only come to the conclusion that the result upon the voice of removing tonsils depends upon the individual psychological state of the patient.

Under no circumstances would one wish to advise that the tonsils in singers be removed indiscriminately because a great deal of harm can be done mentally, if not otherwise; so one should always weigh the necessity for operation. If the patient simply has large tonsils, without having any physical reaction from them, there is greater danger in removing his tonsils simply because they happen to be enlarged or become infected once in a while, than in leaving them alone. On the contrary, if such a patient is suffering from intermittent attacks of acute articular rheumatism, or if there is any irregularity in the heart action, or if there is any other physical manifestation which may be attributed to tonsillar infection, those tonsils should be removed, regardless of whether there is any danger to the voice or not. In other words, one should consider what the effect will be upon the general physical condition of the patient.

If the physical condition of the patient is going to be improved markedly by removing the tonsils, they should always be removed and the risk taken of some impairment to the voice; for in these cases, after the physical condition of the patient has improved, there is always the possibility that the voice will increase in volume, and perhaps in quality, after infection is eliminated from the throat and general system.

The Soya Bean Is a Boon to Man

A FEW years ago a German horticulturist called at the office of the Royal Botanical Society in Regent's Park, London, with news of a wonderful plant he had discovered in far-off Manchuria. The plant was known as the Soya bean. Asked if he would supply the Royal Botanical Society with some seeds of the new plant in the interests of scientific research, the German refused, although he agreed to send some empty pods.

When the pods arrived they were placed in the society's museum. One day Mr. J. L. North, the curator, happened to be relabeling the exhibits, when he noticed in the pods some beans not larger than a pin's head. He took them home, thirteen seeds in all, and planted them in his own garden, nurturing them as tenderly as if they were worth untold wealth.

Perhaps, indeed, this may yet prove to be the case, for, as a result of the curator's care and foresight, the Soya bean is now coming into its own as one of the most valuable plants known to science.

In its native country the Soya bean has been grown for more than five thousand years, according to London Tit-Bits. Hundreds of thousands of tons are cultivated every year, yielding one of the staple foods of the people, besides producing huge quantities of cattle fodder. In growth not unlike a smaller edition of the ordinary broad bean, the Soya plant is capable of producing thousands of seeds, as many as forty bushels being grown to the acre.

In Manchuria the average yield is nearly one hundred bushels to the acre, from an original sowing of half a bushel of seed! Over and above this, the plant yields green food as valuable as the best clover, at the rate of four tons or more to the acre.

But the possibilities of the Soya bean are not limited to its value as a food. It is used extensively in the manufacture of glycerine, explosives of various kinds, waterproofing material, linoleum, enamels, varnish, soap, celluloid, printing ink, paint and lubricating oil!

A considerable proportion is made into a special kind of bread, which is becoming increasingly popular, while it is also taking its place as an ingredient in many other kinds of food, including cheese, a new brand of milk, cakes and confectionery.

The Soya bean has to be acclimatised—a fairly long process, involving almost inexhaustible patience and care. It is now cultivated in America, after much patient research and the expenditure of a vast amount of time and trouble in selecting the right strain of Soya that lends itself to growth in the United States.

Bread made from the Soya bean is said to contain all the best elements of both meat and milk. In China the priests dry the "cream" of the beans after they have been boiled and store it for use as a Winter food. It is claimed that a man could live entirely upon the product of the bean, and experiments are being carried out by American scientists with the object of proving this.

Good and Bad Germs

BACTERIOLOGISTS have found about 2,000 kinds of germs, but only about 100 are believed to be harmful. The other 1,900 are necessary to life. Plant life requires that the soil contain humus, and humus is brought about by decay which is caused by germs. If all the bacteria were killed there would be no more decay and everyone would die of starvation. Many bacteria are of use every day. These produce vinegar, give flavor to butter, help make cheese, cause juices to ferment, help to digest food, etc.

Harmful germs, however, are ever present in the system. They cannot be eliminated. Millions are constantly being breathed into the body, while a like number work their way in through the sweat glands. The soles of the feet and the palms of the hands have more sweat glands than any other part of the body. Through these pass many bacteria which cause ordinary colds and even more serious ailments. "Don't get your feet wet or you'll catch cold" is an old warning.

Disease germs lurk in water. Microscopic pictures show these germs in horrible forms. Natural ice looks perfectly clear and transparent, but when put under the microscope many deadly germs may be detected. These get into the human body through drinking water chilled with chips of ice and through food kept in the refrigerator where such ice is used.

Domestic animals, wild game and fresh water fish are also great carriers of disease germs. The dog is the carrier of 11 known germs that cause disease among humans. In this connection Prof. John Davis, of the University of Chicago, says: "Be careful what you touch," and "watch the palms of your hands." Infections may occur through simple contact with diseased animals, or they may come from excretions of the skin, nose, lungs or intestines. Germs may be carried long distances over indirect routes from animal to man and from person to person through dirty hands, clothes, food, etc.

The Mirror Is the Most Ancient of Women's Toilet Accessories

MOST ancient of all accessories for women's toilet is the mirror, that reflecting bit of vanity which means so much in our daily life, as well as in our scheme of decoration. Its origin is shrouded in the twilight of mythology and all real clews are the fragments which mother earth and the tombs have rendered to us, sometimes in a fair state of preservation.

Glass was made by the Egyptians, yet the only mirrors that have come down to us from them are like those from other ancient sources, of metal, very highly polished and often containing silver and gold, according to Mary Harrod Northend in Arts and Decoration. The first form of the mirror was the handglass and it is the fragments of this that remain. We know, however, that metal mirrors were made in sections so arranged in grooves in the wall that they could slide up and down to show the figure at full length.

Glass mirrors coated with tin have been found in Italy that were used in the days of Pompey, but just where quicksilver-backed glass was first employed has never been definitely established. As early as 1373 the Germans had acquired a knowledge of glass mirror work, and in the fifteenth century they invented a curious form of mirror construction called the "bull's eye."

In the sixteenth century the Venetians did much business in the manufacture and exporting of glasses with quicksilver backs, and in 1665 the French Government induced twenty of these glassworkers to come to Paris, where in the year 1691 a method of making plate glass was perfected which made France thereafter the mirror market of the world.

The history of mirror making in England might be said to date from 1670. From this time on rapid strides were made in the manufacture of looking glasses, those of Queen Anne and Georgian periods being particularly notable.

Mirror glass in its early stages was "blown" and beyond the length of three and one-half feet was too thin to serve as mirrors. In case a greater length was desired it was necessary to add a second piece, and thus the longer glasses of the early eighteenth century were made in two pieces, one overlapping the other, or finished with a molding to hide the intersection.

In the latter part of the eighteenth century Chippendale mirrors of great charm were made, and it was in this time that Chinese designs became popular. Later, Heppelwhite and the brothers Adam designed mirrors of real worth, the former in shield and oval shapes.

In the earlier part of the Georgian period the revival of the Queen Anne mirror began, and by 1800 the lines of this model were much seen. Previous to this, looking glasses were manufactured in large numbers in this country, and from 1780 to 1790 the famous "Constitution" glasses were made. This period also marked the vogue of the quaint Girandoles and bullseyes.

Mantel glasses were in great demand throughout the eighteenth century, but more especially after 1760, when both oval and oblong shapes began to be popular. The cheval glass, never at any time a common piece of furniture, enjoyed its greatest favor about 1880.

How SUGAR Is MADE from CORN

CORN sugar is not the sweet principle of "sweet" corn, but is obtained by transforming the corn-starch into dextrose, a variety of sugar, by the chemical action of powerful acids. It is therefore a chemical product. Acids will change any starch into sugar, and will act similarly on various woody substances, but corn-starch is chosen commercially on account of its purity. In a contribution to The Chemical Age (New York), Dr. J. K. Dale says that to produce a good quality of corn sugar the starch must be as free as possible from gluten and impurities. It is necessary to wash it thoroughly by repeated filter-pressing, mixing it between each pressing with a large volume of fresh water.

"The sugar, dextrose," Dr. Dale explains, "is obtained by the action of strong acids at high temperatures upon cellulose and starch. Since dextrose is simply the scientific name for corn sugar, the above principle can be employed in changing starch to corn sugar or corn sirup. An amount of starch milk, approximating 5,000 gallons, is run into large wooden tanks, and there are added 200 pounds of commercial hydrochloric acid. This mixture is boiled by injecting live steam, the starch at first passing to a thick gelatinous mass, and then as the boiling is continued becoming thinner and thinner as the acid commences to break down the starch into dextrins, maltose, etc.

"After the starch has become sufficiently liquid, it is dropped from these open converters to the closed cooper cookers, where by cooking under pressure a higher temperature can be obtained and hence a quicker and more thorough conversion of the starch and dextrins to the dextrose or corn sugar. After a few minutes a sample taken from the converter no longer produces a white cloud when a few drops of it are poured into strong alcohol, showing that very nearly all has been converted into sugar. However, after the 'clear' test the temperature is maintained for twenty to thirty minutes longer to insure that the conversion is complete.

"The next step is the neutralization of the face acid in the converted starch liquor, or now, we may say, sugar liquor. The liquor from the converters is emptied into large wooden tanks provided with some means of agitation. Soda ash is now added. This process of neutralization not only serves to eliminate the free acid from the sugar liquor, but it also serves to clarify the liquor, for when the neutral point is reached a so-called 'break' occurs, the albuminoid and fatty substances held in the acid liquor in the colloidal state coagulating to form a flocculent precipitate throughout the liquor. This flocculent material is removed by passing the liquor through filter presses called the mud presses.

"After the sugar liquor leaves the mud presses, it is carried to multiple-effect evaporators and concentrated.

"This semi-sirup is now clarified and decolorised by filtration through bone char until it is brilliantly clear and water-white. The bone char filters consist of large iron cisterns completely filled with bone char, which has the property of removing color from sugar solutions, and is used not only for decolorizing corn sirup and corn-sugar liquors, but also for refining cane and beet sugar.

"This decolorized liquor is then evaporated in an evaporator or vacuum pan. To induce crystallization this heavy sirup must be cooled and seeded with crystals of corn sugar. The sirup is run directly from the vacuum pan into a cooling tank containing copper coils through which cold water may be circulated. When the sirup has been cooled sufficiently it is seeded by stirring in a quantity of previously prepared crystalline corn sugar, and then run into molds, where it is allowed to remain until it has solidified by crystallization to a hard mass.

"Cane sugar is such a common commodity that 'sugar' is usually thought of as a white granular or powdery product. Corn sugar is produced to a certain extent in a similar form, but the greater portion is marketed in the form of lumps or chips. It is a solidified product in nature and appearance, nearly resembling more extremely light-colored maple sugar. The large blocks of solid sugar as they come from the molds are put through a machine which chips them up or breaks them up into smaller pieces, these chips falling through a chute directly into the sacks in which they are marketed."

How NATURE Creates Great CAVES

IN the Geology Hall of the American Museum of Natural History, in New York City, there is an exhibit of Wyer's Cave, Virginia, presented by the Grottoes of the Shenandoah Company of Virginia. The specimens for the exhibit were collected at Wyer's Cave in a chamber seventy-five feet above the floor of the cavern and about a half-mile distant from the entrance. It was a difficult undertaking to free large specimens from walls and get them out of the cavern unbroken, some of them being ten feet in length. They all consist of one substance—calcium carbonate—and have been colored various shades of red and brown by infiltration of clay and iron oxide through the roof of the cavern.

Wyer's Cave in the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, is a typical example of the caves found in limestone regions where there is abundant rainfall—limestone, rain water and carbonic acid, producing bicarbonate of lime, being the three factors necessary for the production of such caverns. Surface waters working down the joints and fissures may enlarge these passages by solution. Coming to an insoluble layer, such as one of clay or shale, the waters are stopped in their descent and spread laterally, finding their way along the bedding planes or through fissures. In time these joints and fissures are enlarged by solution and become distinct water channels, funnel-shaped sinks being formed on the surface and domes and galleries below. In large caverns the connecting domes are sometimes 150 or more feet high and 300 feet broad. The floor of a cavern may be level for long distances, owing to the fact that the underground waters have not been able to break through the stratum of clay or shale. In places, however, these waters penetrate this layer and excavate new passages and chambers at a lower level.

The process which forms caverns also tends to fill them up, for the surface waters traversing the smaller joints and fissures move more slowly there than through the deeper and larger channels, and consequently they seep through the caverns, taking calcium bicarbonate into solution on their way. This water collects in drops on the ceiling of the chambers, where exposure to the air and condensation through partial evaporation cause deposition of some of its mineral contents, as the carbonate of lime, in rings or ridges, this compound being almost insoluble in water. The rings grow downward, forming tubes and icicle-like pendants called stalactites. As the slow influx of water continues, the drops of water fall to the floor, where more of the lime carbonate is deposited, sometimes as an incrustation, sometimes as a more or less blunt column called stalagmite. Oftentimes stalactites and stalagmites meet, forming a complete column. Stalactites and stalagmites are of very slow growth; hence their large size in certain caverns indicates great age for the excavations.

How Fountain Pens Work

THE most important part of the fountain pen is the "feed" which supplies the nib with ink from the reservoir. This feed rests against the base of the nib in such a way that, while the pen is at rest, the opening is closed. But the slight pressure brought to bear on the nib by the act of writing forces it away from the feed tube, and so allows the exit to open slightly and the ink to flow.

The flow of ink is further regulated by the pressure of the air, which is allowed to pass into the reservoir as the ink leaves it, while a third force utilized is that of "capillary attraction." Every liquid has a tendency to cohesion, that is, one particle of ink will follow another. For this reason the ink, forced evenly out of its reservoir by the air pressure behind, continues to flow to the nib just as long as the writer's pressure opens the door and allows its exit.

The Elusive Climbing Kangaroo

ONE of the rarest and most elusive of all animals is the climbing kangaroo of Australia, or the tree-kangaroo, as it is sometimes called. This animal climbs trees or poles as easily almost as does a monkey. Indeed, there is no great dissimilarity between the tree-kangaroo and the monkey, and there may well be a biological relationship between them.

In the tree-kangaroo it will be noticed that the hind legs, which in other kinds of kangaroos are so powerful and so much bigger than the forelegs, are proportionately small, while the tail is relatively much longer than in its bigger brother.

Because of Its Ability to Climb Trees the Climbing Kangaroo Is Thought to Be Related to the Monkey.

The kangaroos, taken as a whole, form a very well-marked family, easily distinguished from the remaining members of the order by their general conformation and by peculiarities in the structure of their limbs, teeth and other organs. They vary in size from that of a sheep down to a small rabbit. The head, especially in the larger species, is small compared with the rest of the body, and tapers forward to the muzzle. The shoulders and forelegs are feebly developed and the hind limbs are of disproportionate strength and magnitude, which gives them a peculiarly awkward appearance when moving about on all fours, as they occasionally do when feeding. Rapid progression is, however, performed only by the powerful hind legs, the animal covering the ground by a series of immense bounds, during which the fore part of the body is inclined forward and balanced by the long, strong and tapering tail. When not moving they often assume a perfectly upright position, the tail aiding the two hind legs to form a sort of supporting tripod, and the front limbs dangling by the side of the chest. This position gives full scope for the senses of sight, hearing and smell to warn of the approach of enemies, from which they save themselves by their bounding flight.

The fore paws have five distinct digits, each armed with a strong, curved claw. The foot of the hind limb is quite different and very peculiar in construction, being extremely long and narrow, and (with only one lately discovered exception) without any hallux or great toe. It consists mainly of one very large and strong toe, corresponding to the fourth of the human or other typically developed feet, ending in a strong curved and pointed claw. Close to the outer side of this lies a smaller fifth digit, and to the inner side two excessively slender toes (the second and third) bound together almost to the extremity in a common integument. The two little claws of these toes, projecting together from the skin, may be of use in scratching and cleaning the fur of the animal, but the toes must have quite lost all connection with the function of support or progression.

Why a Clock Dial Shows Twelve Hours Only

LONG before the invention of the modern clock the Greeks divided the twenty-four-hour day into two uneven units, from sunrise to sunset and from sunset to sunrise. And these units they further divided into hours, each hour being a twelfth of its unit. Thus in Summer a day hour was longer than a night hour and in Winter vice versa. Then the hours were further subdivided into minutes and seconds. But the Egyptians had the much more practical arrangement of dividing the whole period from sunrise to sunrise into twenty-four equal hours.

Eventually a system embodying the two methods became general. The Greek twelve-hour periods with their minutes and seconds were kept, but every hour was made equal in length. Thus when the modern clock came to be made its face was divided into twelve hours.

"ZEV" FAVORITE IN RACE TODAY

Expect Crowd of 40,000 For $30,000 Match With "In Memoriam."

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17.—Kentucky, the home of the thorough bred becomes the center of racing interest today for the second time within two weeks with Zev, winner of the Kentucky Derby, and conquer or of Papyrus meeting In Memoriam which, a fortnight ago, surprised the racing world by defeating Zev by six lengths in a mile and three quarters race.

The match race between these rival 3-year-olds, will be at a mile and a quarter, for a purse of $30,000, with the prospects of a 40,000 attendance at the historic Churchill Downs course provided weather conditions are favorable. The tent is expected to settle the argument that has been raging since In Memoriam triumphed over Zev and My Own in the Latonia Championship Stakes, two weeks ago.

Turf experts figured last night that Zev which has won eight out of nine races since capturing the Kentucky Derby, losing only to In Memoriam it was estimated, probably would be 8 to 5.

FEAR OF FLYING IMPEDES INDUSTRY.

Aircraft Manufacturing Is Held Up in United States By Fear of Public.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(Associated Press).—Airplane manufacturing on a large scale has virtually no encouragement in the United States, it was declared by Major F. L. Martin, Air Service officer of the Sixth Army Corps Area, U. S. A., in an address here at the air transportation conference of U. S. A. Service officers with the National Transportation Institute. Because the aircraft business cannot develop and the American public is afraid to fly, he said, the country is in a dangerous position.

"There is practically no manufacturing concern in this country in a position to go into the production of airplanes or air engines in any quantity today," said Major Martin. "It takes a year to train a pilot. Mortality will be extremely heavy in the first air fight. Replacements of men and material will be approximately 100 per cent.

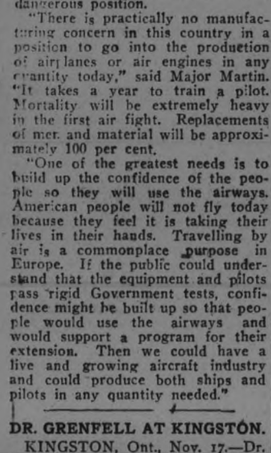
"One of the greatest needs is to build up the confidence of the people so they will use the airways. American people will not fly today because they feel it is taking their lives in their hands. Travelling by air is a commonplace purpose in Europe. If the public could understand that the equipment and pilots pass rigid Government tests, confidence might be built up so that people would use the airways and would support a program for their extension. Then we could have a live and growing aircraft industry and could produce both ships and pilots in any quantity needed."

DR. GRENFELL AT KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 17.—Dr. Wilfrid Grenfell, the famous Labrador missionary, addressed the Rotary Club last evening. The Canadian Clubs of Kingston and Gananoque were also present by invitation and the gathering was a large and distinguished one. Mr. Leman A. Guild, president of the Rotary Club, presided. Dr. Grenfell addressed the students of Queen's in the afternpon.

HAIR STAYS COMBED, GLOSSY

Millions Use It – Few Cents Buys Jar at Drugstore



Even obstinate, unruly or shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair— that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. "Hair-Groom" is greaseless; also helps grow thick, heavy, lustrous hair. Beware of greasy, harmful imitations.

EXPECT RUGBY RECORD CROWDS

Estimate 280,000 at Seven of the Big Games in East To-Day.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—Football attendance marks in the East are expected to take another tumble today when nearly 380,000 may witness seven of the day's headline attractions.

Topping the list is the Yale-Princeton encounter in the Yale Bowl, where capacity will be around 79,000. Estimated figures for other leading games include: Pennsylvania Penn State at Franklin Field, 55,000; Harvard-Brown at Harvard Stadium 45,000; Syracuse-Colgate at Archbold Stadium, 35,000; Pittsburgh-Washington and Jefferson at Forbes Field 30,000; Haskell Indians-Quantico Marines at Yankee Stadium 25,000; Columbia-New York University, at Baker Field 10,000.

QUARTERBACK IS ROCKUE PIVOT

Guiding Hand of Defence As Well As Offensive in Notre Dame System—The Outstanding Figure.

"Perfection in petty detail is most essential. Generalities don't count in football," says Rockne.

"There is no such thing as a one-yard or five-yard play in football. Every play started is a touchdown play if properly executed. If some player or players fail, then the play is merely good for what results.

"Doing the correct thing at the proper time makes for a winning football team. The slightest slip in the selection of plays can change the entire complexion of a game.

"Following this line of reasoning, it is evident that the man who directs the play of a team is the outstanding figure. That man is the quarterback. He can make or break a team in his selection of plays. He can make a coach look like a wise guy or the veriest dumbbell.

"Give me a heady quarterback, able to size up the offense of the opposition and capable of selecting proper plays according to the existing conditions, and KNUTE ROCKNE. I will be content to overlook a lot of other undesirable things."

After watching Notre Dame at practice and in competition with the leading teams of the country, it is apparent that the stress that Rockne lays on the importance of the quarterback position is not wasted.

At Notre Dame the captain is subordinate to the quarterback, who is the team leader and field general in every sense of the word. In addition to calling and directing the attack, the Notre Dame quarterback is the guiding hand of the defense.

In Rockne's eyes, mere ability to lead a team on offense and make the necessary tackles on defense, is not enough to qualify as a field general of a Notre Dame football team. Keenness of vision in diagnosing plays is most essential.

In Stuhldreher, present Notre Dame quarter, Rockne has a man who comes up to his specifications. In the Army, Princeton and Georgia Tech games, Notre Dame's opponents were repeatedly stopped by a lighter line before the plays got well under way. Stuhldreher, carrying out Rockne's ideas of a great quarter, would call the plays accurately and they would be met by the Notre Dame defense ere the play had time to come up to the line of scrimmage.

The night before each game, Rockne meets with all the quarterbacks in the squad and the weak points in the opposing team are gone over. The plays to be used are outlined and every point of the campaign is determined so that any of the quarterbacks will be in a position to relieve the regular and pick up the line of attack without any trouble.

During the game, the quarterbacks who are not in actual play are near Rockne and he calls attention to anything unusual that develops. If his quarterback errs in his selection of plays, Rockne calls attention to the fact and explains why. In this way, the players who may be called upon as field leaders are constantly kept in touch with the viewpoint of Rockne.

SUBMIT BLUENOSE VICTORY TO JUDGE.

Solicitor For Lunenburg Boat Presents Request to Committee.

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 17. —In a lengthy statement to the trustees of the International Fishermen's Trophy degarding the legal phases of the ruling made by the 1923 International Race Committee during the course of the races and violation of which resulted in the disqualification of the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose in the second race, W. P. Potter solicitor for the Bluenose Schooner Company, Limited, sets forth the following request:

"I am authorized by my clients to suggest that if you, as trustee of the trophy, after careful consideration of the foregoing, do not feel justified in awarding the trophy to the master of the Bluenose, that the whole matter of the legality of the new rules made by the Sailing Committee and the question whether or not the Bluenose violated them, be submitted either to arbitration or to a judge of the Supreme Court."

Strangler Lewis To Wed Princess

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 17.—Strangler Lewis, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, and Princess Marie Troski of Petrograd, Russia, are to be married shortly after Christmas, the wrestler admitted here Wednesday.

Lewis has gone to San Jose, Cali., where it is believed he will settle his affairs with his former wife, Dr. Ada Scott Morton, from whom he was divorced recently.

The Russian Princess and Lewis met at Wiesbaden while the wrestler was in Europe a few months ago.

CANADIENS ARE LINING UP TEAM

Sprague Cleghorn Signed Terms—Other Contracts Received.

MONTREAL, Nov. 16—Sprague Cleghorn, last year's captain of the Canadiens has come to terms with Managing-Director Leo Dandurand and was the first one of last year's members of the team to step in line for this season. Sprague is looked upon as one of the best defence men in the programme and his definite signing on again for the locals causes a sigh of relief to the club owners. Dandurand refused $3.500 for Cleghorn this summer, which was offered him by Harry Scott, who was representing the Calgary team of the western league. Sprague has not been again elected captain as yet this not being settled until the team gets to Grimsby.

Leo Dandurand also announced today that he had received the signed contract of Fortier, the Hull amateur he was after and Fortier will report for training at Grimsby. He has been playing with the Royal Canadians of the Ottawa League.

KIWANIS TRIMMED "CHAMP" BELMONTS

Played Snappy Ball and Won in a Close Game.

Surprises will never cease! Last evening in the Armouries the Kiwanians handed the softball fans a big one when they trimmed the champion Belmonts by a score of 7 to 6. The result was no fluke either. Fast and almost errorless ball was played by the Kiwanis team flavored with some good hard hitting. The breaks did go to the luncheon crew to a large extent. The Belmonts made a number of small errors and misplays which were costly to them.

Gordon playing second base for the winners turned in a great fielding game. The long fellow stretched out getting them all, and he made a couple of shoestring catches. The Kiwanis played air-tight ball in all the innings except the fourth when two errors came to give the Belmonts two runs. A long clout by Mackay in the second innings, which went for three bases accounted for two of the Kiwanians runs. Mackey got three hits in four trips to the plate.

The lineups were:

Kiwanis—Mackey, ss; Green, as; Byers, 3b; Weber, 1b; Browne, c; McLean, p; Gordon, 2b; Craig, lf; Lacey, lf.

Belmonts—Batten, ss; Lowe, 1b; Holyman, p; Stuart, 2b; Jobbitt, 3b; Haskill, c; Williamson, lf; Fanning, rf; Thompson, ss.

Score by innings:

Kiwanis	131101—	7	10 2
Belmonts	100203—	6	3 5

New York Clubs Grab Golf "Pros"

New York is cornering the stars of professional golf.

Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Jim Barnes, Bobby Cruickshank and Johnny Farrell have been playing as metropolitans for some time now.

This contingent is to be augmented by two more noted professionals, namely, Jock Hutchison of Chicago, and Leo Diegel of Washington, D. C.

Hutchison has signed with a Long Island club and Diegel plans to sign with a New York club.

These players give the metropolitan district a formidable line-up. Sarazen, Hagen, Barnes and Hutchison have all held national championships. Cruickshank came within a stroke of winning the open last summer. Diegel tied for second in the open in 1920.

HORNSBY MAY MEAN PENNANT

Would Be Mighty Valuable to Pittsburgh, Chicago or Cincinnati.

By HENRY L. FARRELL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(United Press).—In answer to persistent reports that Rogers Hornsby, the National League's most valuable player, is to be traded during the winter meetings of the major leagues, the St. Louis club owners reply, with emphasis, that Hornsby will play with the Cards or not at all.

With the chance of putting over a deal involving Hornsby that would make a strong pennant contender out of the Cards, the St. Louis owners would be foolish to get stubborn and take the long means of showing the dissatisfied Hornsby that he is not his own boss.

Hornsby cannot play his best ball when he is on the outs with Branch Rickey, manager of the club, and even at his best he will never make a pennant winner out of the Cards.

Considering that there is good foundation for the general belief that the New York Giants are no longer the dominating power in the National League, the Cards have a good chance to strengthen their team and get into the race by disposing of Hornsby for players.

The Card owners have some fancy ideas about the value of Hornsby, but they are right. In arranging a deal for the star second baseman, the Cards are right in assuming that the question is not so much how valuable he is to the St. Louis team as how much he would be worth to several other teams out of which he might make a pennant winner.

In Pittsburgh, Chicago or Cincinnati Hornsby might come pretty close to being the difference between the pennant.

Blaming him for having kept him away from his long-desired match with Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship fight, Harry Wills is making good the threat that he would never again box under the promotion of Tex Rickard. Wills, perhaps, may figure that Rickard had something to do with arranging the heavyweight program last summer without giving Wills a place on any of the bills. But he should know better than to hold Rickard responsible for his failure to get a match with Dempsey.

No doubt the colored challenger believes the story that Rickard has Dempsey tied up and that no other promoter can stage a heavyweight championship fight unless Rickard does not care to use Dempsey.

Rickard has shown excellent judgment in picking heavyweight championship bouts in the past, and when he would make no move to match Dempsey and Wills there was, obviously, a good reason for it.

The alleged animosity towards Rickard may be a convenient excuse for Wills, however.

As long as he can make his grievance against New York's leading promoter look like a valid excuse, Wills can work in the no-decision sections of New Jersey, a spot that is much more to his liking.

Wills has a style of fighting that is not permitted in New York and, unless things have changed recently, there are very few rules in Jersey.

No one can blame Wills for taking on set-ups in his campaign to come back and restore the prestige that he had and lost by a year of idleness from the ring.

Wills eventually, however, will have to fight a good opponent. Firpo started on the push-over, but when the time came, he stepped out into the second-string division.

If he is sincere in his desire to fight Dempsey, Wills certainly must prove that he is a competent challenger by listening a little more when promoters are offering him Battling Siki, Jack Renault, Floyd Johnson, George Godfrey and some more of the second-raters.

Recently the New York Boxing Commission admitted that it had found no effective way of forcing champion fighters to defend their titles.

The practice of suspending champions, taking their titles away from them and appointing successors was abandoned after the commission had made a big joke of itself.

There is only one way out of the present difficulty and the commission will not consider that means as a solution because it has too many political factors to consider.

The only way to correct the few evils that are now existing is to form a national governing body.

All other sports are regarded by national bodies, and boxing cannot live and prosper under any other arrangement.

There is a national boxing association, formed several years ago, that has failed to function because the New York Commission was too stubborn to join.

If the commission would agree now to join that body and get some national backing of its suspensions and rulings, there would be no more trouble.

* * *

Amateur athletics would have reached no place without the supervision of the Amateur Athletic Union. The United States Lawn Tennis Association established and inter-nationalized the game. Golf has its governing bodies and baseball has centralized powers. Boxing cannot go it alone and meet with the same success.

Evans' Greatest Victory

Went Two Extra Holes to Beat Sweetser in the Western.

Labored Under Terrific Mental Strain Due to Financial Troubles. Chick Evans.

By JOE WILLIAMS.

Golfers will appreciate this story. Golfers know better than non-golfers how important an untroubled mind is to success on the links. One of the enduring dogmas of golf is, "think through the shot." In clearer words, think of nothing but the shot.

Golf, however, is not always the most important proposition in a player's life. Sometimes other things matter. Hit suddenly by a financial catastrophe, it is not likely you would be able to concentrate solely on any particular golf shot.

We have in mind Chick Evans and what we consider the greatest victory the Chicago veteran ever scored in an important tournament.

The world has been told of Evans' misfortune in the grain markets, how all his savings were wiped out, and an immense deficit created.

Evans' troubles were at their height last summer when he went to Cleveland to defend his title as western amateur champion. Entered in the tournament also was Jesse Sweetser, holder of the national amateur title.

A Real Grudge Battle.

The year before Sweetser and Evans met in the semi-finals at Brookline and Sweetser, aided by a flock of stymies, won.

This being so Evans' supporters refused to concede Sweetser's superiority. When the feud was renewed this year in the western a Homeric struggle was anticipated. It proved to be all of that.

Sweetser, a spirited golfer, resented the implication that he had been lucky at Brookline and set out to demonstrate that he was master of the western idol. Evans was equally determined to leave his mark on the Yale youth.

The morning round was replete with brilliant golf with both players keeping at even pace with the difficult Mayfield par. The tension tightened in the afternoon, with first one leading and then the other. Finally Evans took the lead at the sixteenth by laying an approach shot dead to the pin out of the rough for a birdie three. Sweetser, undaunted, caught him at the home hole and squared the match.

Wins on 38th Hole.

The first extra hole was halved. The end came on the next green. Evans was trapped with his second and Sweetser, with the match apparently in the palm of his spacious hand, overshot the green. Both were on in three. Sweetser missed a shot putt and Evans won the hole and the match.

A 38-hole fight under testing tournament conditions and a splendid victory over the national champion! No wonder Evans smiled wanly when he walked across the green and shook Sweetser's hand.

"I never thought I could do it," Evans said.

This seemed to be a rather strange comment even for the courteous Evans to make.

The full significance of it did not dawn until some weeks later, or when the news became generally known that Evans had dropped a fortune in stock speculation.

Against Sweetser that memorable day Evans must have concentrated on his shots until the roof of his brain fairly steamed. He did more than win from a champion; he won from as terrible a mental hazard as ever faced a player in the history of the game.

COMPLETED RIDE WITH BROKEN ARM.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Major J. A. Barry, commanding members of the Third Cavalry stationed at Fort Mayer, Va., participating in the National Horse Show here, was thrown from his horse and his arm broken during the finish of the endurance contest for the Squadron A. Challenge Cup. He completed the run with his arm hanging limp.

Major Barry, who has been selected to train the army team in equestrian sports for the 1924 Olympics, was thrown in Central Park, where the endurance contest was being held. Spectators urged him to abandon the ride. He insisted on remounting and the crowd gave him a leg up.

tive years at the Comedy, Shubert and Nora Bayes Theatres. Following the record-breaking run in New York the piece was sent to Chicago where it remained for six months at the La Salle Theatre, then to Philadelphia and to Boston.

The world trip will be the first venture of the kind ever attemped. Repertory companies have been to the Orient for a number of years, but no single attraction has been sent on a globe girdling trip.

This is the only company presenting this famous laughing success, and it comes to the with its Broadway cast of players including Ruth Thomas, Constance Cameron, Therese Quadri, Lillian Paige, Marie Ainsworth, Jane May, George Synder, Wallace Ray, Ben Ells, George Paige, Yates Price, John Riley, Robert Barclay, Walter Hagerty, Fred Atkins, Joseph Atwood and production intact. The staging was done by Clifford Stork. At the Grand Opera House, Saturday, November 24.

"Cheerio" the fifth annual revue of the Dumbells Company, Ltd., had its initial performances at the Grand Opera House, Toronto, and is booked for tour covering every important Canadian centre from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Like Capt. Merton Plunkett's earlier revues it has the qualities of speed and infectious gaiety that make everybody joyous; and on the night I saw it the audience not merely gurgled but literally shrieked with laughter. The tendency in the more recent Dumbell shows has been to get away from the war, and not to over-play the overseas idea; though one of the most uproarious episodes in the show is a skit on an orderly room trial for minor demeanors. The merit of these shows has always been that they did not rely merely on the fact that the enterainers were ex-soldiers, but offered substantial fun that could stand on its own footing without sentimental bolstering.

The old favorites like Al. Plunkett, and the remarkable female impersonator Ross Hamilton, are still with the show, as well as Stan. Bennett, who joined the organization last year, and other established favorites. The Dumbells company has also made a real find in John Hagan, an Australian boy who was on the professional stage in boyhood and later enlisted with the 29th Battalion at London, Ont. Hagan made his mark in France with one of the numerous Canadian army concert parties, and was the only soldier entertainer from this country who was snapped up by a London manager. For four years he has been with the forces of George Edwardes in various revues. Both as a comedian and a skitwriter he adds much strength to the organization. One of the best of the episodes in an excruciatingly funny scene in a hotel lobby entitled "In and Out" which enlists the services of many comedians. Stan Bennett who is irrestible as the silly-ass Englishman has the best parody on a certain popular song that I have yet heard when he wanders on in an old fashioned night gown and sing "Yes—I have no Pyjamas today." In this act Jim Foley gives an unusually clever impersonation of a Chinaman. Ben Allen and Jack Grace are amusing black face performers who come in and out throughout the show. In addition to Ross Hamilton, whose Marjorie is facile princeps of its kind, there is another clever female impersonator in the person of Gordon Calder. The finesse of Jack Hagan as a fun-maker who gets his laughs without the slightest touch of over-emphasis is delightful and in this respect the well-known Pat Rafferty has improved since last season. Morley Plunkett, perhaps the most versatile of the three brothers is salso an active factor in many episodes. The military skit, "The Disorderly Room" is grotesquely amusing, with Stan Bennett as the asinine officer of the day and Messrs. Hagan, Morley Plunkett, and Rafferty as his subordinates. There is another skit "O'Brien's Party" which gives a chance for lively fun to the whole aggregation.

Musically the show is admirable, replete with good songs, gracefully sung. In this department Al. Plunkett, ever easy and magnetic is of course a leading factor. The simplicity of his style, the winning quality of his voice, and the excellence of his diction are more notable than ever. Capt. Plunkett who is the possessor of a fine baritone voice and an admirable style also sings some good lyrics and one of the most attractive episodes in the revue in which brother Morley joins in and the three clever brothers are heard together. The Overseas Orchestra with its banjos saxaphones and brass plays a series of numbers very piquantly and the show has a new musical director in the person of Teddy Reve, who is also a gifted pianist—Hector Charlesworth.

WORKLESS MEN IN TOKYO NOW

Rush After Earthquake Has Subsided and No Jobs Are Open.

By CLARENCE DUBOSE

TOKYO, Nov. 17 (United Press).—It's going to be a hard winter in the Tokyo-Yokahama district. Half a million men are out of work—and there are no jobs floating around.

The employment situation changed completely a few weeks after the earthquake. At first there was an abundance of work. Any man who wanted a job could get it—skilled and unskilled labor—and in each case at higher wages than before. Officials predicted that the demand for labor would far exceed the supply for a long time to come. "There will be no unemployment problem," they said.

But thousands of refugees, who left Tokyo during and just after the disaster, began to return. Workmen from other towns and cities flocked to Tokyo, some of them walking long distances. And at the same time factories and big industries that had at first thought they could carry on, discovered that they could not. They had to close or to dismiss a large part of their employes, operating on a much smaller basis than before.

Glutted with Jobless

With transportation non-existent, or so disrupted as to be commercially useless, they found no matter how resolute their purpose that "business as usual" was impossible. On top of this the big dock and shipyards, industrial plants and spinning mills in the devastated area, many of which were destroyed or greatly damaged, turned into the Tokyo market tens of thousands of workmen. The sum total of these sources has simply glutted Tokyo with jobless.

Many thousands of coolies are at work throughout the city piling up debris, shoveling aside enough wreckage to permit passageways through former streets, carting off junk, cleaning away spaces for the erection of temporary wooden shacks. Soldiers are dynamiting the standing walls of wrecked and gutted buildings—walls which are a menace with each succeeding earthquake shock. Carpenters are in great demand because wooden shed-like structures, temporary barracks and shacks are the only buildings permitted now—and the only buildings that will be allowed for six months or more.

Not until the "plan for rebuilding Tokyo" can be formulated, which will be a matter of some months, will the authorities permit the erection of any permanent structure.

Building Crafts Busy

So, for the present, carpenters and some of the other building craftsmen are the only workmen who do not oversupply the market.

The Government officials hope that the present situation is a "peak" in the post-earthquake uncertainties; that before long factories can take on more hands; that the cleaning-up of the devastated areas will give more employment than at present. Meanwhile, emergency employment bureaus are attempting to get some of the unemployed away from Tokyo—but there is not much hope in that direction because unemployment is reported in Osaka and Kobe and other cities, also.

Grand Falls, in Labrador, is the highest waterfall in the world. It is 2000 feet high.

"ROYAL DIVORCE" ROYAL THEATRE MONDAY

The following review is clipped from a British trade paper and published here word for word:

Magnificent British Film Finely Produced, With Stirring Scenes of the Battle of Waterloo—Well Acted and Finely Photographed.

G. B. SAMUELSON PRODUCTION (Released by Napoleon Films. Length 10,000 ft.)

"A Royal Divorce," which Napoleon Films screened to the trade last week, is a photoplay which is not only a credit to Mr. G. B. Samuelson, but a picture which is a trimuph for British film production. Impressive to a degree, this photoplay of the fascinating life of Napoleon is fit to compare with the productions from any other market and is, undoubtedly, the finest picture that Mr. Samuelson has ever given us. So splendidly has it been produced that with its excellent continuity the film, although of considerable length, runs as smoothly as possible, all the time holding one intensely interested with its fascinating peeps into Napoleonic history. The story of "A Royal Divorce" is well known to old and young alike. It has played at the principal theatres throughout the United Kingdom for years, and interest never flags in this moving story of Napoleon and Josephine.

In the picture, Mr. G. B. Samuelson has faithfully followed the play, and the result is an appealing photoplay that is certain to succeed. The film gives us many splendid spectacles, notably a wonderful shot of the retreat from Moscow. This scene, which was taken in the Tyrol, is one of the most beautiful in the entire production, and small wonder that it evoked continuous applause at the trade show. The Battle of Waterloo is staged remarkably well. Here the producer has had the advantage of having the resources of the War Office placed at his disposal, and handling his supers extremely well, has given us a convincing battle that is the terrible climax to the picture. It is easy to see that many thousands of pounds have been expended upon this photoplay, for the film bears every evidence of being richly produced, and no stint whatever being apparent.

The settings in this production are elaborate and give the story a background which makes it exceedingly convincing. The picture has the merit of being extremely well acted. The spectacular side of this production is also very well done, the retreat from Moscow being finely picturized, whilst another very impressive scene is Napoleon's abdication and leave-taking at the Palace of Fontainebleau, and his subsequent return from Elba.

Gwlym Evans, who takes the part of Napoleon, gives a splendid performance, although at times he is apt to look just a little too stolid. Facially and in figure he is a faithful representation of "The Little Corporal," and he comes through a trying ordeal with flying honours. Gertrude McCoy, as Josephine, is particularly good, and throughout the whole picture succeeds in gaining the sympathy of her audience. Miss Mary Dibley is also adequately fitted to her part, whilst Mr. Jerrold Robertshaw makes a convincing Talleyrand. Lillian Hall-Davies as Stephanie, again makes a name for herself, and the whole cast works under Mr. Samuelson's direction with a will that gets the picture over. "A Royal Divorce" is a magnificent production and will pack any cinema wherever it is shown.

AT THE CAPITOL.

VOTES STILL POUR IN FOR CAPITOL STAR CONTEST.

Still they come! Over 700 new votes were received yesterday in the Capitol Star Contest. Patrons are reminded that the contest closes next Wednesday night and the star having the most votes will be presented in her or his latest picture for three days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 26-27-28.

HURRICANE HUTCH AT THE CAPITOL NEXT SATURDAY MATINEE.

As a special attraction for children the Capitol has arranged to present Charles Hutchinson, the famous Hurricane Hutch in his latest and most sensationally exciting serial, "Speed". The first episode of "Speed" will be shown next Saturday afternoon, November 24th, and every Saturday afternoon following that date for fifteen weeks. To celebrate the showing of the first episode the Capitol will present every child attending the matinee next Saturday with a bag of candy. The management looked over several fine serials before selecting "Speed" being anxious to find one that was entirely suitable for children. "Speed" contains plenty of exciting moments and the hero is a red-blooded man of the type that every parents wants his child to be when he grows up. The Capitol strongly endorses this serial as one of the finest ever made and wishes to emphasize the fact that it will be shown only during the Saturday matinee performances, commencing next Saturday. Every Peterboro child should be on hand to get a free bag of candy.

THOMAS MEIGHAN IS NOT WOMAN-PROOF IN "WOMAN-PROOF"

Is any man safe from the affections of feminine admirers? Is the inheritance of $1,000,000 on one's wedding day really a help to Cupid where a nice girl is concerned? These and other questions are answered in Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount picture, "Woman-Proof" which will be shown at the Capitol theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This is a story of romance where the conditions of matrimony are decidely unromantic The story was written by George Ade, noted humorist, and the picture was directed by Alfred E. Green.

The story is that of a civil engineer, Tom Rockwood, played by Thomas Meighan, whose father made a will stipulating that all his children must marry before they could inherit his huge fortune. Tom had two sisters and a brother, all of whom selected mates, but Tom is too busy directing a huge engineering project to bother about love. The story opens with the brothers and sisters and their prospective mates planning to induce Tom to marry. Meanwhile, young Rockwood accidentally falls in love, and is on the verge of proposing marriage when complications arise.

Milo Bleech, an unscrupulous lawyer and the executor of the Rockwood estate, temporarily blocks the love romance of Tom and Louise Halliday but matters are finally adjusted. Bleech is defeated and the Rockwoods inherit the fortune. Lila Lee is the girl and heads a strong supporting cast.

"JUST MARRIED" COMPANY ON AROUND WORLD TOUR

14 Principals, Understudies and Stage Crew—Australia After Playing South.

"Just Married" will be sent around the world by Jules Hurtig and the Messrs. Shubert, company and production traveling as a unit to every land with an English-speaking population. The attraction will play only a limited number of cities in the East, West, North and South, and sailing from San Francisco to Honululu, Australia will be the next stand, and a run of a year there is anticipated. The company is expected to remain away four years, the final engagement being scheduled for London.

There will be a company of 14 players carried along with several understudies and a stage crew. Counting manager and advance agent, 20 persons will make the tour, "Just Married" is a farce comedy by Adelaide Matthews and Amma Nichols. It was produced three and a half years ago at the Comedy Theatre in New York, and surprised Broadway by running two consecutive years at the Comedy, Shubert and Nora Bayes Theatres. Following the record-breaking run in New York the piece was sent to Chicago where it remained for six months at the La Salle Theatre, then to Philadelphia and to Boston.

G. B. SAMUELSON Presents

"A ROYAL DIVORCE"

The Greatest Picture of All Times
The Sensation of Every Country in Europe

Soldiers! I am your Emperor. If anyone would shot, let him do so now

ON MARCH 1st, 1815, the Little Corporal set foot in France. The whole French Army and all the Marshals were sent out with orders to bring him to Paris in chains. But when they saw their beloved hero, they threw away their guns and with one voice shouted "Vive L'Empereur." Such was the personality of this mighty Man of Destiny.

$2,000,000

Was spent in staging the Battle of Waterloo, the Burning of Moscow, the famous Retreat from Moscow, Napoleon's Return from Elba, and fascinating scenes in all the Imperial Courts of Europe for this unparalleled motion picture.

A ROYAL DIVORCE

Is now playing to unheard of sensational runs in England, France and every country in Europe. It's appeal is sweepingly Universal. An English picture made by English actors and directors, it has turned out to be a world-wide sensational success.

FOREVER

Summer is gone, autumn almost, winter coming. Some wondering what Christmas presents to give, what New Year resolutions to make. First of the month, bills due. And so on, year after year, generation after generation, same old routine.

You can forsee nine-tenths of the future without crossing silver over the palm of a fortune teller. Life is pretty much a clockwork proposition. Actors and costumes change, but the plot of life is much the same in all generations.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND MISSION
(Nov. 18th to 25th)

The Mission to be held in the four Anglican churches of the city will commence to-morrow. The purpose of the Mission is to strengthen and confirm the faithful, to rouse the careless and the negligent, and to convert the sinful. It will therefore have its message for all. The very fact that good reports came from all over the diocese, where a Mission has been held, so far, ought to encourage us in Peterboro to do great things. It is surely an indication that the Holy Spirit is using this means of influencing the souls of men and women towards higher things. A man's success in this life largely depends upon the way in which he seizes uponopportunities and makes the most of them. It is just the same way in the realm of religion. God's way of dealing with us is chiefly by giving us opportunities. Next week there will be offered to us one great opportunity. How many are preparing to lay hold upon it?

In the parable of the talents the man who went into a far country, gave to one of his servants five, to another two and to a third one. In other words it was an opportunity that was given to each. The first two were praised because they realized this, and a once set about making their talents work. The result was that they presented an amount over and above what they had received when their Lord returned and looked for an accounting. The third did nothing with his. All that he had to offer was criticism and faultfinding. We may well believe that if he had brought one talent more, he would have heard the words "Well done," the same as the other two. But because he would not see his oportunity and use it, he was condemned. God is the One who assigns us our talents and deals with mankind very much through the opportunities He extends to him.

Christ will come as Judge one day. He will look for an accounting. We shall each be judged according to the value we place upon the opportunities He presents to us.

The Mission from beginning to end will be a definite attempt to save souls. The Missioners will not rely upon excitement of any kind, but upon the Truth of the Gospel and the Spirit of God. The main features will be devotions and preaching. The Holy Communion will be celebrated each day and there will be services at other hours. At 8 p.m., there will be a progressive series of addresses leading on, step by step to a knowledge of Christ and Salvation. Hence the importance of attending from the first.

Since the outbreak of the World War there have been 32 political assassinations.

WEDDING BELLS

LEACH-WINTERBOTTOM

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon November 15th., at St. John's church, when Edith, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Winterbotton, 106 Cameron street, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Robert Leach. Rev. W. R. Courage of St. George's church, performed the ceremony. The bride who entered the church on the arm of her father, looked lovely in brown silk canton crepe with hat to match. She carried pink roses. The bride was attended by Miss Evelyn Freeman who looked lovely in brown silk with hat to match and carried pink roses. Mr. Squire Winterbottom, only brother of the bride, supported the bridegroom. After the ceremony the guests returned to the home of the bride, where a dainty wedding supper was served. The numerous and costly gifts received showed the high esteem in which the young couple are held. The young couple left on the midnight train for Montreal amid showers of confetti and the best wishes of a large number of friends who gathered at the station to wish them good luck and a safe voyage.

OBITUARY

ABRAHAM BULLA.

The death occurred this morning at St. Joseph's Hospital of the late Abraham Bulla, of Bridgenorth. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from McFadden's Undertaking Parlors to the St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the St. Peter's cemetery.

FRANCIS JOHNSON.

The death occurred last night, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Clarence Cook, 105 Lock Street, of Francis Johnson, in his 83rd year.

The deceased, who was a native of Scotland, had lived in the city for the past eight years. He had spent most of his lifetime in Harwood, where he farmed for nearly seventy years. In Harwood district, he was one of the oldest and most respected residents, well-known and liked, and having a host of friends througbout the countryside. His wife predeceased him about eight years ago. Of a family of eight children, four survive, two daughters and two sons: Mrs. Clarence Cook of this city, Mrs. F. Fowlie of Cobourg, and Alex. and Walter of Peterboro.

The funeral will be held on Monday morning, at nine o'clock, to Bethseda Cemetery, Harwood. Funeral services will be held at 8.30 on Sunday evening, at the home of Mrs. C. Cook, 105 Lock Street, Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church, officiating.

BORDEN PLEADS FOR THE LEAGUE IN HIS ADDRESS

Its Ideals Had Contributed Largely to the Success of Washington Conference.

THE PEACE TREATY

OTTAWA, November 19 (Canadian Press). — Addressing the Women's University Club on Saturday night upon the work accomplished by the Washington Disarmament Conference, Sir Robert Borden made a strong appeal for support of the League of Nations and its ideals, declaring that the principles of discussion, understanding, co-operation, and open diplomacy, embodied in the covenant, had contributed chiefly to the success of the Washington Conference.

Complete unanimity was essential in international conferences, Sir Robert said. He expressed the view that no treaty or resolution could carry unless it received the support of each nation.

Illustrating this point he related the experience of the British Empire delegation, whose proposals for elimination of submarine warfare failed for this reason, although those subsequently put forward by the American delegation practically served the same purpose and were adopted.

Mistress of the Seas.

Discussing the reduction of naval armaments, in regard to which the proposals of the United States Government were not adopted in full, Sir Robert said:

"The world-wide interests of the British Commonwealth have always demanded the maintenance of a great fleet. A generation ago it was Great Britain's policy to maintain a fleet equal to the fleets of any two other naval Powers. Later that standard was reduced, and in 1921 a resolution of the Imperial Conference declared that equality with the naval strength of any other Power was to be the minimum. On the other hand, the United States had embarked upon a programme which would have made that country the greatest naval Power in the world. Having regard to her enormous resources, and to the immense burden of taxation laid upon Great Britain as a result of the war it would not have been possible for the British Commonwealth to enter upon effective competition in the building of battleships of the United States had been disposed to call upon her resources to the full. It should also be remembered that Japan, France, and Italy made corresponding concessions. As it is, mad competition in the building of huge battleships has been stayed for the present."

Replies to Skelton.

After defining the status occupied by the Dominion delegates at the Conference, the speaker made reference to statements made by Professor Skelton upon that point, which he claimed were based upon a misconception.

"In addressing the Canadian Club of Ottawa on 21st January, 1922," said Sir Robert, "Professor Skelton declared that 'Sir Robert Borden did not go to Washington to represent Canada.' Three months before Professor Skelton spoke, Mr. Meighen, then Prime Minister, had publicly announced that Canada would be represented at the conference by a delegate appointed on the recommendation of the Canadian Government. The appointment had been made in accordance with that announcement.

"Professor Skelton was equally at sea in alluding to an incident of the conference. He said that I put forward a reactionary suggestion with regard to China and that I had been repudiated by an unnamed colleague of the British delegation. As a matter of fact, every member of that delegation voted for my proposal, which was accepted unanimously by the conference, including the Chinese delegates."

Chaos in China. ....

Sir Robert spoke of the unfortunate lack of stable central government in China and of the chaotic conditions created by the power of the military governors in the various provinces who maintain vast armies, carry on war with each other, and defy the central government.

The speaker referred to the high civilisation developed by the Chinese, and expressed the belief that a strong, stable system of Federal Government would eventually be built up which would give China a distinctive place among the great nations of the world.

Sir Robert concluded his address with a reference to the aims and ideals of the League of Nations which he felt deserved universal support.

DOUBLE TROUSERS TO FOOL BANDITS

Keep Money Hidden in Inside Pair and Hide Other Valuables Inside a Second Hat.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Rerman Fisher, fifty, arrested for trespassing, was found to be wearing two pairs of trousers and two hats, one fitting snugly inside the other. He explained to Judge Rosenwasser of Yonkers that the purpose of the duplex apparel was to foil bandits. "I keep all my money hidden in the inside trousers," he said. "Other valuable I put inside my outside hat." The prisoner, whose "money and other valuables" consisted of sixty cents in nickels and dimes, was released on suspended sentence.

DALY REFUSES TO SUBMIT TO X-RAY

Will Give $100,000 Bail for Appearance in January

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Following the decision of D. L. McCarthy, K.C., special prosecutor in the Home Bank cases, to have Dr. George W. Graham arrange for an X-ray examination of H. J. Daly, president of the Home Bank, it was announced last night that, rather than submit to further medical examination, President Daly will at once give bail of $100,000 for his appearance at the Criminal Assizes in January.

By arrangement with D. L. McCarthy, T. N. Phelan, counsel for Daly, will apply at the Assizes now sitting for the taking of the bail by two Justices of the Peace or by a High Court Judge at the home of Daly. This move by the defence will obviate the necessity for any further medical or X-ray examinations of Daly, at least between this time and the sitting of the Criminal Assizes in January.

There was a consultation of the doctors at the bedside of Mr. Daly yesterday afternoon, but no announcement was made as to the conclusions reached.

THE WEATHER.

Last night the temperature was down to 11 degrees, much the lowest of the present season, and a little hint that winter is on the way. On some of the streets water lying in the ditches provided ice that was sufficiently strong to support the children, who thus had their first slide. Three years ago Saturday, or on Nov. 17, 1920, we had a snowfall of good ten inches, and on Nov. 9th, of the following year, we were favored with four inches. The first mentioned snowfall was probably the heaviest snow we have ever had for so early in the season.—W. P.

Otto Kahm Urges U.S. to Intervene

NEW YORK, November 19 (Canadian Press). — Otto H. Kahn, international banker, told the Foreign Policy Association on Saturday that it was the duty of the United States to determine what should be done in the.... Franco-German crisis.

"I will not criticise the policy of the United States," he said, "but certiily it has not been a cold-blooded one.

'The United States should determine first in its own mind what should be done, and then the public should be taken into its confidence. Let it then state openly what the issues and circumstances are under which the United States would help."

Greatest Secrecy Shrouds Deliberations of Ambassadors—Stiff Note to Germany Finds Favor With British and Acceded to by French.

AWAIT CONFIRMATION

(By Webb Miller—United Press Staff Correspondent).

PARIS, Nov. 19.—England's renewed declaration that she would not join military action against Germany, to-day made a termination of the Anglo-French entente appear extremely likely.

The Marquis of Crewe, British Ambassador, told Jules Cambon, French representative on the Ambassadors' Conference last night, England would not agree to the French demands for the occupation of further Germany territory.

The meeting of the Ambassadors' Conference, after its postponement Saturday, was again postponed for half an hour to-day.

The fresh postponement caused great speculation among many persons gathered outside to wait for the meeting as to whether last minute efforts to preserve the entente would bear fruit.

Finally at 11.35 a.m. the Ambassadors went into conference.

Secrecy Maintained.

The greatest secrecy was maintained at the Foreign Office, where the meeting was held.

Newspapermen usually received in rooms near the proceedings were asked to leave even the corridors of the building, and the Ambassadors arrived at a side door in an attempt to evade giving any indication of their attitude.

Military attaches of the various Embassies, however, were seen accompanying the diplomats.

Political observers to-day were discussing the new European alignments of Powers likely to be brought into being if the Anglo-French entente was ruptured. France, it was expected, would probably make her friendships with Poland, Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo Slav as tight as possible.

A Russo-German alliance was seen as the next possible development.

There was much speculation as to what Belgium might do when England and France parted company. An Anglo-Italian agreement, if not an actual alliance, was thought to exist already.

Sharp Note to Germany

The Ambassadors studied all sorts of plans with Marshal Foch and the Allied Military Attaches in an attempt to arrive at a compromise acceptable to both France and Britain.

It was understood the compromise agreement to be submitted to the French cabinet included a very sharp note to Germany threatening penalties but not specifying what they would be.

It was understood the compromise was finally reached following instructions to the British Ambassador from London authorizing him to agree to very stiff note without specific mention of what penalties would be taken, in the hope that Germany would yield before a firm allied front.

Britain will not participate in any penalties taken if Germany refuses in face of the joint demand, it was understood.

Submitted to Governments

Jules Cambon, French representative at the conference finally agreed to the British compromise and helped to draw up the proposed note, it was understood.

It was hoped that French cabinet

TORONTO BURGLARS LOADED SAFE ON TRUCK AND ESCAPE

Thieves Become More Daring and Make Away With Valuable Office Records and Available Cash

TORONTO November 19. Canadian Press. — Entering the premises of the West End Laundry and French Cleaning Company, on Saturday night, a gang of thieves rolled the company's heavy safe containing between $1200 and $1400, and practically all of the company's valuable records, over one hundred feet to the rear of the building, where it is believed that they loaded it upon a truck.

The thieves escaped, and the robbery was not discovered until the engineer of the firm reported for work this morning.

SAYS WEST MENTALITY IS STRONGLY LIBERAL

Hon. Chas. A. Dunning Hopeful That Political Sentiment in the Prairie Provinces Will Turn to Liberal Party.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—That the west is Liberal, not in a party sense, but Liberal-minded, because the people have a strong Liberal mentality was one of the statements which Hon. Chas. A. Dunning, Premier of Saskatchewan made in speaking at the Reform Club luncheon on Saturday. There was to have been no speaker Saturday but the western Premier being in Montreal on his way west was taken to the club, and an impromptu luncheon held.

In the minds of Liberals, said Mr. Dunning, the question was 'What of the West." He said the tide of population was sweeping westward, taking with it electoral power, the matter was an important one. In the west were men who would wipe out tariffs, and he felt that if the public men did not adopt a course of reason, when the day came, Eastern Canada would not receive much consideration. In Great Britain, pointed out Mr. Dunning when a crisis had come, the Liberals had united, and he was hoping that something similar would take place in this country because never had a strong virile Liberalism been needed so badly as to-day. There was no way in which a tariff could help a farmer producing nine-tenths for export.

Profits Curtailed.

The west this year said the Premier, had a great per capita production, which would mean benefit to Canada, but it did not mean great prosperity because of the disparity of what the farmer paid for his products and what he received. He was not a "blue ruin" man, he claimed, but this big production did not mean big profits. The farmer who got 30 bushels an acre made money, but whoever got less was out of pocket. The farmer, he admitted, was much in the same position as the eastern manufacturer.

Asked in regard to the wheat pool the Premier said he favored it for the purpose of bringing about more economical distribution of wheat. It could bring advantages if it was properly managed and directed and providing farmers were willing to take an average price, but it could not force up the price of wheat. Economic conditions are improving and will continue to do so unless something in Europe disturbs conditions, for there is no doubt that what is happening in the Ruhr is affecting the farmer in Saskatchewan.

German Widow's Account Wilted

CLAUSTHAL, Saxony, Nov. —(Canadian Press)—The widow of a farmer living near Clausthal has lost the proceeds from the sale of a calf which she marketed for one million marks, six months ago.

The woman failed to keep in touch with the value of the mark, and when she drew her money out of the savings bank yesterday it proved sufficient to pay for one ordinary herring.

VICTORY CLUBS FOR DEMOCRATS

Propose to Organize 6,000 to Round Up Enfranchised Women.

NEW YORK, November 19 (Canadian Press). — The first of 6,000 Victory Clubs, in which Democratic leaders hope to enroll 100,000 women as active workers, will be formed by Mr. George H. Childs, it was announced by Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

The clubs will be formed throughout the country, and are to have at least 24 mmebers each.

Mrs. Childs formerly was president of the Women's Democratic Club of New York City.

Miss Margaret E. McCann, a dealer in securities, also announced that plans were being made for the creation of a woman's national bank here in the near future.

A loan plan for women only in conjunction with the bank also was contemplated, she said.

ENTENTE REACHED SAFE COMPROMISE

Another Crisis Weathered by Ambassadors' Conference—Military Control Again.

PARIS, November 19 (United Press). — The Anglo-French entente appeared to have weahtered another crisis to-day, when it was learned the Ambassadors' Conference reached a virtual agreement on a compromise formula.

The compromise dealt with the proposed Allied action toward Germany regarding the expulsion of the former Crown Prince, and the reimposition of the Allied military control.

The Ambassadors were to meet again at six p.m., it was learned.

Premier Poincare was to submit the proposed compromise between the British and French viewpoints to the Cabinet to-day.

SEEING THE COAST A LA '49

Tourists between Seattle and San Diego are geting quite a shock these days. Along the highway, they are coming across a covered wagon, jogging at a snail's pace. But it holds its own on the road. For its occupants are women, save one little boy. They's Mrs. Metcalf Shaw, her daughters, Miss Gertrude Metcalf Shaw and Mrs. Marion Mantor, and Baby Jack Mantor, all of Seattle. San Diego is their destination. It is a lot more fun 'caravaning" by wagon than by auto, they say.

LLOYD GEORGE ADOPTS PRE-PREMIER TACTICS WITH DUBIOUS EFFECT

In Slashing Attack He Branded the Government Leaders a Scratch Crew of Third Rate Mariners and Mutineers—Has No Competition in Ure of Picturesque Epithets—Issues Are Befogged.

MIDDLE CLASS SPLIT

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 19.—(Wickham Steed Copyright.)—"This election is to be a battle between crabs in a basket," observed yesterday a conscientious foreign inquirer into the British electoral situation. "Everybody seems biting, clawing and tumbling over everybody else." Metaphors drawn from crabs, dead and alive, are already playing a prominent part in election speeches.

Lloyd George led off on Saturday with a slashing attack upon the government, calling its leaders "a scratch crew of third rate mariners whose sole qualification for their posts is that they are also mutineers." "As soon as Bonar Law went into office," continued Lloyd George, "a weak man was put on the bridge and the mutineers got hold of him. The ship is now going headlong on the rocks, unless the people of this country change the crew. On an issue of tin cans the government has staked the whole prosperity of the country without allowing time for discussion. A mistake by the electors now would mean ruin to the country."

Lloyd George has thus reverted to the style he was accustomed to use before he became Premier. Whether it will now appeal to the electorate is open to question. Nobody on the government side is able to compete with him effectively in the use of picturesque epithets. Lord Birkenhead might have been a rival if he had not been estranged by the refusal of the Diehard members of the cabinet to allow him and Austen Chamberlain to take office before the election.

Conservatives Divided.

Disunion in the Conservative rank can no longer be concealed. Even Lord Younger, who as head of the Conservative machine won Bonar Law's election a year ago, now confesses he does not like this election. Lord Derby is supporting Premier Baldwin half-heartedly and seventy per cent. of the Conservative members of Parliament feel more resentment against the government than animosity toward their opponents.

Premier Baldwin's manifesto is a stodgy production and unlikely to arouse enthusiasm. His programme is "to raise revenue by methods less unfair than free trade to home production; to give special assistance to industries suffering unfair foreign competition; to negotiate for reductions in foreign tariffs in order to benefit export trade; to give substantial preference throughout the Empire and assist Empire development by subsidizing cotton growing within the Empire; no duties to be levied on wheat, flour, oats, meat, including bacon, ham and cheese or butter and eggs; to lay down a substantial proportion of 17 light cruisers as soon as parliamentary sanction can be obtained.

The disadvantage of the Conservative candidates is that they cannot explain how any valuable preference to the Dominions is possible on the basis of the Premier's manifesto, nor foretell precisely how the tariff is likely to work at home. Millions of electors know not the meaning of the word "tariff." The government candidates are consequently engaged in expounding a nebulous policy to the electorate, whereas the Liberals have a far easier task in ridiculing Conservative vagueness and denying in advance the efficacy of the proposed remedies for unemployment.

Middle Class Split.

The uncertain element of the situation is the attitude of the masses towards Labor's proposal for a capital levy on all fortunes of more than 5,000 pound for the purpose of reducing the national debt. While the proposal will probably frighten the lower middle class it may attract wage earners. The middle class are apparently split between allegiance to the old free trade doctrines and a desire to give a chance to those who propose new methods for remedying unemployment and diminishing direct taxation.

The middle class woman's vote seems likely to favor protection, but working class women are more accessible to the Liberal and Labor claim that protection would merely increase the cost of living all round.

Not since the Reform Act of 1832 has a British election been fought so entirely in the dark. Conservative

Stresemann Sees Injury to France

BERLIN, Novemebr 19 (Canadian Press). — In a speech to the party leaders yesterday, Chancellor Stresemann stated that his policy had succeeded in bringing both the Anglo-Saxon race and Italy into closer line with Germany.

France, the Chancellor declared, would find that her position eventually would become impossible, and a new chapter in history would be opened.

The speech is regarded in political circles as having greatly strengthened the Chancellor's position.

KIWANIS REVUE IS FULL OF PEP

Special Scenery and Costumes, Attractive Dancing and Good Music Assure Success- Comedy Element Supreme.

Patrons of the Kiwanis revue at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week are assured of something exceptionally good in the way of musical comedy entertainment. Practises according to the director, Martin B. Chenhall are going ahead in fine shape, special scenery has been procured for both sections of the event. A feature of the entire production is the comedy element. There is an abundance of catchy good vocal numbers and plenty of variety. In the cast of about sixty performers, there are no less than twenty-seven leading parts, and Director Chenhall asserts that the production is fortunate in securing so many good voices both as soloists and as chorus members.

The choral dancing numbers are supervised by the Misses Edna Connor and Martha Kirn, who are giving a special dance together in the second portion of the programme, "The Garden of the Shah" offering. The Grand Opera House augmented orchestra will be directed by G. A. Howarth.

The production opens with a chorus by children of the Jackson Park Camp and the Shelter, who are being trained by Mrs. J. A. McKone, some of whom will give two little 'darky' numbers in costume; "Kentucky Babe,' and "Among the Water melon Vines," followed by a chorus by all the children.

The first half of the production shows the Sans Souci sugar plantation on the banks of the Mississippi, the home of Pilot Farley and his adopted daughter Rose who is loved by Richard St. John, a neighbouring planter, and also by Simon Scudder, overseer of the Sans Souci. Rose returns Richard St. John's affections which prompts Scudder to plan Rose's disgrace by declaring her to be the daughter of a slave.

In the second portion with an entirely different settion and general atmosphere, "The Garden of the Shah," in Persia, is presented.

Here Ted Harding and Billy Cummings Canadian mining engineers, accompanied by their colored body servant Sam, come to Persia to work the Shah's gold mine. Ted falls in love with Zehdah, the Shah's daughter, and Billy with Lehlah, Zehdah's friend, while Nowobeh, Zehdah's old nurse pursues Sam, much to his discomfiture, thinking him her affinity in some other incarnation. The comedy element prevails in both portions of the production, with numerous vocal choruses, solos and duetts and plenty of graceful dancing interludes.

BOARD HEALTH HELD MEETING THIS MORNING

Medicel Health Officer Submits Annual Report of Year's Work.

INSTAL PLUMBING

At the regular meeting of the Board of Health held this morning, several applications for sewer connections under the city's plan whereby payment is made through taxes, were heard, and referred to the City Council for action. Those passed in this manner were from Mrs. V. Davis, 92 McDonnel street; G. E. Eason, 217 Princess street; George E. Burton, 480 Driscoll Terrance, and F. C. Riddell, 512 Sherbrooke street.

An application from Gordon C. Reader 84 Gladstone avenue, was referred back to him on motion of Dr. T. W. H. Young and Mayor W. H. Taylor, he being informed that in the building of his new house he must conform to the city bylaw regarding the installation of sanitary conveniences.

Unsanitary conditions at 788 Water street were complained of, and the plumbing inspector informed the Board that sewer connection is being installed here.

J. T. O'Connell asked until next spring to have sewer connections made at 288 and 290 Wescott street. His request was granted on motion of Dr. Young, J. T. C. Lang said he could not connect 639 Rubidge street with a sewer until it is constructed on Edinburgh street. This was referred to the plumbin ginspector for investigation.

Dr. T. W. H. Young, Medical Officer of Health, submitted his annual report, which on motion of Mayor Taylor and Chairman George Duncan was received, to be forwarded to the Provincial Board of Health.

Accounts were passed for payment and salaries of nurses in training at the Queen Mary Hospital, adjusted as from December 1 this year.

CHURCHILL PICKS LEICESTER RIDING.

LONDON, November 19 (Canadian Press). — Winston Spencer Churchill has consented to stand for West Leicester, where in the last parliamentary election a Labourite ousted the Lloyd-Georgean Liberal candidate.

While there is still no definite arrangement between the Liberal and Labour Parties for allocating seats, it is extremely likely that Labour will put up a candidate to oppose Mr. Churchill.

In thise case an exciting contest may be expected, as Mr. Churchill has always stoutly denounced what he describes as the Bolshevik tendencies of the Labour Party, and has strongly opposed a capital levy.

LINDSAY HAS NEW COLLEGIATE WING

Peterboro' Speakers at Opening—"Can't Have New Schools and Porridge Factories" Says H.R.H. Kenner.

LINDSAY, Nov. 19.—The new wing of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute was formally opened on Friday night by commendatory speeches and eloquent addresses by several prominent visitors, including Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, Rev. W. Harold Young, H. R. H. Kenner and others. William Breyfogle, President of the P. C. I. Literary Society, brought the greetings of the Peterboro' Collegiate, giving a splendid address on "Courage, Friendship, and School Spirit."

Students, staff and visitors greatly enjoyed the eloquent, serious, humorous and exceedingly interesting address delivered by Rev. W. Harold Young. His address was full of good thoughts, yet rippled with wholesome humor. In opening he referred to the great advantages and privileges students attending the Lindsay Collegiate must enjoy. It was a splendid Institute with many noble traditions.

The world today is presenting its citizens with a stern task and stern living. Seriousness and sternness in living is what the world requires today. Life today presents many complex problems. Here the speaker pictured a striking contrast between the store of Timothy Eaton fifty years ago and the store of the present day, and added that the contrast in world conditions and living were much the same.

Today it is very necessary to have a good education in order to make progress and get along. Spencer's definition of an educated man was one who knows how to do the right thing as it ought to be done, in the way it ought to be done, at the right time and whether he needs to do it or not. To be an educated man of this standard one must first have knowledge, knowledge being a real element in education second, that knowledge must be put into practical daily life by concrete effort. People learn doing DO IT by practice; thirdly, a man must have judgment to be an educated man and do the thing at the time it ought to be done. Ninety per cent of the failures in the world today are due to poor judgment; fourthly, the element of self control is essential in the well educated man.

Says Peterboro Envious

Principal Kenner of Peterboro Collegiate Institute brought the greetings from the teachers of the Institutes of the District. The speaker congratulated the Board on its splendid Collegiate and the pupils on the excellent staff.

"We in Peterboro are somewhat envious of this building and conditions here, because we will not be able to add to our Collegiate, for we recently spent $600,000 in a bridge of sighs for a porridge factory, and you can't have new schools and porridge factories. We haven't got a gymnasium like Lindsay, or a domestic science and manual training rooms.

"I started as schoolmaster at Oakwood, my certificate being signed by the late Inspector Reazin. I then went to Port Perry, so I can speak of Lindsay from an experience of 40 years. I recall such notable teachers as Prof. Milner, Dr. Cornish, Dr. Hardy and the late John Harstone."

The speaker congratulated the Board and the citizens of Lindsay on its very efficient teaching staff.

EXERCISE ECONOMY IN OBTAINING GOVERNOR

HOBART, Tasmania, Nov. 19. — (Canadian Press Cable Via Reuters.) —Replying to the agitation in favour of the appointment of a governor from England, Premier Lyons said the expense of importing a governor was not justified. If a governor was necessary a Tasmanian or an Australian was good enough, but in any case it was a matter for parliament to decide.

FLATLY REFUSES GIVE UP PRINCE

(By Carl D. Groat).

BERLIN, Nov. 19. — "Germany will not surrender the former Crown Prince even if France takes military action."

Chancellor Stresemann made this flat declaration in a speech at a party caucus of members of the Reichstag. He declared the Federal courts must deal with the leaders of the recent Munich rising.

Germany's refusal to submit to reimposition of military control by the Allies, despite French demands, was also emphasized by the Chancellor in his bid for the support of his party.

"Many persons assert that parties no longer exist and demand a Nationalist dictator," the Chancellor said. "If a dictatorship came about it would be the most independent form of government conceivable," he continued, concluding that if he is to remain as Chancellor he must have unquestioned support from his party.

The Chancellor asserted that political and diplomatic steps taken by Germany had contributed to placing France in a position she had never before occupied with both Anglo-Saxon powers, co-operating toward the same ideals, with Italy parting from her and Belgium weakening. The importance of these developments for Germany was that they were ushering in a new era, if even France indulged in further acts of violence.

The sense of note proposed by the Council of Ambassadors to be sent to Germany was said this afternoon to be a demand that Germany provide protection for the inter-Allied military control mission wherever the Reich has control.

Blue Serge Frock

(By MARIAN HALE)

PARIS, Nov. 1.—The blue serge frock is the staple in every young girl's wardrobe and here is the Parisian idea of what a simple little serge should look like.

These sketches show you the silhouette and the type of frock that Paris has decreed is the proper one for morning and street wear.

You will notice that the flapper figure is the one that is being glorified this season, and any provision that has been made for the woman who has gone beyond it has escaped me, though I have been on the alert for just such a model, knowing as I do that we simply aren't all built on the flapper plan.

You get into these frocks by slipping them over the head. How you get around in them and how you get out again becomes a matter for each individual to solve for herself. The person who has mastered the shimmy movement would find it easier than the novice, I fancy.

The belt, you will notice, when it appears at all, is placed very low about the hips, where it can have no possible reason for being or serve any useful function.

This type of frock, either with the perfectly straightline silhouette or with the circular flounce, which gives freedom of the knees but scarcely changes the straight effect, is the foundation upon which practically every smart frock for day, and many of those for evening, is built.

There is little variation in line. All variety lies in the trimming, in the introduction of a bright color lining, a flounce, or in some embroidery or braiding. With these models is worn the small cloche of black felt or the small sailor with the snug crown and rolling brim, rarely more than two or three inches wide.

Every attempt is being made by designers this year to bring a greater variety of clothes into the stylish woman's life and to make a sharper line of demarkation between the frocks for various occasions.

Parisian couturiers are avowedly tired of the simple little silk frock that may be worn appropriatly at any hour of the day. They are trying to keep severe simplicity for the morning hours, to introduce richness and elegance into the afternoon frocks and to make evening clothes positively gorgeous.

They are trying also to make the light-colored evening frock replace the black one that may be worn all season. A little cogitation on your part will reveal to you the idea back of it all.

W. J. GERALD, OF OTTAWA DIED AT HIS HOME TO-DAY

OTTAWA, Nov. 19. — (Canadian Press). — W. J. Gerald, for many years Deputy Minister of Inland Revenue, and a prominent clubman of the capital, died at his local residence at an early hour this morning. Mr. Gerald was born at Prescott in 1850, he was educated at St. Joseph's College at St. Laurent, Montreal, and entered the Civil Service in 1867.

THREE ACCUSED OF AIDING PRISONER.

Former Toronto Policeman Escaped From the Industrial Farm at Fort William.

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 19. — (Canadian Press). — Charged with aiding and abetting James Clifford Lockwood to escape from the Fort William Industrial Farm recently, A. L. Smith, local druggist, and a former alderman; Mrs. Lockwood, wife of the escaped prisoner, and Mrs. Annie Morris, a friend of all three, are in prison here. They appeared in Police Court Saturday and were remanded.

Lockwood, a former Toronto policeman, was recaptured at Duluth on Friday, but on the arrival of the steamship Huronic here he could not be found. Whether he committed suicide en route or escaped again at the docks here, is not yet known.

It transpires that Lockwood met his wife, formerly Gertrude Violet Hucker, of Fort William, apparently the day he escaped from Langstaff, near Toronto, where he was serving a sentence. Three days later they were married in Port Arthur.

NO BOBBED HAIR IN PENITENTIARY

(Special to the Examiner.)

KINGSTON, November 19.—They used to bob the hair of the female convicts in the Portsmouth Penitentiary some years ago, but they don't do it now, and for the reason that a good-natured warden did not like bobbed hair. Up to that time the inmates of the federal female prison were the only flappers of the bobbed hair variety in Canada. When a young woman was admitted to the prison she had to submit to the cutting off of her locks, a custom that had always been observed, but for which there was no legal authority.

In 1889 a beautiful young woman was convicted of manslaughter, and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. She had been tried on the charge of murdering her husband but the jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter. She was transferred to Portsmouth Penitentiary to serve her sentence and upon her admission she refused to submit to the cutting of her hair. She defied the matron and demanded to see the warden. The matron reported the matter to the warden, who happened to be an official sent down from Ottawa to fill the position in an emergency. He was a man of very fastidious ideas. Upon hearing the matron's story about the new arirval refusing to have her hair cut off, he asked to have her brought to his office, which was done.

The young lady convict was of striking appearance. Her hair was piled upon her haad, a perfect wealth to her. It was jet black, and glossy. She had beautiful black eyes, a perfect complexion and pleasing features.

"I refuse to have my hair cut," she said, "and I am not going to submit to having it cut, because you have no right to do it. I want the order suspended until I can write to the Minister of Justice and to my lawyer."

"The Warden replied that he did not give any order for the cutting of her hair, and he did not know who did, but he would refer the matter to the Minister of Justice at Ottawa, and in the meantime her hair would not be cut.

A report was sent to Ottawa forthwith in which it was pointed out that there was no regulation and no statutory authority for cutting women's hair. It had been a practice carried on for forty years or more, but it had never been sanctioned by any regulations. In due course an order was sent out from Ottawa to the effect the young woman's hair was not to be cut, and the practice was to be stopped forthwith.

TWO MEN HURT BY EXPLOSION

Accident Near Campbellford on Saturday - Auction Sales.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 19. — Mr, Dan Brown, blacksmith, and Mr. Wallace Hubble were engaged in digging a well at Stanwood on Saturday. They had to do some blasting and in lighting the fuse had to use a long pole. The blast did not go off and Mr. Brown went back to light it again and just as he leaned over the well the explosion occurred, coming up in his face. He was rushed to Peterborough Hospital, but it is feared he will lose the sight of one eye.

Mr. Hubble was slightly injured also.

Auction Sale Prices.

The stock at Mr. Zufelt's sale held at Warkworth brought high prices. One team of horses sold for four hundred dollars, hens sold at one dollar and five cents each and cows for seventy-five to seventy-seven dollars. Mr. Battisby was the auctioneer.

Dr. Geo. Hay, of town, was the auctioneer at the sale of Mr. W. J. Armstrong, merchant. Mr. Armstrong sold his household furniture and also his residence on Rear street, and will live with his daughter, Mrs. Jack McEachern, over his store.

Men's Meeting

On Sunday p.m. at 2.30 the men of the Methodist Churcht met to re organize the adult Bible class. Rev. W. Elliott was chairman and Mr. Gerald Wilson was secretary for the afternoon. Mr. Richard Stephens returned last night from a three months' visit in the West, at the home of Mr. John Cummings, who used to live here. Mr. Stephens says that at Strathclair, Manitoba, where he visited, the people were skating and the ice was one and one-half feet thick.

Mrs. Roy Fleming and Mrs. Geo. Vanvolkenburg are attending the Institute convention this week in Toronto.

LEFT-OVER COFFEE.

It is poor economy to reheat coffee since the flavour lies in the volatile oil which goes after the coffee is made. But left-over coffee can be utilised very nicely for mixing ginger bread or for gelatine desserts.

WHY 52,121 MEN FOUGHT TO GO SUNDAY SCHOOL

Kansas City's Secret Revealed—'Tis One Man With a Vision Who Raised Class of 35 to the World's Largest.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov 16—What led 52,121 men to arise almost before daylight in answer to the class of seventy buglers to stand in line and crowd their way into an auditorium, there to wait for nearly three hours sitting on hard chairs standing in aisles leaning against posts, just to attend Sunday School? This is the question flung at Kansas City from towns and cities from coast to coast, from Canada to the Gulf as a result of the astounding word flashed throughout the country that the Business Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church had drawn a record attendance of 52,121, and thereby set a world's record.

For answer, the story of a man, a man with personality, a man with a vision was broadcast. And here it is:

Eight years ago, this man, Napoleon W. Dible, little known in Kansas City, but possessing a personality was elected president of the Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church. This class, like many another, had been traveling along in a perfunctory manner with its 35 members.

Had a Vision

Dible immediately visioned a mammoth Bible class. Throwing the magnetism of his great personality into the work he divided his 35 members into two forces, each force being split up into teams to canvass the district this church served for new members. The first drive netted 200

A card index system was installed and the addresses of all men who had been induced to attend a meeting were filed. In one hour the members could call all of these men by telephone.

Other drives followed and as the months went on the class grew by leaps and bounds until in the later part of 1921, it had reached a membership of 1,200.

"Not enough," said Mr. Dible.

Then came a challenge from the Vaughan class of the Calvary Baptist Church of Washington, D.C., the church which the late President Harding attended. Readily Mr. Dible saw his chance to awaken a new interest and accepted—and he won. The class at the end of the contest had grown to 3,783 men.

Hardly had the contest with the Washington church closed when a defi from Long Beach, Calif., was received. This was the spur needed to complete the dream of Mr. Dible for in the five Sundays of the contest, a total of 80,494 men rallied in Kansas City to God's cause, while at Long Beach 51,508 turned out.

But let's hearken back to that last meeting of the contest the one which finally won the World's record and where "Onward Christian Soldiers" was sung to the tramp, tramp, tramp of 52,121 pairs of feet.

Convention Hall, Kansas City's mammoth "show place," seating 12,000 persons, was one sea of humanity. Twenty-five thousand persons were crammed within Hundreds found seats on the huge steel girders spanning the interior of the great hall and high over the heads of those seated. Thousands of others crowded the streets, sidewalks and a huge vacant lot just opposite the hall. And still they came, until one great army, advancing the teachings of the Divine Philosopher, at whose lowly birth the angels sang in the heavens: "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men." had been assembled.

No class Distinction

Every walk of life was represented in this huge class. Religious prejudice, creeds and doctrines were laid aside in a common Christianity to serve in a general mission of "Homage to their Master."

Youth and age, the clerk, the capitalist, the chauffeur, the merchant, employer and employe had forgotten class distinction and rubbed elbows in this great cause.

Loud speakers had been assembled outside the great hall so that those unable to get within the hall might ear the speakers and music.

With bowed head, these 52,121 men were lead in prayer, followed by the playing of "Nearer My God to Thee" by a band of 500 pieces. A hush then fell over these "standard bearers' a a tall, gaunt man, with determination and courage written on his features, arose from a chair on the rostrum.

"Missourians all, and many of you pioneers of this great commonwealth, I greet you as fearless soldiers of The Lord. Missouri and the world at large, has a right to be proud of you. Carry on."

It was Gov. Arthur M. Hyde of Missouri speaking.

And they are carrying on, for, as Mr. Dible says the spirit has been awakened.

Squatters Lose Claim to Land

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18.—(Canadian Press)—After a fight extending over many long months, the Stanley Park Indian squatters lost their case Friday in the Supreme Court. Mr. Justice Murphy ruled that none of the eight defendants had proved the right to the land by reason of sixty years uninterrupted possession. While the judge made this decision in the Dominion Government's action against the squatters, he reserved judgment in the city's proceedings.

One Indian who was not a party to the action is admitted to be a bonafide squatter.

CAMPBELLFORD CHEESE BOARD HELD MEETING

Nearly Three Hundred Boxes Boarded—Address by Dairy Instructor.

A GOOD SEASON

CAMPBELLFORD, November 19. —The final meeting of the season of the Campbellford cheese board was held on Saturday afternoon and the price paid was 17 15-16c. The number of boxes boarded was 294. The offerings of the various factories were as follows: Burnbrae 50; Kimberley 54; I.X.L., 43; Trent Valley 31; West Seymour 50. New Model 30; Woodlands 36. The buyers present were Messrs. Cooke, Ivey, McCreary and Thompson. Mr. Cook started the biding at 17 3-4c but the figure was finally raised to 17 15-16c by Mr. Thompson, who took the entire board at that price. The next meeting of the Board will be held in the afternoon of the fourth Thursday in April and the West Seymour factory will continue to make cheese for another month, and possibly a few of the others may carry on for a short time longer but the product of these will be sold direct to the dealers.

Dairy Instructor John Murray, who has held that office with satisfaction to all interested for the past two years, was by the unanimous vote of the members present, on motion of Alex. Hume and Reeve Van Volkenburg, recommended for re-appointment for another term. In giving a resume of the season's work, Mr. Murray reported a successful year. There are 30 cheese factories in Northumberland County and of these 14 are in Seymour township.

The Seymour factories' average production for the season was over 100,000 lbs. of cheese each, and taking the average price received, 19 cents, it was shown that the output of the factories for 1923 totalled an amount in excess of one quarter of the entire assessed value of the townshi pof Seymour, so that according to Mr. Murray's view the patrons had every reason to feel gratified over the result.

Buyer Cook asked Mr. Murray if it was not true that the quality of the cheese produced this year had not been below the usual standard due to the fact that so much of the time of the instructors had been taken up testing the butter fat in milk, a new duty imposed upon that official by the operation of the Dairy Act, effective for the first time this year, and Mr. Murray, while not exactly admitting this, held that the test of qaulity was higher in 1923 than it had been in any year since before the war.

Mr. Cook believes that the instructors have enough to do watching the manufacture of cheese and should be relieved of the extra work entailed by the new Act.

The annual meeting of the Northumberland county branch of the Eastern Ontario Dairyman's Associations will be held in Warkworth on December 18th. Alex. Hume, director for the district, will occupy the chair and addresses will be given by the Departmental experts in the dairy business.

Birthday Party.

Master Franklin had a very interesting birthday party on Friday afternoon. He entertained twenty-four of his friends at their home on Queen Street, twelve boys and twelve girls. The table was artistically decorated in red, white and blue, a large birthday cake in the centre of the table and a streamer to each plate with a favor at each plate. A very interesting feature of the evening was a balloon contest, the balloons being drawn from a Jack Homer pie. The one blowing their balloon the highest got the prize, the winner being Master Staunton Archer. The evening was spent in games and music. Miss L. Smith and Miss G. Maynard assisted Mrs. Linton during the evening. The party ended about eleven o'clock. Franklin received some lovely gifts, showing his popularity with the young folks. Everyone went home delighted with the wonderful time spent.

Mr. Staunton Archer, whose birthday was Sunday, entertained three of his boy friends to tea, Franklin Linton, Eric Douglas and Maynard Watson.

A party of Campbellford people attended the dance in Warkworth Friday night given by the Amateur Athletic Association, which was a great success.

SPANISH ROYALTY VISITING IN ROME

Guests of King Victor and Will Call on the Pope.

SPEZZIA, Italy, November 19 (Canadian Press). — King Alfonso of Spain, accompanied by Queen Victoria, and a somewhat numerous entourage of grandees, admirals generals, and statesmen, arrived here last night on board the battleship Jaime I., on his way to Rome, where he is to visit King Victor Emmanuel and pay his respects to His Holiness Pope Pius.

Following a formal welcome by distinguished Italians, the Spanish royal party proceeded to a special train and started for Rome, which will be reached this morning.

Stolen Cars His Stock in Trade

SHERBROOKE, Que., Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press)—Arthur Baillargeon was found guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses in the court of King's Bench here Saturday. The charge followed the seizure by government officials of several cars in this district alleged to have been stolen. J. S. Couture local lawyer, who had purchased a car from Baillargeon for $1,000 was the principal witness against the accused. He had since found out that the car had been stolen from W. Burke, of Chicopee Falls, Mass. Sentence will be given at the conclusion of the criminal term.

LAKEFIELD FIREMEN HOLDING MASQUERADE

Will Purchase New Equipment With the Proceeds--Lakefield News of Interest.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 19.—Invitations are out for the Masquerade Dance of the Lakefield Volunteer Fire Brigade to be held on November 22, in the Memorial Hall. The patronesses are Mesdames J. C. Strickland, W. W. Leonard, T. W. B. Marling, A. W. Mackenzie, S. J. Gibson, W. M. Graham.

The Fire Brigade is a voluntary one and they not only give their services voluntarily but they are also endeavoring to raise money to add to the equipment such necessaries as improve its efficiency. Every person who owns property either a house or house furnishings wishes protection for them in case of fire; that is the work undertaken by the Fire Brigade and in helping them we help ourselves so the effort can hardly be called philantrophy. The firemen are not asking charity but only such support as will enable them more efficiently to help us.

A very prominent orator at a public meeting recently that "the greatest things in the world had been accomplished by volunteer workers," The truth of this statement has been proved in many ways and never more so in Lakefield than in the case of the Fire Brigade.

Holding Mission.

Rev. Richard Seaborne of Toronto is conducting a mission in St. John's church, Lakefield, this week. There are three services daily: Holy Communion at 10 a.m.; Evensong at 4.30 p.m., and a mission service at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday evening the subject of the sermon was "Sin and its inevitable consequences." The flood, which destroyed all the world save Noah and his family, was God's punishment for the sin which was so prevalent at that time. The lesson remains that unless we repent and confess our sins we cannot expect to escape punishment.

On Wednesday evening the subject of the sermon was "The Foregiveness of Sin." The speaker warned his hearers not to mistake remorse for contrition. Remorse is sorrow for sin because of the consequences but contrition is sorrow for sin because of the offense against God. We should truly repent and confess our sins and receive absolution for them.

On Thursday night the story of the Good Samaritan was the theme of the very appealing address of Mr. Seaborn.

The theme was the parable within the parable. The young man or woman leaves home and goes into the world to make his or her own way. Leaving home (Jerusalem) and taking the Jericho road which is beset with temptations. People pass by and give good advice but give no practical help till the Good Samaritan (Our Lord Himself) comes and takes him to the inn—the church. The perils and pitfalls which await us are many but our Lord is always readys to help and guide us along the way which leads from Jerusalem to Jericho. We need Him and cannot afford to do without Him and if we trust him, He will take us home at the last.

Bazaar Epidemic.

The Christmas Bazaar season is looming up and within the next month the usual number will be held. This is a specially active season for the ladies as the effort is an entirely feminine one. New ideas for dainty and useful articles are eagerly sought and there is a certain amount of rivalry as to who can produce the most unique and attractive display.

A Thankoffering.

The Thankoffering meeting of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian church will be held on Tuesday afternoon, November 20 at 2.30 p.m. in the church. Mrs. Ewart of Cobourg, president of the district will speak and a very profitable and helpful meeting is expected. Invitations have been given to the Missionary Societies of the other churches in the village to be present.

Fixing Premises.

Messrs. Hill and Sabatino are altering and improving their garage on Queen street; they are painting it and have put in a new floor and new doors and have several other alterations on the way which will greatly improve their premises.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chant have returned home from their vacation which was spent with friends in Toronto and other points.

Mr. Victor Shewen of Mount Julian was in the village on Wednesday.

Mrs. T. L. Webster was in Peterboro on Wednesday.

J. H. Sherwin was in Toronto on Tuesday.

Mrs. Laurence H. Grahame, who spent the past few weeks with Mrs. F. J. Tate, left on Thursday for Toronto where she will visit friends.

Mr. Webster Blewett of Peterboro was in the village on Thursday.

SAYS SASKATCHEWAN HAS "SCRAPED BOTTOM"

REGINA, Nov. 17. — Declaring that the time has come for "sane optimism, not the kind which subdivides farm land five miles from town into city lots, but the kind that digs in to bring better conditions about," Premier Dunning told the live stock men from Saskatchewan and adjoining provinces attending the Saskatchewan Sheep and Swine exhibition and sale that in his opinion Saskatchewan had "scraped bottom" the past winter and was now making measurable progress to economic recovery. This progress, however, should be along sound lines and greater attention should be devoted to lowering the cost of production as well as to reducing marketing costs.

ARREST THREE MEN ON DEATH OF GIRL

Illegal Operation on Young Girl Alleged—Victim Was 17 Years of Age.

TORONTO, November 19 (Canadian Press). — Ivy Patterson, aged 17 years, died in the General Hospital early on Sunday morning, the police allege from septic poisoning, brought on from an illegal operation.

The operation was performed one week ago, and the young victim was removed to the hospital on Wednesday last

Her condition was so serious that the doctors did not expect she would live more than 24 hours from the time she was admitted to the hospital.

Dr. Robert Walker, Jarvis Street, David West and Ralph Devoy are now in custody on the grave charges.

PATTON OF OSHAWA GOES TO PITTSBURGH

OSHAWA, Ont., November 19 (Special to The Examiner). — R. D. Patton, better known as "Pat" among Central Ontario Baseball League towns, squeezed hands with local admirers this past week, and announced his departure for Pittsburgh, Pa.

R. D. has been with Oshawa as a right hand slab artiste since the organisation of the League in 1919, and was a big factor when Oshawa won the League pennant in 1921, his crowning effort being in the play-off with Belleville at Port Hope when he beat Freddy Goyer by laying down a perfect bunt with a runner on third base in the last frame.

HON. WILLIAM PUGSLEY UNDER SURGEON'S KNIFE

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.— Hon. Wm. Pugsley, who for some weeks has been a patient in a local hospital, underwent a serious operation on Saturday. Dr. G. S. McCarthy, the attending physician, stated last night that Mr. Pugsley had stood the operation well.

EGGS HIGHER IN OSHAWA.

Seventy Cents a Dozen was Saturday's Market Price.

OSHAWA, November 19. Special. —The local market Saturday morning was the smallest for some time. A large display of flowers by a local florist was the main attraction. Eggs hit the high mark selling at 70c a dozen; butter 40 to 42c a pound; ducks 40c pound; chickens 35c pound cabbage 5 and 10c each, squash 10c, poatoes $1.50 a bag; pears 70c basket; carnations sold at 75c dozen; chrysanthemums $1 to $3 a dozen, ferns, 50c and up.

RIDEAUS TAKE FIRST

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—In a most interesting game of rugby Rideaus of Ottawa, defeated Westmounts, of Montreal by 9 to 4 in the first of home and home games for the junior Q.R.F.U. championship played there Saturday afternoon. The local team, will therefore carry a five-point lead for the return game in Montreal next Saturday.

OSHAWA STREET CARS EARNED BIG RETURNS

OSHAWA, Ont., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—Oshawa Street Railway, with an investment of $391,431.00 in road and equipment, and an earning capacity from last year's operations of $431,794.00. Dividends amounting to $4,200.00 were paid out last year.

Nice Teeth

They mean so much that you should learn how millions now attain them

You see whiter teeth now everywhere, and people smile to show them. Compare them with dingy teeth—teeth coated with a film. Mark how much those prettier teeth add to charm and beauty.

Then make this test and you will learn how this new beauty came.

That cloud is film

The cloud on teeth is film—the viscous film you feel. Much of it resists the tooth brush, clings and stays. Soon it becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats. That is why teeth lose luster.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Under old methods, very few people escaped those film-caused troubles.

Dental science has found two ways to meet this situation. One

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. The other removes it without harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

That tooth paste has brought a new dental era to millions of homes the world over.

Folks see and feel the new effects

Pepsodent brings other new results. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva—the neutralizer of mouth acids. It multiplies the starch digestant in saliva—there to digest starch deposits.

Old methods reduced these protective agents. This new method gives them multiplied power.

These results are quickly seen and felt. No one can doubt them, none can question their benefits.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

You will be surprised and delighted. Cut out coupon now.

THE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM.

The troubles of the Minister of Immigration are numberless, and Hon. J. A. Robb is to be congratulated upon the cheery fortitude with which he is standing up under the burden.

If there is any subject upon which there is widespread difference of opinion in Canada it is that of immigration.

Some newspapers and individuals have unceasingly called upon the Government to throw down the bars and let everybody in who wants to come.

The Minister having announced that restrictions are to be removed, other papers and other individuals declare that our cities will be filled with unemployed, our undesirable population will be added to and a burden will be imposed upon our municipalities.

"Let them all in," says one group. "Canada needs many millions more people to develop her resources, to help pay off our national debt and to make our National Railways pay."

"Keep them out," advise the other side. "There is enough unemployment here now without filling our cities with immigrants from all parts of Europe."

How would you like to be Minister of Immigration?

TRUE SPORTSMANSHIP NOT DEAD.

In these days when prizefighters ignore the rules and stand over a prostrate opponent ready to fall him again before he is squarely on his feet, when racing skippers refuse to recognize the regulations and sail away home, when rugby teams try to use an ineligible star in a final game and when a famous baseball manager throws a book to his players, remarking, "There are the new rules, boys; let us get together and see how we can beat them," it is not to be wondered at that grave doubts arise as to whether there remain many traces of real sportsmanship in the world.

And yet incidents arise that show the British love fair play, for honest sport is not dead.

There was such an incident in Saturday's rugby game between the teams representing the Kingston and Peterborough Collegiate Institutes—to many people not a very big thing perhaps, but great in significance nevertheless.

The Kingston team had apparently completed a play that gained considerable ground and gave them possession of the ball within striking distance of the Peterborough goal line.

There was a doubt, however, in the referee's mind as to whether or not the ball struck a Kingston player who was "offside."

The player in question promptly acknowledged that he had been touched with the ball—the frank admission taking away from Kingston a splendid opportunity to score.

He could easily have lied about it, but that would not be "cricket," so the real sportsman that he was he admitted that a technical offence had been committed.

The Peterborough team, gallant sportsmen themselves, paid the hero of the incident the most unusual tribute of a round of applause as play was resumed, and it was richly merited.

No, real sport is not dead so long as youngsters of this calibre are being developed in our schools.

JAY WALKING AND ACCIDENTS.

A coroner presiding over a Toronto inquest resulting from a traffic accident the other day had considerable to say about jay walking, which he apparently considered the great cause of traffic fatalities.

A newspaper paragrapher explained recently that a jay walker is a person who would rather get run over in the middle of the block than at a crossing.

That was evidently not the coroner's definition, for he clung to the idea that if people only crossed the road at street intersections there would be no accidents.

That conclusion is very much open to doubt inasmuch as the figures show that a large number of pedestrians have been run down on the regular crossings.

There is no use in trying to place all the onus on the pedestrian, for in the majority of cases carelessness or inefficiency on the part of the motorist is the chief cause of accidents.

Crossing in the middle of a block is, of course, a dangerous feat, but it must be remembered that much of the jay walking is done by children too young to realize the risk they run.

They have a habit of darting suddenly out into the roadway, regardless of traffic conditions, and no regulations could be framed that would prevent them from running into danger.

That being so the motorist should regulate his conduct while at the wheel in accordance with conditions as they exist.

The knowledge that children do run out into the roadways should cause every driver to have his car so thoroughly under control that he is ready for an emergency of this kind at any time. Only in that way can traffic accidents be materially reduced.

NOT ALL AGRICULTURE.

It has been said that the whole country is prosperous when the farmers are prosperous, says the Ottawa Journal. That is true. But it is not true that the whole country is depressed when wheat growers are not doing well? There are a great many farmers in Canada to whom the price of wheat is not a vital matter for the sufficient reason that it does not affect more than ten or twenty per cent. of their total production. To probably as high as seventy per cent. of all the farmers of the Dominion wheat growing is more or less incidental. The price of cattle, sheep, swine, butter, eggs, poultry, fruit, vegetables, hay, and so on is of greater importance than the price of wheat.

The position of farmers in Canada may not be closely comparable with that of farmers in the United States, because there are no cotton growers nor corn growers on this side of the line, while there is a higher proportion of wheat growers. There is nevertheless some analogy. Statistics which relate wholly to the United States have some relevancy to the Dominion. It is at least instructive to know that the revenues of American farmers last year were distributed as follows: Animal products 37 per cent., corn 13 per cent., forage 10 per cent., cotton 9 per cent., vegetables 7 per cent., wheat 6 per cent., fruit 4 per cent., oats 4 per cent., and other crops 10 per cent. Yet when the production of American farms was measured against the total production of the country it represented but 29 per cent.

Canada is rapidly getting away from her dependence on farm products. With an export trade in excess of a billion dollars per annum, the place of agriculture is steadily declining and manufactures are rising. At the rate of progress during the past ten years, the time would seem to be near at hand when products of the forest and mine would exceed in export value the total export value of all farm products.

Side by side with that remarkable development has proceeded the steady advance of our foreign trade in industrial products of other classes; so that we have ample warrant for encouragement as we look ahead. There would be general rejoicing if the farmers of the Dominion were moving along at the same pace; but we must all see that there is no justification for assuming that progress is not being made because a single class of producers is marking time. On the contrary, we should observe a true sense of proportion, and when we do that the situation is most promising.

RED DISCLOSURES.

Once again we have been favored with a copy of the International Press Correspondence, a periodical published in Berlin, dealing with Communist activities. It is generally agreed that Russia is doing much better since she abandoned her Bolshevistic principles and adopted "bourgeois" ways, but that fact does not prevent her from declaiming just as loudly as ever against capitalism and all the hated doctrines of the "bourgeoise." There is an article in this latest number, for instance, on the British Imperial conference, in which it is asserted that "the representatives of Canada, New Zealand and South Africa, Newfoundland, India, and now even of Ireland, have met together in London for the purpose of consulting as to how the bourgeoise of the British empire can best combine its powers in order to emerge successfully from the international crisis." The suggested measures for such resuscitation are treated with ridicule, especially the preferential proposals. "These prescriptions of the elder Chamberlain are useless to-day, when it is a question of strengthening the buying powers of the world." Morever, "the complete futility of all attempts to form an artificial economic unit out of the British empire is rendered sufficiently clear by the relations between Canada and the United States." Quite evidently, according to this Berlin economist, the "bourgeois" British empire is doomed. But, fortunately for the empire, the world is not taking its ideas of economics from Germany just now.

Another article deals with "The Enemy in Our Midst," the enemy being "reformist politicians and trade union bureaucracy". It contains a heated denunciation of "Labor fakirs and fat trades union officials." If any of our readers had the idea that the Communist agitators were easing up in their attacks on legitimate labor organizations, or that there had been any abandonment of the famous policy of "boring from within," this candid profession should undeceive them: "There should be ceaseless agitation amongst the rank and file trade union workers, amongst the unemployed, and especially among those workers who have abandoned the unions—agitation supplementing the more theoretical lessons of the class struggle by simple, realistic and concrete examples. Facts such as those dealing with the enormous salaries received by the trade union officials—who are paid from the meager earnings of the workers—cannot be too often reiterated before the disgruntled trade unionists. Instead of leaving the unions in despair, the workers should re-enter them in order to kick the yellow leaders out."

There are, of course, several references to soviet Russia, of which the most interesting, perhaps, is the explanation of "family law," by the chairman of the Moscow commission specially appointed to revise this class of legislation. What the "revision" will consist in may be gathered from the circumstance that the chairman regrets the fact that the soviet is "not yet in a position to emancipate the children from the rights exercised over them by their parents." With regard to paternity it is asserted by this authority, who surely ought to know, than any person who has been registered as the father of a child has no power to dispute such registration, "even if the truth of the assertion that the registered person is not the father of the child is in contestable," except in the event of "proceedings on his evidence" being likely to lead to an outcome advantageous to the child itself. Thus, it would appear, if a man is wrongly accused by an unscrupulous woman, he has absolutely no redress in law, especially if he is in comfortable circumstances, but must shoulder all the obligations implied in such accusation. It is explained that the "family law" is completey separate from the "marriage law." It makes no difference to the legal rights of the child whether its parents are "living in a formally registered marriage state or not." As regards the upbringing of the children, certain "limitations of parental rights" are imposed, In the matter of religion, for instance, "parents are not entitled to determine what religion is to be embraced by their children." The commission unanimously passed a decree to the following effect: "Until the children are of age, they are regarded as belonging to no religion whatever. Any agreement made by parents as to their children belonging to one or another religion is not legally binding." There is much more in a similar vein, but enough has been quoted to show that the soviet still remains the soviet, in spite of modifications necessary for its self-preservation—Hamilton Spectator.

Floating Specks Before The Eyes Means Liver Trouble

When specks start to float before the eyes, when everything seems to turn black for a few seconds and you feel as if you were going to faint, you can rest assured that your liver is not working properly.

The essential thing to do in all cases where the liver is slow, lazy or torpid, is to stir it up by the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and clear away the accumulated mass of waste and poisonous matter from the system.

Mr. Chas. Ayland, Frankville, Ont., writes:—"I used to be awfully bothered with floating specks before my eyes, headaches and sickness to my stomach. I took just half a vial of your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and ever since I have felt as well as I ever did. Now I always keep them on hand."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.— Although wheat showed something of a downward tendency at times to-day, final quotations were up again to almost exactly the same as 24 hours before. The fact that a split between France and England had been at least temporarily averted was a steadying influence. Wheat closed firm at yesterday's finish, to a shade lower, December $1.01 3-4 to $1.01 3-4 and 7-8, and May $1.07 1-4 to $1.07 3-8. Corn finished 1-4 and 3-8c. to 3/4c. down; oats, at 1-8c. decline to a shade advance, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 10c.

With Sterling exchange at a new low record for the year, and with the day's earlier advances showing the Franco-British entente near to the breaking point, sellers in the wheat pit had an advantage at the opening, and most of the buying was restricted to shorts. Some renewal of spreading operations between Winnipeg and Chicago, with the buying at Winnipeg, was also a bearish influence here. Subsequently, however, the outlook for continued political co-operation on the part of London and Paris seemed more reassuring and surplus offerings of wheat here were fully absorbed.

The narrowness of the range of wheat prices to-day, 1-2 to 3-4c., was commented on in some quarters as suggesting that bearish factors had been discontinued perhaps in full. Accordingly, some of the late buying was said to have been based on the assumption that any change in the market outlook was likely to develop in favor of the holder of wheat. Further imports of Canadian wheat, duty paid, were seemingly offset by talk of a higher tariff soon.

Fine weather and increasing receipts of corn tended to weaken the corn market, and so, likewise, did hog cholera news which was current. Scantiness of arrivals helped to steady oats.

Packers selling acted as more or less of weight on provisions.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Nov. 18.—The domestic market in cash grain was much quieter on Saturday. There was no change in the flour situation. The tone of the milifeed market was firm and for rolled oats steady. Eggs were in good demand. Total receipts from May 1 to date was 479,088 cases as against 454,998 in the previous year. Business in butter closed strong. Total receipts from May 1st, to date have been 157,807 packages less than last year. The cheese market was active. Total receipts to date were 131,287 boxes more than last year.

WINNIPEG LIVE STOCK.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 17.—(Dominion Live Stock Branch). — Receipts, 450 cattle and calves and 85 hogs.

There was little trading in progress on the cattle market yesterday morning and the few sales completed amounted to only a handful, with bidding holding about in line with the close of yesterday.

The hog market remained unchanged, thick smooths weighing up at $7.80 and select bacons at $8.36.

There was nothing doing on the sheep and lamb market due to lack of receipts.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, Nov. 18.—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here Saturday:

DOWNEYVILLE

DOWNEYVILLE, Nov. 19.—Mr. Simon Perdue and Miss Kate Perdue, of Peterboro, have returned home after spending a few days the guests of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Lillie Lucas.

Miss Pearl Herlihey left for Toronto Wednesday, where she will visit friends.

Mr. Joseph Goselin is busy erecting a stable for Mrs. Lillie Lucas.

The Misses Marguerite and Loretto Hoolihan, of Lindsay, and Katie Hoolihan, of Victoria Road, spent the holiday the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hooliban.

The Misses Nora Costello and Marjory Murray, of Lindsay, spent the holidays at their homes here.

Schnitzler—Fitzpatrick

St. Luke's church, Downeyville, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday morning, Nov. 14, at 9 o'clock, when Loretto, daughter of Michael Fitzpatrick, was united in holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Lorrie Schnitzler, of Cargill. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Galvin, assisted by Rev. Father McGuire, of Peterboro. The wedding march was played by Miss Carmelita Morrissey and Mrs. Patrick Perdue, the bride's cousin, sang during the mass and at the signing of the register she sang "O Salutaris," in fine voice. The bride was given away by her father and was unattended. Her dress was grey silk canton crepe heavily beaded with French beads with grey hat, shoes and gloves to match, and a Hudson seal coat with sable trimming, and she wore the groom's gift, a rope of pearls. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's father, where a dinner was served to about twenty guests. The toasts to the bride and groom were proposed by Rev. Father Galvin, who paid many complimentary remarks to the bride and was responded to by Rev. Father McGuire. Later the bride donned her travelling suit of navy with shoes and hat to match and a fox fur, and the bride and groom left on the 6.10 train for Toledo, Ohio, where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return they will reside at Cargill, the groom's home.

We all join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Schnitzler a long and happy wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. O'Hearn, of Toronto, attended the Fitzpatrick-Schnitzler wedding here Wednesday.

Miss Lillian Condon, teacher here at S. S. No. 15, has returned home after spending the holiday at her home in Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Murtha entertained a large number of their friends and neighbors at their home Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Murtha are moving away and we regret to lose them.

Mr. Ernest O'Neill, of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute, spent Thanksgiving the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Neill.

Mr. Peter Flood has returned to his home in Toronto after a pleasant visit with his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Guiry.

NEW YORK LOOKS FOR FREE MONEY NEXT YEAR.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—In all probability money rates will work decidedly lower within the next few months, and after the turn of the year there will be an abundance of credit. This is the opinion of leading bankers who make a careful study of credit conditions. It is well known that credit is in free supply at the present time, but it is expected to be greater after the first of the year.

By that time crop funds will have been returned. Already a good part of the money that has been used in financing crop movements has been returned to the lending banks. However, by the end of the year the entire crop transactions will have been completed.

WOMAN GIVEN ONE YEAR FOR ATTACK ON CHILD

OSWEGO, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Mrs. May Bloodgood, 48, of Orwell, Oswego County, was sentenced to Auburn Prison for not less than one year by County Judge Cullsen Saturday for assaulting her niece, Dorothy, ten years old.

The case attracted country-wide attention because of its brutality. It was charged that the defendant beat the child with a club, cut her with a knife and used a five-ringed halter in punishing her. She was a mass of cuts and bruises when she appeared before the Grand Jury on October 4th.

Mr. King faces the Setting Sun unafraid

Though disabled at 59 in an automobile accident and forced as a consequence to take a light-duty job that will barely provide for his wife and two children, Mr. King faces the future calmly.

Twenty-two years ago he took out a twenty payment life policy with the North American Life Assurance Company. That policy has now matured and he will never have to pay another cent on it.

"What a wonderful thing to have had such a policy," he said to a representative of the Company, "I could not afford to pay premiums now, yet my family has full protection."

Our Twenty Payment Life policy has many attractive features that it will pay you too, to know about. Write for our booklet which gives complete information.

LLOYD GEORGE FLINGS BARBED WIT—WARMING UP IN "DIRTY" ELECTION

Entering Fray With Old-Time Lust of Battle — Points His Humor at Derby, Devonshire, Cecil and Other Unionists.

UNIONISTS CONFIDENT

LONDON Nov. 18.—(Canadian Press Cable) — The big guns of every political party have opened fire either through platform oratory or by manifesto this week-end and although many private soldiers have yet to take their places in the line the battle will be pretty well joined along the whole front to-morrow.

One or two things have become clearer over the week-end. Firstly Lord Derby the potentate of Lancashire unionism is obviously very uncomfortable both because he does not favor an election at the present time and because on principle he does not like tariffs. However, he congratulates himself with the reflection that after all Lord Birkenhead and Austen Chamberlain have been gathered in. As for tariffs the party is asked merely to paddle in the waters of protection and that only till times get better.

Lloyd-George Girds Himself

Secondly it is evident that Lloyd-George is entering the fray with his full old-time lust for battle. His Northampton speech on Saturday was quite up to his old-time form. True it lacked downright vituperation wherewith his speeches were often interlarded in the land tax campaign of 15 years back when for instance he referred to the younger members of noble houses as the "rest of the litter" but some of his sallies were calculated to rouse the loud cheers and laughter which enliven a packed meeting. A shrewd comment and quite amiable one for instance was embodied in his reference to persons in the unionist party who have been rendered uncomfortable by the bringing on of an election. "There is Lord Derby. Lord Robert Cecil and Lord Salisbury. You never can tell what they will do if you give them time. They don't think quickly and the Duke of Devonshire takes a long time to add figures."

Lloyd-George is evidently going to use the offer of a preference to the Dominions on canned fish to give point to his humorous views. "Can them quickly before they have time to crawl away," he urged alluding to the obvious unwillingness of the above mentioned statesmen to support Premier Baldwin. "Lord Derby managed to thrust out a claw but it has been tucked in and he is hermetically sealed and there he is on the tariff reform counter for sale.'

A "Dirty" Election

While Lloyd-George's speeches often sound better than they read Winston Churchill's usually read better than they sound for a nasal impediment and a tendency to splutter puts him at a disadvantage on the platform. He apparently made an effective appearance at Manchester. The Sunday Observer (Unionist) professes itself shocked by both Churchill's and Lloyd-George's style "We said last week it would be a dirty election and here we have confirmation" declares this newspaper in effect to-day. The paper concludes that Asquith is the best "in all this familiar and boring business."

Unionist Confident

The Unionists and Labor members have not been conspicious in election oratory, perhaps are deemed sufficient for the populace to digest over Sunday. Unionist headquarters are reported to be confident that their majority will not be seriously reduced and will certainly not drop below fifty, their argument seemingly being that liberalism and labor can increase their respective holdings only at each other's expense. They profess to believe that unionism is too stable a factor among the British electorate to be violently sundered even over the present issues. True there has been some desultory talk about liberalism and Labor combining to make common battle against protection but such an idea is most unlikely except in isolated instances for there is an under current of jealousy both among the leaders and the rank and file. The more an impartial observer views the situation the more likely is he to become impressed with the possibility of the three parties being returned with something like equal numbers.

Status Quo Anti

Naturally the sudden harmony engendered among liberals provides the liveliest gossip. H. H. Asquith grave and sedate who took his extinction with imperturable dignity is once more at the head of a united body of followers while the man who displaces him in the premiership is professedly at least his devoted chief of staff just as if nothing had ever happened between them. How will this work out? Well one critic puts it thus. "Asquith is now head of the party and Lloyd George knows he (George) soon will be."

There are liberals who amidst the general rejoicing of the moment remember that Asquith with all his dignity has a long memory and also that Lloyd-George after his wartime and post-war exaltation will surely not be content with anything less than as full a restoration of his old power as is achievable in these days. Should a liberal government come in it is quite likely the Lord Chancellorship might appeal to Asquith. When Gladstone was the idol of the people many cool observers of all parties used to say that his real position in life ought to have been that of archbishop of Canterbury. Nowadays not a few would say that Asquith's real place in the last period of liberal power ought to have been the woolsack.

Promoting Bank Solely For Films

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press)—Plans for the organization of a motion picture national bank, capitalized at $9,000,000, which would serve the film industry exclusively, have been announced by L. W. McFarland of the National City Safe Deposit Company, one of the promoters.

A site for the new bank in the centre of the Broadway theatrical district already has been offered, he said.

WHEN EVERYBODY IS "CATCHING A COLD"

Is The Time To Take WINCARNIS

"I feel that I owe you a debt of gratitude for what your wonderful Wincarnis has done for me and other members of my family. We first learned of Wincarnis when we resided in England. It gave us so much satisfaction that we all used it whenever we felt the need of a tonic, as when influenza was rampant or when every body was "catching a cold."

We have continued to use Wincarnis since our arrival in this country, and we have recommended it to a number of our friends here. All of these friends are now singing the praise of your excellent preparation.

It is really surprising how quickly one regains weight and strength and recovers from nervousness when Wincarnis is taken after an attack of influenza or a very severe cold."

GRAIN VESSEL HARD AGROUND IN HEAVY SEA

Steamer Abandoned By Crew Off Cove Island Near Owen Sound—May Be Total Loss.

CARGO OF OATS.

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 18.—On Sunday night the great lakes transportation Co. steamer Glenstriven, is still aground off Cove Island at the head of Bruce Peninsula and, unless the heavy seas of the past two days abate. There is little likelihood that the ship will be removed intact. With the hold full of water the boat was abandoned yesterday morning at ten o'clock by the crew who are now at Tobermory. A fleet of tugs is at Tobermory but the heavy seas have made it impossible for a small ship to approach the larger vessel.

Cargo of Oats

The Glenstriven in command of Captain Oulette. was bound from Fort William to Midland with a cargo of 160,000 bushels of oats. On Friday morning. When the dangerous course through the isands at the head of peninsula was obscured by fog the ship went aground on south west shoal. Cove Island about five miles from the village of Tobermory On Friday the ship's signals of distress—there is no wireless on the boat—attracted the Tug Murray Stewart and the Tug Keenan of Owen Sound. At that time there was only a moderate sea running and an unsuccessful attempt was made to pull the ship off the rocks. Leaking from a hole the hold of the boat was rapidly filling with water. At ten o'clock on Saturday morning the crew was removed from the boat by the Tug Murray Stewart. The hold was then full of water and there was a very heavy sea running.

Waves Running High

The Tug Harrison went up from Owen Sound and the Tug Lucknow from Midland but nothing could be done on account of the high seas. On Sunday the Tug Luknow with an official of the company, Hugh Calder Wood of Toronto went out to make an examination of the wrecked vessel. On Sunday night the wind is dying down and it may be possible to do some thing on Monday if the vessel has not already begun to break up. The Glenstriven is owned by the Great Lakes Transportation Co. Ltd., Playfair Interests of Midland. The spot where the boat is aground is one of the most dangerous on the lakes and scarcely a fall goes by that there is not one or more boats wrecked in immediate vicinity. The tugs Harrison, Lucknow, Keenan and Murray Stewart with the Barges Magill and Dan Proctor, of Owen Sound are all at the scene of the disaster.

The Glenstriven is a steel grain carrier 274 feet in length and drawing twenty and a half feet of water She was built in 1889 in Buffalo, N.Y. and was formerly known as the America. Her gross tonnage is 2152.

Miss Allen's TESTED RECIPES No. 25

"Down East" Oatmeal Bread

(A Long Island woman secured this recipe from a New England friend)

1 tablespoonful Crisco
2 cupfuls rolled oats
2 cupfuls boiling water
1 teaspoonful salt
½ compressed yeast cake
½ cupful luke warm water
½ cupful molasses
4 cupfuls flour

Add the Crisco to the boiling water and stir until melted. Then stir in the oatmeal. Cover and let stand until cool. Then add the salt, molasses and the yeast cake dissolved in the warm water. Mix thoroughly and then stir in 4 cupfuls of white flour. Cover and let rise until double its size, then knead and put into pans. Cover and let rise again until double its size and bake about one hour in a moderate oven. This makes two medium-sized loaves.

CURE HARDENING OF THE ARTERIES.

Serum Discovered at Prague Reported to Be Effective.

LONDON Nov. 19.—Great interest has been aroused in medical circles here by a dispatch from Prague to the effect that Professor Mladejewsky, of Charles University, Prague, is believed to have discovered an effective serum for arterio sclerosis. A patient treated with the serum is declared to have recovered within a short time.

Medical men to whom the statement was submitted agreed that if such a serum has been discovered it would go a long way towards lengthening the span of human life. A previously claimed remedy for the disease was the sour milk treatment advanced by Doctor Metchnikoff.

HER CHILDREN HAD WHOOPING COUGH

This is one of the most dangerous diseases of children. It starts with fever and cough. The cough is at first short and sharp, but gradually increases in severity and occurs in sudden spasms, vomiting follows, and sometimes there is nose bleed; the child turns livid in the face, the eyes appear as if they would burst from their sockets, and suffocation seems emminent till relief is brought on by the "whoop."

Dr Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will clear the bronchial tubes of the collected mucous and phelgm and in this way ease the racking cough, and in a short time make is disappear.

Mrs. L Ambrose, Sarnia, Ont., writes:—"My little ones were both sick with whooping cough. I read where Dr. Wood 's Norway Pine Syrup was good, and I only used two bottles and they were better. I had chronic bronchitis for three years and tried everything until, finally, I got 'Dr Wood's'. I would not be without this remedy."

Price 35c. a bottle; large family size 60c.; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MANY CASUALTIES IN RHINE BATTLE

PARIS, Nov . 19. — (United Press.)—Eight persons were killed and sixty wounded in renewed fighting between peasants and Rhineland Separatists that broke out to-day at Hinborg, despatches from Dusseldorf said.

French troops intervened and disarmed one thousand Separatists, reports said.

The peasants fled when the French arrived.

FRANCE CAPABLE OF BRINGING GERMANS TO TERMS, SAYS POINCARE

Will Remain in Ruhr and Rhineland Until Treaty of Versailles Is Completely Executed—Says Status of World Is At Stake.

AND CAUSE IS GOOD.

NEUILLY, France, November 19. —Raymond Poincare, Premier of France, to-day served notice on the world that France is determined to remain in the Ruhr and the Rhineland until all clauses of the Versailles treaty are completely executed and security of France is guaranteed

The Premier who apaprently was in a combative mood, added that new penalties against Germany would be imposed unless full satisfaction from Germany was obtained.

M. Poincare expressed no disappointment over the failure in the negotiations for the creation of a commission of experts to determine Germany's capacity to pay. He said that France was firmly resolved that she was quite capable of bringing Germany to terms.

"France is determined," said M. Poincare "not to evacuate the occupied territories until all the clauses of the treaty signed at Versailles have been completly executed, and are firmly protected against fresh policies of aggression."

German defiance of the treaty as regards military control and the return to Germany of former Crown Prince Frederick William, called for penalties against Germany, the Premier declared, "and we shall take them; unless we obtain satisfaction.

Unveiled Monument.

The occasion of the Premier's speech was the unveiling of a monument to the war dead of Neuilly.

Great interest had been attached to the speech, inasmuch as it was the first delivered by M. Poincare in the metropolitan district since he began his Sunday oratorical campaign. All his other addresses had been made in the outside departments. To-day the Premier stated France's case more bluntly, and went further in the way of France's demands upon Germany than he had done in the provinces, as hitherto he always had declared the Ruhr would be evacuated progressively in proportion to the reparations payments.

"As much as we insist upon receiving reparations," declared M. Poincare, "we are no less less determined to obtain our security. Germany for a long time has played fast and loose with the treaty's stipulations destined to guarantee it. She has paralyzed the action of the Inter-Allied Control Commission; she has been endeavoring to rebuild in secret her war weapons, and to reorganize her military formations forbidden by the treaty.

Challenges to Allies.

"Meanwhile she authorized the heir to the Imperial throne to return to the country. She is welcoming the man who is inscribed at the top of the list of those guilty of responsibility for the war, from the exploits of whom my compatriots of the Meuse Department suffered during the war. These acts on the part of the German government are imprudent challenges to the allies—brazen violations of the treaty, insolent ourages to peace.

"They call for sanctions. We will take them unless we obtain satisfaction."

A crowd of several thousand workingmen, dressed in their Sunday clothes, and small bourgeois intellectuals, the latter the most impoverished class in France in consequence of the war, and the greatest sufferers from the present high cost of living, cheered the words of the Premier loud and long.

"Keep on," they shouted. "We and France are behind you."

Not Disappointed.

Reverting to an investigation of Germany's ability to pay, M. Poincare said:

"Our proposition for the scope of an investigation into Germany's capacity to pay has been found too limited because we did not wish to judge Germany's future from her present state. When it was realized we would not accept that the German debt by devious means should be reduced the zeal which had been shown for the creation of an experts' conference immediately cooled. We console ourselves with that abortion. We should have been very happy to reach an agreement with our allies upon a settlement of the reparations question, providing we were not made to bear the entire costs of it."

"We must now revert to the treaty —the Reparation Commission will hear the Germans. It will name such experts as it wishes for the purpose of revaluating Germany's capacity to pay to-day to-morrow and later. Every time it believes it necessary it will fix the amount judged equitable, and with the guarantees we hold, which we will abandon only against final payment. We are well able to bring Germany to terms.

Says France is Right.

"In defending our rights we are also maintaining the rights of our allies, Italy, Czecho-Slovaki, Poland, Rumanian and Jugo-Slavia. It is the status of the world which is at stake; we intend to remain guardians of this. We do not despair of convincing our friends that ours is the right method. Recent events already have demonstrated that we are right to a great extent, and future events will aid us in completing the demonstration.

"In any case, sure of the justice of our cause, we shall pursue our course in peace, without anxiety of weakness."

Assassins Freed Russians Killed

MOSCOW, November 19 (Canadian Press). — The news that Maurice A. Conradi, the Swiss engineer, had been acquitted in Lausanne of the assassination of M. Vorovsky, the Soviet representative, was greeted with indignation in official circles in Moscow.

The Russian press declares the trial and the verdict constituted a travesty on justice.

CENTREVILLE BARN BURNED TO GROUND

Season's Hay and Grain and Threshing Machine Lost in Morning Fire —Origin Unknown.

BAILIEBORO, Nov. 19. (Special to the Examiner.) — A large barn owned by James McColl, a farmer living north of Centreville, was burnt to the ground this morning with all its contents.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

Breaking out about 1:30 the fire quickly spread until the entire building was in its grasp, and the season's hay and grain which filled the barn, were totally destroyed. A threshing machine owned by Howard Murney of Millbrook, was also burnt.

The loss is a serious one, for both the farmer and the owner of the threshing machine.

LIQUOR QUARREL ENDS IN KILLING

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Vito Mangalardo, aged 35 years, an Italian, was fatally shot during a quarrel over a liquor seizure in his home at 37 Walton Street on Sunday afternoon by an unidentified Italian, who made good his getaway. At the General Hospital, where Mangalardo died 20 minutes from the time he was brought in, death was at first thought to have been from alcoholic poisoning.

Doctors who attended him at first failed to discover the bullet wound, and it was not until a post-mortem had been made at the morgue, at the instigation of Chief Coroner Graham, that the police knew Mangalardo had been murdered. One man, Frank Martin, who lived in the house, is held as a material witness. Mangalardo had been shot, the police learned by a man with whom he had been quarreling, following a raid by the police on his home on Saturday night, when several gallons of whiskey were seized.

SILOS WERE USED IN ANCIENT ROME.

Appeared 45 Years Ago in America But Legions of Rome Led Way.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17 (Associated Press).—The need of the legions of ancient Rome to feed their horses in winter led to the storing of chopped green fodder in pits. These were the first silos, according to O. Brassert, of Plymouth, Ind., and 45 years ago the silo appeared in this country in Michigan.

Mr. Brassert was addressing the meeting here of the silo manufacturers department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers. Today millions of silos dot the landscape, he said, and in the dairy sections a silo is considered standard equipment alongside the dairy cow.

Wisconsin leads all states in the use of silos, virtually all the corn crop of the state being put into the silo by means of corn binders, ensilage cutters and blowers with gasoline engines or tractors for power.

SASKATCHEWAN TO SUPPLY CHRISTMAS TURKEYS

REGINA, Nov. 17—At least eleven carlot shipments of dressed turkeys and chickens will be made from Saskatchewan this month for the Christmas trade. It is estimated by R. K. Baker, professor of poultry husbandry, University of Saskatchewan that there are over five hundred thousand turkeys on Saskatchewan farms, and that this province should soon become as famous in Canada for its turkey flocks as Texas is in the United States.

Eversharp has gained its millions of users because Eversharp is a better pencil. And its features can't be copied.

Notice that an Eversharp lead never wobbles—the exclusive rifled tip holds it firm. Extra leads are found in the magazine under the cap. So is the eraser. When you wish to know how much lead is left in the barrel, pull out the automatic index. Carry one Eversharp with black lead and another with colored lead.

The all-metal Wahl Pen is rivaling Eversharp's success. It is the outstanding fountain pen achievement of recent years. The all-metal barrel cannot crack or split. You fill it less often because it holds more ink. And it will last a lifetime.

Eversharp and Wahl Pen are business essentials. Buy both, matched in gold or silver. Eversharp, $1 to $10; Wahl Pen, $4 to $10. Solid gold at higher prices. Look for the name on each.

LEFT HER BABY IN AN OATFIELD

OSHAWA, November 19. — Mrs. Anna Hern of Oshawa, who deserted her baby in an oatfield near the C.N.R. station at Whitby, and who was remanded for sentence when she appeared before Judge McGillivary in the county court, was on Saturday sentenced to six months in the Mercer reformatory.

The infant, who was placed in charge of the authorities at the time and later removed to the hospital, died this past week, and an inquest will be held on recovery of County Crown Attorney, J. E. Farewell, who was injured in an auto accident recently.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

Rub on Good Old Musterole

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub good old Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, it does the work without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief. 40c and 75c, at all druggists.

GERMANS MOLESTED ALLIED OFFICERS.

Invaded Bedroom and Put Them Under Arrest — May Cause Trouble.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—An incident which is likely to entail grave consequences is reported from French sources at Leipzig and held them for several hours until orders had been received from their superior officers to release them.

The liberated officers then went to a hotel in Leipzig where at two o'clock this morning four members of the Reichswehr invaded their bedroom and declared they again were under arrest. The Reichswehr took the officers to the guardroom, where they were detained until nine o'clock this morning. It is alleged that the officers were molested and insulted before orders were received from Dresden that they be set free.

SURVEY SHOWS LOSS OF NATURAL GAS AND OIL TO BE ENORMOUS

Losses Run Into Millions of Feet of Gas and Gallons of Fuel Oil—Fields Have Been Damaged.

ABOUT HALF LOST.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (Associated Press).—Losses of natural gas and oil, through flooding, seepage, waste and negligence in the various fields in the United States have been enormous, according to statements of the Interior Department based upon a recent survey by the bureau of mines.

While the oil and gas industry has progressed steadily and has been practically revolutionized during the 64 years of its existence, losses have run into untold millions of feet of gas and gallons of oil fuel. Flooding of oil sands by water have irreparably damaged entire oil and gas fields, the water trapping underground oil that probably never will be recovered. Water in an oil well so increases lifting costs that many wells are abandoned before the normal recovery of oil and gas is obtained.

Corrosive waters attack casing and eventually eat holes in it. Operators in the Kansas Eldorado field alone expend thousands of dollars annually replacing casing, tubing, sucker rods and other equipment so destroyed.

Although "blow-outs" and "wild wells" were formerly the greatest factors in the loss, modern equipment has made it easier to muzzle the unchecked flows. The old practice of allowing "gushers" to waste oil and gas unchecked until the force either was stopped by cave-ins or decreased an appreciable amount, has been done away with, but not before millions of dollars' worth of the natural resources were lost.

In the early days of the Cushing field in Oklahoma, in 1912 and 1913, it is estimated 100,000,000 feet of gas were wasted daily. Large flowing wells which produced from 1,000,000 to 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily were allowed to flow, the operators only gathering the oil. Until recently no use was made of gas produced in the Salt Creek field of Wyoming and the daily loss was estimated at 42,500,000 cubic feet.

In 1912 the total amount of gas consumed throughout the country was 662,052,000,000 cubic feet, while the loss of casing-head gas alone was estimated at 141,000,000,000 feet in that year. It seems probable that from one-third to one-half of all the gas produced is wasted, the bureau's study showed.

Production of gasoline from natural gas was started in 1904 and while the amount recovered has increased by leaps and bounds yearly, it was estimated that since that year at least 2,500,000,000 gallons of gasoline have been wasted, or twice the amount recovered. More than 25,000,000 gallons of gasoline must have been lost in the Hewitt field, in Oklahoma, alone, during this time. From 20,000,000 to 40,000,000 gallons were lost in the Eldorado field.

Emulsions with water cause another great loss. Engineers estimate the production of "cut" oil in the Mid-Continent and Gulf Coast fields in 1920 and 1921 at about 100,000,000 barrels, while half of this was lost at an estimated waste of $100,000,000.

GOOD COOK SEEKS THE PERFECT MAN

At 43 She Has Tried Fourteen and Believes She Has Found Her Ideal.

By ROY J. GIBBONS.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Nov. 19. — All her life, Mrs. Cora Walker La Forge here has been seeking the perfect man.

Today, at 43, she believes she has found him—in her fourteenth husband.

Bent on exacting quest for the masculine ideal, and her conception of perfect marital bliss, she cut loose from 13 previous mates who failed to measure up to her standards and thus came into undisputed possession of the world's divorce championship.

Her uncanny ability to assemble and discard lesser halves, dates back to when she was scarce 14, and just plain Cora Walker of Alto Pass, Ill.

Handsome Farm Hand

At that age she went to the altar for the first time with Joseph Truxler, a "handsome farm hand of her own home town."

Hubby No. 1 was good to look at, she says, but rather inclined to indolence. After three years of helping him with their income, she says, she divorced him.

Since then her checkered conjugal career has passed from church to divorce court in such kaleidoscopic manner that official observers have almost lost count of the occasions.

In rapid succession she changed her last name from Barnes to Butcher to Crow to Porter to Yates to Lilley to Whitney, etc.

Ah, So Happy!

Once again she is back to the letter "L," with Henry La Forge ensconced as the present incumbent in her fast-shifting train of hubbies.

He is a personable, middle-aged business man, of quiet and refined bearing.

One would scarcely class him as an Adonis, but the frequently married Mrs. La Forge assures us he represents the best of his sex, picked from a world full of eligible males, only after careful scrutiny and from experience based upon 13 previous unsuccessful ventures.

"I just know we're going to be happy," she says. "Henry has restored my faith in men. But I never quite lost it though. Because you can't judge them all by a few—husbands I mean, of course."

All of Mrs. La Forge's ex-mates are alive, save the ninth.

All Had Three Chances

His name was John Whitney, whom she also divorced before he died.

As hubby No. 11, Albert Lilley was given three chances to make good, asserts Mrs. La Forge.

Their marriage was annulled once, and on two subsequent occasions she divorced him before making up her mind positively, she declares, that he wouldn't do.

"I thought that was trial enough," she says.

Sweet Music

Her marriage to La Forge was celebrated within a week from securing separation from Alexander Yates, hubby No. 13.

The ink scarcely had time to dry on the divorce decree when she murmured a blushing "yes" to his timorous "will you?"

Having been over the route so frequently, newspaper reporters knew by heart where the bride-to-be's home was, and there assembled to find her preparing her fourteenth trousseau.

The chime of wedding bells was still sweetest music to her ears, she told them.

And likewise she impressed upon them the fact that marriage by no means had lost its appeal to her

"It's very possible to be happy though married," she says. "All you have to do is find the right man. I've tried to for years, and only now have just succeeded."

Feeds 'Em Well

Mrs. La Forge runs a comfortable boarding house here from which the fame of her cooking has spread far and wide.

She has two grown and married daughters by one of her early marriages, and they both join in saying she's the best mother in the world.

"Love is the big thing in matrimony," the frequent bride soliloquizes.

"Mere cooking won't hold any man.

"After marriage a woman finds out what her husband really is.

Kindness First

"It's too bad she can't tell before."

In Mrs. La Forge's opinion, the most desirable quality in a husband is kindness. Next comes thrift, and then fidelity.

Despite her years of trouble and the cooking, washing and scrubbing she has done for her long succession of mates, she still retains a youthful figure and face.

She is remarkably intelligent, and believes that the bad luck following on her trail for picking 13 lemons in the garden of love has been kissed goodby forever because of her lucky fourteenth venture with Henry—"the ideal of her dreams."

All of which goes to prove that if at first you don't succeed, try, try, try again.

STIR IN OSHAWA OVER ELECTIONS

Application for Charter as City May Necessitate Two Municipal Contests Within a Few Weeks.

(Special to the Examiner.)

OSHAWA, November 19. — Oshawa's application to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board for the status of a city, is causing considerable comment among those with municipal aspirations, for it looks as if the electors will experience the thrill of two elections within the first five weeks of the New Year.

The annual contest for council as now constituted calls for nominations for Mayor, Reeve, 1st, 2nd and 3rd Deputy Reeves, along with two Councillors from each of the five wards to be held on the last Monday in Dec. with the elections one week later.

Providing the application for a city charter is aproved when the Railway Board meets to hear the same the latter part of January, the number of legislators would be reduced from 15 to 11.

The reeveships would be done away with and a new election would necessarily follow. Many of those aspiring for municipal honors have a desire for their name to appear on the honor roll when the town emerges into cityhood, and the prestige of being elected previous to the declaration would no doubt carry weight for the first city council contest a month later, and a spirited contest is looked for in the ringing out of the old and in with the new.

The application of Oshawa to be declared a city means the withdrawal from the county, and this will no doubt become the subject of a lengthy discussion at the November sitting of the County Council, which opens on Tuesday afternoon next.

PEOPLE'S PARTY IS WITH STRESEMANN

Demand Safeguarding of Occupied States--Support Government.

BERLIN, Nov. 19. — (Canadian Press).—A meeting of the German People's Party yesterday, by a vote of 206 to 11, passed a resolution demanding the maintenance of the constitutional bond between the occupied territories and the German States, and expressing complete confidence in Chancellor Stresemann's leadership.

The resolution added that, if only because of the foreign situation, the present control of State affairs must not be changed. It declared that the party coalition hitherto supporting the Government under Dr. Stresemann's leadership was the only possible parliamentary basis upon which the administration of the country could continue. The party announced that it refused to sacrifice Dr. Stresemann at the bidding of any party whatsoever.

ARGENTINA PLANS MANY AIR ROUTES.

Has Premier Position in South American Aviation —17 Airdromes.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 19 (Associated Press).—Argentina is considered to hold the premier position in aviation in South America, possessing five airdromes in the vicinity of Buenos Aires and 2 others scattered over the rest of the country. The flying schools established in these airdromes have turned out so far 50 military and 230 civil pilots.

Although the first airplane flight in Argentina was made in 1909 by the Frenchman Bregi, aviation in this country only really started after the Armistice with the arrival of an Italian military air mission in 1919 with Ansaldo and Fiat machines, being followed the same year by British airmen with Handley Page airplanes and Americans representing Curtiss. A French military mission arrived in 1920 with Farman, Moran and Potez machines, German flying men with Udet airplanes arrived this year.

The first flight over the Andes was made in 1919 by Lieutenant Godoy, a Chilean army officer, whose example was followed the same year by Locatelli, an Italian. The late Captain Zanni and Lieutenant Parodi, of the Argentine army flew over the Andes and back in 1920 and during the same year Captain Almonacid, Argentine, flew to Santiago. Mlle. Bolland, the French aviatrix, crossed the mountains in a tiny monoplena in 1921. The crossing of the Andes implies a 150 kilometer flight at an altitude of 6,000 meters above sea level.

Regular air service soon will be established between Buenos Aires and Rosario, Argentina's second city. It is proposed to inaugurate regular air traffic over the River Plate to Montevideo this summer, and plans are being considered to institute an air mail from Buenos Aires down to Patagonia.

PRESENTATION MADE TO MR. R. A. M'KEE

Staffs of Rural and Horticultural Publishing Companies Pay Surprise Visit.

The staffs of the Rural and Horticultural Publishing companies paid a surprise visit on Saturday evening to the home of Mr. Ronald A. McKee, who has recently severed his connection with the companies, and presented him with a very handsome clock as a testimony of their regard and esteem. Mr. H. B. Cowan, president of the companies, expressed his personal regret at the loss of Mr. McKee and voiced the sorrow of the staff generally that the pleasant associations were to be discontinued. Mr. McKee has been fifteen years in the service of the companies, and his loyalty and interest had been invaluable. Mr. J. E. Smith, advertising manager, wished Mr McKee every success inhis new enterprise. The presentation of the clock, which was suitably engraved, was made by Miss Aletha Davidson, while Mr. Cowan, on behalf of the companies' directors, presented Mr. McKee with two cheques. Afterwards a very enjoyable evening was spent in games and music, the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. McKee being much appreciated

PARIS CUTS OFF "BOBS" AND USES BRILLIANTINE

Latest Coiffure Resembles Head of the Collar Ad. Man—Silhouette Is Like a Tube, While Skirts Are Any Length.

A designer and costumer, an artist who works with crepes and velvets and brocades as another artist might work with brushes and canvas, has just returned from a visit to Paris where he has been studying the autumn fashions —strange, exotic fashions which he will temper, during the next few months, to the more cautious tastes of Canadians.

"What was the strangest thing you saw in Paris?" he was asked.

He considered. He had seen many strange things; ermine gowns, dyed yellow or blue; ladies dressed with bracelets from wrist to shoulder. Perhaps the strangest thing was a gown trimmed with a design of fishes. The fishes, crystal and flame, were as large as maskinonge. They swam about the hem of the skirt and sent up flame and crystal bubbles to what might have been the lady's waist, if she had a waist. He smiled at this, for undoubtedly a lady who gets herself up like an aquarium is amusing. No matter how reverently you may study fashion, there are times when you find it humorous. You may go to Paris to pray, but you will remain to laugh.

"What about the silhouette?" the artist was asked.

Milady of the Tube

The silhouette remains a tube. The Parisienne adapts herself to the tube silhouette, for she, of all the women in the world, has made a science of self-reduction. She knows that if she is to conquer the flesh, she must grasp at the shadow and lose the substance. The French mannequin is a line, a thread, a tenuous filament. She has carried the science of self-reduction almost to the point of self-destruction. She has absolutely dieted away her curves. She is exquisitely slabsided.

"The French mannequin is always uncorseted," he said, "and the gowns fit as tightly as possible. In spite of this, she retains the tube silhouette. She has actually made herself the shape of a tube."

Brilliantined Heads

"Is there any bobbed hair in Paris?" he was asked.

There is none. The bobbed hair problem had to be met in France as it had to be met in America. But the Frenchwoman met it with an impetuosity peculiarly Gallic. The American girl grimly saw the thing through, and allowed it to grow. The Frenchwoman made a triumphant retreat. She cut it off altogether.

"It is cut perfectly short in the back and smoothed back over the head with brilliantine," he said. "It looks just as though it were painted on."

The Frenchwoman has the appearance of having been tonsured, and then shellacked. Brilliantine today is fashion's anointment. Her coiffure approximates, as nearly as it is humanly possible, the coiffure of the collar ad man.

No Earrings, Either

To emphasize the austerity of this effect, she has abandoned earrings, bandeaux and combs. And then, to set the balance right, she has hung herself with bracelets, like a Hindustan princess. She is a whimsical creature, is Parisienne.

The lines, he declares, are extremely simple. What draping there is usually at the front, though sometimes the lady looks as though she had been caught by the slack of her silhouette and tied into a knot or bow in the back, in a sort of translated bustle. For the most part, however, the back is plain, a straight, single line from neck to hem.

The front, on the other hand, is usually very elaborate. It is here that you will find all the draping and ornament with which the Parisian artist has satisfied his creative imagination. The effect is odd—a princess back and a dowager front. The lady who wears such a gown looks like something meant to be stood against the wall.

"What about hats?"

One for All, All for One

"Every woman in Paris appears to be wearing the same hat as every other woman," he replied, "little cloche hats that fit tightly to the head. There are other hats in the shops, but nothing else will adapt itself to the Paris coiffure."

He could not say whether the hat came as a result of the coiffure or the coiffure was a natural development from the hat. Better regard it simply as a social coincidence. The hat itself grips the head as relentlessly as the French themselves grip the Ruhr. It has literally to be screwed on the head. How the wearer gets it off, nobody knows Perhaps they stand upside down in hot water.

"They say that times are hard in Paris," he said, "but there is no evidence of it among the Parisiennes. The clothes are sumptuous beyond description. It isn't a matter of gowns trimmed with fur any more. The gowns are made of fur, put together with bits of material. The evening gowns are embroidered with gems.

Glitter and Flash

They glitter and flash these lovely ladies like the sword Excalibar. When they are not daring and dazzling, they are quaint and bizarre. They wear whimsical gowns, embroidered in applique with designs from the Orient, with dragons and storks and elephants and strange beasts. Their skirts look like the border of a nursery wallpaper of an illustration from a chapter of Genesis.

The battle of the skirts, he declared, had ended in a draw. Both sides had retired in exhaustion. They have submitted it as a referendum to the people. Many powerful houses are backing the long skirt, but Chenelle—the great Chenelle who never creates simply a gown but a tableau vivante and an atmosphere gown, hat, accessories, jewelry, sachet, cachet—is behind the short skirt. You may choose which you will.

EASTWARD

Go east, young farmer, go east. This seems to be the new slogan, according to Department of Agriculture. It notices a decided movement of western farmers to the abandoned farms of eastern states. Some of these farms are so rocky that seed has to be planted with a shotgun. But they're nearer the market. That's important, highly, with transportation charges so high. History, in the long run, is the record of business. Even Columbus, in discovering America, was merely a scout seeking a short-cut trade route—cheaper transportation.

FLAVORED LIPSTICKS.

The newest lipsticks are flavored with fruit flavors—lemon, pineapple, banana, strawberry — whatever you prefer. They are all red, however.

RECIPES

These simple cake recipes may prove a boon to the woman who is busy with canning and pickling and preserving.

A cream cake that requires an icing takes time and effort to bake and during the canning season most housekeepers need most of their time and effort for the extra work of canning.

Simple unfrosted cakes are nicest to serve with fresh fruits anyway.

There is no doubt but that pastry flour makes tenderer, lighter cakes than ordinary bread flour when handled by the inexperienced baker. Pastry flour is made from winter wheat and is "milled" to a greater smoothness of texture. It contains less gluten and more starch than bread flour. However, the woman who bakes much soon learns how to get quite as good results with bread flour as with pastry. A fairly good rule to remember is to use two tablespoons less of bread flour to each cup of pastry flour.

Mock Sponge Cake

Two eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup boiling water, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat eggs, until very light with a dover beater. Beat in sugar and salt. Sift flour before measuring. Mix thoroughly. Be sure to scrape mixture from mixing spoon and mix with whole. Stir in boiling water and beat smooth. Add vanilla and pour into a deep cake pan. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven.

Quick Cup Cakes

One and one-third cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, milk, 1-8 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Sift any good bread flour before measuring. Mix and sift flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Break eggs into measuring cup and fill cup with milk. Add to dry ingredients with vanilla and beat five or 10 minutes. Pour into buttered and floured muffin pans and bake 12 minutes in a hot oven.

Jam Cake

Two and one-half cups flour, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup butter, 1 cup jam, 4 tablespoons sour cream or buttermilk, 1 teaspoon soda, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon nutmeg.

Soften butter and stir in sugar. Add jam and mix well. Any kind of jam is used, but blackberry or plum is best. Sift in as much flour as mixture will absorb. Add eggs well beaten. Beat until mixture is perfectly blended. Add more flour. Dissolve soda in sour cream or milk and add alternately with remaining flour. Add spices and beat well. Bake in a loaf.

This is a soft delicious cake needing no icing.

Quick Loaf Cake

Two and one-third cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon cloves, 1 1-3 cups sugar, ½ cup chopped nut meats, ½ cup sour milk, ¼ teaspoon soda, 6 tablespoons melted butter, 1 egg.

Mis and sift flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and sugar. Add nuts and raisins. Add sour milk and soda dissolved in one tablespoon hot water. Add butter which has been melted over hot water. Beat well and stir in egg well beaten. Bake in a loaf in a moderate oven for 45 minutes.

BETHANY, November 19. — The concert rendered on Friday night under the auspices of the Scarlet degree was a decided success. Over Two hundred attended and were well pleased with the entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor of London, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Porteous last week.

The following attended the funeral at Tyronne of the late Rev. Wickett on Tuesday last: Mr. J. Porteous, Mr. W. Lee, Mr and Mrs. A. H. Monk and Mrs. R. C. Brown.

Mrs. W. Price, who has been spending the last several weeks with her aunt, Miss Blake of Roseneath, has returned home.

Mr. Thomas Blake of Peterboro, is spending a few days, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. W. Morton.

Mr. W. Saunders was a visitor in Peterboro on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. McMullen, of Lindsay, are visiting Mr. McMullen's sister, Mrs. S. Arnott.

Mr. and Mrs. George Price, of Orono, were the guests of Mr. Price's mother, Mrs W. Price last week.

The members of the Adult Bible Class are busily engaged in preparing for the bazaar to be held early in December in the basement of the Methodist church.

FAVORABLE

Exports from the United States in September were worth 381 million dollars—which looks mighty big, even if it does happen to be only $3.50 for each of us. And exports exceeded imports by 126 millions—which, in turn, is a good thing. (Provided we ever get the money.)

Magnificent Specimen of Moose Head

This record moose head from an animal shot in Northern Ontario has been secured by the Canadian National Railways to be placed in their building at the British Empire Exhibition in London. The head has been specially mounted for display and is one of the finest specimens ever secured. As far as is known only two larger moose heads have ever been secured and one of these was presented to the late King Edward VII by Canadian sportsmen.

The particulars of the head shown in the photograph are interesting. The spread of the antlers is 70½ inches from tip to tip. The weight of the antlers, before mounting, was 64 pounds. The length of the right antler from the base of horn to the tip is 37¼ inches and that of the left antler 39 inches. The width of the left palm at the widest point is 15 inches and that of the right 14¼ inches. The points total 28 in number, there being 14 on each antler. The weight of the animal was 1400 pounds.

Before being shipped to England the head will be displayed in the windows of ticket offices of the Canadian National Railways in various cities. It is now on exhibition at the ticket office at the north-west corner of King and Yonge Streets, Toronto, where it is attracting much attention and comment.

Judges Announce Awards in the Greatest Literary and Historical Essay Contest Ever Held in Ontario

After a close examination of more than 30,000 Essays submitted, the committee of judges have made their awards.

Perhaps never before has a committee attempted a more difficult task than that of comparing, analyzing and criticizing such a large volume of Essays, and we were fortunate in obtaining for this undertaking men of outstanding literary and educational attainments.

Their work is now complete and their unanimous awards follow:

GRAND PRIZE, $200.00 IN GOLD OR FREE TRIP TO NEW YORK
Miss Helen E. Cameron, age 17, Glencoe, R.R. No. 1, Ontario.
Teacher, Miss Katherine R. Steele.

CLASS (A), 14-18 YEARS INCLUSIVE.

SPECIAL PRIZE.

At the request of the judges, the Laura Secord Candy Shops have made possible an additional award of $10.00 in gold for an "Acrostic" on "Laura Secord Patriot" to Alfred Van Raalte, No. 8 Haverson Blvd. Toronto, Age Eleven. In the judges' opinion it is exceptionally good.

Two essays—By Ralph A. Wallace, Seagrove, and Carol Macallister Port Colborne, were of prize winning standard but were disqualified because they exceeded the limit of 500 words set. A number of very excellent efforts could not be considered for a like reason.

The Secretary will be glad to give interested Essayists information that will tend to improve their work in future. The prize winning essay will be published in Daily Press of November 24th.

ARTHUR BLACK FARMER DISCUSSES ANTITOXIN

Suggests That Parents Study Both Sides of the Question Before Submitting Children to the Schick Test.

November 12, 1923.

THE EXAMINER, Peterboro', Ont.

Dear Sir:—Our Peterborough friends have called my attention to the campaign in favor of anti-toxin treatment for the children of Peterborough.

That something should be done to improve the vital statistics of Peterborough is obvious. It is disgraceful that in a small Canadian city like Peterborough the death rate should be higher both among infants and adults than the whole of the British Islands.

But whether the wide spread use of anti-toxin will improve the vital statistics may have to be determined by experiment. Those who have been studying the anti-toxin question, however, may well ask to have their own children exempted from the Schick test and the anti-toxin treatment.

Your editorial of recent date notes the fact that in Ontario there were six hundred and fifty-four deaths from diphtheria in 1920, with decreasing deaths in 1921 and 1922. Possibly your informant did not call your attention to the fact that in 1919 the deaths were close around the three hundred mark and had been falling steadily for several years. Perhaps your informant also neglected to show you why improved medical methods did not prevent the sudden increase in diphtheria in 1920. If so, I would like to call your attention to the statement I caused to be published in the Toronto World, in the fall of 1919 when a general attempt was made to enforce the vaccination law of Ontario. I called attention to the fact that this disease, diphtheria, was first described about 1820 by a French physician, Dr. Bretonneau, who attributed it to the newly inaugurated system of cow-pox vaccination. I cited other instances where general vaccination had been followed by a scourge of diphtheria, and I predicted that the next twelve months would show an extraordinary increase in the diphtheria deaths in 1920 as compared with the average of the previous two years justified my prediction. And it is interesting to note that the decrease in the number of diphtheria deaths both in the periods before 1919an after 1920 synchronized with the falling off of interest in vaccination.

Parents who happen to have the facts with regard to the experience of Texas with anti-toxin the last four years may well smile at the assurance than the anti-toxin treatment is safe. It is a matter of record that one of the largest manufacturers of anti-toxin, whose products are guaranteed safe, and all government inspected, had to face law suits for death and injury to children totaling close to a quarter of a million dollars, and a large sum was actually paid in damages by their Texas agent.

Possibly the anti-toxin is as effective a protection against diphtheria as vaccination is against small-pox. For those who hold this to be the case I would submit a fact recently come to light that in the years 1919 and 1920 the Philipine Islands which at that time were being held up to us as an example, where efficient vaccination had wiped out small-pox, suffered from the most terrible and most fatal epidemic of small-pox within historical times.

One more significant fact. I happen to have before me some statistics regarding diphtheria from the city of Leicester, England. These show the diphtheria deaths figured on a basis of comparison per million population living. The figures show that previous to the introduction of anti-toxin the total number of deaths annually over a five year period never exceeded one hundred deaths. But after the introduction of anti-toxin in 1895 the total number of deaths from diphtheria per million people living jumped enormously, reaching the peak of seven hundred and fifty-five in the five year period from 1898 to 1902. Curiously enough the number of cases reported was still more enormously increased. Apparently many a sore throat was diagnosed as diphtheria and treated with anti-toxin and many that would otherwise have recovered died. Yours for public health,

ARTHUR BLACK FARMER.

Y. W. C. A. WEEK'S ACTIVITIES.

The Y.W.C.A. Bible Class meets to-night, and the subject for discussion, under the leadership of Rev. H. S. Spence, B.A., B.D., will be "The Bible, Its Relation to Business." Everyone is invited to attend.

Elocution pupils are being registered, and lessons given at the Y. W. C. A. each week. Mrs. G. Clifton Carruthers is teaching this class, and is giving special attention to juniors. The lessons should be a great help to the children in supplying them with material for concert recitations.

Have you seen the display of Christmas cards on the bulletin board at the Association? From the Japanese Association have come these beautiful cards, suitable for Christmas, also calendars and several pretty Japanese wood prints of famous Japanese pictures which are being sold in all Canadian Y. W. C. A.'s during the World Fellowship Week, will go toward the support of our secretaries in Japan.

OPEN $6000 FUND FOR AMERICAN HOCKEY TEAM

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press)—William S. Haddock, president of the United States Amateur Hockey Association, announced today that interested cities had been asked to raise a fund of $6,000 to send the American Olympic Hockey Team to France in January.

President Haddock will act as representative of the American Olympic Committee and manager of the trip. The team will be composed of members of the Boston Club, winner of last year's United States championship.

SPECIAL REUNION MURRAY STREET

Over Fwo Hundred Members of the Church Present.

The annual social re-union of the members of the congregation of Murray Street Baptist Church was held in the Sunday School Rooms on Friday evening ,attended by over two hundred of the members of the Church. The event also marked an informal reception held by the pastor's wife and daughter, Mrs. Rose and Miss Evelyn Rose.

An entertaining programme was given, the chair being taken by Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D.

Brief addresses were given by the members of the church's executive board, including Dr. W. D. Scott, Messrs. Joseph Wearing, A. J. Raddon, H. G. Webber, P. S. Dallin, and L. J. Pettit, the latter voicing especially the congregation's welcome extended to Mrs. Rose and Miss Rose.

The musical programme was composed of a vocal quartette by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham, Miss L. Eastwood, and Dr. Jethro Graham, vocal numbers by Miss Florence Scott, and Dr Graham, a reading by Mrs. L. J. Pettit, and an instrumental selection by Miss Muriel Bridge.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the congregation.

Arrangements for the musical programme were in the hands of Mrs. C. Westbrook and Miss E. J. Aldridge.

COMPROMISE

would agree to it as a means of avoiding the open break in the Anglo-French entente for a while longer. Other Ambassadors submitted the terms of the proposed note to their governments with requests for replies in time for the resumption of the conference at 6 p.m. with object of making final effort to preserve entente council of Ambassadors postponed action on British request until today. Premier Poincare refused to brook further delay, and, should England decline to cooperate with France in an ultimatum to Germany concerning sanctions, Poincare will act immediately. Belgium alone sides with France. Mussolini having come out in all save inter-allied debts as emphatically against the French policy as have Secretary Hughes and Premier Baldwin.

There is growing sentiment abroad that entente is about to perish after several years of decay. Mussolini really has upset applecart and there seems practically no hope of joint action. France refusing idea of partial military control and insisting upon sanctions.

Marshal Foch has drawn up map with red arrows on it, showing where France must advance for purposes of security.

Temps despairingly writes that hope of Europe is Anglo-French agreement and that Hiram Johnson has shown United States Government has no mandate to intervene in Europe as it recently attempted.

A MISSION OPENS AT ALL SAINTS'

Large Congregat ons Evidence Deep Interest in Addresses.

Mission Week opened yesterday at All Saints' Church, with services which promise much for the ensuing days. In the evening the congregation almost taxed the capacity of the large edifice, while the intense interest with which the address of the missioner was followed was evidence of the impresston made. The Venerable Archdeacon Perry, M.A., who is conducting the services, is a fluent speaker, whose clear presentation of his subject, together with his devotional spirit, grips the hearts of his hearers. Taking for his evening subject the time-worn parable of the prodigal son, he vividly portrayed the experience of the wanderer, dressed in modern clothes, depicting the fact of sin and the need of repentance together with the assurance of forgiveness.

Archdeacon Perry has the rare faculty of getting close to his hearers and making each one feed that it is a personal matter.

In the afternoon he addressed the children, who were scarcely less attentive than the grown-ups, and who heartily responded to the questions with which the address was interspersed. He told the boys and the girls that they must do five things—"Grow, know, glow, sow, and go," weaving round each of the five words many lessons which will not soon be forgotten by his young hearers.

SPANISH KING VISITED ROME

Glittering Spectacle When King and Queen of Spain Arrived on State Visit to Cement Friendship of Two Nations.

ROME, Nov. 19.—(By Camillo Cianfarra, United Press)—The King and Queen of Spain arrived here at noon to-day on a State visit to Italy, cementing the new friendly relations between the two countries. With glorious weather heightening the color of the profuse Spanish and Italian flags and uniforms of the double line of soldiers forming a great hollow square in front of the station, the scene as King Alfonso and Queen Victoria came out with their hosts, King Victor and Queen Helena, was a glittering spectacle. The Royal guests drove through the streets to the Quirinal Palace amid enthusiastic cheers from the crowds packed in the streets.

After a brief visit at the Quirinal, King Alfonso and Queen Victoria drove incognito to the residence of the Marquis De Villasinda, Spanish Ambassador to the Holy See, with whom they went afterwards to visit the Pope.

Every detail of the Papal reception from the historical court carriages brought out in their honor because they are heads of a Catholic nation, arrived in the Piazza Di Spagna to bear them to the Vatican; to the audience with the Pope, was marked by special attention to show that the visit was an extraordinary occasion.

LLOYD GEORGE ADOPTS PRE-PREMIER TACTICS

headquarters refuse to prophesy regarding the outcome. Labor headquarters admit the Laborites cannot hope to get a majority, while headquarters profess to believe in the possibility of a landslide in its favor.

Speaking at Manchester, Winston Churchill foreshadowed the formation of a Government wherein Lord Grey and Lord George would take office under Asquith, Present indications point rather to some kind of a coalition either between the Liberals and the Laborites or between the Conservtaives and the Laborites. But in any case it is unlikely that the protection issue will be decided definitely in this election.

European Crisis.

Many newspapers to-day give more prominence to the European crisis than election news. The reason is two-fold. The Anglo-French relations are undoubtedly undergoing a very severe test in consequence of the French demand that Great Britain approve or share in fresh coercive measures against Germany on account of the return of the former Crown Prince and the German resistance to Allied military control.

Britain is not disposed to fresh coercion, but is ready to join in strong representatives to Berlin against the re-admission of the Hohenzollerns and the flouting of Allied control officers.

If France, who is becoming anxious about indefinite extension of her occupation of Germany agrees to forego fresh coercion, the Entente may survive. Otherwise it is unlikely

From the outset Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin has been criticized for plunging Britain into an election at the moment when the most important British influence should be strongly exerted on behalf of European peace. Hence, public attention is turned as much towards the continental situation as towards home affairs. But that is not the sole reason. The Rothermere and Beaverbrook press combine dislike Baldwin, while unwilling to support the Liberals, and while hating the Labor demand for a capital levy; it is equally unwilling to support Baldwin.

It therefore delegates the election to second place and indulges in an indirect censure of Baldwin by emphasizing the gravity of the European outlook.

Several Liberal organs imitate these tactics in order to give point to their complaint that the election is rash, unwanted and a leap in the dark due to the desire of a few Tory tricksters to get a snap division in their favor and protection from an unwary electorate. The constructive press concentrates attention, but even its efforts to support the government are not wholly enthusiastic.

Negaitve Considerations.

The outcome of the campaign is likely to be affected more by negative than by positve considerations. The absence of whole-hearted backing from the Rothermere and Beaverbrook press merger is almost an advantage to Baldwin, so generally are those British nobles distributed. Lloyd George's return to the true Liberal fold brings an accession of enthusiasm to the free trade camp. But it is a question how far this is offset by the widespread feeling that votes given the Liberal candidates will be really cast in favor of restoration of power to the man whose country rejected emphatically a year ago.

Similarly Baldwin's personal honesty might have attracted straight-minded people had the sharpness of his electoral tactics and his subservience to the pressure of the Tory Die-Hards inspired doubt as to whether he would be as moderate in the use of an electoral victory as he has been in expounding his policy.

A further sign of disunion among his own supporters was given this morning by the resignation of Colonel Buckley as Parliamentary secretary to the Overseas Trade Department, because he disapproves of Baldwin's fiscal policy. Since Buckley belongs to the Lancashier Conservatives who were tactily permitted by the Tory machine to remain within the party, while maintaining allegiance to free trade, it is significant that he should push his dissent to the point of resigning office at the beginning of the campaign.

The great enigma of the situation remains the womens' vote. Twenty-two women candidates are already standing, four Conservatives, eight Liberals, nine Labour and one Independent. Others are likely to appear before nomination day. Among the Labor women the Countess of Warwick is most notable.

The Premier opens the government campaign this afternoon in London and will speak continuously in the provinces for the next few days. The Labor leader, Ramsay Macdonald, also begins to-day at Northampton at the outset of a whirlwind tour. Asquith starts his Scottish constituency at Paisley on Wednesday, where he anticipates a stiff fight.

Lord Birkenhead has placed himself at the disposal of Tory headquarters. He will speak wherever wanted.

It cannot be said that the outlook is growing clearer. Unless something or somebody succeeds in raising the fight to a higher level the campaign is likely to be one of the most muddled of British history.

Beneath the surface deep resentment is felt, even by those who think that Baldwin is right in the main, that the decision should be enforced at the moment and in a manner rendering a definite verdict almost impossible.

TYPHOON FROM MANILLA SWEEPS OVER ISLANDS

MANILA, Nov. 19. — (Canadian Press).—A typhoon from the Pacific Ocean has swept over Luzon and Visayas Islands. Rail and telegraph communications have been entirely suspended.

Manila is partly under water as the result of the torrential downpour, boats replacing motor cars in several of the streets. The storm has caused considerable damage to the crops.

REPAIRS TO THE LOCAL CATHEDRAL NEARLY FINISHED

Bishop O'Brien Announced the Arrangements For the Formal Ceremonies Next Sunday.

At St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, His Lordship Bishop O'Brien announced arrangements in connection with the formal ceremonies to be held next Sunday, to mark the completion of the extensive alterations and repairs which have been in progress in the Cathedral during the last few months. This week will see the finishing touches put on the interior, and the last new furnishing in place, in time for the Sunday services.

Yesterday afternoon, at half-past 3 o'clock, the blessing and canonical erection of the new stations of the Cross took place, in the presence of a large congregation of people. Bishop O'Brien performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. P. Coste, and Rev. J. Finn. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament followed.

The blessing of the three new altars will take place next Saturday morning at 7 o'clock Mass, when the children of the parish will sing.

On Sunday morning there will be four Masses, at seven, eight, nine-fifteen and ten-thirty o'clock. On Sunday evening, at seven o'clock Vespers. His Lordship Bishop Fallon of London will preach on "Peace Through Faith."

Bishop O'Brien also announced yesterday a sermon to be preached on the following Sunday, December 2nd, by Bishop Couturiere of Alexandria, who was a former Army chaplain, and also Papal delegate to Egypt.

CARUSO RECORDS PAID LARGE SUM

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Royalties totalling $585,727 were paid to the estate of Enrico Caruso, for the years 1921 and 1922, on contracts with the Victor Talking Machine Company, for whom Caruso made records. This was disclosed in an accounting filed in the Court of Chancery at Trenton by the widow, Mrs. Dorothy Park Benjamin Caruso. Under the contract the Caruso estate is entitled to 10 per cent. royalties for an indefinite number of years.

Mrs. Caruso, who was ancillary executrix of the estate in New Jersey, filed with the accounting a petition that her distribution of the Victor royalties be approved and that thereafter the Victor Company distribute the royalties to the beneficiaries without her intervention as administratrix.

Caruso died in Naples, Italy, on August 2, 1921. His sons, Rodelf and Enrico, Jr., and a brother, Giovanni, were designated as universal heirs, leaving the widow such part of the estate as the Italian law provides. Gloria, their child, was not provided for in the will. A special guardian for Gloria was named in the Italian courts.

In accordance with a settlement in the Naples courts, October 21, 1921, Gloria receives one-half of the estate, and the widow, two sons and a brother receive one-eighth each. Before this distribution a fund is set aside for Caruso's stepmother and certain property for Gloria.

An agreement provides for the payment of royalties annually. Another Naples court decree, dated June 16, 1922, authorizes the payment of royalties as follows: One-eighth each to the sons, widow and brother and of the remaining four-eighths, two-eights to the widow as tutor for Gloria, and the remaining two-eighths to be deposited in the bank to Gloria's account.

Contractor Makes 16 Pound Gain on Tanlac

"Tanlac made me feel twenty-five years younger, and, in fact, made a new man of me," is the precise statement made recently by Felix Nadeau, well-known contractor, 142 George street, Ottawa, Ontario.

"Hardly a day passed in fifteen years that stomach trouble did not keep me in misery, and pains in my back were so severe that at times I could not rise from my chair. Even the sight of food nauseated me, nervousness, loss of sleep and declining weight further undermined my constitution, and I became utterly discouraged.

"But two years ago the Tanlac treatment put me right on my feet, entirely relieving my stomach and nervous trouble, and increasing my weight sixteen pounds. Now, I sleep like a tired school boy, and can do a bigger day's work than ever before. I will always praise Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

SWITCHMAN CRUSHED BETWEEN GRAIN CARS

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 19. — Peter M. Farrel, a switchman on the Canadian Pacific Railway, was killed Saturday afternoon by being crushed between the bumpers of two cars at Northland Elevators.

COLLEGE STUDENTS DIG AS CO-EDS MAKE COFFEE

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Professors and students of Michigan Agricultural College to-day laid aside their scholastic pursuits to become day laborers to the tune of lively music early this morning.

Instructors tossed aside their coats, spat on their hands and started pecking at hard ground with pickaxes. The students blistered their hands wielding the shovels. Co-eds deserted sorority houses and class-rooms to shiver on side lines and dispense coffee and doughnuts.

It was "excavation week" for Aggies. For the next five days brawn will be worth more than brain in this institution.

NO OBLIGATIONS DUE TO PAY GRAND TRUNK

PARIS, Nov. 19. — (Canadian Press).—Major Graham Bell, Canadian Deputy Minister of Railways, in an interview here with regard to statements made as to what the Canadian Government might do for the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific stockholders, said the members of the Stockholders' Committee had been in formed officially that there were neither moral nor legal obligations on the part of the Canadian Government to respect claims submitted by stockholders.

Solely to introduce a new product—

—PALMOLIVE—

After Shaving Talc

That well-groomed look

Professional men and successful business men—doctors, bankers, lawyers—know that a clean, fresh, well-groomed appearance is a valuable asset. Palmolive After Shaving Talc gives this fresh, clean look. The after shave "shine" must be removed. And yet a man's face should not look "powdered." This new talc for men meets both important requirements.

WE have perfected a new creation—of especial benefit to men's faces.

This offers you a chance to try it—almost without cost.

It is a powder for men, providing two unusual features:

First: It is invisible. Men don't like powder to show.

Second: It is a scientific combatant of skin roughness—keeps your skin smooth—improves your appearance.

Removes that after shave shine

And leaves your skin fresh as a daisy; clean-looking and comfortable. Gives that well-groomed look successful men all have.

Not an ordinary talc—Palmolive After Shaving Talc is essentially a man's powder.

We believe you'll say it's the best talc you have ever used. If we weren't sure of this we wouldn't even ask you to try it. And that is exactly what we urge you to do—today.

Take advantage of special offer —Good this week only

Thousands of men have already turned to it. And have thanked us. Go today to your druggist. Take advantage of the 3-way offer above. Everyone knows Palmolive Soap; millions of men use our Shaving Cream. Palmolive After Shaving Talc is an achievement equally important for men.

Try it. In one week, note results—the clearness of your skin, the smoothness, the wonderful feel after shaving.

Wives and Mothers:

If your menfolks overlook this extraordinary offer, remind them of it.

Or do the buying for them. Their thanks will repay you—for these are comforts every man enjoys.

The bargain is unusual. And it is for a limited time only. Go to any druggist listed here.

SYNOPSIS.

At a first night performance in New York, a beautiful young woman attracts attention by rising and leisurely surveying the audience through her glasses. Clavering, a newspaper columnist, and his cousin, Dinwiddie, are particularly interested, Dinwiddie declaring that she is the image of Mary Ogden, a belle of thirty years ago, who had married a Count Zattiany ... and lived abroad. He is convinced that this is Mary's daughter, but all efforts to establish her identity prove futile.

Clavering, determined to find out who she is, follows her home from the theatre one night. Luck is with him, for she has forgotten her keys and he helps her get into the house. She asks him in and finally tells him she is the Countess Josef Zattiany, a cousin of Mary Ogden's; that she had married a relative of Mary's husband; that Mary i ill in a sanitarium in Vivenna. Clavering is skeptical.

Though maintaining a strict aloofness from society, Madame Zattiany continues to attend all the first-nights at the theatre. Clavering meets her there a few nights later and engages in spirited and friendly conversation.

His eyes were glowing into hers and she demanded abruptly: "Do you think I am forty?"

"Rather not!"

"Well, I am young," she said with a deep sigh of content. "But look! I see nothing, but I see everything."

Clavering glanced about him. Every neck in the boxes and neighboring seats was craned. It was evident that the people in front—and no doubt behind,—were listening intently, although they could have caught no more than an occasional word of the murmured conversation. Eyes across the aisle, when not distended with surprise, glared at him. He laughed softly.

"I am the best hated man in New York tonight." Then he asked abruptly: "If you wish to avoid fashionable society why not see something of this? It would be quite a new experience and vary the monotony of books and plays."

"I may—some time, if you will kindly arrange it. But I am not a stranger to the vognoscenti. In London, of course, they are received, sought after. In Paris not so much, but one atill meets them—the most distinguished In Berlin the men might go to court but not the women. In Vienna—well, genius will not give quarterings. But alas, so many gifted people seem to come out of the bourgeoise, or lower down still—whether they are received or not depends largely on their table manners."

"Oh, I assure you, our cognoscenti have very good table manners indeed!"

"I am sure of it,' she said graciously. "I have an idea that American table manners are the best in the world. Is it true that one never sees toothpicks on the table here?"

"Good lord, yes!"

"Well, you see them on every aristocratic table in Europe, royalty not excepted."

"One reason more for revolution—Oh! Hang it!"

The lights had gone out. Clavering half rose, then settled himself back and folded his arms. A man stood over him. "Just take my seat, Billy, will you?" he asked casually of the eminent critic. "It's only two back."

The eminent critic gave him a look of hate, emitted a noise that resembled a hiss, hesitated long enough to suggest violence, then with the air of a bloodhound with his tail between his legs, slunk up the aisle.

"Will you tell me how you always manage to get one of these prize seats?" asked Clavering at the fall of the second curtain. "Nothing in New York is more difficult of attainment than a good seat—any seat—for a first-night. All these people, including myself, have a pull of some sort—know the author, star, manager. Many of us receive notifications long in advance."

"Judge Trent has a pull, as you call it."

"That explains it. There has been almost as much speculation on that point as about your own mysterious self. Well, this time I suppose I must. But I'm coming back."

He gave Mr. Dinwiddie his seat and went out for a cigarette. The foyer was full of people and he was surrounded at once. Who was she? Where had he met her? Dog that he was to keep her to himself! Traitor! He satisfied their curiosity briefly. He happened to know Judge Trent, who was her trustee. His acquaintance with the lady was only a week old. Well, he hadn't thought to mention it to such friends as he had happened to meet. Been too busy digging up matter for that infernal column. Yes, he thought he could manage to introduce them to her later. She had brought no letters and as she was a Virginian by birth and had gone abroad in her childhood and married a foreigner as soon as she grew up, she knew practically no one in New York and didn't seem to wish to know any one. But he fancied she was getting rather bored. She had been here for a month—resting—before she even went to the theatre. Oh, yes, she could be quite animated. Was interested in everything one would expect of a woman of her intelligence. But the war had tired her out. She had seen no one but Judge Trent until the past week. . . .

He kept one eye on the still resentful Abbott, who refused to enhance his triumph by joining his temporary court, and slipped away before the beginning of the last act. Dinwiddie resigned his seat with a sigh but looked flushed and happy.

"Poor old codger," thought Clavering as he received a welcoming smile, and then he told her of the excitement in the foyer.

"But that is amusing!" she said. "How naive people are after all, even in a great city like New York."

"Oh, people as active mentally as this crowd never grow blase, however they may affect it. But surely you had your triumphs in Europe."

"Oh, yes. Once an entire house—it was at the opera—rose as I entered my box at the end of the first act. But that was a thousand years ago—like everything else before the war."

"That must be an experience a woman never forgets."

"It is sometimes sad to remember it."

"Dinwiddie tells me that your cousin, who was Mary Ogden, once had a similar experience. It certainly must be a sad memory for her."

"Yes, Mary was one of the great beauties of Europe in her day—and of a fascination! Men went mad over her—but mad! She took growing old very hard. Her husband was handsome and attractive, but—well, fortunately he preferred other women, and was soon too indifferent for Mary to be jealous. He was the sort of man no woman could hold, but Mary soon cared as little about him. And she had her consolations! She could pick and choose. It was a sad day for Mary when he left her for younger women."

"But I thought European men were not such blind worshippers of youth as we are?"

"Yes, within reason. Mary was too intellectual, too brilliant, too well informed on every subject that is discussed in salons, not to attract men always. But with a difference! Quite elderly women in Europe have liasons, but alas! they can no longer send men off their heads. It is technique meeting technique, intellectual companionship, blowing on old ashes—or creating passion with the imagination. Life is very sad for the women who have made a cult of men, and the cult of men is the European woman's supreme achievement."

CHURCH ENTERS ON NEW PERIOD

Sacred Heart Church Completes Fourteen Years—Bishop O'Brien Preached Special Sermon.

Advancing into the second decade of its history, the Church of the Sacred Heart opened upon its fifteenth year on Sunday with the celebration of the fourteenth anniversary of its dedication. The occasion was marked by the usual devotions throughout the day, concluding with pontifical vespers, during which His Lordship Bishop O'Brien preached the special sermon of the anniversary.

On the text from the 23rd verse of the first chapter of St. Matthew, "And they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is God with us," Bishop O'Brien said that the literal fulfilment of these words was found in every Catholic Church. The evangelist's quotation from the prophecy of Isais foretold to a nicety the coming of the Messiah, even to His name. These words were literally fulfilled when Christ became man, and they were fulfilled just as truly in every Catholic church throughout the world as they were during the thirty-three years of Christ's life on earth. The essential purpose in the building of a church was not for any human reason, nor for any divine reason other than it housed the eternal son of God. Whether it were a humble shack in Africa or a stately cathedral of the middle ages, there was no difference; both were the home of Jesus Christ.

In the real presence of Christ was the foundation of all religion. Take away the Blessed Sacrament, Bishop O'Brien said, and the Catholic Church would be upset. That was the reason of the old Roman persecutions. Every persecution was aimed at Christ in the Blessed Sacrament. God was with the Church, not only by His presence but also by His doctrine, Bishop O'Brien said, quoting the decree to Simon that Christ's doctrine should be preached down through the ages, and that the Church would never err in regard to faith and morals. "Teach all things whatsoever I have commanded you. He that heareth you, heareth Me." Christ therein identified Himself with the teaching and preaching of His apostles. He went even further in promising to send the Holy Ghost, the spirit of truth to abide forever with the Church, and fulfilled that promise on Pentecost Sunday. "As truth is eternal," said His Lordship, "so are the doctrines of Catholicity, for they are founded on God Himself."

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

HEALTHY LUNGS

Healthy lungs simply mean lungs that are unimpaired by disease germs and respond to the free elastic movements of the chest, ribs, intercostal muscles and the diaphragm in the process of breathing.

Strictly speaking, there are no healthy lungs. All are more or less impaired, through invading dust, inhaling smoke and disease during childhood. Germs and microbes of many kinds gain entrance to the lungs by mouth breathing.

The bronchi and trachea have hair-like processes on the mucous membrane of their walls which do their best to expel minute foreign bodies and microbes from entering the lungs. But in spite of all efforts, these germs do get in and cause such diseases as influenza, bronchitis, pneumonia and tuberculosis.

The lungs in a pure healthy condition are a pearly white. Eskimos have the nearest approach to such lungs. The lungs of the city dweller are gray. The coal miner's lungs are much darker, sometimes nearly approaching black.

This does not mean that almost everybody has diseased lungs. The great majority are in fairly good condition, due principally to the fact that the lungs are great in recuperative powers. In fact, they are almost as good in this respect as the overused and much-abused heart.

To help your lungs in the fight against germs and disease you must at all times carefully observe the correct rules of respiratory health. The chest will not work in first-class condition if bent out of shape and restricted through improper posture, in its muscular movements. By keeping up your gymnastics and deep breathing exercises you can aid your lungs to healthy old age.

Remember that the lungs are a great aid to the heart in keeping up a good blood circulation. Well-developed lungs, combined with good breathing exercises, are a wonderful aid to your heart in its work for a long life.

EGGLESS RECIPES

If you would make a boiled cake frosting without eggs or butter try this recipe. The frosting is soft and creamy and has a delicious taste.

Boiled Icing

One and one-half cups granulated sugar, 2-3 cup milk, 2 teaspoons flour, few grains salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Put sugar and milk in a smooth sauce pan. Let stand until sugar and milk are well blended. Cook until a soft ball is formed when a few drops are tried in a saucer of cold water. Do not stir after the sirup begins to boil. Put the flour in a bowl. Just before the sirup reaches the soft ball stage pour a little over the flour, stirring to make a smooth paste. Add two tablespoons more of the sirup and stir until smooth. Return the sirup to the fire and finish cooking. Pour into flour and sirup mixture and let stand until cool. Add vanilla and beat until creamy. Spread on warm cake.

Caramel sauce is always good on a pudding or as a "dip" for ice cream.

Caramel Sauce

One and one-half cups granulated sugar, 1½ cups boiling water, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 dessertspoon cornstarch.

Melt sugar in an iron or aluminum frying pan. Put over a hot fire and stir constantly until melted. Let the sirup become a golden brown. Add boiling water and simmer until sirup is dissolved. Add butter and cook ten minutes. Dissolve cornstarch in a little cold milk and stir into boiling syrup. Let boil one minute and put over hot water to keep hot.

Steamed puddings are always light and moist and altogether rather better than the average baked pudding.

Steamed Pudding

Two tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons molasses, 4 tablespoons milk, ¼ cup white flour, 2-3 cup graham flour, ¼ teaspoon soda, 1-8 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg, ½ cup stoned dates.

Melt butter. Add molasses and milk. Add graham flour and mix well. Mix and sift white flour, soda, salt and spices. Add to first mixture. Stir in dates. Turn into a buttered mold and steam one and one-half hours. Serve with lemon sauce.

Lemon Sauce

One and one-half cups boiling water, ¾ cup sugar, 2 dessertspoons cornstarch, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, few grains salt.

Mix sugar and cornstarch. Slowly add water, stirring constantly. Boil until clear and thick, stirring to prevent sticking. Add butter, lemon juice and rind and cook two minutes longer. Remove from the fire and serve warm.

Eggless Cake

Two cups flour, 1½ cups sugar, 4 tablespoons lard, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1½ cup seeded and chopped raisins.

Rub shortening into flour with tips of fingers. Stir in sugar. Dissolve soda in sour milk and stir into mixture. Beat well and add cinnamon, salt and raisins. Turn into a buttered and floured loaf cake pan and bake forty-five or fifty minutes in a moderate oven.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Speak a little louder, please. I'm very hard of hearing."

Away down in Dixie Land, the Twins came upon an object that looked something like a war-tank, and something like a suit of iron armor that knights of old used to wear in battle. Only it wasn't any bigger than a parcel-post package.

"What do you s'pose it can be?" whispered Nancy, touching it with her toe.

But careful as she was, the object poked a scaly head out from under its hard shell and said sharply out of its sharp nose. "Speak a little louder, please. I'm very hard of hearing."

"Don't you believe it!" called a tiny voice, and there, not far away, the Twins saw a little black ant with a red head, standing beside the door of a perfectly enormous ant-hill. "He isn't hard of hearing at all! He's got ears that can hear when anyone sneezes in China. We ants ought to know, for he hears us every time we turn over in bed even, so he does, and we have an awful time trying to stay alive, because he eats ants and—"

Nancy put her hands over her ears. "Oh, stop, stop!" she cried. "You talk so much and so fast, little ant, I can't keep up with you."

Without another word the little red-headed ant disappeared.

"I'm glad you put that sassy ant in his place," said Mister Hard-Shell War-Tank sharply again out of his sharp nose. "They seem to think I have no right whatever to eat them. Why, if all the lizards and mice and bugs in the community felt that way, I would never have a meal at all, so I wouldn't, and dear only knows, if I don't watch my Q's and P's, I'll be gobbled up myself one of these days because, much as I hate to say it, there are plenty of people waiting around to make a lunch off me."

"What is your name, please?" asked Nick. "You are the most curious person I ever saw."

"I'm called Andy Armadillo," answered Mister War-Tank. "Want a ride?"

"Yes!" cried the Twins quickly.

And they hopped right on.

Along they went along and along and along, their steed chattering like a phonograph every step of the way, when suddenly the Twins were dumped off on the ground, kerbump! And Mister Armadillo disappeared like a cent in a slot-machine.

"Wh—where are you? Oh, Mister Armadillo, where did you go?" called Nick.

"Sh! I'm down this hole! I'm minding my Q's and P's as I told you. I heard someone coming. Don't wait for me, please."

"Now you know how the ant feels," called Nancy. "Come along, Nick."

Cobourg and District

COBOURG, Nov. 19.—About 75 representatives of the Women's Auxiliary of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland and Durham held their annual meeting here with delegates present from Port Hope, Newcastle, Orono, Cobourga and other places. Mrs. Haultain, of Port Hope, was elected deanery president. The sessions through out were interesting and helpful, and the social hour was thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Summerhayes, of Toronto, representing the diocesan board, gave an able and instructive address.

Death of Miss Convey

Miss Mary Convey, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Convey and a former resident of this town, died at Toronto on Sunday, which place has been her home for the past few years.

Was Operated on Here

Henry McIvor, son of Mr. and Mrs. George McIvor, town, had an operation upon his leg at the hospital here, when a piece of the bone was removed from below the knee. It is now expected that it will be possible to fit him with an artificial limb. Last winter he met with an unfortunate accident by falling from a train between Cobourg and Port Hope and thereby lost part of his leg and one arm.

Euchre Held Tonight

Cobourg branch of the Women's Institute held a progressive euchre this evening. An old time dance was held also at the home of James McBeatty in Haldimand Township tonight. Mr. Beatty is one of the men from Haldimand Township who served with honor to themselves and country in the recent great war.

Annual Conventions Held

The annual conventions of West Northumberland Council of Religious Education were held this week at three different centres, and proved to be interesting and profitable gatherings.

At Centenary Near Roseneath

The series opened at Centenary Methodist Church in the Roseneath circuit. After the opening exercises the county officers reported for the different departments of work, and there was the roll call of schools. This was followed by a round table conference, led by Mrs. James Knox and participated in by the various Sunday school workers present. Dr. W. P. Fletcher, of the Ontario Council of Religious Education, gave an address on "The Graded School and the Grading of a County School." Supper was served by the ladies of the convention church, and a pleasant social hour was spent.

At the evening session Rev. I. G. McKee, B.A., B.D., of Baltimore Methodist circuit, a former Bridgenorth paster, spoke on the important theme, "The Why of Teacher Training," and Dr. Fletcher spoke on "Early Sod, Selected Seed, and Assurance of Harvest," laying many impressive truths and suggestions before his hearers.

At Camborne

On Wednesday the convention assembled in the Camborne Methodist Church. The leader of the round table conference at Camborne was Mrs. A. R. Harper. In the evening session at Camborne, Rev. W. A. Bremner, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Cobourg, gave an able address on "The Value of Vision in Sunday School Work."

The Camborne ladies made the supper have a very pleasant social event.

At Centreton

Yesterday the convention assembled at Centreton. The leader of the round table conference there was Rev. J. S. Ferguson, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Baltimore. Rev. J. N. Norton, pastor of the Cobourg Baptist Church, gave a splendid address, taking for his theme, "Seeing the People," in the evening session." The series of conventions was closed with the feeling that pleasant and profitable gatherings had been held.

The Officers

The officers of West Northumberland Council of Religious Education are: President, Rev. F. J. Horwood, Camborne; 1st vice-president, Rev. J. S. Ferguson, Baltimore; 2nd vice-president, Mr. Geo. Ingham, Roseneath; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Herbert Lander, Camborne; children's division, Rev. J. N. Norton, Cobourg; young people's work, Mr. Herbert Burwash, Baltimore; teen age boys, Mr. M. W. Sparling, Cobourg; teen age girls, Mrs. (Rev.) T. McCord, Bethesda; adult class, Mr. Archie Borman, Coldsprings; home department, Mrs. John Noble, Camborne; teacher training, Rev. T. G. McKee, B.A., B.D., Baltimore; missionary department, Miss Florence Hall, Micklow; temperance, Rev. T. McCord, Bethesda Presbyterian Church; president for Hamilton Township, Mr. Chas. Moffatt; president for Alnwick Township, Mr. Cephas Brisbin; president for Haldimand Township, Mr. C. H. Bradly, Grafton.

Marriages Are Many

At the Presbyterian manse here on Friday evening, Rev. W. A. Bremner, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, officiating, Miss Maud Lucille Kellogg, of Toronto, formerly of Grafton, was married to Mr. Henry Wilfrid Richmond Head, of Toronto.

Donaldson-Brown

Another marriage, solemnized at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Bremner, was that of Mr. George Arthur Donaldson, of Millbrook, and Miss Marjorie Brown, of Hope Township.

Landymere-Manley

At the parsonage, Camborne, on November 9, the marriage took place of Miss Maud Manley and Mr. Harry A. Landymere, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Landymere, Provincial Highway East. Rev. F. J. Horwood, conducted the ceremony. The bride is a popular young lady and a graduate nurse of Cobourg General Hospital. The wedding luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Eagleson, Coldsprings, uncle and aunt of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Landymere will reside near Cobourg on the Provincial Highway East.

PLAN CONVENTION WITH NO SPEECHES.

Informal Discussions Will Feature World Power Conference.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (Associated Press).—A convention programme without a single set speech will make the world power conference, to be held in London next July, one of the unique gatherings of all time. Representatives of every nation in the world interested in the production or utilization of power will meet to discuss the policies and practices of each country.

Possibly mindful of the boredom incident to days of long and technical speeches, the directing committees have promulgated the no-speech rule and instead, the many papers to be presented will be submitted to the delegates beforehand and the sessions, continuing two weeks, will be devoted to informal discussions of the problems presented.

The conference will be held at the same time as the British Empire Exposition. While it is being promoted by the British Electrical and Allied Manufacturers' Association, it is not supported officially by the British government, but by British and American technical and industrial organizations.

C. C. Merrill, executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission, is general chairman of the American committee arranging for American participation. Secretary of War Weeks is honorary chairman and Secretaries Work Wallace and Hoover are honorary vice-chairmen.

CANCER GAINS DOCTORS WARN

Detroit Expert Tells Gathering Radium Should Cure More.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 19.—"Surgeons have been operating on cancer for 4,000 years, yet little progress toward a positive cure has been made for the past 20 years. Right now there is from 20 to 30 per cent. more cancer in the world than ever before and it is increasing every year. Surgeons aren't succeeding in the number of cases they should. If they prevented all that we are led to believe they do, the disease would not be as strong as it is. Neither is radio-therapy curing the numoer of cases it should."

Dr. Rollin H. Stevens, of Detroit, president of the American Radiological Society, gave these opinions at a meeting of the Kent County Medical Society.

He was criticized by Dr. Alden Williams, of Grand Rapids, for presenting the "pessimistic side of the science of radio-therapy." Dr. Williams contended that the Detroit physician might have told how radiation has cured non-malignant diseases and given it credit.

Dr. Stevens replied that he presented the side of the subject in which he had specialized so that he might know what he was talking about.

"We are babes in the wood regarding radio-therapy," said Dr. Stevens. "We have learned a little, but we have an immense amount to learn. At first we were optimistic regarding deep, or radium therapy, and were sure that it was going to cure all known diseases. The proportion was 75 per cent. optimism and 25 per cent. skepticism. Now we have reversed the proportion after a few years of experience, and have lost our optimism regarding its being a permanent cure of cancer."

SCIENTIST SOLVED SECRET OF BIRTH.

Kangaroo at Birth Weighs Only Nine Grains and Is One Inch Long.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (Associated Press).—A kangaroo at birth weighs about eight or nine grains, is a trifle more than an inch long and not much thicker than an ordinary lead pencil, according to George F. Mores, Jr., of the Chicago Zoological Society.

How the baby kangaroo was born was until recently a mystery to zoologists, Mr. Morse said, because, being a pouch animal, the actual birth was difficult to witness.

"One day I noticed that one of our kangaroos was acting strangely, so I got the head-keeper to put it in a separate room used for the observation of animals," Mr. Morse declared. "We watched closely for a long time and finally were rewarded by the appearance of a tiny thing not more than an inch long on the tail of the mother kangaroo It was a baby.

"We secured it and found it weighed about nine grains. It was an inch and one-sixteenth long and not broader than a lead pencil. It was a perfectly formed kangaroo, with the exception of the hind legs, the matured kangaroos' powerful prppellor. These developed later as the baby animal grew. The front legs, however, were perfectly formed, and were used by the baby to climb back into the mother's pouch where it remains for a period of seven months."

ENDED SOCCER IN HAILSTORM

Unpleasant Football in Lancashire and Yorkshire on Saturday.

LONDON, November 18.—(Canadian Press Cable.—Football was played under very unpleasant conditions yesterday in the north which has not yet recovered from recent bad floods. Conditions in Lancashire and Yorkshire were especially unfavorable owing to the snow and sleet. The Bolton-Huddersfield match ended in a hailstorm.

Interest in yesterday's matches was not so intense as in former years at the present stage of the schedule. There were fifty thousand spectators at the Arsenal-Hotspur match at Highbury, who, although fierce partizanship was still apparent, paid a tribute to Referee Andrews of Manchester, who showed the players that he would stand for no nonsense. Mackie, the Arsenal half back repeated his recent feat of heading out a tremendous free kick taken just outside the penalty area, which stretched him all but senseless on the ground. Mackie's head was only a couple of feet from the ground when he intercepted the shot. Arsenal was presented with an easy goal in the second half through a misunderstanding by Madison.

The Clapton Orients were unlucky yesterday, no fewer than six of their goal-scoring drives hitting Oldham's cross bars or up rights. Only one counted.

The goal by which Midlesborough tok the lead against Chelsea was the subject of a lot of contention. Carr centred and both Wilson and Hampton raced for the ball. The goal-keeper got there first; the bouncing ball struck his arm, and Wilson promptly bundled both man and ball into the net. After the referee had consulted with the linesmen, the point was permitted to stand.

Charles Buchan of Sunderland scored three goals making 12 in the present season. He is now on a level with Len Davies of Cardiff as the chief goal-scorers in the first division.

Oh, My Dear! by Jack Lait

LYDIA FARRADAY had dropped in to tell her buddy, Florence McMartin, that her (Lydia's) marriage was a bloomer.

Florence was, herself, a bride. She had been at one time engaged to Lydia's hubby, Tom Farraday, so she was doubly interested.

"Flo," sighed pretty little Lydia, "that man is the most all-around false alarm on earth. He's a liar, a cheater, a loafer, a stew, a hypocrite and a coward. He hasn't the character that nature gave to a cockroach, and he hasn't the sense of honor you'd expect of a rattlesnake."

Florence had long nursed an idea that Tom Farraday measured up just about that way. She had almost married him at the high peak of an infatuation such as he inspired in women, for Farraday was a stunningly handsome man of ultra-distinguished manners, a born aristocrat, a silver-tongued talker and a perfect girl-thriller.

"Oh, my dear—what's happened?" she asked with genuine sorrow, for she was deeply fond of cute young Lydia, whom she had seen taken in and swept away by the same dazzling, silk-lined lounge-lizard who had so nearly mussed up her own life.

"What hasn't happened?" shrugged Lydia. "I tell you, Flo, the man is preposterous. He rides me as though I were some ragged intruder. He runs up outrageous bills that I have to pay, most of them for entertaining other women, I'm certain. He rolls in plastered every second night. I can't keep a maid because he forces himself on them all, though you know how blue-blooded he proclaims himself to be.

"The rest of the time he gads around at his clubs, when he isn't moping about the house in his dressing gowns. He prevaricates to me about everything, and when I get him into a corner he bullies me—why, he's threatened to beat me, and he's pinched my arms black and blue and called me every atrocious name he could turn his wicked tongue to.

"Any idea of love—that silly dream!—has passed. We haven't had a companionable, clean, wholesome hour together in weeks. When he hasn't a grouch or a hangover, and doesn't feel like battling with me or wrestling with my French maid, he takes his hat and breezes out.

"He doesn't earn anything, and his income isn't really much. I don't even know how much. But from the way he gets behind, he's either spending fortunes or getting very little. Of course, I didn't marry Tom for his money. But I'm quite convinced he did marry me for mine. What man with a germ of self-respect would let his wife write checks for his made-to-order shirts, restaurant accounts, clothes, liquor?

"He derides and insults mother, he makes advances at my little sister, Amy, who scratched his face up a week ago because he hugged her in a very unbrother-in-law fashion; he gets mysterious telephone messages right at home that he explains very lamely, and he—well, he's just impossible. Every man has faults. I know that, and I was prepared for my share. But this man—he IS a fault—he's ALL faults.

"I don't know what to make of him, what to say to him, or what to do with him, to him, or about him. He's stood my whole life on end, and I'm between two terrible problems. I can't go on living with him—my womanhood revolts against it. And I don't know how to leave him—where to go—or anything. I'm a married woman. What will I be if I leave him? What will I do with my time? What will I do with my life?"

Florence sat pensive, then answered:

"You are too young to wonder about what to do with a sweet, lovely girl like yourself, who was created to make some decent chap happy and be made happy by him. Of course, it's an awful disappointment, and all that—but you'll have to make up your mind to walk out on him, divorce him, and start in all new. You won't be the first grass-widow, or the only one, or the last. Many a girl has taken the same way out of a blind alley, retraced her steps, and found new, bright, glorious paths to walk.

"Tom is a pill, I know that almost as well as you do. He started working his system on me before he owned me. When you accepted him, I tried to hint to you, but, you see, I couldn't talk frankly. You were so pitifully in love. You wouldn't have believed me—you'd have thought it sour grapes. And if you had, it wouldn't have stopped you.

"You had to go through and get thoroughly disillusioned to cure the case you had. And it must have been a ghastly process for you, finding this thing you idealized like you did Tom, and the whole spirit of your great love, such a rotten bust.

"But now the next step is clear. You mustn't stall along. Tom won't change, except to get worse. You must quit him—immediately—and go away; abroad, I think. In Paris you can divorce him for non-support; you can divorce an American husband for snoring, over there. Thank your lucky stars you aren't poor, so that you have the means to do these things instead of having to go back to a typewriter or a counter, as so many luckless girls in the same dilemma do."

"Yes — but how can I tell him? You see, we've quarreled—plenty. But we've had no one great row at the climax of which I could pack my overnight bag and prance out. How can I walk up to him deliberately, soberly, calmly, and say, 'I'm not your wife any more, I'm going away?' Why, he'd smash everything in sight and lock me in, and—you see, after all, Flo, Tom does love me—in his peculiar way, of course. And, in spite of all I've told you, and that isn't even the interest on the rest of it, I—I——"

"I understand. You still love him."

"I—adore him. I ache for him. I know it's silly, it's all wrong. But I can't help it, dear. I know if I did take this step, I'd come crawling back to him. He only has to lay his hand on my shoulder now to get me all tingling and goosefleshy. And if I went away and thought of him here all alone—or, maybe, not alone at all, but with some other girl—I'd—why, I'd die."

"H'm," mused Florence. "That does complicate it—very, very much."

"Rather."

"Have you tried giving him a good, solid talking-to?"

"Oh, yes. I've begged, pleaded, wept——"

"No, that post-honeymoon stuff never got anybody anywhere. I mean a cold-turkey showdown talk, without hysteria or tears or names; so that he'd understand you mean it, and not just say to himself, 'Oh, she's a little highstrung to-day—she'll get over it.'

"I don't think it will get you a thing, at that, with Tom Farraday. He's very set and his characteristics are bred in the bone. I can't see any good coming of equivocation or prolonging your agony. The break-up has to come eventually, so you may just as well save yourself what further suffering and torments you can, and get it over with while you're still young and attractive enough to have another chance at happiness. My advice to you is to go home and pack and leave him a note that you're through."

"I've started to do that a dozen times. I've even written the note. I read it over ten times—then tore it up. It said:

"'My dear Tom:

"'You have destroyed all the love I had for you, after I had offered it to you in measure

"I'll do it—to-night—now!"

such as no woman ever before lavished on an unworthy man. Your attitude toward me, your attentions to other women, your habits and your ideas have made it utterly impossible for me to go on further as your wife. I am leaving—forever.

"'Your broken-hearted Lydia.'"

"Very nice—too nice. This time you just write him like this: 'Good-by. I've stood too much of your bulldozing, sponging, chasing and sousing. I'm through, and I'm off.' No broken hearts. Leave out the sorrow—that's confidential; he'll enjoy that and it will feed his vanity and his egotism. Just put in the anger. Make it cold and clear. Then go through. Whether you're still enamored of this joke husband of yours or not, it's the only way out, and you must lose no more time.

"This is just meat for him. He knows you're goofy over him, and that leaves him in soft. He hasn't any conscience or spontaneous shame. He has it figured out that you're unhappy and restless, but that you'll stick, and he can go on living with your money and having a cute little wife where he can find her whenever he's in the humor for her; besides, with relations strained, that gives him more time and more alibis for his philandering and idling, and he calculates that situation can go along indefinitely.

"And it will, too, unless you take swift, final action. I did. I was dippy over Tom, too—you know it; he's probably told you more than once. And when I decided to air him, it hurt. I was still crazy over him. But I didn't let things string along and get worse. I told him right from the shoulder—and it knocked him a twister, too. He thought he had me so hypnotized that wild horses couldn't drag me from him. But I told him, and I stood by it.

"I cried for weeks. I didn't even know Jimmy McMartin then. But I met him, and he opened up a new heaven to me that I hadn't ever known could be. He's so different. He's a man and a gentleman. I don't rave over him and kiss his picture and write him scented mash-notes that I haven't the nerve to send. No. But I respect him and I love him, he's mine and I'm his, and it will always be that way."

"Oh, you lucky, lucky girl!"

"There's a Jimmy McMartin waiting somewhere for you, too, to make what's left of your life serene and beautiful and worth while. It's too bad you had to give your first love, which is so much to a girl, to such a cad. But that's done. Now undo it as far and as suddenly as you can. You can come here to live until you decide where you want to go to. He won't bother you under my roof, either—much. He has an unholy fear of me. What say?"

Lydia sat and thought, and thought and sat. Once or twice she started to talk, but swallowed it back again. Then she whispered:

"I'll do it. To-night. Now!"

"Attagirl," approved Florence. "Be here for dinner?"

"Nothing could interest me less than dinner. But I'll be here, dear. You can depend on it."

Florence kissed her, and out she went.

Two hours later, Lydia's car drove up and her chauffeur carried in a trunk and some hand luggage.

"I left the note," said Lydia. "I didn't write exactly what you said, but I made it unmistakably decisive and as unpretty as I could find the heart to. I told him he had left me no alternative, that I was leaving, and it was the end."

"Very good."

"I told him, too, that I was coming to your house."

"Was that necessary? He'd have found out easily enough, anyway, but won't he regard that as an invitation to come after you?"

The bell rang and the servant announced Mr. Farraday. Farraday brushed in, looking nervously about. When his eyes found Lydia, he stopped, looked at her angrily, then sadly, and turned on Florence.

"What do you mean by putting my wife up to such nonsense?" he demanded.

"I didn't," answered Florence. "She told me what an oilcan you turned out to be and I offered her the hospitality of my home."

"Oh, Flo—that isn't so," interposed Lydia. "You absolutely urged me to leave Tom."

"I knew it," snapped Farraday. "Come on, dear—come home with me."

Lydia looked at Tom and at Florence, and rubbed the carpet with her toe.

"Look here, Tom Farraday," said Florence, "this little girl, whom I love very dearly, sat on that chair a little while ago and gave me a report on you that I wouldn't like to hear about my worst enemy. You've taken that adorable kid and made a hash out of her young life when she was born to be some good man's dream come true. You've got her broken, miserable, panic-stricken.

"I knew she'd get cold feet the minute she blew you. She'd go back with you this minute, and she probably will in a few minutes.

"I'm not going to try to stop her. I'm only a friend, and I'm not running a compulsory retreat for the love-shocked. But I'm going to do what I decently can for her—and for you, too.

"You're a roue, a rounder, a useless time-waster, an extravagant high-liver without any means of your own worth mentioning, a conceited and self-centered egotist spoiled by women and inflated by the minor harpies who cadge on your cadgings, and you have no reverence for man, woman or God outside you own good-looking self.

"By a break of luck for which you ought to go down on your knees to thank short-sighted Providence that threw in your way a lovely, young, affectionate, pure, amiable, rich and beautiful child who is willing to give you everything—her self, her love, her money, her tolerance—you landed yourself in luxury and gravy for life.

"And in return you abuse her and humiliate her and rob her. She still loves you—why, I don't know. But don't you doubt for one second, she also hates you. There are moments when she has good sense, and at those times she loathes you. It isn't the hot hatred caused by one terrible misdeed; it's the cold contempt growing out of a series of detestable, pride-jarring actions.

"She told me you had no character, that you were a coward and a liar. She might call you a murderer or a brute, and might be yours, body and soul, forever. But coward and liar are not in the language of love. She doesn't love you half as much as you fancy, or half as much as she, herself, believes.

"But that won't last long if you continue as you started. Lydia is not without character. When she does make up her mind to cut you, it will be the blowoff, Tom. By then she'll be a hardened, embittered woman. She'll leave you and she'll break you.

"Now—what are you going to do about it?"

"I don't see where that's any of your business, Mrs. McMartin, at all. Mrs. Farraday and I will discuss our situation, our future and our private relations in privacy, if you please. I have listened to your insulting insinuations because you are a woman and I am in your home. But I am about fed up. . . . Come on, honey—let's go home."

Lydia looked from Tom to Florence and back again, then started for her hat. Farraday looked on, with an ironical grin at Florence.

"Thought you'd break up my home, eh?" he said. "You certainly do take a lot of liberties with other people's rights and other people's affairs."

"Tom, you're hopeless," said Florence, quietly. "You win—right now. But you can't get away with it forever. Lydia told me some things that made my blood run cold. Another like them will happen—and then look out. I tell you, you don't know this forgiving, love-struck kid like I do. When she turns on you she'll give you a game that will knock you for a goal. Watch and see. Maybe you'll wish as sure as I know she will, that she had gone through to-night with what she started."

He saw Lydia, ready, in the corridor. He picked up her bag and they walked out, Lydia holding his arm clutched tight, and neither offering a good-night to Florence, who sank into a chair and sat for fully an hour, shaking her head and biting her lips.

For weeks she did not see Lydia or hear from her. But one afternoon she was startled by a furious ringing of her doorbell, and in staggered Lydia, pale, trembling, on the verge of hysteria.

"What's happened, child?" gasped Florence.

"I've—it's come. I'm through with Tom now, for good.

"I had him trailed. He's been cutting up pretty raw lately. An hour ago he came home, pie-eyed, hadn't been home for twenty hours. I knew where he'd spent every minute. I accused him, point-blank. He started his famous 'How dare you?' stuff. But I told him I'd had enough of that, and I was through. He raised his hand to me, I saw red, and that was the finish."

"You left him, eh?"

"I killed him. I shot him where he stood. 'Phone for the police, Flo, and tell them a woman that shot a drunken dog wants to give herself up."

P.C.I. 25, KINGSTON C.I. 7—ZEV BEAT IN MEMORIAM BY A NOSE—TIGERS TO MEET QUEEN'S

PETERBOROUGH COLLEGIATE RUGBY CHAMPIONS OF EASTERN ONTARIO; DEFEATED THE KINGSTON TEAM 25-7

Carl Browne's Squad Met Stiffest Opposition So Far In Sudden Death Second Round Game of Interscholastic Series—Howie Young Scored 23 of P.C.I. Points in Splendid Field Work.

REACH SEMI-FINAL ROUND.

The Peterborough Collegiate team won the Eastern Ontario honors and earned the right to enter the semi-final round of the Interscholastic O.R.F.U. series, at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon by soundly beating the Kingston Collegiate twelve in a sudden death game.

Coach Browne's youngsters won by 25 points to 7 and were always in front, outscoring the Limestone City students in every period. They outplayed, outgeneralled and outlasted the Easterners, and except for a flurry early in the second half when Kingston secured their solitary touchdown and cut down Peterborough's lead to one point, the winners would not have been seriously threatened.

The temporary reverse acted as a spur upon the Peterborough crew and they came back with a rush that gave them almost complete command of the game for the rest of the distance, holding the visitors to one more point, while they added eighteen to their own total before the final whistle blew.

By periods the score was: 4 to 1, 7 to 1, 17 to 7 and 25 to 7.

Young's Big Day.

Outstanding in P.C.I.'s clean-cut victory was the sterling work of Howie Young, the winner's quarterback and field general, who gave a sensational exhibition of varied offensive skill. Young dropped two beautiful goals from the field, hit the cross-bar on another attempt from the thirty-five-yard line, made three spectacular runs for touchdowns, going fifty-five yards on the last occasion, converted one of these trys and was responsible for a rouge on a drop kick that narrowly missed the uprights, a total of twenty-three points. On top of all this he was the first man down the field on Peterborough kicks and did great work on the defensive.

Bookhout, although not called upon as often as usual to show his running ability, got away for some nice gallops, but his best work Saturday was on the defensive. He bolstered up the Petes' line in grand style, and the attack generally stopped when it reached the Petes' bulky half. Stevens ran back kicks nicely and did some great work in gathering in onside kicks, while Cole outpunted Day, the Kingston centre-half and fitted into the extension plays most effectively. Chew at flying wing generally turned in a gain when handed the ball and was effective all through the engagement, while on the line the stone-wall defensive work of Craw, who stopped play after play, and the good bucking of Martin stood out. Copping, in spite of a boil on his hand, gave another exhibition of fast and accurate snapping that enabled the Petes' running plays to get away to a flying start.

Kingston Team Smart.

In the Kingston crew the local students met the smartest and best drilled Interscholastic team they have encountered this season. The visitors had a repertoire of line plays, cleverly masked and mostly of the delayed variety, that they used to good advantage, but this method of attack was too slow to match the trick plays of the Peterborough squad, and the extension runs and Young's dashes around the end of the line. The result was that the visitors, after making twenty-five or thirty yards by line plays, would eventually lose possession on a fumble or because of interference, and the Petes would recover all the lost ground and more on a play or two. In addition, the Peterborough crew were obviously in better condition and were going stronger in the last period than the first ten minutes.

Grimason and Day on the visitors' back division were the best of the rear guard, the former making the longest Kingston run of the game, while Day kicked and caught well. On the wing line the plunging of Vokes, the middle wing, made him always prominent, and Arkley and Laturney did nice work.

The best of sportsmanship was shown by the visitors. On one occasion when they tried an onside back in the last period and recovered the ball for a good gain, Referee Sweeney Davis was uncertain as to whether or not McKelvey, a substitute wing man, who was not "onside" on the play, had been hit by the ball and McKelvey, a brother of the famous "Red" captain of Queen's unhesitatingly admitted that he had been hit, although the admission cost his team thirty yards and the possession of the ball. The Peterborough team showed their appreciation of the incident by roundly applauding McKelvey.

The teams:

Kingston C. I.

Flying wing, Grimason.
Halves, Scott, Day, Lennox.
Quarter, Boyd.
Snap, Strange.
Inside wings, Reid, Harkness.
Middle wings, Vokes, Arkley.
Outside wings, Vince, Laturney.
Subs., Bews, Gardner, Donnelly, McKelvey, McCartney, Trowbridge.

Peterborough C. I.

Flying wing, Chew.
Halves, Cole, Bookhout, Stevens.
Quarter, Young.
Inside wings, Killaly, Craw.
Middle wings, Martin, Ebbs.
Outside wings, Outram, Yelland.
Subs., Neal, Pogue, Fraser Woods, Henry, Thompson.
Referee, Sweeney Davis, Toronto.
Umpire, E. Sheehy, Peterborough.

First Quarter.

Peterborough kicked off and were on the aggressive right off the reel, getting the ball on Kingston's 35-yard line on a weak kick by Day. After gaining 5 yards on two line plays, Young tried a goal from the field, missing the posts, but the Petes forced a rouge on the play. Peterborough 1, Kingston 0.

Kingston, using a delayed buck to good advantage carried the ball to centre on a series of successful plunges, only to lose possession on a fumble. A couple of extension runs pulled off in snappy style by P.C.I. drove the play to Kingston's 25-yard line, and Young dropped a neat goal from the field. Peterborough 4, Kingston 0.

Kingston rallied and forced the Petes back on the defensive. Getting possession of the ball when Bookhout dropped it in a line plunge they made yards twice in succession and finally from the 35-yard line Day punted over the Petes' line for a rouge.

Peterborough 4, Kingston 1.

A beautiful run by Young who faked a pass and then went through himself put the Petes in possession at centre. Martin added eight more on a swinging buck and then a Young to Cole to Bookhout extension run looked good for a touchdown. After carrying the ball 40 yards, Bookhout dropped it as he was tackled 2 yards out, and Kingston got out of a bad hole, plunging the ball away from the danger zone.

Second Quarter.

When the teams changed ends at the close of the first quarter, Kingston lost possession of forward pass, and the Petes threatened again. An onside kick play was called back, however, and the visitors got the ball again, only to lose it on their 35-yard line for running interference. On the third down Young dropped another beautiful goal from the field. Peterborough 7, Kingston 1.

Peterborough continued to press, and in the next few minutes Young nearly added three more points when on his attempted drop goal from the 35-yards the ball struck the cross-bar. Copping was offside on the play, and Kingston got possession at the 35-yards line. They gained on line plunges and finally when Cole missed Day's long put at his own 40-yard line the visitors recovered the ball. Half-time was called before they could take advantage of the break.

Third Quarter.

Kingston kicked off in the third quarter and Chew made a nice run back, dodging half a dozen tacklers. P.C.I. smashed through for yards, but Kingston tightened up and forced them to punt and Outram was caught offside on the kick, the visitors getting possession 35 yards out. Showing their greatest offensive strength of the day the visitors ploughed through for a touchdown in four plays, Grimason taking the final plunge that carried the ball over the Petes' line. The try was not converted, but the visitors were only a point behind. Peterborough 7, Kingston 6.

Kingston Dangerous.

Grimason took the kick-off and ran the ball back past centre and the Easterners were dangerous again. However, after the ball had changed hands several times with no particular advantage to either team Chew broke through the Kingston line at centre and grabbed a loose ball. The Petes immediately started a snappy offensive that terminated in a touchdown. An extension run gained 15 yards, Ebbs plunged for 15 more, and Young circled Kingston's right and for a 25-yard dash for a try which was not converted. Peterborough 12, Kingston 6.

The visitors rallied for a few minutes finally forcing a rouge on a long kick by Day. Peterborough 12, Kingston 7.

Then the Petes came on and for the balance of the game dominated the play. Stevens started them on their way by grabbing a loose ball at centre and then by completing an onside kick with a neat catch while surrounded by Kingston players. Bookhout smashed through for 10 yards carrying the ball to Kingston's 30-yard line and on the next play a fake extesion run skirted Kingston's left end and romped over for a try. Everybody but the Kingston left outside was caught cold on the play and Young eluded his tackle. The try was not converted. Peterborough 17, Kingston 7.

Fourth Quarter.

Early in the last quarter a Young to Bookhout to Cole run carried the ball into Kingston territory again, and Cole kicked over for a rouge.

Peterborough 18, Kingston 7.

Peterborough continued to press. Young got away for a nice gain and Cole boomed a long punt over the deadline for another single. Peterborough 19, Kingston 7.

Sensational Play.

Kingston tried hard in the face of the big handicap, but the Petes held them safe with the play around midfield until finally the most sensational play of the day gave the local students their final points. With the Petes in possession of centre a fake line play and get clear away. He outsprinted everybody behind him and easily eluded the Kingston rearguard running 55 yards for a beautiful touchdown. Young made a fitting climax to a great performance by converting neatly.

Peterborough 25, Kingston 7.

MANY UPSETS IN COLLEGE RUGBY

Yale Smothered Princeton By 27-0—Colgate Dimmed Syracuse Glory.

NEW YORK, November 18. — As a contributor of upsets the Peniultimate Saturday of the current gridiron season stands alone, unexcelled, unapproached by any of the upsetting days of the 1923 campaign.

Out of a clean unclouded sky came the Colgate tempest which swept twice across the hitherto inviolate Syrcause goal-line, and wrecked the hitherto victorious Syracuse record with a 16 to 7 defeat.

Iut of the same calm surroundings whirled the Pittsburg tornado which left the hitherto undefeated Washington and Jfferson team the flattened recipient of a 13 to 6 trouncing.

Nor was football fandom at all prepared for Brown's 20 to 7 defeat of Harvard; Columbia's 21 to 0 slaughter of New York University; Penn State's 21 to 0 victory over Pennsylvania, nor the one sidedness of Yale's 27 to 0 trouncing of Princeton.

Yale was the general favorite in this last named engagement, and a Yale victory was expected, but a victorious margin of 27 points, a margin greater than all but one in the 50 years of Yale-Princeton football relations exceeded by many points the forecasts of many of the football experts.

The Syracuse and Pittsburg occurrences served to reduce the list of undefeated eastern elevens to three—Cornell, Yale and West Virginia.

Yale's great victory over Princeton, Cornell's 52 to 0 triumph over Johns Hopkins, and West Virginia's 48 to 0 defeat of St. Louis all were so impressive that favoring any one of the three above the others is a task few football writers seem inclined to venture.

Yale's victory stamped the team as one of the greatest in Yale's history. Their defeat ended for Princeton the sorriest season since Roper took charge of the team.

ZEV REDEEMED IN GREAT RACE

Crossed the Wire Neck and Neck With In Memoriam — Thrilling Finish.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press).—By virtue of a scant nose victory over In Memoriam, the Rancocas Stable's Zev was enroute to Baltimore last night with the three-year-old turf crown in his possession. In what today seemed destined long to hold a place as the closest and most thrilling finish in the annals of the American turf, Harry F. Sinclair's crack colt flashed past the wire at Churchill Downs Saturday neck and neck with Carl Wiedemann's In Memoriam.

So close was that breath-taking finish to the mile and one-quarter match race between the two great colts that the judges' decision was necessary to establish the winner. Trained observers, experienced in judging close finishes, and many of the approximately 40,000 turf fans gathered to watch the race, thought the Wiedemann colt had won.

Time for the race was 2.06 3-5, three and two-fifths seconds slower than the track record for a mile and a quarter, made by Woodtrap in 1921, and a second and one-fifth slower than the time for the distance made by Zev in winning the Kentucky Derby.

In defeating In Memoriam, the conqueror of Papyrus and Kentucky Derby winner, not only recovered prestige lost as a result of finishing second to the Wiedemann colt in the Latonia championship, but gained new laurels by taking first place as the greatest money-winning race horse in the world.

Mr. Sinclair received $25,000 as the winner's share of the $30,000 purse for the match race, swelling the total of Zev's winnings to $301,073, and putting him ahead of the two English cracks, Tsinglass, with $291,275, and Donovan, with $277,215.

The son of The Finn-Miss Kearney goes to Bowie scheduled to meet Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own, in a match race there on a date to be agreed upon during the week.

Zev's triumph in Saturday's match race here also probably means that he will represent the United States in an international race for a purse of 1,000,000 francs to be decided at Longchamps Course, near Paris, next May. The international race is planned as a six-cornered affair, and an invitation to the winner of Saturday's race to participate was received before the match was run.

FRENCH ARRANGING RACE FOR NEXT SPRING

PARIS, Nov. 18.—The victory at Churchill Downs on Saturday of Zev over In Memoriam has made Zev the choice of the United States horses which are being considered for the international race to be held at the Longchamps course on May 3 of next year.

M. Wertheimer owner of Epinard the chaimpion French three-year-old, will sail for New York, December 1. He will get in personal contact with Mr. Sinclair immediately upon his arrival and arrange with him various details of the race.

Invitations to the British and Spanish Jockey Clubs and the Italian and Belgian Racing Socities are being drafted and will be dispatched in a few days. The French racing Committee hopes that before December 15 it will have secured replies from all countries interested in the race. It is the present intention of the French Committee, which is headed by Henri Letellier, that the cup to be put up for the race next year will go to the country from which the winning horse hails and that it will be competed for annally

LOYOLA AGAIN JUNIOR COLLEGE CHAMPIONS

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—Loyola College retained their laurels as junior intercollegiate rugby union champions for the second successive year when they defeated the University of Toronto juniors at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium on Saturday afternoon 14 to 4. A distinct margin in the play of the first half, a bad break for Varsity in the third quarter and a splendid play by Loyola backs in the dying moments of the game accounted for the victory.

Dempsey Buying String of Ponies

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 19.—And now entered into the realm of racing none other than the heavyweight champion of the world, Mr. Jack Dempsey. It was learned here today from an apparently unimpeachable source that for several months Clarence Buxton has been quietly collecting high-class thoroughbreds for the fighter.

Firm Friend, bought in New York last month by Buxton from Sandy McNaughton, will be the first of the lot to display the new racing colors of the "Manassa Mauler" on the track when Tia Juana opens Thanksgiving Day.

COBB GOES TO THE DOGS.

Ty Cobb and His Champion Setter.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 19.—"Every man, woman and boy should have a hobby."

"The country would be a heluva lot better if more people went to the dogs."

It is the voice of Tyrus Raymond Cobb speaking. He ought to know. He has a hobby and its dogs.

Down this way the papers refer to him not as one of the greatest, if not the greatest, ball player ever, but as Cobb, the dog fancier. In this field he's a star, too.

"Why not," he asks. "Baseball is my profession and dogs my hobby. If I were a dog breeder by profession then I would play ball for the fun of it, as my hobby. Everybody should have a hobby—some recreation which is a complete change from his regular line of work."

Cobb's Hall, a fine setter, has won numerous championships, including the Georgia field trial title for two years and the Continental event as well.

CLOSE SCORES AT ARMORIES

Three of Saturday's Softball Games Decided By One Run — Engineers Win Two.

Five fast soft ball games were played in the Armouries on Saturday. In the afternoon three good games were played, between the Brintons and the Quakers, Lock Works and Engineers and the C.N.R. and the Porcelain.

The first was a one-sided fixture, the Quakers winning easily by the score of 19 to 2 after seven innings of play. The Brintons tried hard throughout the game, but they could not check the heavy hitting Quakers, who scored in every innings of the game. They scored three in the first, four in the second, third and fifth, one in the fourth and three in the sixth, totalling 19. The Brintons scored one in the second and sixth, totalling two. Umpires Kay, Lebarr and Frick.

The teams lined up as follows:

Quakers — Kearnes s.s., Graham l.f., Guerin 1b., Meyett s.s., Collins 3b., Turner c., Carruthers p., Cunningham 2b., Sullivan r.f.

Gave Engineers a Battle.

In the second game the Lock Works and the Engineers met in a battle royal which lasted for eight innings, the latter winning by the close score of 12 to 11. The two teams were very evenly matched. The brilliant work of McDougal and Thorndyke, the Lock Works' short stop and pitcher respectively, had a lot to do with the good showing they made. Thorndyke pitched steady ball throughout. Langley also pitched a good game. The Engineers put the game on ice in the sixth after two men were down, when eight of their men crossed the plate before the third man could be put out. When the Lock Works took the field in the last inning the score was tied 11 to 11. The Lock Works tried their hardest to prevent the Engineers from scoring, but the Engineers got the breaks in this innings and won by the score of 12 to 11. The game caused more interest than any other game this year. The teams lined up as follows:

Engineers—Patterson s.s., McPherson c., Burgess s.s., Langley p., Munroe 1b., Cruthers l.f., Jackson 3b., Allen r.f., McLeish 2b.

The score by innings:

Lock Works.....020 002 43—11
Engineers.....002 008 11—12
Umpires—Kay and LeBarr.

C.N.R. Drop.

In the third game between the C. N.R. and the Porcelain the latter won by the score of 6 to 5 after nine fast innings. In the earlier part of the game the C.N.R. were leading by the score of 5 to 1 and holding the Porcelain hitless, but the luck changed and the Porcelain got a couple of breaks in the right time which brought them up one run behind the C.N.R. In the first part of the ninth the C.NR. failed to score and in the last the Porcelain pounded Bradley for two runs, thus winning the game, which they never expected to win in the earlier stages.

Nature was a sensational catch by McLaren. The teams lined up as follows:

C.N.R.— Delahye c., Bradley p., Delahye 1b., McLaren 2b., Clancy 3b., Howard s.s., Turnbull s.s., Houlihan l.f., Rowe and Rundle r.f.

Porcelain —R. Dyer c., O'Dette 3b., Murphy 1b., McKim 2b., F. Dyer r.f., Nicholls p., Meagher s.s., Paquette lf., Richmond s.s.

Umpires—Kay, Lebarr and Frick.

Score by innings:

C. N. R. .....000 4-1 000—5
Porcelain .....000 010 032—6

Teachers Defeated.

In the evening the Brass and Teachers clashed at seven o'clock, the former winning by the score of 8 to 7 after eight fast innings of ball. The Brass scored two in the fourth, one in the fifth ,four in the sixth and one in the eighth, totalling eight. The Teachers scored one in the second, two in the third, one in the fifth and one in the seventh, totalling seven. The feature of the game was a one-handed catch by Ahearn. The teams lined up as follows:

Teachers— Langford, Deyell p., Bolton 3b., Park s.s., Copp 1b., Dearborne 2b., Frost r.f., Kerr l.f, Stacey s.s.

Brass—Bennett c., Pacey p., Williams 1b., O'Toole s.s., Ahearn 2b., Battley, Mahood 3b., Thompson l.f., Harris r.f.

Score by innings:

Brass ..... 000 214 01—8
Teachers ..... 012 120 10—7

In the second game the Engineers defeated the C.N.R. by the score of 12 to 6 after nine fast innings. The feature of the game was a double play from B. Jackson to W. Jackson. The teams lined up as follows:

Engineers — McCarney r.f., Burgess ss., Cruthers 1b., McPherson c., Langley p., W. Jackson 3b., Metheral 2b., B. Jackson s.s., Allen l.f.

C.N.R.— Delahye c., Bradley p., Delahye 1.b., McLaren 2b., Clancy 3b., Howard s.s., Turnbull s.s., Houlihan l.f., Rundle r.f.

Score by innings:

Engineers.....052 012 020—12
C.N.R.....003 000 201— 6
Umpires —Kay, Lebarr and McMartin.

Sank 120 Balls Without a Miss

LORAIN, Ohio, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Charles Weston, former world's pocket billiard champion, and representative of Lorain in the national championships, broke the world's record for high consecutive run in a practice match here Saturday night when he ran off 120 balls, without a miss. The world's record, held by Ralph Greenleaf, of Philadelphia, present champion, is 100. The record, played outside of a match game, is unofficial.

HAMILTON TIGERS TRIM CRAIG CREW

Rowing Club Made Poor Showing in First of Canadian Play-offs.

HAMILTON, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press)—In a loosely-played game which was far from championship calibre, the Hamilton Tigers defeated Hamilton Rowing Club, champions of the O.R.F.U. by 21-1 Saturday afternoon before a large crowd at the H.A.A. grounds. The Tigers also won the Glassco Cup given for the city championship, and the right to meet Queen's University at Kingston next Saturday in the semi-finals for the Dominon championship The game was scarcely under way before the Tigers scored a point, and from that time on the result was never in doubt.

After the Tigers had piled up a safe lead, they used their substitutes. The Big Four champions showed superiority individually and collectively. Their backs worked together, and their combination plays were ground gainers. The Tigers held "Gear" Elford, the big Rowing plunger, and other huskies were unable to make even a dent in the Tiger line. The Tiger backs directed their kicks to Vanluven and Norton.

SENATORS IN WINNIPEG PLAY REGINA TONIGHT

WINNIPEG, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press)—Tommy Gorman and his famous Ottawa Senators arrived Saturday night to compete in the professional tournament here and had a fast workout Saturday night and again yesterday and looked pretty good despite their lack of practice. They oppose the Regina team Monday night.

The probable line-up for tomorrow's night's game follows:

Ottawa—Benedict, Boucher and Clancy; Nighbor, Broadbent and Deneny. Subs: Darragh, Hitchman and Helman.

Regina—McCuskie, Traubb and Dutkowski; Stanley, Hay and Gagne. Subs: McVeigh, Asseltine and Irwin.

BOXING UNION WAARD TITLES

Seven Americans Are Designated By International Body — Siki's Name Struck Off.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press)—Seven world championships were awarded United States boxers by the International Boxing Union here Saturday.

Battling Siki was deprived of his title of light heavyweight champion of the World, the category being left vacant.

The National Boxing Association of America was requested by the International Union to designate a United States light heavyweight champion, or organize competition among the boxers of this class, the finals to be held before July 31, 1924.

The International Union will organize a similar competition in Europe and the winners in the two competitions will meet to decide Siki's successor to the title, Georges Carpentier, owing to his failure to respond to the French Boxing Federation's request of August 25, is disbarred from competing for the championship in Europe.

The following boxers were recognized as world champions by the Union:

Flyweight—Pancho Villa.
Bantamweight—Joe Lynch.
Featherweight—Johnny Dundee.
Lightweight—Benny Leonard.
Welterweight—Mickey Walker.
Middleweight—Harry Greb.
Heavyweight—Jack Dempsey.

The European champions in the same order are: Michel Montreuil, of Belgium; Bugler Lake, of England; Eugene Criqui, of France; Harry Mason, of England; Piet Hobin, of Belgium; Roland Todd, of England, and Erminio Spalla, of Italy.

Mike McTigue is recognized as world's light heavyweight champion by the boxing organizations of the United States, by virtue of his defeat of Battling Siki in their match at Dublin last St. Patrick's Day. McTigue won the referee's decision in the contest, which went 20 rounds. The European Boxing bodies contended, however, that Siki had failed to weigh in, and on this technicality the title was not at stake.

Gene Tunney of New York is the recognized United States light heavyweight champion.

REQUIRE CARPENTER TO START AS A NEWCOMER

PARIS, Nov. 18—The sessions of the International Boxing Union closed today with a discussion of various details concerning amateur boxing, dealing specially with amateur participation in matches in connection with the Olympic Games.

The Union decided that should Georges Carpentier elect to enter the competition for light heavy weight championship which will be staged at the beginning of 1924, his entry will be accepted. The Union took the ground that Carpentier's challenge to Battling Siki was null and void, and that Carpentier, although a former holder of the championship, in order to attempt to regain his title must go through the elimination process the same as a newcomer.

Carpentier is away on a hunting trip but Francois Descamps, his manager, declared tonight that Georges would not avail himself of the Union's "kind offer."

"HEAVIES" ARE MATCHED,

PARIS, Nov. 19. — (Canadian Press)—Quintin Romero-Rojas, the Chilean heavyweight pugilist, and Marcel Nilles, former heavyweight champion of France, have signed articles of agreement to meet in a twenty-round bout here, December 1.

STARR SKATES STAY SHARP

"International" FIGURE SKATE

The skate that is selected by the leading "pros" and amateurs all over the world.
After you learned to walk, you wondered what sport there was in mere crawling. After you learned to swim; you couldn't see much fun in shallow water bathing.

BEST—BECAUSE OF THEIR TEMPER

So, after you make those graceful glides, curves, sudden twists and fancy corkscrews and you feel the thrill of accomplishment in having mastered the skate waltz, you'll wonder how you were content with "just skating." Figure skating isn't so very difficult—requires practice of course, and, what is very important, the right kind of skates.

Get a pair of the famous STARR "International" Figure Skates.

Notice in the illustration above; the special toe and heel plates with saw teeth in front of blade—also the scientifically correct radius of the runner, which has the additional special feature of being hollow or gutter ground, and tempered by the STARR process, of course.

JACK RENAULT TOO CAUTIOUS

With Even Break of Luck May Get a Chance at Heavyweight Title.

By HENRY L. FARRELL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(United Press).—Jack Renault, the Canadian heavyweight, wants to fight Jack Dempsey for the world's championship, and if he has an even break in luck, he may get a shot at the title.

Renault is, at the present time, anything but the logical contender for Dempsey's crown, but he will make himself one because he is going about it the right way.

After knocking out Floyd Johnson, Renault said he was willing to fight Harry Wills, Tom Gibbons and Luis Firpo to prove his right to meet Dempsey.

Leo Flynn, Renault's manager, is one of the shrewdest managers in the business, and he is also one of its most fluent orators. Flynn has done a lot of talking in advancing the claims of other heavyweights, but he seems to be sincere in his willingness to put Renault through the real test.

Renault now is not a great fighter. He may develop into one because he cannot help but improve himself by fighting top-notchers. The Canadian, in his present form, seems only to lack the aggressive spirit of a natural fighter. It is said of him that he is a "front runner," but he showed no signs of being timid in the Johnson fight.

When allowed to fight his own way or when he can force his opponent to fight his way, Renault is a good fighter. He can box and he can hit. His punching is accurate and well timed, even if it does lack the power of Dempsey, Gibbons and Wills.

Renault's worst fault lies in his tendency toward too much precaution. He prefers to play safe instead of charging in aggressively when he gets an opening. Had he been a great fighter he would have stopped Johnson many rounds before the fifteenth. He passed up many opportunities because he preferred to stay back and counter Johnson when he tore into him.

* * *

He cannot do that against Gibbone, Wills or Firpo. Only a rushing, charging fighter of the Dempsey type will beat the three leading contenders for the title.

Renault would not last five rounds if he tried to stand back and smack Gibbons, Wills or Firpo when they came into him. One good crack from any one of them would remove all chances for Renault to return a punch.

One thing is certain, and it will be a big help to him, Renault will not be over-matched. If Leo Flynn wants to match Renault with Gibbons, Wills and Firpo, it is a cinch that Flynn believes in his fighter. Flynn never will knock over a big money prospect for a little ready dough.

Floyd Johnson was one of the most promising young heavyweights to come up in four years, but he is clear out of the class now because he was over-matched in every one of his fights. He had nothing but courage, and a stout heart isn't the factor now that it was in days of Bat Nelson.

The only way to get a contender into a heavyweight championship fight now is to send him out and make him force his way into the match.

Johnson was forced and he would have reached the goal if he had the ability. Firpo was forced and he got there because he had some ability. Renault will get there because he is being forced.

On the other hand, as a marked contrast, is the case of Harry Wills. He has been the outstanding contender for four years and he is now on the outside because he would not take the chance.

Baseball Gossip.

Two years ago in Buffalo, where all the high minds of the minor leagues had gathered in annual session, fortunes were being tossed about the hotel corridors for minor league ball players.

Jimmy O'Connell had been knocked down to the New York Giants for $75,000. Detroit had passed over a pile of money for Sylvester Johnson and the bidding was spirited on star players.

Minor league owners were praying: "If I only had a player to sell."

Meanwhile, Jack Dunn, with a quarter of a million dollars worth of star material on his Baltimore club, sat by smilingly and refused to sell.

"He's going to keep them too long. He'd better sell while the prices are high," Jack Hendricks, the Indianapolis sage remarked.

That very thing seems to have happened.

Last year, the Yanks offered $100,000 for Joe Boley, the Baltimore shortstop. The Giants offered $60,000 for Lefty Groves, a pitcher, and other major league clubs wanted Dunn's other stars, but he wouldn't sell.

Now, it seems, he can't sell. His players are no longer so valuable and the major league buyers are no longer offering six figures for players.

Dunn, apparently, kept them too long.

"He's twenty-nine and he's got a bad leg," John McGraw said in explaining why he was no longer willing to renew the bid of $200,000 he once made for Rogers Hornsby, the Cardinal star.

"He's got a bad leg," is a statement worth a lot of consideration in reckoning the value of the National League's most valuable player.

Legs go bad first on ball players and they don't last long when they haven't the foundation to keep them going.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE PROPOSED BY OSHAWA

OSHAWA, Ont., Nov. 19.—(Special)—The forming of a High School Basketball League with Peterboro, Port Hope, Cobourg and Oshawa as the contesting teams, is the latest venture of the local knowledge youths. Organization is only in the talkative stage yet, but representatives from the four towns will likely get together within the next week to complete details.

OSHAWA NET GUARDIAN OPENED LUNCH PARLOR

OSHAWA, November 19 (Special to The Examiner).— Claude Wilson, who in 1915-16-17 was net guardian with the Toronto professional hockey team, and of late years on the umpire staff of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League, on Saturday placed himself at the mercy of the local town assessor for business taxes by opening an up-to-date lunch parlour to be known as the "Bluebird."

THEATRES

"JUST MARRIED"

Notice that Jules Hurtig, in association with the Messrs. Shubert, will present "Just Married" at the Grand, is an announcement of more than ordinary import to the theatre-going public. This city is extremely fortunate to be one of the limited number of cities on the Around The World Tour which will be priviileged to see "Just Married" which has enjoyed engagements of unprecedented length in the larger cities of the country. Mr. Hurtig has kept the Broadway cast intact so that this city will see the identical production that electrified New York for two years, Chicago for six months, Philadelphia for four months and Boston for five months.

"Just Married" was written by Adelaide Mathews and Anna Nichols, authors of "Scrambled Wives" and "Nightie Night."

The action of "Just Married" covers seven days, the time required for the French liner Lafayette to sail from Bordeaux, France, to New York. Some oddly assorted couples are on board, which includes Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stanley, two youthful honeymooners who are attempting to keep the fact a secret; Mr. and Mrs. U. Makepeace Witter, who have been married twenty years and are more or less cynical; their respective niece and nephew, Roberta Adams and Percy Jones, who are engaged; Victore Bertin, a French girl whom Percy promised to marry unknown to his fiancee, and, last of all, Robert Adams, no relation to Roberts, whose only excuse for being on board is that he landed there after indulging in red wine.

Clifford Stork staged the entire production under the personal direction of Jules Hurtig. At the Grand Saturday, November 24th.

"CHEERIO!"

The Dumbells Company Limited, will Offer Captain Plunkett's Fifth Annual Canadian Revue, "Cheerio," at the Grand, Commencing Monday, November 26th.

The organization is still headed by Canada's favorite stars, Ross Hamilton and Al. Plunkett, supported by all the favorites of last season's "Carry On" company and augmented by several new artists. The best known of these being John Hagan, the famous "Ginger" of the 2nd division show in France. Mr. Hagan has just concluded four years with the George Edwardes Company, having been the featured comedian in "The Lady of the Rose," and "Whirled Into Happiness."

"Cheerio" is an entirely new production in every way. Not a line or song ever used in any of the former "Dumbells" revues has been incorporated in the book or score of "Cheerio." There is just enough war-stuff to give due respect to the inception of the organization, and remind us again, "lest we forget," that Canada is proud of her soldier boys and the glorious traditions which they founded for all time.

AT THE REGENT.

ALICE CALHOUN HAS ANTIQUE JEWEL

Learns of City of Brass While Making Picture

"One Stolen Night," which will be shown at Regent Theatre today, is a story of the desert where Arabs and caravans are part of the atmosphere. The mystery and lure of the Sahara, with Egypt, the Sphinx, Pyramids and tombs as a background, cannot be equalled. It is in to this country that Alice Calhoun travels for this picture and for the nonce becomes a real daughter of the desert.

When the picture was under construction a fan in Cairo, who had read of the film, sent Miss Calhoun a rare Egyptian pendant to be worn for luck. It is of antique workmanship and was found in one of the tombs. Accompanying the gift was its history, and according to the claim there is only one other like it in the world. Who knows what lies hidden in the desert sands? The recent discoveries at the tomb of Tutankhamen make it hard to tell just what is hidden in the desert

A British soldier, used in the picture and formerly stationed in Egypt, told Miss Calhoun of the "city of brass" mentioned in the "Arabian Nights Entertainments" and verified by archaeologists. The French Government is trying to locate this ancient city and plans to send armored tanks into the desert to unearth it. It is sacred to a band of Bedouins who inhabit the district. They are very ferocious and no party sent out to rediscover the "city of brass" has ever returned. Occasionally a traveler will return with fantastic tales of capture by Arab outlaws and imprisonment near this city.

The soldier presented Alice a ring which she wore in the picture, and with it he presented many strange and wonderful tales of the desert and its wonders st'll hidden by the ever shifting sands. The ring was taken from an old mummy, according to tradition, and is many thousands of years old. The stone it contains is rare and of great value.

THOMAS MEIGHAN AT CAPITOL TODAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

When Thomas Meighan's latest Georg Ade Paramount picture story, "Woman Proof," is flashing on the screen of the Capitol Theatre tonight, the spectators will see a genuine explosion of nearly seven thousand cases of dynamite which was used in the blasting of a thirteen-mile tunnel at Huntington Lake, Cal., where work on the biggest hydro-electric project in the world, involving the expenditure of $27,000,000, was in progress at the time the picture was filmed.

This tunnel passes through a mountain, making the waters of Huntington Lake available for electric power. It is said to be the longest tunnel of its kind in the world. The project was undertaken by the Edison company to develop electric power for Los Angeles. This location is 340 miles northeast of Hollywood, in the Sierra Mountains, and was chosen after a prolonged search for a spot where the most spectacular scenes of this kind could be filmed.

Mr. Meighan plays the role of a civil engineer who is supervising this huge industrial scheme. In the picture the tunnel is supposed to cave in, entombing scores of workmen. The rescue of these men forms some of the most thrilling scenes in the picture. The picture was directed by Alfred E. Green The following are the supporting players: Lila Lee, leading woman; Robert Agnew, Charles A. Sellon, Vera Reynolds, Bill Gonder and Mike Donlin.

GLORIA SWANSON GAINS IN POPULAR STAR CONTEST

Gloria Swanson made a big gain during the past three days in the Popular Star Contest now being held by the Capitol Theatre. Votes came pouring in for the popular play and now she is running second to only Norma Talmadge. The standings as compiled on Saturday night are: Norma Talmadge, 333; Gloria Swanson, 302; Thomas Meighan, 298; Alice Terry, 275; Betty Compson, 250; Bebe Daniels, 203; other stars too numerous to mention have also received several votes. One striking feature is the fact that the renown Rudolph Valentino received 277 votes the first three days of the contest and since then has gained only 11 votes, making his total 288. The last votes will be received on Wednesday night and the star having the most votes will be presented in his or her latest picture for the first three days of next week. This is possible only because of the wide connections of Famous Players Canadian Corporation, operators of the Capitol theatre, who are, thus, enabled to get the latest picture made by any star.

AT THE ROYAL.

"A ROYAL DIVORCE" AT ROYAL TONIGHT UNDER AUSPICES OF PETERBORO SCHOOL AND HOME ASSOCIATION

Tickets for "Royal Divorce" can be purchased at Kent's, Payne's, Warne's or Nugent's Drug Stores. This remarkable production is presented in co-operation with the Peterboro School and Home Association and crowded houses are already assured.

"A Royal Divorce," the big motion picture which right now is the sensation of England and every country in Europe will have its first Peterboro run at the Royal Monday.

"A Royal Divorce" is the story of Napoleon Bonaparte, the most fascinating personality in the world's history, and the picture, which tells the intimate, personal story of all the great figures in Napoleonic history, Napoleon, Wellington, Marie Louise, Josephine, and others, is announced as the greatest picture of all times.

Be that as it may, "A Royal Divorce" in its runs in England and other European countries, is certainly creating a sensation such as finds no parallel in previous motion pictures. "A Royal Divorce' is playing to tremendous runs in every country in Europe, in many places of which other big pictures, such as "The Birth of a Nation," "The Four Horsemen" and "Robin Hood" have never even been heard of.

The picture was made by an English producer, C. B. Samuelson, and was photographed in England, France, Russia, and different European countries. The cast includes many famous English actors, headed by Owlym Evans, who plays Napoleon, and Gertrude McCoy, who takes the role of Josephine, the latter of which, after her wonderful performance in "A Royal Divorce," is now the toast of the whole European continent.

The one feature which distinguishes "A Royal Divorce" from all previous big pictures is that although two million dollars was spent in staging the Burning of Moscow, the Retreat from Moscow, the return from Elba, the Battle of Waterloo, and other tremendous historical sights, the picture remains first and foremost an intimate personal romance, with the main part of the action given in fascinating close-ups. And the acting is such as we seldom find in pictures made in America.

Even the spectacle side of the picture stands out from other big cinemas, in that all the spectacles are actual historic events, and have a quality of fascinating and arresting interest which belongs only to the realm of history.

On top of this is the fact that the most glorious period in all the history of the world is the European history of the Napoleonic era, which goes back only a hundred years to the times not far removed from us, but at the same time characterized by a spirit of romance and adventure which captivates one's senses.

The Empress Josephine, the beloved one of the greatest personality the world has ever seen, is a character that will endear herself to the public of every nation, and this part, taken as it is by that wonderful English actress, Gertrude McCoy, establishes itself almost as the outstanding bit of the piece, with the possible exception of Napoleon himself, who, as rendered by Gwlym Evans, the famous Welsh actor, has already been commented on by the press in six or sevep different languages in the different countries of Europe.

TRINITY SUNDAY SCHOOL SERVICE

Rev. F. E. Malott, Former Pastor, Was Visiting Speaker.

The anniversary of Trinity Sunday School was held yesterday, with Rev. F. E. Malott, B.A., B.D., former pastor of the church, now in charge of Bridge Street Methodist Church, Belleville, as the visiting speaker.

The occasion was very successful, and marked with excellent congregations for the morning and evening services, and an attendance of nearly five hundred people present at the afternoon session, held in the Reid Street Hall.

Rev. Mr. Malott spoke with particular reference to the children of the Sunday School, in his morning address, entitled "The Magic Mirror." The afternoon talk was along Sunday School lines, and the evening sermon was an inspirational sermon, "A Rendezvous with Life."

In the morning, Sunday School members attended the service in a body.

In the evening, when the church was packed to capacity, the musical service, in the capable hands of the choir leader and organist, Mr. Geo. H. King, was particularly effective, and received much praise from a pleased congregation.

The Trinity Sunday School Orchestra took part in the programme, and the choir was augmented to 80 voices, forming an "echo" choir, with many of the singers occupying the rear upper gallery, facing their companions in the choir loft at the front.

Numbers given included "Still, Still With Thee," with solos taken by Mrs. E. Kitney and Miss M. McBain of Springville, followed by "God that Madest Earth and Heaven," with obligato by Mrs. H. F. Doig, and Rodney's "Calvary," in which solos were taken by Mrs. Geo. H. King and Miss W. Murray of Springville.

At the afternoon session, the presence of the youngest and oldest members of the Sunday School was recognised. The youngest member, one of the Cradle Roll children, is Eric Marshall McBain, just fifteen days old, who received a silver cup, and the oldest mmeber is Mr. John Best, Donegal Street, 80 years of age, who received a bouquet of flowers.

PRINCE RETURNED AT TENSE MOMENT

Stresemann Bewails the Untrustworthiness of Former Kaiser's Son—Broke Faith, He Says.

BERLIN, Nov. 19. — (Canadian Press).—"The former Crown Prince deliberately broke faith with me," Chancellor Stresemann wailed on Saturday to the Socialists, who pointed out as obvious that by permitting the former Kaiser's son to return the Chancellor had brought fresh international complications at a tense moment.

Stresemann then plunged into the Shakespearean lament on untrustworthiness of princes. The Socialists do not know whether to believe it, but the story he told them is this.

Before he became Chancellor, Stresemann went to Wieringen to see the former Crown Prince. He had been an admirer of Friederich Wilhelm and has paid tribute to him in writing. Stresemann promised if he obtained power, he would permit the return. Stresemann kept his promise, but implored the former Crown Prince not to move without consulting him on the advisability of the time of departure from Holland.

TO GIVE ADDRESS LOCAL ENGINEERS

An address on "The St. Lawrence Ship Canal and Power Development," by D. W. McLachlan, M.E.I.C., of Ottawa, will form the main feature of the annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute, to be held tomorrow evening.

Mr. McLachlan, who, for the past five years, has acted as engineer in charge of the proposed St. Lawrence Ship Canal surveys, and is a member of the Canadian and American Societies of Civil Engineers, is well posted on his subject matter, and his address should prove of extreme interest.

In 1906, Mr. McLachlan graduated from McGill University, Montreal, taking the British Association medal in Civil Engineering. During his college course, he won numerous prizes, including the Flett Prize for field work, and in the intervals between university years, received a great deal of practical knowledge from work done for the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways and the Montreal Harbour Commissioners.

After graduation, Mr. McLachlan was resident engineer of the construction of the Brandon-Saskatchewan and Hudson Bay Railway. In 1907, he made surveys for power development on the River Trent in the vicinity of Campbellford and in the Niagara Peninsula.

In May of that year he entered the employ of the Department of Railways and Canals as assistant engineer of the construction of Sections 4, 5, and 6 of the Trent River Improvements, later receiving the appointment of Division Engineer in field charge of the same work. In 1910 he entered the Inside Service of the Department of Railways and Canals as hydraulic engineer, and from 1910 to 1913 was engaged on a great variety of canal and railway problems; the provision for development of power on the Trent, the location of the Welland Ship Canal, the improvement of the St. Lawrence, the design of the Car Ferry Terminals at Port Borden and Cape Tormentine, the design of extended facilities for the Intercolonial Railway, and the approval of routes for railways.

In July of 1913, Mr. McLachlan took charge of the building of a terminal for dockage facilities in the estuary of the Nelson River on the west coast of Hudson Bay. The financial condition of the country forcing a cessation of this work in 1918, Mr. McLachlan returned to Ottawa, where he again took up the further development of plans for the improvement of the St. Lawrence River. Since 1918 he has looked after the maintenance of the Port Nelson harbour work, as well as acting as engineer in charge of the proposed St Lawrence Ship Canal surveys.

Addresses at the annual meeting will also be given by W. J. Fraser, president of the Canadian Engineering Institute of Canada, and Fraser S. Keith, general secretary of the Institute.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — | New York Stock Exchange — and Curb Prices —

Today's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, November 19.United Press. — Anglo French relations remained in a state of crisis over the week end, but the seriousness of the situation was relieved at the start of the new week when it was announced that the conference of ambassadors had arrived at a compromise on the re-imposition of allied military control over Germany. This development gave a buoyant tone to the stock market in the early dealings.

Baldwin rebounded to 127, up practically two points, and active short coverings took place all through the list. Further impetus was given to the recovery in the general list by the good feeling resulting from the increasingly bright prospects for the success of the Mellon tax reduction program. President Coolidge's position in its favor brought additional buying into the industrial group before the close of the first hour. Bald win reached a new high on the current upswing at 128¾ and a pronounced strength cropped out in a number of specialties, one of these was Cuba Cane preferred, which moved up to 49 against Saturday's low of 46½; two years ago Cuba Cane owed $28,400,000; at the close of the company's fiscal year, September 30, current liabilities were only $5,367,000, including a $3,000,000 of the remaining bank loan which was paid off Nov. 1. The elimination of the bank loans means a saving of around $1,300,000 annually to Cuba Cane or $2.50 a preferred share. Incidentally the market value of Cuba Cane preferred and common stocks is only $1,100,000 in excess of the bank loans paid off in the last two years, with current liabilities down to around $3,000,000. Cuba Cane would be justified in resuming the preferred dividends. Sterling enjoyed a vigorous rebound in the late morning, coming back more than four cents from its recent low in response to the favorable turn in the Anglo-French crisis, stocks continued to display strength the upward movement broadening toward noon.

Bullish demonstrations went ahead in many sections of the list. Among the oils, Cosden and Standard Oil of New Jersey were favored, while Schulte was the leader of the specialties. Electric Storage Battery reached new high ground on the movement in anticipation of a substantial extra payment the first week in December. A recovery of more than 5 points to 23½ reflected the difficulty in borrowing the stock experienced by shorts since the returns began to be made on the plan whereby it is to be converted into Cold Dust stock. United States Cast Iron Pipe common advanced three points to 40, reflecting the declaration of a dividend of ½ per cent last week. This is the first distribution on Cast Iron Pipe common stock since 1907. The company has had an exceptionally good year with earnings estimated at over $14 a share on the common after allowing for the 7 per cent, preferred dividend.

SKELETON WILL BE LOOKED INTO

May be the Remains of Ambrose Small of Toronto Fame.

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Presbs.)—To see whether or not the skeleton of a man found in a bush about eight miles east of Toronto, might be Ambrose J. Small, missing Toronto theatrical magnate, it is probable police officials will make an examination immediately. The condition of the remains indicate that the body had been in the bushes several years. Mr. Small disappeared in December four years ago.

ADDRESS A MEETING IN THE BY-ELECTION

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.— (Canadian Press.)— Premier Mackenzie King will, it is understood, address only one meeting in Halifax on behalf of the Liberal candidate in the by-election there. According to present plans, the Prime Minister will arrive in Halifax on Friday, November 30th and speak there that evening. He will leave for Ottawa shortly after and is expected to reach the capital on Sunday, December 2nd. Mr. King is planning to pay a visit to his constituency of North York shortly after his return.

STERLING RATE NEW LOW LEVEL

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange established another low record for the year at the opening of to-day's foreign exchange market, demand bills being quoted at 4.28¾, or 1 5-8 below Saturday's closing rate.

Foreign exchange traders described the movement as a "flight from pound to dollar," which has been under way since the announcement of the forthcoming British elections with the tariff as the chief issue.

WAS REMANDED.

W. Webb, caretaker of St. Paul's church, Lakefield, arrested in connection with the theft of a quantity of clothing from Sherin's store a week ago, appeared in County Police Court this morning, and was remanded until Thursday, when he will appear in Lakefield.

Webb pleaded guilty to three charges and not guilty to a fourth. All of the offenses took place in Lakefield, and some of the booty, it is alleged, was found in his home, while quantities were found in the basement of St. Paul's church by men employed in repairing the furnace.

Rev. F. E. Malott, of Belleville, was in the city yesterday for the Sunday School anniversary services at Trinity Metohdist Church. Rev. A. J. Langford supplied for Mr. Malott in Belleville, at Bridge Street Church.

Prize-winners at the card party held in the Parish Hall of the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Friday evening were Mrs. W. J. Gallegher and Mr. William McAuliffe. There was a good attendance at the affair, which was held under the auspices of Groups Three and Four.

The Junior Chapter of the I.O.D.E. gave a very successful dance on Friday evening at the home of Miss Emma Lou Chenhall, Water Street, at which a number of the Kingston Collegiate rugby team were guests. Among those present were: Misses Bertha Hill, Dorothy Moir, Frances Ackerman, Mildred Morphet, Marion Webber, Helen MacFarlane, Jean Fraser, Margaret Mason, Marjory Turner, Sidney Mervin, E. Killaly, E. Cottrell, Miss McIntosh, Martha Kirn, D. Goodwin, J. McDuffee, J. Gilman, G. Hall, Marjorie Hobson. Messrs. A. Hill, H. Bletcher, A. Sowden, G. Eastwood, B. Fraser, Dobbin, Cole, Cormack, Coulthard, Cowan, Donnelly, Killaly, Widdess, Hall, Miller Thompson, McDuffee Stock, Henry, Benton, and many others.

Mr. Jas. Davis and Mr. Jas. Todd motored from New York to spend a few days with the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Murray street. They were accompanied from Toronto by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Davis and son Harold.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Read and two children who left for Los Angelec, California last week, were due to arrive at their destination yesterday morning. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barry, who are also leaving the city for Los Angeles in the near future, will be here for about ten days longer.

A meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. was held in the green room of the Young Women's Chrisjian Association, on Saturday afternoon the Regent, Mrs. F. C. Webber, presiding. The report of the Treasurer Miss Gladys Mulholland disclosed a very satisfactory condition of finances the present balance amounting to over $350. The sum of $10 was voted toward the Y.W.C.A. campaign fund.

The Misses Helen Howson and Ethel Nichol were appointed a committee to look after the society's relief work programme.

Convenors of committees in charge of arrangements for the Chapter's Christmas week dance were appointed. Miss Hazel Buller will supervise the card tables, Miss Gladys Patterson the refreshments, Miss Gladys Mulholland the advertising and Miss Mary Harstone the decorations.

The many friends of J. Marshall, 549 Harvey street, who was injured in a collision of his express rig with an automobile last week, will be pleased to learn that his condition is improving.

Mrs. G. Water Fitzgerald, 296 Burnham street, has returned home after spending the past two weeks with friends in Toronto and Oshawa.

Mrs. Vera Sanderson spent the week end with friends in Oshawa.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of Charles McCall, who passed away in the township of Douro:

The nineteenth of November, dear daddy died,
Four years have passed away,
The vacant chair looks lonesome still,
His life was kind, mild and true,
A loving father and husband too,
He loved his Bible and daily prayer,
To meet his reward beyond the veil,
At last, he gently passed away
To meet his Saviour at the judgment day.

FLANNERY—In loving memory of our little son Victor Thomas Flannery who died Nov. 19th 1921.

We who loved you sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking.
Thoughts of you are always near,

When the shades of night are falling
And we are still alone,
There often comes a-longing—
If only Victor could come home.

—Sadly missed by his mother, father and sister Blanche.

WEDDING BELLS

KLINE—WARNE.

The marriage took place at Los Angeles, Cal., on 17th November, by Rev. R. C. Parker, of West Adams Methodist Church, of William Kline, to Florence Mabel Warne, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Warne, Peterborough, and sister of Messrs. S. C. Warne, W. B. Warne, E. E. Warne, and Mrs. Roy Hutchinson, of this city.

OBITUARY

ARTHUR VASS.

At this home, 9 Brown Street, early on Sunday morning, Arthur Vass, at the age of 39 years, passed peacefully into rest after a long illness, which he bore with Christian patience.

He was a life-long resident of Peterborough, and for over five years was a valued employee of the De Laval Company as storekeeper, and among his fellow-workmen he was a popular favourite.

There are left to mourn his loss, his wife, and one son Harry, as well as three brothers, Albert, William and Walter, and two sisters, Mrs. F. Panter and Mrs. W. J. Conners.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday, 20th November, at 2.30 from his late residence, 9 Brown Street, Brownton, with Rev. James Rollins of St. Andrew's Church and Rev. M. C. Mackinnon of Knox Church officiating. Interment in Little Lake Cemetery.

WINTERBOTTOM—LEACH.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at three o'clock on Thursday, 15th November, at St. John's Church, when Edith, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Winterbottom, 106 Cameron Street, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Robert Leach. Rev. W. R. Courage, of St. George's Church, performed the ceremony.

The bride who entered the church on the arm of her father, looked lovely in brown silk canton crepe, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and maiden hair fern. The bride was attended by Miss Evelyn Freeman, who looked lovely in brown silk with hat to match and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Mr. Squire Winterbottom, only brother of the bride, supported the bridegroom.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was an onyx ring set with a pearl, and to the groomsman gold cuff links. After the ceremony the guests returned to the home of the bride, where a dainty wedding supper was served. The many costly gifts showed the high esteem in which the young couple are held.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach left on the midnight train for Montreal, with the best wishes of friends who gathered at the station to wish them good luck and a pleasant journey.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach sailed on Friday, 16th November, for the Old Land, and after a honeymoon spent with relatives and friends there, will return to Peterborough.

PREMIER BALDWIN HAVING TROUBLE

LONDON, Nov. 19.— (Canadian Press.) — Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, opening his election campaign in favor of tariff protection before a big audience in Queen's Hall to-day, declared the issue is unemployment and nothing else. The world's trade, he said, is dislocated in consequence of war and Great Britain has been hit harder than any other country.

"If the markets or the world are contracted, why should the whole burden of shortage in trade caused by that contraction fall on our shoulders instead of being shared among peoples of the world?" he asked.

"We cannto wait for settlement of Europe," he continued. "We must look after ourselves. We shall continue to strive for a settlement and for peace. Meantime we are not content to watch our industries being crippled under our eyes by countries who have entrenched themselves in by prohibitive tariff."

BALDWIN IS A STORM CENTRE THE ELECTION

Campaign Likely to Be One of Most Muddled of British Political History.

HOW PAPERS STAND

LONDON, Nov. 20.— (By Wickham Steed, former Editor of the London Times, and Editor of Review of Reviews, Copyright.)—A survey of the election outlook this morning bears out what was said yesterday to the effect that the campaign is likely to be one of the most muddled of British history.

Last evening Premier Baldwin made his first fighting speech—admittedly his best effort so far. But to-day the only vigorous support he gets is from the Die-Hard Tory Morning Post. The Times is silent, the Daily Telegraph but lukewarm and Rothermere's Daily Mail attacks him violently for risking a rupture with France and dismisses the tariff proposals contemptuously as too weak to do any good. It calls him "a mere cork, tossed about on the waves of dissension among his underlings in the Cabinet."

Lord Beaverbrooke's Daily Express denounces him for faithlessness towards the late Bonar Law who a year ago depreciated any violent fiscal policy.

All of the papers mentioned are Conservative in policy.

The Liberal press naturally criticizes and ridicules the Prime Minister in every way. While J. R. Clynes, Deputy Leader of the Labor Party, dismisses the Baldwin proposals as contemptible humbug.

Further confusion has been induced by lack of unanimity in handling the opponents of the Government, while Baldwin is so studiously polite towards the Labor leader, Ramsay Macdonald, that the suspicion arises as to whether he is not contemplating a Tory-Labor coalition if many Conservative seats are lost. The principal Tory organ, the Morning Post, denounces the Labor Party as tied to International Socialism and pledged to free trade by agreements with German Socialists and Russian Bolshevists. How the Conservative electors can derive guidance from the medley of counsels is a riddle.

Women Interested.

A curious feature of the meeting yesterday at which Premier Baldwin spoke was the fact that the audience was composed of seventy-five per cent. women. He is undoubtedly Minesweepers On Life-Saving Duty.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—The minesweepers Thiepval and Armentieres of the Royal Canadian Navy are undertaking life-saving duties for the life-saving service, Department of Marine and Fisheries, on the west coast of Canada.

One of these two ships will patrol in the neighborhood of Bamfield, B.C., during November and December and will render all possible aid to ships in danger or distress in the area patrolled. Regular naval training will be carried out while the ships are engaged on the life-saving work.

This arrangement has been approved by the Department of National Defence upon request for assistance by the Department of Marine and Fisheries in carrying out life-saving work.

USED GASOLINE ON KITCHEN FIRE

Manitoba Farmer Mistook It For Kerosine—Daughter Dead—Mother Burned.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20.—A seven-year old girl was burned to death and her mother and sister were seriously injured when the father, John Kotovitch started the kitchen fire with gasoline which he had mistaken for oil according to word received from Renwer, Man., near Dauphin yesterday afternoon. The father also received painful burns in an attempt to extinguish the fire which followed the explosion of the gasoline.

Kotovitch, returning to his farm home from Renwer, found a can on the road which he thought contained coal oil. On arrival at his home, the fire being practically out, he poured some of the liquid on the ashes. An explosion followed which enveloped all nearby in flames. His little daughter Rose was burned to a cinder. Kotovitch, his wife and daughter are now in the Dauphin Hospital.

MEETING WILL DISCUSS NOTE SENT GERMANY

Optimistic Feeling Today in London and Paris Over the Turn in Events.

BATTLE OF NOTES

PARIS, Nov. 20. — (Canadian Press).—Meeting of the Council of Ambassadors called for five o'clock this afternoon will not be held. Lord Crewe, British Ambassador stated that his government, owing to stress of business was unable to communicate his instructions in time for to-day's meeting. The session will likely be held to-morrow.

After six days of negotiations, four meetings and five adjournments the Ambassadors Council has hit on a compromise formula for dealing with Germany, which even if it only postpones the evil hour of decision, as many maintain, at least also postpones a break in the allied front. It is hoped that both postponements may prove to be indefinite.

Feeling here to-day was just as optimistic as it was pessimistic yesterday, for the agreement to send note to Germany has been fully endorsed by French and Belgian Cabinets and judging from the tone of London, will be endorsed by the British.

It was believed here this morning that agreement on proposed note in which allies will demand that their military control officers be allowed to function under adequate protection, will be completed before the end of the afternoon.

The moral influence of the United States, Italy and Belgium as well as that of Britain was credited here to-day with bringing France to the point of yielding on her proposed military action against Germany.

After the hopes of saving the Anglo-French office appeared to believe to-day that things will be arranged.

They thought Britain would accept the slight modification of the note to Germany insisting on re-imposition of allied control of her armaments.

The French Cabinet postponed discussion of the proposed note dealing with what Germany must do with the Crown Prince.

The note insisting on Allied control of Germany's military strength recognized the German Government's plea that it could not be responsible for the safety of the mission of control by providing that the commission should work in quiet places and gradually extend its operations. The text of the note dealing with the Crown Prince continued the demand that Germany must consider herself responsible for the actions of the former heir to the throne and virtually intern him.

Though it was first reported the cabinet had rejected proposal of the Ambassador's Conference for dealing with the Crown Prince, it was later indicated that actual decision would be postponed.

The text did not provide specific penalties in the event Germany failed to comply but were couched in very firm language, which, with the backing of all the Allies was believed strong enough to ensure compliance.

The note regarding military control, while agreeing that the Allied officers should not go at once into disturbed areas, insisting that in the quiet places where they did go, Germany should be held responsible for their safety.

The Reparations Commission decided to go ahead with the French plan for hearing German experts discuss their country's capacity to pay at its meeting Friday.

Food Shortage Forces British Women Home.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—It is reported here that in the event no agreement is reached between France and Great Britain, the British military mission will receive orders to leave Germany.

The women clerks in the British Embassy and those attached to the Military and Guarantee Commission have been advised to return to Great Britain owing to the food shortage and the possibility of disorders.

$100,000 Fire In Alberta Hamlet.

RAYMOND, Alta., Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press).—The Ellison mill and elevator here were totally destroyed by fire early this morning, together with a quantity of grain in the elevator. The structure contained thirty thousand bushels, but may be salvaged. The estimated loss in the buildings, which include two warehouses, is $75,000, and the loss in grain approximately $25,000, the whole covered by insurance.

THEY'RE STILL TRAVELLING.

A. Y. Gowen and wife have a hard time getting their bearings on dry land. First it was their two-year cruise around the world in "The Speejacks," a 90-foot motor yacht. Then it was a trip to the orient. Here they are coming down the gangplank of the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Russia, on their return. But this time it was a business trip, Gowen explains.

ALLIES COMPROMISE ON NOTE TO GERMANY AND AVOID RUPTURE

Alternative Texts Demanding Facilities For Functioning of Military Control Mission Must Be Approved By Governments.

CRISIS SUSPENDED.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—The Allies, after declaring in various ways their determination to disagree on the enforcement of the allied military control in Germany, hesitated when the moment came for the break yesterday, and in a final effort to avoid rupture, patched up a compromise text of a note to Germany, which was submitted to the various governments.

The French Cabinet approved the course taken, but Great Britain and Belgium had not been heard from when the Council of Ambassadors met at six o'clock for its evening session; hence the crisis goes over until another meeting.

Press Excluded.

The gravity of the decision the Ambassadors were called upon to take was reflected in the extraordinary precautions taken to surround the deliberations of the Council with secrecy. The French newspapermen were marooned in one wing of the Foreign Office, while the Ambassadors were notified that they should make their entrance at the other end. As for the foreign correspondents, including the British and those from the United States, they were excluded from the building altogether.

The atmosphere around the Foreign Office generally was that of impending trouble. Ambassador Herrick, one of the first to arrive and the first to leave, was also the first to announce that there would be no break to-day, and the Anglo-Saxon press representatives naturally had the first news. There were general expressions of relief when the news became known, although in the absence of details there was still considerable apprehension.

The compromise reached, it was learned later, followed closely the suggestion which was discussed before the meeting of the Council. This was that the Ambasadors sent Germany a protest against the lack of facilities for the military control mission, but without mentioning what the Allies might do in case Germany refused to give the required assurance.

The Ambassadors chose two alternative texts, which they proposed to submit to their governments for approval. Both of the texts make it clear to the Germans that the Allies mean that the military clauses of the Treaty of Versailles shall be carried out and that the Inter-Allied Military Control Mission in Germany shall be allowed to function under adequate protection.

Mention No Penalties.

Neither of the text, however, mentioned the penalties the Allies would apply in case of the refusal by the German Government to give a satisfactory reply, it being left implied as a matter of course that some coercive action would follow such refusal. This appears to have satisfied the French, since the Cabinet, meeting later, approved Premier Poincare's attitude, which could scarcely be separated from the attitude of Jules Cambon, who took a leading part in bringing about the compromise.

While the French Cabinet was deliberating, Lord Crewe and Baron D'Hestroy communicated the texts to their respective governments by telephone. The optimism that set in immediately after the morning session of the Council diminished when it was learned just before the hour for the evening session that the British Government had not yet been heard from.

Adjournment of the Council until late to-day made a very bad impression, being regarded as narrowing these chances for a final record.

Protect French Rights.

The arguments which induced the French to make their concessions are understood to have been that a compromise text of the note to Germany would leave the way open for them to act later if they saw fit; that none of the French rights under the treaty were sacrificed, and that the note was such as to make the German Government understand that the Allies would insist upon all their prerogatives.

The lapses in Premier Poincare's speech yesterday which appeared to make him say that the French would occupy the Ruhr until all the clauses of the treaty were executed and security for France amply guaranteed were much commented upon in diplomatic circles, as was the official note issue by the Foreign Office correcting the text of the speech.

The Premier's usual precision made the statement all the more surprising. It was made clear at the Foreign Office that the Premier never had in mind the occupation of the Ruhr until the security of France was guaranteed but that when he referred to the occupied territory he meant the territory expressly mentioned in the treaty—that is, the left bank of the Rhine, including the bridgeheads.

A Press Problem.

Exclusion of the British, United States and other foreign correspondents from the Foreign Office during to-day's meeting of the Ambassadors was explained as due to the fact that a German correspondent slipped into the crowd the other night when the newspapermen were waiting for a word from the Premier regarding the decisions of the Ambassadors. When this fact was called to the attention of the plainclothesmen detailed to protect M. Poincare, they complained that in such crowds it was impossible always to identify every reporter.

The German in queston was a correspondent for Hugo Stinnes' paper, the North German Gazette. The head of the Premier's office has decided that henceworth only French reporters shall be allowed in the lobby. A protest has been lodged by the Anglo-American Press Association.

CONSERVATIVES SAY SLOGAN IS ON TO CAPITAL

Third Annual Meeting of Liberal-Conservative Association of Ontario Voices Pride in Party.

LOC L DELEGATES

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Still preserving the feeling of elation which followed the victory over the United Farmers' Government, Conservatives from all parts of the Province came to Toronto in large numbers to the third annual meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ontario, which opened here to-day.

J. R. MacNicoll, recording secretary of Toronto, and assistants, were on hand early enrolling delegates.

"During the past three years our slogan has been, 'On the Queen's Park,' and we have pardonable pride that the efforts of this association to further organize and coordinate our forces played a part along with loyal and unselfish service by all Liberal-Conservatives in the victory," said Dr. MacNicol in his message to the members. "Ontario being redeemed, our slogan should now be, "On to Ottawa."

Optimistic Notes.

"A vigorous effort commenced now will create irresistable momentum of public opinion that on election day will wipe out of power the unstable responsibility-shirking Government at Ottawa and elect in its place a strong Liberal-Conservative administration pledged to maintain the traditional principles of our party."

The speech of Joseph T. Thompson, M.L.A., president of the organization, was full of the same spirit. He congratulated the members on the manner in which they rallied to the Conservative standard last June, and spoke in optimistic terms of the future.

Mr. Thompson, who is to be appointed Speaker of the Legislature, announced his resignation from the presidency.

Delegates from Peterboro include W. H. Bradburn, M.L.A.; V. J. McElderry and Roland Denne.

John R. MacNicol was elected president of the association by acclamation, George R. Spotton, of Wingham, who was also nominated, retiring.

Mrs. Winnett, of London, was elected by a large majority as first vice-president, and George Spotton was chosen second vice-president.

LABOR REFUSES TO CO-OPERATE

Antagonism Between These Two Parties Has Already Cropped Out — Triangular Contests Increasing.

LONDON, November 20. — The election manifestoes of all of the three great parties are now before the country, and ammunition is thus provided for one of the most intense election campaigns the country has ever experienced. During the coming three weeks there will be a perfect tornado of election speeches.

The manifesto issued from the United Liberal Headquarters to-day affords proof that the Liberal campaign will be devoted more to an attack on the Government's alleged feeble foreign policy, which will be represented as the prime cause of of the trade depression and the unemployment, with less insistence on the familiar plansk of the Liberal party.

CROKER'S WIDOW WINS

DUBLIN, Nov. 20. — In the Chancery Division to day an action against Mrs. Bula Croker brought by Richard Croker Jr., on legal point, was dismissed. The effect of th, dismissal was to prove the will of Richard Croker, Sr., in solemn form so that it cannot be further appealed against and to leave Mrs. Croker's position safe.

Ends Long Tramp In Kingston Jail.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press).—John Rose, a man of sixty years, told Magistrate Farrell this morning that he had walked from Woodstock to this city.

Rose was charged with vagrancy and admitted to the court that he was doing nothing. The prisoner seemed real pleased when he heard the sentence of one month in jail and walked from the court with a jaunty air.

Six Vacancies in The City Council

Six vacancies on the City Council will be filled by election on 1st January, caused by the expiration of the terms of Mayor W. H. Taylor, Aldermen E. M. Turner, Walter Stocker, M. McIntyre, Nagel Phelan, and W. T. Holloway.

On the Board of Education there will be five also, the terms of the following expiring this year: Dr. F. C. Neal, E. B. Fowler, Mrs. W. R. Morris, A. W. Richardson, and J. T. Braund.

Mr. E. F. Mason's term on the Utilities Commission expires this year.

SENATE COURT OUSTS WALTON

Governor of Oklahoma Removed From Office By Unanimous Vote of 41 to 0.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 20.—J. C. Walton, fifth Governor of Oklahoma, was removed from office last night by unanimous vote of the State Senate Court of Impeachment after his trial on charges of corruption in office neglect of duty, moral turpitude and general incompetence.

A formal verdict was returned after the Executive had been found guilty of eleven of the sixteen charges presented. The vote was 41 to 0.

Six of the orignal 22 charges constituting the impeachment bill were dismissed by order of the court.

Denied New Trial

The court, by a standing vote, denied a motion for a new trial, which Governor Walton's counsel filed immediately after the verdict was announced.

The Governor's removal, although not formally ordered until after a verdict had been returned on each charge, was made certain this afternoon when the court found him guilty of abusing his pardon and pardon authority, the first charge to be voted upon.

Forty-one Senators, lacking only one of the total membership of the body, voted for conviction. Senator Jack Barker, who has consistently voted in the Governor's favor throughout the sixteen days of the trial, was absent.

The articles of impeachment were filed by the Lower House of the State Legislature which less than two months ago the Executive had dispersed by military force.

By the removal of Governor Walton, Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp, became Governor. Trapp has been Lieutenant-Governor through two four-year administrations, and has been acting governor since October 23, when the Senate suspended Governor Walton after the filing of the impeachment charge.

Vote Was Sudden

The vote followed with surprising suddenness after the examination of the last witness, E. W. Marland, President of the Marland Refining Company, had barely left the stand when W. E. Disney, Chairman of the House Board of Managers which conducted the prosecution, announced that the evidence was concluded.

A few preliminary manoeuvres, and then a motion was made to vote first on Article 19, the clemency charge. The court sustained the motion and the prosecution summed up briefly the testimony introduced in support of the charge.

The court then took up the roll call. The Chamber was intensely quiet as one senator after another rose and voted "Aye," many with voices that were kept steady with difficulty.

Twenty-eight votes were necessary to convict.

Senator C. D. Leedy of Arnett, was the 28th man. With the determining vote in his power he told the court he would vote "No" unless given authority later to explain his ballot.

A pause ensued, then a voice broke the stillness.

"All right, go ahead and vote."

"Then I vote 'Aye,'" Senator Leedy said, and a burst of cheers and applause came from the galleries.

"Guilty as charged in Article 19," the Chief Justice announced. More cheers followed his announcement and brought a hasty rebuke from the marshal of the Senate.

TO FIGHT THE POLICE ISSUE TO THE LIMIT

G. N. Gordon Has Been Added to the City's Legal Battery in Test Case.

MET LAST NIGHT

"To fight the case to the limit" was the decision arrived at last night by the Legal Committee of the City Council in discussing the legal dispute between the Council and the Police Commission regarding the city's right to prune the estimates of the police body.

The City Council rests its contention on the fact that if the section reads as Mr. R. R. Hall claims, then the matter of responsible government is taken away from the Council as far as the Police Department is concerned. If the section is construed in this way, Peterboro City Council will make an attempt to combine with other municipalities in having the section made specific so as to give Council the right to reduce or alter estimates submitted to them by the Police Commission.

The committee also granted Joseph Wearing permission to have G. N. Gordon assist him in the case.

Statement of Defence.

The statement of defence of the City of Peterboro, in which the Chief Constable's claim is disputed in full, declares that in exercise of the rights given it by Section 363 of the Municipal Act, the City Council considered the estimates submitted by the Board of Police Commissioners and reduced the amount from $28,843 to $25,000.

The object of this, the defence says, was to keep the tax rate within reasonable bounds, and the object could not be achieved if the Police Commission estimates were allowed to pass at the figure set by the Commission. The brief motion which opened the controversy read: "That the Police Department estimates be reduced to $25,000 and the Board of Commissioners of Police be so advised."

It is further declared that the Police Commissioners, knowing of Falling Prices and Winter Killing Ascribed As the Cause.

OTTAWA, November 20. — In a report dealing with the field crops of Canada made public last night by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, a decrease of 100,000 acres or 13 per cent. is recorded in the amount of land sown to fall wheat.

It is shown that 767,000 acres is sown to Fall wheat this year as compared with 877,500 in the Fall of 1922. The reasons given for the decrease in acreage devoted to Fall wheat are falling prices and large areas Winter killed.

In all Canada the proportion of land intended for next year's crop that has been ploughed this Fall, is 43 per cent. as compared with 48 per cent. last year, and 67 per cent. in 1921. As compared with last year the decrease extends to every province except Quebec weher there is an increase of two per cent.

Dealing with the general crop conditions the report says that crops in the Atlantic provinces were later than usual this year, but that the fine weather which prevailed during the last two weeks of October made it possible to gather them in good condition. Corn is a good crop, the bulletin says, adding it is growing in popularity in Canada.

Heroic Service Recognized

A system of awards for heroic conduct — acts of outstanding courage and devotion to duty — has been inaugurated by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada. Eight awards were made recently covering the years 1921 and 1922. The record discloses some incidents of remarkable heroism and resource in the face of great danger. To cite only two of them:—

John Joseph Carmody, cable splicer, was working away at the foot of a high telephone pole in Kingston a short time ago, when happening to glance upwards he saw a fellow employee at the top of the pole lose his balance and begin a long fall of thirty feet to the ground. Carmody had only an instant to decide what to do. Gauging the line of flight with all the skill of an oldtime baseball catcher, he braced himself to receive the full impact of the falling body. The manstruck squarely on Carmody's back with the result that instead of being killed he received only minor injuries. Carmody was himself only slightly hurt.

Francis Bartholomew Wood, cable splicer, was working on the top of a pole at Ottawa, when a companion on another pole eighty feet away, called to him that he was about to faint!

"Throw yourself over the suspension wire", shouted Wood, "I'll be there in a jiffy!" He was as good as his word. The sick man was unconscious and hanging limp across the wire, but Wood, no other help being available, was able singlehanded to fasten a rope about him and to lower him safely from his perilous perch. Then applying first aid, he soon brought his companion back to consciousness.

The other awards made were for deeds equally praiseworthy. They were chiefly to operators who continued at their switchboards in the face of advancing fire and flood. An handsomely engraved certificate, with a substantial present in the shape of silverware or gold timepiece accompanied each award.

GERMANY NEGOTIATING FOR EXTENSIVE CREDIT

BERLIN, Nov. 20. — (Canadian Press).—With regard to reports of the impending conclusion of the Anglo-American loan to Germany, Boerson Curioers says that negotiations are in progress between a well-known Berlin bank and a group of British, United States and Dutch financiers for credit to Germany of one billion four hundred million gold marks. The granting of this credit, says the newspaper, is dependent upon conditions that there be no change in the internal situation in Germany.

"JUST MARRIED" SHOW ENDORSED BY OTHERS

Manager of Princess Theatre Sends Message of Approval to Local Manager.

The following telegram from the manager of the Princess Theatre, Toronto, speaks well for the "Just Married" show which will appear here on Saturday next at the Grand Opera House:

Manager H .Bickell,
Grand Opera House, Peterborough.

"Just Married," the farce-comedy that is to play your theatre, can be recommended to your patrons most highly. It is a clean, humorous, and laughable entertainment and bound to please. Did good business at Princess Theatre. So do not be afraid to boost the "Just Married" company.

Will Take Off All Excess Fat

Do you know that there is a simple, harmless, effective remedy for overfatness that may be used safely and secretly by any man or woman who is losing the slimness of youth? There is; and it is none other than the tablet form of the now famous Marmola Prescription, known as the Marmola Prescription Tablets. You can well expect to reduce steadily and easily without going through long seiges of tiresome exercise and starvation diet. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists the world over at one dollar a box or you can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit Mich., on receipt of price.

the reduction, made no provision for keeping the expenses of the police force for the year within the sum allowed by the City Council, which it should have done by pruning the police salaries and other items set out in the statement of claim now made by the Chief Constable.

The sum having been exhausted, there being no funds available for payment of his salary or otherwise from November 1, the plaintiff continued to act as Chief Constable and made payments of expenses, these being made without direction or authority from the City Council.

Object to Car.

Paragraph 5 of the statement of defence reads: "The Board of Commissioners of Police were well aware that in order to keep within the said sum of $25,000, they would be unable to maintain or hire a motor car for the use of the Police Department, and the City Council disputes the right of the said Board of Commissioners to maintain or hire a motor car as indicated in the plaintiff's statement of claim, well knowing that there would be no money available for nayment of the same."

The City Council relies on the right given to it under the statute to reduce the proposed expenditure as suggested in the estimates submitted to it each year by the Board of Police Commissioners, and submits, in its defence, that the Board should have revised their estimates so as to bring its expenditure for the year 1923 within the sum of $25,000.

Mr. Wearing submits that the action should be dismissed.

Have You

SORE HANDS in Winter?

HEAL THEM WITH ZAM-BUK.

FOR chapped hands, chilblains, cold-sores and frost-bite, there is no treatment so beneficial as dressings with Zam-Buk. When the roughness, irritation and redness of the skin is followed by cracking and bleeding, dirt and disease germs may find their way into the raw places and cause inflammation, blood-poison or winter eczema. Zam-Buk stops this peril entirely.

Simply smear a little herbal Zam-Buk on the sore parts and wrap up carefully. Letting the Zam-Buk soak into the tissues, soothes away smarting itching pain, and assures rapid healing with healthy new skin.

The striking success of Zam-Buk is due to its rare herbal origin. It contains none of the mineral salts or animal fats that form the basis of common salves and ointments. Prepared exclusively from rich herbal essences, Zam-Buk is a concentrated balm of the highest purity and of unvarying healing, soothing, and antiseptic efficiency.

Don't wait until winter frosts and winds begin to bite and chap your skin—get Zam-Buk to-day! Use a little every night, to keep your skin smooth and flexible.

Use Zam-Buk also for the speedy healing of cuts, burns and scalds, and for eczema, abscesses, ulcers, ringworm or other skin or scalp disease. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25, all druggists and dealers.

CHURCH ORGANIST RECEIVES PURSE

Miss Marjorie Franks of East Emily Presented With Sum of Money.

EAST EMILY, Nov. 20.—The members of St. James Anglican church gathered at the home of Miss Marjorie Franks last Friday evening, November 16.

A very social evening was spent in games and music.

In the early part of the evening Miss Franks was presented with an address and purse of gold. Miss Freda Moncrief read the address and Miss Mildred Clarke made the presentation.

The address was as follows:

To Miss Marjorie Franks, East Emily.

Dear Friend,—

We, the members and adherents of St. James' Anglican church, are assembled tonight to convey greetings to you on the eve of your depature from our midst. We wish to express to you our appreciation of your services as organist of our church, so very cheerfully and faithfully given, during the past two years.

Your regular attendance and musical ability have done much to make the service of song an inspiration to us all. Both in our church and Sunday school you have rendered splendid service, for which we desire to tender our thanks.

We ask you to accept this purse of money as a slight token of our regard and assure you of our best wishes for your future.

May it often remind you of the happy associations we have enjoyed. It is with a deep sense of regret we contemplate your going, but be assured we shall follow you with our prayers that God may abundantly bless you in your new home and make you the blessing you have been to us.

Signed on behalf of the church,
FREDA MONCRIEF,
MILDRED CLARKE.

CAMPBELLFORD SHOWS LARGER POPULATION DURING LAST YEAR

Assessor's Report Just Returned Indicates Growth — Hydro Commission Will Appeal.

CAMPBELLFORD, November 20.—Assessor Mulhearn has completed his work for 1923 and turned in his roll to Town Clerk McGregor. Last year there was not a single appeal against Mr. Mulhearn's figures, but when the Court of Revision meets in a few days there is likely to be an interesting case raised upon which the County Judge will be called upon to adjudicate, the complaining party being the Hydro Commission, whose assessment has been raised.

In past years the Hydro has been paying a tax of $1000, the estimated value of their land in the municipality, and no business tax has been charged. For the first time Assessor Mulhearn has levied a business tax, and has increased the assessment of the Hydro to $7000, placing a value of $6000 on the buildings. This action it is expected will result in a test case.

According to the assessor's figures the population of Campbellford has increased by 180 during the past year and now stands at 3063. There were 58 births and 24 deaths during the past fiscal year.

There will be 1073 names on the new voters' list.

The total assessed value in each of the four wards are as follows:

Ward 2. — Land, $255,350; buildings, $91,150; income, $10,335; business tax, $36,725.

Ward 3. — Land, $61,700; buildings, $241,350; income, $1,350; business tax, $7,675.

Ward 4. — Land, $82,375; buildings $361,800; income $2450. business, $86,-450.

In 1922 the total assessed value of the town was $1,545,020.

The number of dogs as given by the assessor are 944.

UNITED STATES SEIZED ASSETS OF HOME BANK

Judgment in Favour of New York State Trust Company Swallows $90,000 of Home Bank Assets—Announced Yesterday.

QUICK WORK

TORONTO Nov. 20—(Canadian Press).—Ninety thousand dollars of assets of the Home Bank of Canada have gone to settle a judgment against the Bank in favor of the Irving Bank of Columiba Trust Company of New York State. The United States Bank had a claim against the oHme Bnk, created in sales of Bills of Exchnge. Hearing of the Bank's failure, the Irving Bank attached all assests of the Home Bank in New York State. Attachment was mad, on the day after the Banks Suspension. G. T. Clarkson, interim liquidator of the Home Bank yesterday learned officially of the action taken in New York state.

KING AND QUEEN VISIT THE POPE

Ancient Ceremonial to Denote Humility and Homage Restored by King Alfonso.

ROME, Nov. 20.—Thrice bending the knee before Pope Pius, then kneeling on the steps of his throne, King Alfonso and Queen Victoria as "Their Catholic Majesties" yesterday, kissed the Pope's toe and then his hand, thereby restoring the ancient ceremonial to denote humility and the homage due the Holy Father by Catholic sovereigns.

It was the most imposing ceremonial seen in the Vatican since the Pope became a prisoner. The Pontiff was visibly touched by the voluntary action of devotion of the sovereigns, which was the outstanding feature of their first day's visit to Rome. After Alfonso had delivered an address to the Pope he again essayed to kneel, but the Pontiff took him by the hand, lifted him to his feet and embraced him.

Both inside and outside the Vatican the scene was a splendid one; outside the Vatican guards were resplendent in their brilliant gala uniforms, while inside the prelates were dressed in their ceremonial robes of red or purple.

Last night the Spanish King was the guest of honor at a State dinner given by King Victor Emmanuel.

SHORTEST MURDER TRIAL IN MONTREAL.

Less Than Ten Minutes to Acquit Foreigner Who Understood Not a Word.

MONTREAL, November 20 (Canadian Press). — Hussein Kassam, formerly a fireman on board the steamer Sheaf Mount, was acquitted of the charge of murdering Said Salem, another fireman, when a jury of the King's Bench rendered a verdict of not guilty here yesterday afternoon.

Crown Prosecutor Calder declared there was no case against the prisoner.

From the time of swearing in the jury to their dismissal after their verdict, less than ten minutes elapsed, making it the shortest murder trial on record here.

Kassam, who did not understand a word of the proceedings, looked as bewildered after the verdict as when he was brought into the dock.

He will be held here until arrangements have been made to have him shipped back to Bombay.

NO POLITICS SAY FARMERS

Abolish Name "Platform" and Substitute Instead "Principles"—Council Will Keep Out of Politics.

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press.)— All over Canada farmers' organizations are occupied in definitely defining the field of their political operations. The present trend is away from active participation in politics and toward indirect effort on particular questions. J. J. Morrison who returned yesterday from attending the fall session of the Canadian Council of Agriculture in Winnipeg, stated that this movement had been particularly noticeable at the gathering. The Council had spent much time in revising its platform and as a first step had abolished the name "platform" and substituted "principles."

"While it is only another name for practically the same thing, it shows the trend of the times," Mr. Morrison remarked.

The Canadain Council defined its policy of keeping out of politics at the March meeting. In Toronto, the U.F.O. will discuss the same ques tion at its convention next month.

Born at Sea, Named After the Captain.

LINDSAY, November 20 (Canadian Press). — The death of Ralph Nye Independent Selby yesterday, aged 80 years, recalls the fact that he was born on the ocean on the good ship Independent, of which Captain Nye was in charge, hence the name of the deceased.

The late Mr. Selby lived for many years in Dunsford, and for 25 years in Lindsay.

He was a brother of Mrs. David McFarlane of Peterborough.

Kinmount Grist Mill Destroyed.

LINDSAY, Nov. 20.—(Special).—On Friday night last fire completely destroyed J. Austin & Son's grist and chop mill at Kinmount. The mill is situated on Burnt River, just opposite the firm's saw-mill. The village power plant had a narrow escape from destruction, and was only saved as a result of the efforts of the villagers. The burned mill was a frame one. Cause of fire is a mystery.

MISSION ENDS AT LAKEFIELD

Holy Communion Service Sunday With Final Sermon in Evening.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 20.—The Mission held in St. John's church was brought to a close on Sunday evening. The attendance was not as large as one could wish nor as the mission merited but the influence of the mission will be felt in the parish for many months.

On Friday evening Mr. Seaborn took the story of the choice given the Jews by Pontius Pilate: "Will you have this man or Barabbas." The choice comes to us again today as the challenge is still with us as the choice between Jesus Christ and the world is given us all and too many are apt to allow the opinions of the world to guide them rather than the precepts of our Lord.

On Saturday evening the service was a solemn preparation for the Holy Communion on Sunday morning. There were two celebrations one at 8 a.m. and one at 11 a.m. with a sermon.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock celebration the sermon was on the sacred suject of the Holy Communion, the greatest of all sacraments ordained by Christ himself as a perpetual memorial of his death and sacrifice.

On Sunday evening the subject was "Where the heart is, there the treasure is also.

After the service Mr. Seaborn bade good bye to the people of St. John's who had been privileged to have him with them for the past week.

Week's Activities.

On Monday evening a meeting is being held to organize a hockey team for the season.

On Tuesday afternoon the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian church hold their thank offering meeting in the church parlors and have extended an invitation to the ladies of other missionary societies in the village to mee them.

On Tuesday evening the A.Y.P.A will hold a musical evening in the school room of St. John's church.

On Thursday evening the Masquerade dance under the auspices of the Volunteer Fire Brigade.

Lakefield Personals.

Misses E. and M. Thomson were the guests of friends in Toronto last week.

Mrs. E. W. Bailey spent a few days in Toronto last week visiting friends.

Misses Lelia, Verna and Doris Burgess were week-end visitors in the village.

Miss Gwen Simpson of Buckhorn spent Sunday at her home in the village.

Young People Met

The Young People's League of the Methodist Church was held tonight. President in the chair. After the devotional part of the meeting came the business. Arrangements were made for next Monday night. Then the report of the Bay of Quinte Young People's Conference held at Belleville was given by the delegates, Miss N. Hoover and Miss M. Ford. Mrs. Turner another delegate also gave a few of her impressions of the Conference and demonstrated the official handclasp. The president Mr. Craighead thanked the delegates for their interesting reports and each one went home feeling that it was an evening well spent.

The Mission Circle of the Methodist Church will have a sewing meeting for the bazaar on Tuesday night at the home of Miss Jean Kenyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Waterman and two children, of Kingston, were in town to-day attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Holmes. They used to be close neighbours. Master Harold Lebrash, of Kingston, came up for his grandmother's (the late Mrs. Holmes) funeral. His uncle, Mr. George Lebrash, accompanied him.

THE LABOR MANIFESTO.

In the light of the cable from London telling of the unloading of British securities by both American and British financiers, the manifesto issued by the British Labour party gains additional significance.

The only possible reason for the action of the financiers in question is the fear that the Labour party may win the election and put into force its Socialistic programme.

That programme is drastic enough to frighten off the most hardy financial expert.

It includes a levy on British capital—in brief, it proposes to extract some 15,000,000,000 in a lump sum from the pockets of everybody possessed of more than $25,000.

The taxes of the rich are to be increased almost to the point of confiscation—in fact, some Labour leaders propose 95 per cent. as a suitable slice of the highest incomes.

The mines, railways, and other industries, are to be nationalized, and there are other revolutionary proposals.

It is an attractive menu for the working man who doesn't think.

Fortunately, however, the majority of the British workers do think, and they are intelligent enough to realize that "melon" and "lemon" are two words that are spelt with the same set of letters.

They are not likely to be completely carried away by the communistic propaganda with which they are being fed by the leaders of the Labour party.

The faint-hearted financiers who are standing from in under are misjudging the intelligence of the British people.

CANADA WELL IN THE LEAD.

Readers of the Examiner will doubtless be interested in a number of statistics recently published in the United States giving a review of the use of electricity per capita and of the comparative amounts of water power and of fuel power in use in a number of countries.

It will be surprising to find how high Canada stands in comparison with the United States in the per capita use of electricity.

In fact, the output of electric stations in this country per capita is almost one and a half times as great as in the neighboring Republic, and the amount of water power developed here is nearly four times as great as in the United States, while water power constitutes 88 per cent. of the electrical generating capacity in Canada as compared with Uncle Sam's 24 per cent.

The figures in regard to the output of electric energy in kilowatt hours per capita in the countries which lead in this respect are as follows: Switzerland 700, Canada 683, Norway 493, United States 472 and Sweden 364.

Interesting, too, is the comparison between the United States and Canada:

	Canada.	United States.
Total electric output in kilowatt hours per head of population ..	68.3	47.2
Dwellers in electric lighted abodes in per cent. of total population ..	37.1	36.8
Water power developed in horse power per 1,000 of population ..	33.8	9.
Hydro-electric as fuel plants:—
Water power per cent. of total	88.1	23.7
Fuel power per cent. of total	11.9	76.3

WHAT ABOUT THE MAYORALTY?

In some quarters the report is being circulated that there will be no contest for the mayoralty in Peterborough at the January elections, and that Mayor Taylor will be returned by acclamation for his third term.

The usual tenure of office in the chief magistrate's chair in this city has been two years, and there is no apparent reason, unless the citizens are even more apathetic than usual in their interest in municipal affairs just now, why the customary procedure should be departed from on this occasion.

The field is open to everybody, and the citizens should see to it that the candidature of qualified aspirants for the position is assured.

The theory that the honour should necessarily go to a member of the present Council will not hold water.

Experience is, of course, an asset, but there are no mysteries in connection with the mayoral duties that a good business man could not solve in a few days, no technique that need bother any citizen with a grasp of public affairs and civic problems.

An able, energetic business man with the ability to get on his feet at public gatherings and say what he has to say clearly and in reasonably good English, with poise and weight enough to enable him to meet distinguished visitors and big men of affairs in a manner to reflect credit upon the community, with backbone enough to supply leadership to the Council and enterprise enough to defy precedent and cut red tape when precedent must be defied, and red tape cut in the public interest is more qualified perhaps to act as chief magistrate than an aspirant without such qualities even if he has sat in Council for half his life.

It is a man of that type that Peterborough needs, and it should be everybody's job between now and New Year's Day to see that he is found—and elected.

CHURCHES AND TAXATION.

"No doubt the churches will be the next thing to be taxed." That line is taken from a letter written to this paper, commenting on the tendency of all sorts of Governments to reach out now for new forms of taxation, says the London Advertiser.

The argument about taxing churches is not a new one, and developments in recent years make the question a more debatable one than ever.

A church is exempt from taxation because it is a place of worship; it is a concession granted by the state to the church for a certain reason, and some churches that believe strictly in the complete separation of church and state refuse to be exempt from taxation.

If the churches were used all the time for that one purpose only, and that purpose being worship, there might be little heard about the matter of taxation, but many of the churches have in recent years adopted a policy of making of their edifices places that compete with concert halls and other similar heavily-taxed places.

If a large concert is put on in a church there is no tax by the municipality, and yet that concert is in direct opposition with the places of entertainment in the city that are paying taxes to the city.

When the various organizations connected with churches put on sales and bazaars they at once reach out and take their share of the trade that would otherwise go to the business and Government and municipal tax.

Were churches to use their buildings on the basis on which tax exemption was first granted, viz., that they should be places of worship, there would be little talk of taxation, but the tendency of more and more making the churches places of paid admission, competing with heavily-taxed premises, is bound to have the effect of drawing fire sooner or later from the assessment departments of the various cities.

MAKING HISTORY.

Four Norwegian ocean tramp steamers left Port Arthur this week for what may prove to be a momentous and history-making voyage. The boats are laden with 65,000 bushels of wheat each, and they will make the long voyage from the head of the lakes through the Soo and Welland Canals, down the St. Lawrence and on to Liverpool.

But—and here is an important point—these boats cannot go fully laden. They must stop at Montreal for another 10,000 bushels of wheat each before they can proceed to cross the Atlantic. This voyage Canada may well watch with interest, for it is the first attempt to deliver wheat overseas from the head of the lakes without breaking bulk at the Atlantic seaboard. If the experiment pays under the difficulties presented by the obstacles to navigation in the St. Lawrence, we may expect not only that the direct trade will grow, but that new impetus will be given the construction of the St. Lawrence deep waterway project.

Waterways have been in decadence in North America ever since the railroad began to make itself felt as an economic factor. An exception is the vast volume of trade carried on by Great Lakes carriers. But conditions here have always been especially favorable; coal at one end of the route from the lower to the upper lakes, and iron ore at the other have made for very few trips in ballast. Other waterways of the canal type, with locks and long stretches of narrow channel, have fallen into almost complete disfavor, as compared with speedy transportation afforded by the railways.

Just now the railway systems which as pioneers served both Canada and the United States as well, are proving inadequate. They are not able to provide the cheap transportation which products like wheat must enjoy if the capacity of the Canadian Northwest as a grain-growing country is to be further developed. In time, of course, the Northwest will be more of a general farming country than it is now. But wheat-growing is necessary, if the vast stretches are to be peopled. As Canada's northern clime produces the best wheat, bar none, in the world, the golden grain will always be raised there in large quantities. In other words, there will ever be cargoes for ocean boats that call at Fort William and Port Arthur.

Ever since the Russian revolution, that country has been out of the world's markets as a wheat producer. But the wild tales which used to come from Russia no longer adorn the front pages of the papers, which may be taken as evidence that Russia is settling down and that Russian wheat, far nearer to the European market than our own, will soon be a competitor.

Our ability, then, to hold the wheat market, lies in cheap transportation. The railroads, it is to be hoped, may be able to cut their freight rates, but a careful analysis of the present high percentage of operating expenses to total revenue would seem to show that a considerable cut in rates will be a difficult, if not almost impossible, undertaking for the immediate future. Even if railroad freights were substantially lowered, they would not afford the Canadian Northwest the cheap transportation it needs for its grain products. Nothing less than bringing the seacoast half way across the continent will do.

Such is the full meaning of the St. Lawrence waterway. It will be a big task, and one that cannot be done in a niggardly manner, for a narrow, shallow canal would defeat its own ends. It is a task made necessary by the logic of events, and one that Canada must face. Nor can we afford to wait for many years if we expect to make real our vision of a populous West and a consequently prosperous East.—Border Cities Star.

Elderly Farmer Hurled to Death.

COWAL, Ont., Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press).—David Harry Anderson, a farmer living near Middlemas, was instantly killed when thrown from his buggy yesterday.

While passing under the M. C. R. bridge the horse became frightened and Mr. Anderson was thrown into the ditch while trying to bring the animal under control.

The engineer brought the train to a halt and first aid was given, but it was seen that help was unavailing.

Mr. Anderson was 73 years old.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, November 20. — From last week the records of the Union Stock Yards show 549 cattle carried over, but of these about 400 had been bought during the week and were being held for resale.

Yesterday morning's receipts were 4,695 cattle, 536 calves, 2,464 hogs, and 3,626 sheep. There were 405 Western cattle billed through which will likely be sold on this market.

This week's cattle are no improvement on recent receipts, and there were very few loads without a tail end to them, which lowered the price when taken by the bulk. Purchases of good cattle in the country for direct shipment is said to account for this.

Prices in general were not any lower than last week and the buyers claimed that on the average quotations were higher. There were fewer heavy cattle on offer and exporters were slow in making purchases. For some short heifers taken for overseas $5.40 a cwt. was paid.

For one load of choice heavies a packed bid $7.85 a cwt., but these were held to go with four other loads of exporters to sweeten up. Only about 300 will be taken for export this week, and these are being bought from $6.35 to $7.00 a cwt. This will be about 15c to 25c a cwt. higher than last week.

Calves were sufficient for the trade demands except in the real good vealers, and these were firm. In others the market was about steady at last week's quotations. Choice calves sold at over 11 cents a pound.

Lambs were a better quality yesterday, but dealers were again slow in giving the market an opening price. C. Waugh bought a nice load of 80-pound lambs on Friday at 11 1-4 cents a pound. The ominous quietness at the opening was followed by the purchase of six decks of choice lambs at 11 3-4 cents a pound, and others followed at 11 1-2 cents a pound. This represented an advance of 50 cents a cwt.

Hogs were in light supply, and although the packers' bid of $7.75 f.o.b. was not changed sales were made at $8.00, and this price was regarded as general.

Another commission house has started as Fulthorp, Simpson, Ltd. The two principals were formerly cattle and hog salesmen for the U.F.O.

Offerings on the cattle market lacked quality this morning and trading was slow and draggy. The top grades weer in fair request at steady prices.

Hogs showed a week end decline of ten cents, packers bidding $7.50 for thick smooths and $8.25 for select bacons.

Killing lambs sold up to $9.00 and sheep from $5.00 to $7.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Announcement that Great Britain and France are again in accord on Germany gave an upward swing to-day to the wheat market here. Prices closed strong, 1-2 and 5-8c. to 1 1-8c. net higher, December $1.02 3-8 to $1.02 1-2, and May $1.08 1-8 to $1.08 1-4. Corn finished at 1-2 and 5-8c. to 1 1-8c. gain; oats unchanged to 1-4c. up, and provisions unchanged to a setback of two cents.

At the low point today, December wheat was within about two cents of the lowest of the season. One of the reasons ascribed was word that 560,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, duty paid, had been unloaded at Toledo. Bears contended that imports on such a scale would soon mean that raising the wheat tariff would be like locking the stable door after the horse had been stolen and might have little or no influence toward lifting wheat values in the United States.

Corn and oats were firmer in sympathy with wheat. It was reported that as a result of husking delays, sections of Iowa and Nebraska would be unable to ship much corn for several weeks yet.

Provisions were sustained by an advance in hog avlues.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Cattle, receipts 26,000; unevenly slow; bulk fed steers and yearlings 8.50 and $10.5; best matured steers at noon 11.25; relatively long fed yearling heifers 6.50 and 8.50; vealers 25c. lower; bulk around 8.50; bulk stockers and feeders 5.25 and 6.25.

Hogs, receipts 52,000; mostly 15 to 25c. higher; top 7.20.

Sheep, receipts 29,000; fat lambs fully 50c. lower; sports more; sheep around 25c. lower; feeding lambs 10 to 25c. lower; bulk fat lambs 12.00 and 12.25; best fat ewes 6.75; feeding lambs mostly 11.50 and 12.00; top 12.50.

Guard Your Throat!

ONCE let 'cold germs' find the weak spot in your throat and troubles come thick and fast.

The tickling soreness at the back of the mouth, hoarseness, difficulty in swallowing and irritating dry cough are all evidence of germ attack.

The one speedy effective way to banish these troublesome symptoms is the Peps breatheable way. Simply take a Peps, peel off the protective silver-jacket and let the tablet slowly dissolve on the tongue, when the volatile healing medicines will mix naturally with the breath.

The germ-destroying Peps fumes as they circulate through the air-passages are soothing and comforting. Pain and irritation is charmed away. Any inflammation or soreness of the delicate membrane lining the way from mouth to lungs, is speedily eased. You soon lose the cough, hoarseness and swallowing difficulty.

Always carry a few of these silver-wrapped Peps tablets about with you as a remedy and safeguard against coughs, colds, chills and bronchitis, or other throat and chest weakness.

The Children's Favorite

Because it is sweet and pleasant to take and quickly relieves Coughs, Croup and Bronchitis

You do not have to coax, bribe or threaten children when you want them to use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

It is the children's favorite medicine for more reasons than one—pleasant to take—quickly effective in relieving coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis and whooping cough.

This well-known treatment is found in the great majority of homes as the surest protection against cold weather ills.

BAD COLD

Mrs. A. Harvey, 231 James St., Port Arthur, Ont., writes:—"My children were all suffering from bad colds and coughs that used to keep them awake at night. After using two bottles of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine they were entirely relieved. I am now never without a bottle of this medicine in the house."

CROUP

Mr. Cleveland Roberts, Winsloe, P.E.I., writes:—"Our little girl, three years old, is subject to croup, and we now use only Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I think it is one of the best croup medicines on the market. We are never without a bottle in the house."

FOREIGN POLICY OF GOVERNMENT UNDER ATTACK

Cause of Distress of British Trade Says Liberal Manifesto Which Also Condemns Socialism of Labor Party.

LIBERAL PLATFORM.

LONDON, November 20 (Canadian Press). — Last in the field of the great party announcements, the Liberal manifesto, signed on behalf of the whole Party by Herbert H. Asquith and David Lloyd-George, and issued last night, is an exceedingly long document, more effective as an attack on the Government policy abroad, than affording any novel policy for meeting the problem of unemployment. Its chief interest lies in showing that there can be no real accommodation between Liberalism and Labourism, for it frankly declares its conviction that the remedies the Labour Party proposes for unemployment, namely, Socialism and a capital levy, would "prove disastrous," and that what is needed is not destruction of enterprise, but its encouragement; not the frightening away of capital, but its fruitful use.

Attack on Government.

The terms of the manifesto have been largely discounted by Mr. Asquith's speeches. It declares that there is only one explanation for the Government's sudden decision—that in the single year Parliament has lasted the Government's conduct of foreign policy has signally and disastrously failed. Asserting that the Government's own despatches to the Allies make the admission that the collapse of Germany arising from the French policy is the cause of the distress in which British trade is plunged, the manifesto continues:

"In no great European question for a century past has it ever been doubtful where Great Britain stood; yet for a whole year neither our Allies nor the neutral Powers nor our late enemies have known whether in this crucial issue Great Britain had a voice, a mind, or a conscience of her own."

The manifesto accuses the Government of allowing nine months before acting on Secretary Hughes' suggestion for United States co-operation, and, reviewing the whole recent history of the reparations negotiations, says:

"British policy was one of the chief rallying powers in Europe after the Napoleonic wars. For the past year its blindness, indecision, and impotence have been such that it has ceased to exercise any guiding influence upon European affairs."

Liberal Policy.

The Liberal policy, it is announced, stands for earnest endeavour to co-operate with the United States in a settlement of reparations, for re-opening full relations with Russia, and for the fullest support of the League of Nations.

"Trade restrictions cannot cure unemployment," it adds, "since high prices and scarcity can only lower the standard of living and reduce the purchasing power of the country and thereby curtail production. Premier Baldwin asks for a blank cheque, and if he is given, the country must take the risk; he offers no evidence, formulates no scheme."

The manifesto declares that the Liberal policy on unemployment is to make bold and courageous use of the nation's credit on enterprises to permanently improve and develop the home country and the Empire, such as transport, forestation, the supply of cheap power and other public works, the railways, and furthermore, to remodel completely the Unemployment Insurance Acts, and to take all possible steps to promote co-operation between employers and employees.

Appeal to Women.

The document makes a strong appeal to the women electors, who, it says, will be the first to experience the lowering of the standard of life through an increase in the prices of necessaries brought about by Protection. Contending that import duties on what the farmer buys can only injure his position, it urges as a relief for agriculture credit facilities and co-operative marketing on a large scale with Government assistance, which, it says, has so successfully helpet American agriculture over a great crisis.

Among numerous other suggestions, it puts forth the following:

"The excessive consumption of alcoholic drink is one of the main causes of unemployment, disease, and poverty, and the right of the citizens of any locality to decide for themselves on drink facilities in their own area should no longer be withheld."

Farmer Trampled To Death By Bull.

LINDSAY, Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Mr. Donald B. McCrae, a well-known resident of Eldon Township, died at Portage road Sunday as the result of injuries received when he was attacked and trampled upon by a bull. The deceased who was well known in the district, had been residing in the West for some time, but had returned to Eldon this summer. He was in his sixty-ninth year, and is survived by his wife and one son.

BRITAIN ASKED ASSISTANCE OF HER DOMINIONS

Notable Difference Between Recent Imperial Conference and the Last One—Repudiated French Attitude.

Accord With America.

OTTAWA, Nov 20.— The Imperial Conference, from the newspapermans standpoint, was like an oyster it had to be opened and it objected to being opened, declared John Bassett, vice-president of the Montreal Gazette, who attended the Imperial Conference, in an address before the Rotary Club yesterday.

There was a great difference between the Imperial Conference now and the first one, he said. Then the colonial representatives went there to ask for something, but during the recent conference, Great Britain had not been too proud to ask for help she needed from the Dominions who were represented at the conference. In former years the question of empire defence had been the leading question, but at this conference the great problem had been that of unemployment.

King Made Impression

Speaking of the impression made by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King as Canada's Prime Minister in London he said his public utterances were looked upon as by far the finest of any of the colonial representatives.

Mr. Bassett said that one Minister of the crown had told him that the work of the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in connection with the Japanese question at the time the Anglo-Japanese treaty was under discussion was still looked upon as one of the finest strokes of podicy ever performed

As a result of the Imperial Conference which had been a real conference there had been brought a common understanding for the units of the empire on the question of foreign policy, he said. It had been decided among other things that the break-up of the German Republic would be detrimental to the British Empire, and the attitude of France had been repudiated.

Harmony with U S A

One bright gleam of hope in the world situation in his opinion, was the ebtter understanding that existed between Great Britain and the United States. Every question that had agitated public opinion in America had been removed; the Irish question was settled, the Japanese treaty was a thing of the past, and the British debt had been paid, and as a result of the work of the Imperial Conference, the rum-running difficulty had been placed where a solution was possible. Questions which twenty years ago would have caused war between the two countries had all been settled amicably.

FREE TRADE IS NOT FAIR TRADE SAYS BALDWIN

Liberals Found Union of Tongues Before Union of Hearts Was Premier's Comment on Recent Re-union.

KEEP HOME MARKET.

LONDON, November 20 (Canadian Press Cable). — Premier Baldwin, in his Queen's Hall address yesterday, made the most of his points on texts provided recently by his opponents.

"Sir Robert Horne," he said, "is one of the few Conservatives acknowledged by Lloyd-George himself as worthy of respect for his intelligence, and Sir Robert had said that 60 francs buys as much French labour and French raw material as a pound buys here. This means that the French manufacturer has an advantage in an external market of 17 francs upon every pound's worth of goods. If this is Free Trade, it is not fair trade.

Conditions Abnormal.

"Lloyd-George has said that fair play is what appeals to Britain. I agree with this, but I want fair play for ourselves. One of the most distinguished of the Labour candidates, an intellectual, H. G. Wells, agrees with me. He calls Free Trade a one-wheeled, engineless, bodyless, Liberal automobile, and it is like disarmament in the face of malignant military preparation in the stress of war.

"The Liberals never have thought less of academic doctrines than they do to-day. We have had the Paris resolutions and we have had the Safeguarding of Industries Act. Those abnormal conditions are still with us, yet the Liberals are willing to take away the very weapons they declared to be essential for such a time, but I am not. I want more weapons."

This declaration was greeted with cheers.

Continuing, the Premier said:

"Mr. Asquith gave assistance to the British mother industry, and there is no more striking instance of the way industry can flourish, as the mother industry shows. You have it from Sir Alfred Mond that the basis of sound export trade is a home market, and I advise anybody who is not familiar with the subject to study the speech he made when introducing the Safeguarding of Industries Act.

Liberal Wild Talk.

"One would think from our opponents' wild talk that every country which touched the accursed thing called tariff had been blasted into ruin. Truth pushed to the extreme is falsehood, and that is the case with Free Trade in the mouth of the red-hot gospellers who found the union of tongues before they found a union of hearts."

At this point the Premier was interrupted by laughter and prolonged cheers.

Resuming, he said:

"Winston Churchill, who generally is accurate in his figures, has stated that our home production is seven or nine times greater than our foreign market, and to-day we are making a superhuman effort to maintain or increase our export trade while we are allowing the foundation of our trade, namely the home market, to be sapped and undermined by the kind of competition I have outlined.

Language of Sobriety.

"I have sketched certain aspects of my policy as far as I am able, and I hope I have sketched them in the language of sobriety. I make no claim to a universal panacea—that there shall be no more unemployment—but I honestly believe that my proposals are the only ones before the country for fighting the nightmare of unemployment.

"Our party is as united as any party every will be in this world. We are attracting to ourselves the best of the young men, and we are fighting to win."

The Premier was loudly cheered at the conclusion of his speech

The healthy look that
DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE
SYRUP PEPSIN
Gives is Nature's Own

Ladies! This Beats Cosmetics

GOOD health cannot be camouflaged by powder and rouge. The eyes will tell. That sparkle and clearness that denote good health will not be there if you are constipated. Miss H. Ridley, 110 Summerhill Av., Toronto, writes that Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin has helped her very much and Mrs. Ingram, Box No. 26, Tyvan, Sask., says it does what no other medicine has ever done for her.

On Sale for 30 Years

Intelligent women are realizing that health and mere outward complexion are two different things, and more and more are taking Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. Over 10 million bottles were bought in drug stores last year, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world! Go to your druggist and buy a bottle. The cost is less than a cent a dose. You will see how much more effective a spoonful of Laxative Syrup Pepsin is than tablets, powders or pills, and without shock to the system.

Safe Family Laxative

Use it regularly a day before and a day after the periods. The gentle emptying of the bowels will give you relief, and lessen headaches and congestion. Take a spoonful at bedtime and see how much better you feel in the morning. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics, and entirely safe not only for you but for the youngest child. Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin constantly in the home for you or some other member of the family may need it any moment to relieve constipation, to break up fevers and colds, to clear up biliousness, indigestion, a pimple, a fever sore and other disturbances that show constipation.

Traders Fleeced By Fake Brokers

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Millions of dollars have been lost by small traders in the South through cotton transactions with unscrupulous persons posing as cotton brokers, Thomas Hale, Secretary of the New York Cotton Exchange, declared in a statement made public to-night.

The Exchange is doing everything in its power to protect such traders, Mr. Hale said, and is now working with cotton exchanges in the South in an effort to weed out members of those exchanges who, the statement said, "we have reason to believe are not doing business in accordance with the rules."

GERMANS ADOPT MIDDLE COURSE ON RHINELAND

Berlin Will Agree to Local Parliaments in Occupied Areas, Hoping to Retain Political Touch.

A FUTILE DEBATE.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.— Chancellor Stresemann and the Reichstag committee on Foreign Relations, yesterday devoted six hours to a rambling discussion of the situation in the Rhineland and the Ruhr and then adjourned without having arrived at any definite conclusion.

The debate was participated in by the party leaders and representatives from the occupied areas, invited as special guests, the Chancellor having taken the position that the issues must be discussed with local elements and that the Committee on Foreign Relations was a competent body, in that the pending solution was closely wrapped up with Germany's foreign relations.

The concensus of opinion appears to be that the Rhineland and the Ruhr are lost, so far as Germany's ability to assert and maintain complete sovereign rights over both the areas is concerned, and that ways and means must be devised to forestall their complete political detachment or permanent loss to the republic.

"If the Rhineland and the occupied Ruhr sector are to pass out of our control, we must devise means which will enable them to remain with Germany," said one of the parliamentary leaders.

Local Government.

Chancellor Streseman advocated "more elbow room" for the occupied zones, permitting the inference that the Government was fully reconciled to the plan of allowing the occupied areas to work out their own salvation, even to the extent of permitting the creation of a local parliament or legislative governing body, to which the Central Government would concede unrestricted administration autonomy, and upon which woul fall the responsibility of negotiating with the occupying powers.

SAYS CONFERENCE WAS BIG SUCCESS

John W. Dafoe Says Canada Was Adequately Represented.

OTTAWA, November 19. Canadian Press. — "The Imperial conference just ended was a real conference," said John W. Dafoe, editor of the Manitoba Free Press, this morning upon his arrival from London.

"It was valuable because it was a conference of governments, and not as has been the case formerly something in the nature of a super-cabinet of the Empire. While they sidestepped question of a formal definition of the statue of Dominions," said Mr. Dafoe, "they did what really amounted to definition of status when they formally affirmed and recognized the right of Dominions to make their own treaties."

Canada was adequately represented at the conference, Mr. Dafoe said and Prime Minister King made a very good impression, both at his public meetings and at the sessions themselves.

PROPOSE MAGUIRE FOR HYDRO BOARD.

Municipal Electrical Association Opposed to Tax on All Public Utilities.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 20. — The Ontario Municipal Electrical Association condemns the resolutions by representatives of Ontario Boards of Trade at their recent Hamilton conference, when a tax upon all public utilities was urged.

Assembling in this city yesterday afternoon in special session, members of the executive committee of the Electrical Association passed a resolution showing their strong disfavor of this stand, adopting the attitude that the Hamilton recommendation was "put over" at the instigation of the Gas Companies, the Bell Telephone Company and privately-owned power companies.

MANY COUNTRIES BUYING FLOUR OF CANADIAN MILLS

October Exports Directed to Forty-Nine Different Countries — Significant Trade Increase.

OTTAWA, November 20 (Canadian Press). — Canadian flour was exported to forty-nine different countries last month, the total quantity shipped out being 1,155,274 barrels, as compared with 855,232 barrels in October of 1922.

While Great Britain was the largest customer, taking nearly 400,000 barrels, Germany took nearly 250,000 barrels.

Over 70,000 barrels went to Newfoundland, and a like quantity to Greece while China and Norway took some 40,000 barrels each.

Other European countries which bought Canadian wheat flour in October included Belgium, Denmark, Esthonia, Finland, Italy, Malta, Lettonia, Holland, Poland, Sweden, and Turkey.

The British West Indies were good customers, as well as Cuba.

Countries in South and West Africa, islands in the Pacific Ocean, South American Republics, and British possessions and foreign countries throughout Asia proved purchasers of Canadian flour.
